DON'T LIKE OUR LAWS

A man having stated at Lafayette, that P. D. Armour, of Chicago, the millionaire monopolist meat packer, was going to start a branch in that city, a note of inquiry was sent to him and the following reply arrived:

"Gents:—This is the first we have heard of. Unless you change your legislation, and pass decent laws you need not expect capital to come into your state. P. D. ARMOUR."

If Armour never had existed and his immense monopolizing establishment never have been known, it is quite probable the sun would continue to rise and set, grass grow and everything move along just as well. This State does not want nor need capital, loaned, invested or used, as such men as Armour aim that it shall. We in former times had pork packing establishments in almost every county-seat in the state, and they gave during the winter employment to large numbers of laboring men, and furnished them meat at cheap rates, the Blair establishment in this city being a well known instance. But all such houses have passed away forever, perhaps. The business was absorbed by the Armours and Kinglins, the money spent elsewhere, the horses gone into decay. These are some of the effects of Armour's capital. Such men as he are the American lords. They can elevate or depress business as they desire. They are the nabobs of the country. The republican party by specious legislation during the last twenty-five years have made them what they are, but it has made many paupers in doing so also. Armour imagines, no doubt, that Indiana will suffer from the absence of his capital. This is not at all probable. The State can run without him, has done it and can continue to. Better go back to the primeval times of a half century ago, than be subject to greedy monopolists and wealthy men of the Armour stripe.

THE NEW SCHOOL LAW.

There was wisdom, justice and economy in the last legislature that gave to the people a new law regarding the purchase of school books. It stands out boldly as an evidence that amid this age of corruption, bargain and sale, there was one giant monopoly that with all its money and paid tools did not thwart the will of the people in this instance. The purchase of school books has for years been at the prices paid a great tax upon the parents of children needing them, yet at the same time one to which they are compelled to submit. The books published by the new company are, we consider in every way equal to the Van Antwerp company's, both in typographical appearance and the contents of them, and there can be no reasonable complaint against them, but a great feature of them is the price compared to those furnished by the monopoly firm. First readers are now 10c each—old price 25c; geography 75c each—old price $1.60, and in each book required there is a saving to the purchaser of 100 per cent. and in some instances more. There will be a saving of thousands of dollars yearly by the new law. For this welcome change we would not know particularly to whom to ascribe the praise. The agitation favoring cheaper books has been going on for some years. It can be said however, that the suggestion regarding it by Gov. Hovey in his message, and the constant round of shot and shell fired into the Van Antwerp gang by the Indianapolis Sentinel has resulted in giving to Indiana the present excellent law regarding the school books, their prices, contents etc. The school book monopolists can and must retire, as they have been defeated and dismantled and the people, those who have the money to pay, have seen the legislature act fairly and favorably in their interest.

ADVERTISING PHYSICIANS.

The Clinton county medical association has dismissed one of its members who chose to advertise his calling as a practicing physician.—Exchange.

That seems a very arbitrary, tyrannical and unjust code of ethics in any profession which prevents any person from advertising his calling or ability to the world. In this day and age there is any sense or reason for any such a course? The rule forbidding advertising seems to have been a superstitious idea which has been carried down to the present time from past ages. It may be, as many physicians contend, that medical men who advertise are quacks, yet there are large numbers of persons in the medical profession who do not advertise who are also quacks. If one misrepresents so does the other. Why a man of acknowledged ability in medical practice has not the right to make it known through the public press for the benefit of mankind is a matter that the great majority of the public can discern no justice in. A quack by his advertising may mislead the public, but so may and do many that would seemingly be horrified at the idea of advertising. There are without question many physicians advertising who are men of merit in their profession, and on the other hand many worthless incompetent persons who publish their business as physicians. The intelligence of the public soon tells who are the worthy and unworthy of the profession, and the fact that a physician advertises should not prevent him from having a reasonable share of public confidence if he has the merit to sustain him.

THE HORSE FAIR.

The Horse Fair which has been quite extensively advertised takes place to-day in Crawfordville. It should have a large attendance of people and it is quite probable that it will. As an exhibition it is for the inspection and benefit of Montgomery county. Most of the horses are owned and kept in the county that will be on exhibition to-day. Horses form a great portion of the wealth of the community. The better the breed the more wealth there is in them. An exhibition of this kind creates a competition and a desire for the best grades of horses. What would we do and how possibly could business be carried on without the labor of this noblest of all animals? This is a question that is often asked. More attention is every year in this country being given to horses. Come out to-day and see the best product in the line of horses that can be found in Montgomery county.

The doctrine of Protection has been emphasized during the present week in this city. Even the Free Trade papers joined in the cry in favor of the doctrine of Protection.—Journal.

If our neighbor, the Journal, refers to the Review as one of the free trade papers of this city joining in the cry favoring protection it is in error. If a hardware or dry goods merchant can get his printing cheaper and better at Indianapolis than here let him go there, and if we can get our hardware or dry goods cheaper there we certainly have the right to do so. Neither side should have to pay more for its work or goods simply for the sake of helping or "protecting" the other from outside competition. The main thing is to offer such inducements that both will remain at home.

If at Windsor, Canada, just across the river from Detroit, Mich., a good suit of clothes can be purchased for $12 which in this country costs $18 is there any reason that we should be compelled to pay the extra $6 in order that the home tailor shall prosper? Not one bit of it. If the home mechanic cannot thrive let him get out of the business and go at something else that will pay him better, instead of whining around and asking the government to come to his aid. Self-interest controls every mother's son of us, always will, and the desire to get everything at the lowest price without the dictation of saying where we shall go, will always be popular and just.

AMEND THE LAW.

It is quite evident from the revelations lately made in Tippecanoe, Clinton, Madison and other counties in the concealment of property for taxation from the assessors, that one of the duties of the next legislature will be to so amend the law that this cannot be very successfully accomplished hereafter. A change in the law, by which the assessor would be required to thoroughly examine the mortgage records, would be just, practical and correct. This would catch most of the people who seek to avoid the payment of their share of taxation. As it now is, and has been for years, thousands of well-to-do persons in Indiana do not pay their portion of the taxes, and the burden of it falls largely upon the middle and poorer classes of the people. Upon an examination of the recorder's books the fellows holding the mortgages upon loaned money would then be known and what should be assessed against them can then be listed. Unless the inspection of the mortgage records is regularly made every year much property that should be listed will be omitted. These fellows that have successfully evaded the law for eight or ten years are not going to stop because brought up once by the prosecutor. They will do the same thing over. A man that will swear or affirm to a lie once will do so again if there is a reasonable probability that he will not be detected. Let the law be so constructed that it cannot easily be avoided.

NOTWITHSTANDING the invectives hurled at the White Caps all over the country they appear to increase and are seemingly becoming popular on account of the mission upon which their organization is based. As regulators of the morals in many communities they seem to be quite successful. They work quickly and determinedly while at it and give their victims no chance to parley, dispute or defend. Last week at Urbana, Ohio, a large city, a number of White Caps suddenly appeared late at night at the home of an official of that city who had periodically beaten and abused his wife and thrashed him till the blood in numerous little rivulets appeared upon his back. It is probable the unexpected dose will cure him of the crime of wife beating. At Pittsboro, a small village northwest of Indianapolis, the White Caps thrashed a lazy, indolent fellow who would not work but permitted his wife to earn the living for the family. He is reported as very industrious in his habits since then. The White Caps seem to be filling a void that the law has omitted to make provision for heretofore. It is a lawless mob organization, but in spite of this seems to be bringing about some reforms that in the community is welcomed and which the law does not reach.

THE NEEDED INVENTION.

The coming invention, which is to furnish comfort to the millions and great fortunes to its inventors, is that which can furnish a cheaper heat and warmth to the people. Coal and wood are each year becoming more costly, and some thing that will take their places is the demand just now among the people in every part of the country. Where it comes to coal under the control of the coal trusts and rings, they are oppressive, and expensive in their demands, and we must be free from them. Experiments recently made indicate that gas can be manufactured from water, and sold at from 30 cents to 40 cents per 1,000 feet. It may be that this is the invention that is to relieve the people from the going prices that the coal operators demand. That or something akin to it will surely be soon produced. Machines and inventions of all kinds have been originated within the past few years for lessening prices. What is needed now is a cheaper fuel, and it will without doubt be here before many years.

It would certainly appear that politics in this country had sunk to a very low ebb when a man of the instincts of "blocks-of-five" Dudley should be a leader and director of any great political party. He has committed and advised acts contrary to all law and decency, which in any other line of business would have landed him in the penitentiary for a long term of years. He is a "boss Tweed" on a small scale and deserves a similar fate. Yet for all this he is one of the big guns of his party, was and is consulted and advised on political matters, has the run of the pension and postal departments and is in every way a creature of considerable influence with republicans. When such men can control and influence the acts and legislation of any political organization ordinary decency should induce reputable men to leave it.

HALSTEAD, whose nomination for minister to Germany was quickly repudiated by the republican senators, has arrived from Europe, and in order to even up with the senators who repudiated him, is announced as a candidate in his own newspaper, the Commercial Gazette, for U. S. senator to succeed Payne. It depends on which side the majority of the legislature of Ohio may be next winter, but even if republican there is no assurance that this egotistical bombast will be the senator. They know Halstead very thoroughly in that State.

THERE is now $700,000,000 in the U. S. treasury. If this fact could be kept from the "generous" Corporal Tanner the monthly statement of the public debt reduction might give us hope that it is being reduced.

It is a correct thing always to patronize home institutions in preference to foreign, but we recognize the privilege of anybody to go abroad if they feel better suited. If a merchant, firm or corporation gets its printing done abroad because the prices may be lower and the work more satisfactory we will not contend, as we have the same privilege to buy our goods elsewhere and seek foreign advertising and expect at the same time to do so when disposed. That is free trade, and we are in favor of it. The right to buy where you please is natural and cannot be abrogated. So long as mankind is selfish and looks after self-interest so long will people aim to deal where they are best satisfied.

THE location of the World's Fair, in 1892, is now a matter of discussion among newspapers and others. Two cities, New York and Chicago, desire that it be held in their respective places. In the west, Chicago would have the preference with the people. That city, though, always selfish, would desire it solely for the money that it could make from the immense crowds in attendance during its six months' continuance. The Fair should not be used as a money-making scheme but as an exhibition for the benefit and entertainment of the people.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, the champion bruiser, was arrested in New York on a requisition from Gov. Lowry, of Mississippi. Lowry seems possessed of the right kind of metal, and will make prize fighting in his State decidedly unpopular and unprofitable hereafter. Lowry appears to have determined to punish these short haired gentry to the fullest extent that the law will permit him, and reputable citizens everywhere will applaud his efforts.

EX-CONGRESSMAN JAMES E. CAMPBELL, of Ohio, will probably be nominated by the democracy of that State as their candidate for Governor. The nominating convention will be held at Dayton, August 27. The indications are very favorable for the election of the democratic ticket this year in Ohio. Large numbers of republicans are heartily sick and tired of the Foraker crowd and will vote against him for Governor.

Only about two weeks since a large dry goods establishment in New York City went under with a loss, it was stated of near $4,000,000. In Boston last week a shoe manufacturing firm, said to be the largest in the United States, manufacturing 12,000 pairs of shoes per day, failed for $1,000,000. The Harrison boom, it would seem, is just setting in.

IN Warren county, Ohio, investigations lately made show that the treasurer and auditor, by collusion have swindled the county out of $80,000. The auditor is in Canada and the treasurer in jail. The county is and always has been solidly republican, of course, but to add insult to injury the commissioners have appointed republicans to take their places.

ELI F. HORNADAY, formerly of Indianapolis, and the "boss" of a house of ill repute in that city some years since, has been appointed to the position of timber agent by the present pious administration.

The national debt was reduced only $1,000,000 last month. From this specimen of republican financiering at this rate it will require several hundred years before it is paid off.

Mr. W. C. White is engineer on a boat on the Arkansas river, and his address is Little Rock. He says that S. S. S. has relieved him of blood poison, which was the result of malaria, and it prevents chills and fever by toning up the system. He takes it in the spring and summer months to prevent sickness from the malaria of the swamps on the river.

EXAMINE BEFORE YOU BUY.

WHEN in a grocer's store you stand
And cakes of IVORY Soap demand,
Be careful not to be misled
And imitations take instead,
For dealers oft will praise sing
Of that which may more profit bring.
Let not your senses clouded be
Because a snowy cake you see,
For villainy is not confined
To darkest colors, bear in mind.

And oft the sham is not remote
From fairest face or whitest coat.
Examine well with careful eye
The cake until the name you spy,
And always thus be well assured
That IVORY SOAP you have procured;
And should a lingering doubt remain,
'Twill vanish like the darkest stain.
When in the tub on washing day
That cake of soap is brought in play.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
