

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Down with the Salvation Army.

The Journal of Tuesday evening had a display of logic in its editorial columns which should be put on exhibition for general observation. The Journal wants to know how the tariff on coal is injuring the miner. The Journal talks like a man up a tree. The operators have everything their own way certainly with a prohibitive tariff on coal, but notwithstanding the advantage thus given them they reduce wages to starvation prices and refuse to make a fair settlement of the question. Starvation under high tariff. How would a reduction make the matter worse? Will the Journal answer?

The notorious Charles L. Pray, better known as "Doc" Pray, wanted Crawfordville for grand larceny, was captured at Madison, this state, Saturday, while selling his worthless nostrums on the street. It is alleged that "Doc" stole a whole show outfit that was in pawn at the Hoosier Athens. An affidavit for complicity was also filed against his wife. It is more than likely that "Doc" will go where he belongs this time—to the penitentiary for he can't rely on a "pioneer case" as a defense. His wife apparently is a well behaved, respectable woman, whose worst fault is an infatuation with a vile worthless husband. She was arrested, but not placed in jail. People in this city will probably remember "the Prays"—Frankfort News.

Last week there was a mosquito roaming at large at the Shades of Death that terrorized the whole community. A camper at that place saw it flying over head, evidently with the design of making a swoop on him, and concealed himself under an iron pot, thinking the question settled. Not so; the mosquito was determined to get his blood, and quickly alighting near the aforesaid pot, began boring through the iron with the evident intention of sucking its victim's blood. Luckily the gentleman had a hammer and soon riddled the mosquito's bill to the iron, thus narrowly escaping an ignominious death. The mosquito realized its defeat and flew away, kettled and all, and has not been seen since. Perhaps that was what Uncle Jimmy Ingersoll thought was a buzzard with a bell on its neck.

A very interesting scrap between two colored girls took place on North Green street, Tuesday. It was fought to a finish according to the "eye for an eye" and "tooth for a tooth" rules. They clawed each other up and when the dust had cleared away they had both disappeared.

From the amount of great, big, healthy loafers to be seen daily on our streets one would think that all work had been finished and that all the people have to do now is to sit down and rest forever. These are the people who fill the jails and do odd jobs on the stone pile. Public sentiment should not tolerate them. Buck Brothers should have them "move on."

Champion Sullivan.

The great and much talked of fight between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain has at last been decided, and in a terrific slugging match of seventy-five rounds, Sullivan has proven to his countless admirers that he is the best man in the world who prances in the ring to-day.

On Monday morning at Richburg, 102 miles from New Orleans, the great mill ground out Sullivan's championship. The attendance was very large, there being 1,100 fifteen dollar tickets sold and many more than this of the ten dollar tickets sold. At 10 o'clock the two sluggers stepped into the ring, Kilrain looking haggard, weak and scared, while Sullivan stepped blithely into the ring, smiling and in the very pink of condition, calling forth unbounded cheers from the countless throng crowded around. Just as the final arrangements were being made a representative sheriff of Mississippi stepped into the ring and said, "In the name of the law of Mississippi I demand peace," or some other bluff of that kind, but no one noticed him and he stepped out again. This was the only effort on the part of the authorities to stop the fight. Some trouble was found in selecting a referee and John Fitzpatrick was finally decided upon. At the call of time both men advanced to the center of the ring, Kilrain looking serious, and Sullivan smiling confidently. Then began the greatest, because the most talked of, battle in the ring which has ever been recorded. Sullivan led the fighting from the start and the result of the fight was never in doubt, except in the forty-fourth round when Sullivan vomited freely. Kilrain suggested that the fight be made a draw, but Sullivan gave him for his answer a heavy blow in his ribs, knocking Jake out on the turf. From this time on Sullivan had a clear walk away, all of Kilrain's movements being simply a repetition of the Mitchell tactics to avoid punishment, for which the crowd hissed him. He gradually weakened and when time was called for the seventy-sixth round, Mitchell ran over to Sullivan's corner and asked if the latter would make Jake a present provided he threw up the sponge. John said he would, whereupon Mitchell tossed up the sponge and the great battle was declared for Sullivan, who is now clearly entitled to the name, "champion." The fight was a fair one, and a genuine test of the respective pugilistic merits of America's two greatest sluggers. Sullivan is well known everywhere and his record familiar to all. He is a strictly American boy, raised on Boston beans and an advocate of the 4th of July. Kilrain is English in sympathy, though claiming Baltimore for his home. He was backed by Englishmen mostly and trained by Englishmen, hence, John L., who is strictly American, has the sympathy of the American public.

An "Ignorance is Bliss" Case.

Some people effect to say there is nothing in the shortage business, others say it is a chestnut and unworthy of notice. Such people are not only ignorant of the facts, but are too lazy to hustle around and get the facts. This utter disregard for the public pocket book on the part of would be maulers of public opinion is disgusting. If you don't understand the matter say nothing and people will think you are wise, but the moment you open your heads you give the whole snap away and people think you are greater block-heads than you really are.

The Directors Meet.

On Monday evening the board of directors of the business men's association held quite an interesting meeting and took action in matters we are all interested in. A committee was appointed to take a poll of the city and see how we stand in regard to the gravel road question. A committee was also appointed to make permanent arrangements for the hitching of horses belonging to people from the country who come here to do their trading. This is one of our long felt wants and the association should be thanked for their prompt action in this matter. Committees for other duties were appointed as follows: On newspapers and printing—J. J. Insley, L. Bischof, J. M. Schultz and Zack Mahorney; On gravel roads, elections, etc.—J. R. Bunnell, A. E. Ramsey, A. E. Reynolds, G. W. Hadley and D. N. Morgan; On excursions—Jacob Joel, Joe Taylor, John Wampler, L. Bischof and A. S. Miller; On railroads and transportation—A. E. Reynolds, O. M. Gregg, G. W. Hadley and Lew Hornady. The following executive committee was elected to serve one year: O. M. Gregg, A. Ramsey, D. F. McClure, L. Bischof and Zack Mahorney. The directors have another meeting on Friday evening when the above committees will be heard from.

Grabbed From the Jaws of Death.

During the week the camp life of the present outing party, at Pine Hills, has been made quite exciting by the narrow escape of one of its most esteemed members. While Arthur McCann and Mrs. Charley Thomas were sitting in a boat under the overhanging rocks at the mouth of Indian creek, enjoying the balmy breeze and the exhilarating sense of unconsciousness incidental to camp life, the boat tipped over upon an endeavor of Mrs. Thomas to change her position, and from a sense of perfect peace there was a transformation to a scene of a desperate struggle for life against the dark waters which quickly closed over two struggling beings. Arthur bobbed to the top however and holding Mrs. Thomas above the cruel waves, began a desperate struggle against approaching death which was thrilling in the extreme.

A Corporation With a Little Soul.

The citizens in the vicinity of College and Plum streets are considerably out of humor from their treatment in regard to the fountain at the north-west corner of those streets at the hands of the water works company represented by John S. Brown. They had by subscription put up a $9.00 trough to supercede the little dipper arrangement belonging to the company, and by it the public were much better served. Tuesday Brown had it removed. His reasons for so doing were not stated. Upon another occasion it is stated, he compelled a little girl who had got a bucket of water at that fountain to throw it out and go elsewhere for her supply in that line. As stated and believed the city council is nothing but an annex of the water works company, and the pretense that the company is enraged at the council upon account of some taxation matters is nothing but a little by-play. The company will bring the council all around yet and put it more effectively than ever under its thumb.

The Gravel Roads.

The question of the purchase of the toll roads that enter the city is the main topic of discussion now days and it seems that the report is circulated that the REVIEW is opposed to the purchase. Now this is far from right for we favor anything that is a benefit to the business of our city. The purchase of the roads in Union township would be paid almost by the citizens of Crawfordville and the expense on the farmer would be so small that it would hardly amount to the toll he would pay in one year. We have only stated facts in the past and will continue to do so in the future. We want to see the roads purchased believing that it will be the greatest benefit to the city that could be devised. Let the stores keep open after night and the city will prosper.

People, Boom Your City.

Boom the Business Men's Association. It's the best movement now on foot within our corporate limits. We want racks where the farmer may tie his laden nag, we want people from afar to come to our city in blocks of five hundred to blow the festive shakel into our pockets and fatten them accordingly, we want natural gas and we want every road in the county free, enabling the farmer to travel about without blowing his good money in at every turn of the road. If you want these things then join the Business Men's Association, for these are some of the things they will surely give us. If you don't desire these things, why then sit thee down on the curbing and expectorate your ambrosial saliva on our beautiful sidewalks.

Feast of the Fire King.

On Monday evening our little neighboring village, Waveland, was visited by fire and much valuable property was consumed. It originated early in the evening in the hayloft of Deere & Willoughby's livery stable and is thought to be the work of an incendiary. The citizens turned out en masse to quench the flames but their efforts were almost useless. The fire spread rapidly and devoured in quick succession the livery stable, Rice's blacksmith shop, Pratt's barber shop, Rhoad's wagon shop and Dietrick's carriage shop. The net loss will be between five and six thousand dollars. Crawfordville expresses her sympathy and hopes Waveland will soon be on her feet again.

What's the Matter With This Boom?

While the problem of how to boom the city to the best advantage is the topic for so much discussion at present we would like to suggest that the fountain head of booms at present is at our wheat ware houses. It is through this medium that most of our money is put into circulation yearly, many thousands of dollars. Through the kindness of Mr. Wm. Darter, one day this week, we were shown through his commodious ware rooms. His house has been greatly improved this year and he can handle all the wheat that is brought to him. He uses the patent scale dump, the only one in the county. He has also put in an improved wheat cleaner which has facilities for cleaning 300 bushels per hour. Remember he pays the toll.

Review Logic.

The tariff on soft coal does not seem to benefit the miners worth a cent. Wages have been reduced in this line everywhere and the cries of starving men and women are heard in every part of the land, from the very class of people the tariff affects most to benefit. Now if this tariff don't benefit this industry and proves a fraud in this case, why can we not say that the high tariff business is a swindle everywhere? Some of our good republican brethren should go to Brazil and make converts of the people there. Wonder how long they would be allowed to live.

The Remarkable Cures.

Which have been effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla are sufficient proof that this medicine does possess peculiar curative power. In the severest cases of scrofula or salt rheum, when other preparations had been powerless, the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla has brought about the happy results. The case of Miss Sarah C. Whittier, of Lowell, Mass., who suffered terribly from scrofulous sores; that of Charles A. Roberts, of East Wilson, N. Y., who has thirteen abscesses on his face and neck; that of Willie Duff, of Walpole, Mass., who had hip disease and scrofula so bad that physicians said he could not recover, are a few of the many instances in which wonderful cures are effected by this medicine.
