THERE is no truer axiom in commercial life than that which says "competition is the life of trade." Withdraw competition and you take the life blood from business, the incentive to activity and honesty in trade. "Trusts" are formed solely to do away with competition, to skin the people and extort from them unjust prices for the commodities they may have to sell. Take the sugar trust for instance. It is master of the people in the matter of this important article for domestic purposes. Sugar is an article that it is impossible to do without. Its manufacture and sale is in the hands of a few wealthy men. All competition is shut off and whatever this trust demands the public must pay. The man of family appreciates this very forcibly. Competition stimulates business and acts fairly toward the consumer. The trust seeks to enrich itself quickly at the expense of the people and they are doing so. What misery it may create it matters not to it. It is wealth it seeks and wealth it will have. Sugar as all know is not the only article "trustified." There are trusts in oil, paint, coffee and many other articles. It is a parody on our free government when such things continue to exist. Trusts are assuredly not some of the blessings of our form of government. Trusts are adding more than anything to cause the present depressed state of business matters over the country. The government should come to the aid of the people, and by legal means, if it can be done squelch these robbing trusts. Let competition be open in all lines of business. Let the people be served at reasonable prices. The combination of trusts precludes a continuation of stringent times, dull trade and sluggish business.

TRIALS OF A CONGRESSMAN.

Cheadle is the name of the republican congressman from the 9th district, and he lives in Frankfort. Like many other politicians, he it seems, has been making all sorts of promises to many of his constituents, but carrying out but few. In Hamilton county he has not suited them in his recommendations for positions of various persons for postmasters. Boyd, the republican senator from that county, ran across Cheadle at Indianapolis last week and when the latter sought to address him replied as follows:

"No, sir; I don't shake hands with a scoundrel. I look upon you as a d—d liar. Any man wearing a Grand Army badge who will go to a brother soldier and promise to recommend him for a position, and then don't do it, is nothing but a dirty liar. I never want you to speak to me again. Go away from me."

The astonished congressman walked off without venturing a reply. There were other republicans from Cheadle's district itching for an opportunity to roast him, but they were not given a chance. Among them were some Lafayette parties who are mad all through because he recommended a saloon keeper for postmaster at Lafayette.

Cheadle can make up his mind that his goose is cooked, and will save money by not offering himself up as a sacrifice next year for congress in his district. He will have to go back to editing the county printing in Clinton in the way of extended ditch notices, sheriff sales, etc.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Powderly, master workman of the Knights of Labor, was in Chicago last week discussing means and measures with other leaders of the order, as stated, to revivify the order. The Knights at one time bid fair to become a formidable organization in the political field of this country, but their strength for a year or more past would appear to have become greatly weakened. The Knights, like the Grange organization, permitted politics and the self ambition of their leaders to enter too much into their considerations, and in consequence went down. The Knights at one time had an enrollment of 700,000 members, but now numbers 200,000. Had it devoted itself strictly to benefiting its members in the matter of wages only and thrown politics to the wind it would to-day have been a tower of strength and an organization commanding the respect of the people. But its glory has departed, its usefulness almost ceased, and something new with improved rules and ritual must and will soon take its place.

THE public domain should have been reserved for actual settlers. It has not been, The course that has been pursued of granting large tracts of lands to corporations may have brought about the more rapid development of the western states and territories, but it has also laid the foundation for a landed aristocracy. Vast tracts of lands are owned by foreign capitalists. It would be better for this country if land holders were limited to a specified acreage. This would mean more land owners and the more land owners we have the more stable will our government become. The Louisiana purchase and the lands procured by treaty with Mexico, should have afforded cheap homes for the people of another century, but they have been rapidly possessed by corporations and capitalists and it will be but a few years until the government will have no valuable lands to offer actual settlers.

DAKOTA is not altogether a land of milk and honey, spite of the strenuous efforts made to boom it and induce emigration to that territory. There has this year been an almost entire failure of the wheat crop, and meetings have been held in various portions of the Territory to devise means for aiding the needy. Only a year or two ago reports were published of great suffering out there from the intense cold winter and the wretched condition of the people eloquently set forth. Railway companies in picturing the beauties of Dakota in order to induce emigration and increase the value of the lands owned by them never set forth any of the disadvantages of the country. People moving away from as good a state as Indiana to seek new homes in the West should aim to have both sides regarding finely described countries before making up their minds to go.

THE father of the republican party, it was stated, died in Ohio the other day. Died from grief, doubtless, over the actions of his offspring for some years past. He certainly had enough woe to kill any man.

THE law as enacted by the last legislature prohibits the manufacture and sale of any vinegar not the product of pure apple juice. By the provisions of the act it is made unlawful not only to manufacture the adulterated article but to sell or expose it for sale. The law also describes what shall constitute pure vinegar. It must not have any artificial coloring; must have an acidity equivalent to the presence of not less than four per cent, by weight, of absolute acetic acid.

An agent of the State board of health is now securing samples of the vinegar on sale in all the cities, and every manufacturer selling vinegar that does not meet the legal requirements will be prosecuted.

TERRE HAUTE OIL WELL.

The boom in the oil business and oil drilling judging from reports is rapidly subsiding at Terre Haute. When the oil came rushing out from the first well about two months ago it was then reported as producing 1000 barrels every 24 hours. Now not over 50 barrels in the same time pour forth. This is a remarkable settling down in the product of the greasy fluid, and would indicate that before many days it would cease altogether. Terre Haute has built up great expectations on her future oil product and wealth to be accumulated from it. All her hopes, it would seem from reports, are to be blasted.

AN individual styling himself "Jack the Ripper," has during the past twelve months murdered eleven women in a thickly peopled part of London, and yet remains undiscovered. The best policeman and detectives of that great city have as yet been unable to locate and arrest him. His victims are of the lowest class and the bodies when found are generally horribly mutilated. It is certainly remarkable that his identity yet remains undiscovered notwithstanding the strenuous efforts continually made to find him. London must surely have a sufficiency of poor police, and very much like some in this country.

AN instance of the pernicious effect of trusts is seen just now at Delphi, Carroll county. About a year ago a manufactory of sawboard was established there and about 100 hands employed. It was of great benefit to the place, and was the means of much money being left there. The strawboard business has lately adopted the trust system and all the manufactory of it are now leagued together. The Delphi mill has been bought in by the trust, the mill dismantled, the employees discharged, and the business at that point abandoned. The citizens there cannot hereafter have a favorable opinion of trusts.

There are a good many of our subscribers who are in arrears. Lebanon Patriot.

The above old stereotyped sentence is frequently seen in many weekly newspapers. It is better to have a paid up list of ten subscribers than that of fifty, composed of "good" men who will pay when they can. The REVIEW has long since adopted the plan of promptly erasing the names of any subscriber from our books as soon as his subscription expires, and has seen no cause to regret it. Its the money we are after in getting a subscriber to our paper—not his "goodness."

If the trusts are doing more than anything else to educate the people against the scoundrelly system of protection, as advocated by the republican party, then let them keep on in their thievish system of robbing the people. With people with their eyes open nothing is more apparent than that protection, as advocated by the republican party, is nothing but to enrich the manufacturers at the expense of all other classes.

The wheat as being threshed now in various parts of the county, judging from reports, is of a much better yield than was anticipated it would be a month ago. The yield it is thought will be about 12 bushels to the acre. The grain is not as large and plump, however, as many had hoped for. The prices range from 68 to 70 cents and close to these figures. The crop this year is much better than a failure, as many predicted.

In reply to the many charges that the negro's besetting sin is stealing, Francis C. Long, a colored man, says in the African Methodist Review: "In these modern days, after centuries of practice, the 'nigger' steals a chicken, the white man steals a horse; the 'nigger' steals a ham, the white man a hog; the 'nigger' steals a dollar, the white man a bank; the 'nigger' steals a cross-tie, the white man a railroad."

STATE ATTORNEY-GENERAL MICHAENER is represented as a very cute politician and one who will have to be watched. It is supposed by this that if any new plans are adopted for violating the new election law next year Michener will make the proper "legal" suggestions by which it may be done. By no other way can he and his party hope to win in a political struggle hereafter.

An election called for in Oklahoma to adopt a city charter last week was suppressed by the military. Although only about three months old, they doubtless know in Oklahoma how to cheat in politics, buy votes, change tally sheets and how to be "seen" when any company of any kind desires to make any street improvements, etc.

THEY are aiming to have President Harrison and his cabinet present at the laying of the cornerstone of the soldiers' monument at Indianapolis next month. This is certainly premature for the campaign of next year. The presence of these men will be forgotten by this time next year, and will not aid the republicans in carrying the State.

THE admirers of Ben Harrison have never ceased to speak of him as a christian and pious gentleman, and when he made addresses so often last year at Indianapolis never ceased to impress this upon all visitors, the Clay county miners among the number. Just at this time these miners would rather have less piety and more bread and meat.

THE corner stone of the $250,000 soldiers' monument is to be laid in Indianapolis next month with grand and expensive ceremonies. Some of the expenses might be saved and the savings sent to the hungry families of the Clay county coal miners.

A BULL in a china shop is no more fittingly illustrated than by Corporal Tanner in the pension office. If there is any money in the U. S. Treasury after this fellow gets through it will only result from the fact that he has not discovered it.

THE people of this country are now realizing what honest Grover Cleveland was to them when he was President. It only takes a bad President a short time to make people realize what a good one is. The price of the necessities of life are increasing, while the farm products, such as grain, hogs, cattle, etc., are gradually getting lower.

SOME of the republicans are disposed to find fault with McCain, of the Journal, for signing a petition requesting that Mr. Booe, the post master, be retained during the remainder of his term. If Mr. McCain did this there was assuredly nothing wrong, as he only indicated his desire to have the office in good hands and run in good business shape.

Cass county will have no fair this year. It has never been a paying institution in that county and the same can be said in many others. The fairs are kept up now through local spirit and rivalry in many counties. Montgomery county fairs always pay—generally better than any others in the State.

No $3 Per Day Tax.

In a communication from Harmon Hiatt last week regarding the purchase of the toll roads, appears the following:

"He must sit in his wagon, hold his horses till his wife barbers off her little marketing to some commission house or grocer, while she and her husband are forbidden to sell on the street to consumers without taking out a license to peddle, at $3 per day."

If Mr. Hiatt aims to convey from this that farmers selling products on the streets of Crawfordsville are compelled to pay $3 per day license he should know better. Such is not the fact nor ever has been. Banana peddlers and those from outside the county must pay $3 per day license, but none others. The man having potatoes, butter, eggs, beans, etc., residing in the county, has no license whatever to pay. Mr. Hiatt is usually a well informed man in matters he writes about, but is off, badly off, in this statement quoted.

In this connection it may be proper to state that in publishing the views of any correspondent on politics, religion, commerce, toll-roads purchase, etc., the REVIEW does not necessarily endorse them. Correspondents have their own individual opinions, but in publishing them a newspaper does not have to approve of them, and men of sense always understand this.

Counterfeiters' Molds.

Much surprise was occasioned at Frankfort by the arrest of Johnny Wilhelm, a prominent young merchant of Forest, Clinton county, on a charge of counterfeiting. For several weeks complaint has been made of the circulation of the "queer" in that locality, and recently Officers Bird and Thatcher, of Frankfort, began an investigation.

The developments pointed to Wilhelm being the man, and taking advantage of the family's absence from home, a search was made on the premises, and concealed in the smokehouse were found a half dozen sets of molds and numerous coins in quarters, halves and dollars. When arrested at his place of business a few hours later Wilhelm denied everything, but when asked to explain his possession of the molds he weakened. Ten dollars of the bogus article was found in his pockets.

Wilhelm is about 30 years old and highly educated, his father being one of the richest men in Clinton county, owning over 1,000 acres of the finest farm land. While the prisoner denies that others are concerned with him, he is, no doubt, one of a gang operating through this section of the State.

Enlarge the City.

The next thing which will now engage the attention of the Business Men's Association will be the incorporation of the small towns, we might say, which surround us on every hand, Englewood, Highland and Longview. Their streets will be constructed if care is not taken so as to make their incorporation no longer a possibility. Obstructions will soon be put up so as to make the introduction of gas and water there impractical, and before such a state of affairs takes place some action should be taken by the association toward inducing the Council to do the duty which the majority of our citizens believe we owe to our smaller neighbors, to make some advances in the matter. Our population would be largely increased and the spirit of boom would be materially strengthened thereby. The REVIEW would like to see prompt and vigorous action taken on this question.

Montgomery County Normal.

O. M. Hultz and J. W. Perrin, of New Ross, and Danville, Ill., respectively, are the names of the gentlemen now in charge of the county normal. They are conducting things this year in a very creditable manner, and the people through the county who are contemplating teaching school the coming winter should come in and attend. Board is very cheap now and the cost of tuition only $5. The normal opened up last Tuesday and those who have intentions of teaching should not fail to take advantage of the school. Both gentlemen are highly recommended and have a school that is not only a credit to themselves but to the county also. They invite the people of the county to come in at once and get the benefit of the full term.

Colored Camp Meeting.

The A. M. E. church camp meeting at the fair ground began Thursday and will continue until Monday, August 5. This meeting will be visited and assisted by the following distinguished divines: Bishops Brown, D. D. C. L.; Turner, D. D. L. D.; Wayman, D. D.; Arnett, D. D., and Rev. Dr. Handy, financial secretary of the connection, and Rev. J. C. Emery, business manager of the connection.

President Garfield's Physician. Dr. Bliss speaking in the highest terms of Speer's Port Wine writes the following from WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25, 1884. ALFRED SPEER, Esq., Passaic, N. J.

Dear Sir:—I have to acknowledge the superior quality of Wines of yours production, notably your Port Wine, and to say I have prescribed them for my patients for the past two years, with uniform and satisfactory results. I have full confidence in the purity of your Wines and that they are uniformly of standard strength, hence prescribe them almost exclusively in my practice. Very truly yours, D. W. BLISS, M. D.

THE RECONCILIATION.

Two urchins strolling on the beach,

Beside the tranquil sea,

Beheld a pearly block, and each

Cried, "That belongs to me!"

And both at once with eager hands,

Began to scramble in the sands.

Like alabaster pure and white,

Upon the pebbled shore,

That treasure lay, a lovely sight,

And well worth fighting o'er;

Long struggled the contending twain

The prize so coveted to gain.

Lo, while they strove, a stranger tall,

Strode quickly to the spot,

He stooped beside the champions small,

And took the prize, I wot!—

Then spoke in solemn voice and slow,

"Ye both are richer than you know."

Then with a string he did divide

That precious cake, and smiled;

"Tis Ivory Soap, share it with pride;

My lads, be reconciled!"

Each took his half and went his way,

Oh, rich and happy boys were they.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeiters, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
