TOO EARLY.

A considerable number of democratic news papers we observe are commencing to boom ex-President Cleveland for President in 1892. It strikes us that they are somewhat early in the booming business and that it may be before the time rolls around for its use.

While President Cleveland, we think, was in many respects the ablest executive we have had for 40 years past, had the most able administration known to this generation, was eminently correct in his policy regarding the tariff question, we cannot see for all this why other democrats cannot be found who will suit the people fully as well as he did for president who will act as squarely and independently as he, and who will render to the people fully as much satisfaction upon the questions agitating the country as he. If Cleveland was straightforward in his views and actions upon the tariff question would that signify that no other democratic president if similarly situated would not do the same thing? It's a mere sentiment and based on nothing that no other man in the democratic party in all this wide country could lead the democracy in 1892 but Cleveland.

If the party builds all its hopes upon one man solely to lead it to victory then it should cease to exist. There are many just as honest, able and courageous democrats in this country as Cleveland, and many of them reside outside the State of New York.

There are plenty of able democrats who are as determined in their views and actions looking to a reform in the present tariff laws as Cleveland has been. This policy, pursued by the party for a quarter of a century past of selecting candidates for president solely from the east is getting monotonous, nonsensical, useless and foolish. It has benefitted the party in the number of campaigns since 1860 that we have had but very little. If the millions of democratic voters in the United States are to bow to the dictates of Tammany, or some other small wing of the party in the east, then defeat will continue to follow us. If Cleveland can lead us to victory in 1892 so can some democrat from the west. Let the experiment be made at least and let us show to the people that the entire talent of the party is not concentrated in and around New York.

DENOUNCING THE MURDER OF DR. CRONIN.

The citizens of Chicago to the number of 2,000 persons assembled at Central Music Hall in that city on Friday night to denounce and give expression to their views regarding the murder of Dr. Cronin, whose life was taken, without doubt, through the instrumentality of a secret political organization known as the Clan-na-Gael. This organization makes the profession of favoring home rule and the independence of Ireland, but this act, if proven to have been instigated by it, and it seems very likely to be, will injure its cause more than anything that has yet happened. It will be regarded more as a band of conspirators than a league of liberty-loving people. Regarding the Clan-na-Gael one of the speakers, Colonel Reed, said:

"Let us learn a salutary lesson from this startling event. Let us do what we can to break by our laws, and the voice of public opinion, secret, oath-bound political organizations. They are hostile to the spirit of our institutions. They are fraught with peril to even the very cause they seek to aid. They are contrary to our interests and a menace to our Government. We must stamp out organized, oath-bound societies of every kind, whether native or foreign, know-nothing or Clan-na-Gael. Criminal conspiracies under the name of patriotism must have no place in America."

Cronin was murdered because he knew too much regarding some of the loud advocates of home rule who resided in Chicago. He knew of their stealing and embezzling of funds contributed for the cause of Ireland and he proposed exposing them. To the crime of theft these pretended friends have added murder, and will have to make a desperate effort to save their own necks. Among those likely to be indicted and placed on trial for the murder of Dr. Cronin are: Alexander Sullivan, Frank Woodruff, alias Black, P. O'Sullivan, Daniel Coughlin, Martin Burke, Pat Cooney, John F. O'Malley, John F. Beggs, Thomas Murphy, Harry Jordan and Lawrence B. Buckley. All of these were members of the Clan-na-Gael society.

SALARIES RAISED.

At the first meeting of the present council this year, it will be remembered, the salaries of several of the city officers were raised. The clerk was raised $150, the Mayor had his salary elevated somewhat, and the office of city assessor, for which there is as much use as there would be for the fifth wheel of a wagon, was made worth three hundred dollars per year. Many of the leading republicans of the city are hot under the collar at this action of the city council and are vowing all sorts of things when the next election comes around. But it is all right. We trust they will have to grin and bear it. They marched arm in arm, many of them at least, with the loafer and saloon bummer to vote in favor of the men who now favor the raising of these salaries. They would no more be seen voting for a straight forward and industrious democrat, such as Joe Fisher or Eph Griffith, than they would be seen going into a saloon on Sunday, yet now they squirm under the work of the favorites for whom they voted. These thin-skinned, deeply prejudiced uncommonly pious republicans who voted for such men, and so greatly rejoiced that no democrat could have a hand in the management of the city's affairs, must take their medicine like good boys. In fact you have got to take it, and if you do not like it help yourself if you can. The city council is nothing as the public knows but an annex of the gas and water works companies, and these growing republicans must submit to whatever they decree or leave the party.

BIDDING FOR VOTES.

The plan of mass conventions in their platforms and resolutions encouraging or applauding this or that question, in order to catch the votes of its advocates, has become thoroughly nauseating, hypocritical, chestnutty, and its intention so apparent, that the majority of thinking men read them with disgust. At the Foraker convention in Ohio last week the following resolution, among a half dozen others, was passed: "We congratulate the people of Ireland on the progress of their struggle for home rule, and in this convention we endorse the course of President Harrison on the selection, for honorable positions in the diplomatic service, of worthy and representative Irish-American citizens." Now it is quite probable that half the members of that convention knew nothing whatever of what is involved in this question of home rule for Ireland, or a history of the struggle for independence in that country, yet it was a good opportunity to bid for the Irish vote at Ohio elections next fall and the convention could not let the opportunity pass. We suppose it will now be in order for the next democratic convention in that State to go over the same form and make a bid for this vote.

AFTER all selfishness appears to be the leading characteristic with most men in all stations of life. It is every fellow for himself and the devil for the entire combination. Farmers who complain of the exactions put upon them will often, when opportunity offers, show as tyrannical disposition in business matters as any class of people, trade or profession. Here is a description of a "trust" in one sense of the word, it might be termed, formed by them in southern Indiana: "A combination of farmers exists in this part of Indiana that is having serious effects on the merchants in various towns. The farmers combine and agree to purchase from only one store in a town, the owner agreeing to sell at a net profit of 10 per cent. The farmers reserve the right to examine his books and invoices. In some instances dealers have obtained two invoices—one true the other false—to show the farmers' committee. If the combination continues, which it probably will, a number of merchants will be compelled to leave for other fields of business. Already there has been a serious embarrassment in consequence of this attempt to destroy competition."

THEY legally hung a woman in Philadelphia the other day—Sarah J. Whiting by name. She seems to have stretched hemp just as neatly as a man would have done. Mrs. Whiting finding time dragging heavy on her hands and needing money poisoned her husband and two children for the money for the insurance on their lives. She only received something over $300 from the insurance companies. Mrs. Whiting does not appear to have been that fairly-lye angel that poets often describe women to be, but a first-class murderess and female fiend. The account does not say whether during her imprisonment she was visited by any gushing lovers and presented with bouquets. Probably not. It would require some cold blooded man who had committed a cowardly murder to draw out that class of cranks. Mrs. Whiting was greatly slighted in this respect and in her last moments must have felt keenly the absence of the donation of bouquets from the sentimental fools generally found around in cases of this kind.

THE tendency to call all men infidels who disagree with the speaker's creed is by no means yet exhausted. It is a short way of destroying, or trying to destroy a man's character and to prevent liberty of opinion and soundness of judgement. But the popular resentment against this sort of denunciation is growing. One of the Eastern Bishops recently declared that all France had gone over to infidelity. This wholesale charge has waked up some sharp replies from both orthodox and liberal preachers as well as from the press. One noted preacher bluntly replies that the changes of opinion within the churches are as great as those without; and that much of the creeds are practically outgrown. However this may be, it is no longer tolerable for any man to hurl epithets at free men for free thinking. There was never so little infidelity in the world as today. Infidelity rightly defined is lack of faithfulness in the truth.

THE Brazil mine operators give as a reason for their refusal to pay more than 70 to 75 cents per ton to their workman for labor in the mines arises from the discovery of natural gas, crude oil, etc., which have proved disastrous to their business. The public will be very slow to believe this from the fact that for years past these strikes among the miners have taken place and long before natural gas came into general use over the country. Another fact is that at every opportunity and upon the slightest pretext the price of coal is advanced and particularly where natural gas has not been adopted. When investigation is made we believe that the miners have the truth upon their side and the contest going on will prove to be the old one of capital vs. labor.

WHEAT harvesting is now fairly under way in all parts of the county and the impression is gaining that the yield will be much better than was thought a few weeks ago. The insects, the wheat louse in particular, did little damage and the prospect for an average of from 12 to 14 bushels per acre is said to be fair. The binder twine "trust" after all got in its work upon the farmers, notwithstanding the meetings held in various parts of the country denouncing it, as there was a good demand for the twine and high prices obtained for it. Next year probably the farmers will be better prepared to make a bold and determined fight against this gouging monopoly.

As receiver of the Wabash railway Col. McNulta has been allowed by the U. S. court, Judge Gresham, the sum of $25,000 per year. In the name of Ceresus where on earth can any man's services be worth so much, the question will be asked. The late owners of the road would doubtless like to know also. The receiver business must be one of the very best of any in the country—better than a gold mine or the ownership of stock in a coffee trust. There should be a college started in this country for the education and creation of receivers, if the business pays everyone as well as it has with Col. McNulta.

AND now a big advance in the price of mackerel is announced. The price now is $4 per barrel but next season it will be $22. People that hanker after these loud smelling fish will learn with regret of the advance in prices. Most persons, however, would not regret it if they were run clear out as an article of commerce and seen no more.

ONE of the bright(?) acts of the board of county commissioners at a late session was the granting of license to some parties at Darlington, to retail liquor, who already had six or seven indictments against them for violating the law regarding the selling of liquor. One of the commissioners, Bowers, resides in the town, and must assuredly have known of these men's conduct heretofore. But then what can be expected from men who cut down honestly rendered claims against the county to make up for losses elsewhere? That's financeering don't you know.

THE last legislature passed a law, as most of our readers know, requiring the inspection of all cattle slaughtered, the inspector to receive 30 cents for all cattle over two years old and 20 cents for those under that age. It is quite likely that the law will amount to nothing, as a test of it is to be made at Indianapolis by the butchers of that city, and if declared unconstitutional and inoperative there it will of course be the same elsewhere through the State. The law seems to have been organized as much to give some fellows an office as for any other purpose.

It is becoming quite apparent that if Ireland has any genuine friends they are not to be found among any members of the Clan-na-Gael or any other oath bound league. Men who justify assassination under any pretext whatever would just as likely favor the killing of any President of the Republic they might establish from any personal whim or distaste they would have toward him. The men who assassinated Dr. Cronin, at Chicago, were not the friends of Ireland or any other country.

FORAKER has been again nominated for Governor of Ohio. He is an example of the efforts of the machine in politics in that State. There appeared to be much feeling against him among the rank and file of his party, yet by having the machine well oiled and under good control he distanced all competitors. He is a first-class demagogue, a blowing loud mouthed fanatic, and yet he manages the machine so well that better men are completely overwhelmed.

LAST year the republicans were clamoring for "protection" and we have it. Last year binder twine sold at 12 to 13 cents; this year 17 to 19 cents. Last year 16 pounds of Extra C sugar could be bought for $1; this year it is 11 pounds for $1. All muslins and prints have advanced one cent per yard since the election. Protection is a grand and glorious thing. More protection and higher taxes is the republican cry.

CHICAGO is now claiming 900,000 inhabitants and next to New York and Philadelphia is according to these figures the third city in the Union. They are, however, in the habit of doing an inordinate amount of exaggerating over their city, and it may be that after the census takers are through, next year, the citizens of that place will find themselves somewhat surprised when the correct figures are given.

JUDGE WOODS actually acquitted a democrat the other day on trial before him for some political offence. There must be some mistake, and he should be re-arrested. A new opinion would convict the fellow sure, and the court can probably furnish it.

THE Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight is booked for Monday next to take place within 100 miles of New Orleans.

"Why Do I Suffer So with headache and vertigo, doctor? I have a bad cough, too, and dull aches under the shoulder-blade; I'm losing weight, and am bilious all the time." The courteous physician answers: "If you inquire what is the cause of all this mischief, it is torpid liver. That organ, you are aware, is the largest gland in the body, and its office is to carry off the waste of the system. When it fails to do its proper work, the refuse of the body is re-absorbed and goes circulating round and round in the blood, poisoning, not nourishing, the tissues. But why you continue to suffer in this way I am at a loss to understand, since Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would give prompt relief, and future immunity from such attacks."

It is said that 657 species of flowering plants and ferns have been already found in Yellowstone park.

Mr. E. Slattery, of Delhi, La., says her son, 14 years of age, had a dreadful time with ulcers, sores and blotches which followed chicken pox. After using many remedies without benefit, she gave him Swift's Specific, which cured him sound and well.

More than twenty kingdoms of the size of Great Britain and Ireland could be formed out of Australia.

Mr. W. A. Tibbs is a printer in the office of the Jackson, Miss., Clarion-Ledger. He says that three years ago he was a victim of bad blood, which deprived him of health and threatened serious consequences. He further says that he took SSS and it cured him sound and well.

A species of wild flower has been found in the Philippine Island, which measures one yard in diameter.

Never Heard of "Davy Crockett's Coon!"

That's queer! Well, it was like this: Col. Crockett was noted for his skill as a marksman. One day he leveled his gun on a raccoon as a tree, when the animal, knowing the Colonel's prowess, cried out, "Hello there! Are you Davy Crockett? If you I'll just come down for I know I'm a gone coon." Just take a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, and see how quickly your biliousness and indigestion will emulate the example of "Davy Crockett's coon," and climb down. They are specifics for all derangement of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.
