APPROVED HIS COURSE.

The Grand Army in session at Mauckee last week, in a series of resolutions, unanimously approved Corporal Tanner's actions in the re-rating of pensions and his generous attack on the surplus in the U. S. Treasury.

This, considering Tanner's ideas regarding the pension distribution, his known partiality toward many connected with him, and his loose business methods generally, is somewhat remarkable. There are doubtless many sensible men connected with the Grand Army; men who can readily distinguish right from wrong; men who know that other interests aside from those of the ex-soldiers are to be served, and yet why they could with one accord approve of Tanner's actions is marvelous. If the government twenty years ago fulfilled its contract to the letter in the payment of those in its service, why, considering the debt that is already hanging over the nation, continue to re-open these claims and pay them again? Has not the postal clerk, the foreign minister, the Indian agent of twenty years ago, the same privilege, although long since paid in full, to ask that his claim be re-opened and additional sums be paid to him? There should be business as well as patriotism injected into this matter. Why should not the soldiers of the Mexican war have all their pensions re-rated, or of any other war where the participants are living? Tanner, by hocus-focus arrangement, decides that this man or that is entitled to $3,000 or $5,000 more than he got, and in goes his hand into the treasury for the money. A just, unbiased court of claims would assuredly counteract the work of Tanner. Does the nation exist on earth, or in the past, that has been more generous to its soldiers than this has been? Yet the times in which we now live and those who are to follow and whose legacy is to pay the debt we owe demands attention. The debt owed by the government will not be paid for many years to come. Those holding bonds drawing interest do not desire them paid as long as it can be put off. The bonds are good investments. The paying out of extra trumped-up sums for pensions delays the time that much more when the debt can be extinguished. If there are any good, tangible reasons why many of these individuals who are being "re-rated" and given such princely sums all right, but it is certain that Tanner is incapable and unfit to decide such questions, judging from his actions thus far.

FACTS FOR EX-SOLDIERS.

One of the great claims of the republican party, and one which it has reiterated time and again in its platforms and through its newspapers, is its great and undying love for the soldiers of the late civil war. Now let us examine a specimen of this loud profession since the Burford crew obtained the command of that party in this county. A few months after the election Burford went on to Washington City and gave to the postal authorities the names of those selected by him and his gang as postmasters in Montgomery county. They were confirmed, and not one of them had ever been in the army or taken a hand in putting down the rebellion. Of the ten or twelve names not one had ever smelt the smoke of the battle field. Look around and ascertain for instance whether the new appointees of Burford at Crawfordville, Darlington, Ladoga and Waynetown were ever in the military service of the government. The only ex-soldier, we learn, holding a post office in this county is the one at Parkersburg, and he was appointed by the Cleveland administration. Now, ex-soldiers, there is something for your meditation. In Crawfordville, Capt. Elmore, T. H. B. McCain and Jos. McDaniel, it is understood, were all applicants. They had all been soldiers, yet the Burford crowd paid no attention to any of them. They will certainly believe hereafter that deeds, not words, go much further with those suffering the hardships of a soldier's life. Had there been a Mosby or a Mahone seeking appointment for post master in this county he would probably have received the recommendation of the Burford crowd and been as promptly confirmed.

BUSINESS MATTERS.

If the "Harrison boom" we have been having since the election continues right along during the balance of Benny's term the business men of the country will be very anxious to know just what state of affairs will exist in two or three years hence. Has there in ten years past at any time been any greater depression in business matters, or less money apparently in circulation to carry on the various pursuits of the people? Merchants complain of the dullness in trade, the laboring men find work harder to obtain and the pay for it lower than for years past, strikes are frequent and in almost all parts of the Union among those who are compelled to earn their bread and butter, and yet these are some of the glorious benefits given to those who voted for protection for our industries. How do you admire it, laboring men, so far as you have experienced it since the election? Do you find work or money any plentier since the election? Does your flour, sugar, coffee, oil, etc., seem any cheaper in its price since you voted for Harrison and the platform upon which he and his party stand? Upon the other hand when a democrat was in the presidential chair, were times as "hard" as now, was money as scarce and dissatisfaction as general as now? Let the voters of this country contrast the difference, consider conscientiously the reasons therefor and vote hereafter uninfluenced by party prejudice, and a much more satisfactory state of affairs will be soon observed thereafter.

THE OWNERS of the reservoir and dam north of Johnstown, Penn., that burst its banks and caused a loss of over 6,000 lives last May, have the brazen determination, it is said, to go to work and rebuild it. They must forget their dead, their sorrow, loss and misery at Johnstown to permit this death trap to be reconstructed. The owners of it should be thankful that they are permitted to live, even, which is something they would not be allowed in many communities, after the sad scenes caused by their reservoir.

OHIO POLITICAL MATTERS.

The democracy of Ohio in convention assembled on last week nominated Hon. James E. Campbell, of Hamilton county, that State, as the candidate for governor. At the same time nominations for the other State offices were made. The odds are against the election of a democratic ticket in Ohio, as there has usually been a majority of from 15,000 to 30,000 against it, yet earnest, determined work may accomplish wonders. Three times within the past 20 years has the democracy elected a governor, and by well directed efforts this may be accomplished. Within the ranks of the republican party there are many bitter opponents of Foraker, the republican candidate. He is a demagogue, a fanatic, who has depended for success heretofore by working the soldier chestnut. The people are sickening of this stuff year in and out. They want something new and alive, something relating to the things of the present hour. The financial interests of the State have been badly managed, as has been shown, trusts and various other unmonied combinations have worked oppressions upon the people of Ohio as elsewhere. These and other matters have started a train of thought and action that must defeat the party upholding them. The indications are fair for the defeat of Foraker and the fanatical following around him and the election of Campbell.

If we are not mistaken the REVIEW was one of the first papers to favor David B. Hill, who represents all that is bad in its party.—Rockville Tribune.

Yes, but then you are mistaken. We never favored Hill or any other candidate in particular until nominated. We would, however, support any democrat whether from New York or North Carolina who might be selected by the national convention. This raising of some name to the top of a column in a newspaper for president two or three years before the nomination is generally the feat of some editor who is generally a crank or dabbler by instinct. We believe, since upon the subject of candidates, that the policy of continually selecting candidates as democratic standard bearers from New York, as has often been done by the democracy, is impolitic and nonsensical; that Voorhees or Gray, from this State, Generals Beck or Palmer, from Illinois, or men from other western States, would poll just as large a vote as some man from New York that may be the favorite of some wing of the party in that State. Now, Mr. Tribune, since we are on the question of "favor," will you enlighten us as to which political party you are attached? You seem eminently correct upon the tariff issue, but aside from that it is beyond our ken to say just where you may be located upon other questions.

OVER SIXTY applications were made to John Bonnell last week for the positions of carrying the mails through the city and as clerks in the post office. He will have the appointment of but about eight or ten persons, and this contest for positions shows two things at least, one is the vast number of persons out of employment in this locality, and the other the great number of persons hunting "soft" places. It assuredly indicates a sad state of affairs when such things continue to be. The man laying around idle from month to month hoping to obtain some place having about it little labor and much pay must be an unfortunate creature indeed. He is not satisfied with the slow but sure gains of constant toil, but idles years away trusting to find something light, easy and of sure pay. Yet the country has scores upon scores of such men in every community and in every party. It is anything for something easy with them, and if as energetic in other ways as they are for official position, which to many never comes, they would be independent of the allurements of office.

A WASHINGTON special tells in a few words a significant story touching the shameful carryings-on in the pension department under Looter Tanner. It says: "It was learned today, on excellent authority, that nearly three hundred pensioners employed in the pension office had re-rated each other and awarded each other sums of money in back pay running from $1,000 to $4,000 during the Tanner incumbency. Pensions have been increased from $4 a month to $40 a month and they could not do it fast enough to suit the corporal. On some occasions it was looked upon as a capital joke that young girls employed as clerks in the bureau wrote both the medical and legal opinions for fellows seeking a re-rating, and these opinions were approved by Tanner and railroaded through in forty-eight hours."

A PROLONGED TRIAL.

The trial of six men indicted for the murder of Dr. Cronin, of Chicago, begun last week and bias fair to continue for a long time before it is closed. The evidence gathered from many sources would seem to leave little doubt as to the guilt of three of the men at least, yet a very desperate contest will be made by their friends and attorneys to save them from the gallows or imprisonment. The society known as the Clan-na-Gael, it is understood, will give financial assistance to the persons under trial, they, or most of them, having been members of it, and their conviction would be dangerous to the organization, and would seem to carry with it the oft repeated assertion that the society approved of the cruel and cowardly assassination.

THE attention of the grand jury should be called into the matter of the discovery of the absence of $450 from the county treasury and its subsequent return, or the return at least of most of the sum. There is no party matter in demanding that the Grand Jury make a searching investigation. Republicans as well as democrats, since noticing the matter, consider that it needs the attention of the Grand Jury. They think something is wrong somewhere and they desire to know who has committed it and if guilty to have him promptly punished for it. Right will injure no man. No man doing right need ever fear investigation.

In his last sermon at Lake Maxinkuckee Sam Jones told the truth when he said: "The man who sells his vote is a most despicable wretch; the man who buys it is just as bad, the man who furnishes the money is no better. You say voters are intimidated in the south; they are bought in the north. You say we use lead in the south; you use silver in the north. More men have been bought in Indiana than have been intimidated in Georgia."

UNDER a high protective tariff tax our farmers are selling their wheat for sixty-five or seventy cents a bushel. They ought to be glad to get that under a system that discourages foreign consumers of American productions from buying what they need from us.

THE cheekiest act of the school book ring and a plain example of the determined effort to retain its hold on the people, is noted in an injunction suit brought by it at Indianapolis last week, to prevent the school board of that city from introducing the new school books of the Indiana publishing company. It will not amount to anything however, but sufficiently indicates the last desperate struggle of the corrupt crowd to force its publications upon the people. No wiser nor more beneficial move was ever made by any general assembly than that of last year when it passed the new school book law.

GOVERNOR HOVEY says the people of this State have been robbed in past years out of 300 to 400 per cent. in the price of books, but this fact makes no difference to those who favor the school book trust.

In Memoriam

Phoebe Hampton was born Dec. 13, 1826. Died at her home in Darlington, Ind., Aug. 29, 1889, aged 62 years, 8 months and 15 days. She had been a consistent and devoted member of the Lutheran church from the age of 17 to the hour of her death. She bore her affliction patiently and died without a murmur and in the triumphs of a having faith in Christ. She was married to Samuel Hampton Aug. 13, 1846. She was the mother of 11 children, 5 boys and six girls, 9 of whom are still living and are active members of the church to which their mother belonged. The esteem in which Mrs. Hampton was held was evidenced by the large concourse of people that attended the funeral.

County Treasurer Ramsey is receiving some peculiar mail for a beginner in his line as the following one will testify. First we want to make some explanation. There can be no record found in the treasurer's office of such deposits and if it was made there is no possible way of finding it now unless they have vouchers on the county:

HOOSIER PRAIRIE, ILL., AUG. 30th, '89.

COUNTY TREASURER, CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

Sir:—There was deposited in the treasury of your county a small sum of money over fifty years ago by James Maullin for Elva Maullin. Will you please write me whether you have any account of it or not and oblige, is a type of thousands of young girls who are emerging from the chrysalis stage of their existence, as they enter upon their "teens." Nervous, excitable, irritable, stirred by stange, unknowable forces within them, each a mystery unto herself, our girls need the tenderest care, the most loving, patient oversight, and the aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, to safely carry them through this critical period during which, in too many lives, alas, are sown the seeds of distressing forms of disease peculiar to the female sex. But this boon to womankind will prevent all such diseases, or cure them if they have already seized, a victim. Woman owes it to herself, to her family, and to her social station, to be well and strong. Let her then not neglect the sure means of cure. "Favorite Prescription" is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

Mike Carroll has done no graded road work this year.

W. H. Wight, of Rogers, Ark., a prominent farmer and stock grower, says that Swift's Specific cured him of tetter of twenty years' standing. Of course in that time he had a great amount of treatment, and says the wonder is that he did not scratch the flesh from his bones. SSS cured him quick and permanently.

Grape Cure Establishment.

Mr. Spear, of New Jersey, whose wines have such a well merited reputation all over this country and Europe, for their age and excellent properties in cases of sickness; and are so famous for their curative properties, is about to build a large hotel or grape cure establishment on one corner of his vineyard. The house will accommodate five or six hundred guests who are to have the privilege of roaming among the vines, in the morning to pluck ripe grapes and breakfast on them while the cool dew is yet on.

THE JOLLY OLD MARINER.

A jolly old mariner sailing the sea,
Was roaring a solo and thus thundered he.
"Our ship is as bold as an eagle on wing,
And she carries a cargo that's fit for a king.
A cargo that's welcome to peasant or pope,
Our ship she is laden with IVORY SOAP."

"I've plowed all the oceans to every port,
To visit all nations and climes is my sport.
We carry our goods to the ends of the world,
Our trade is announced on our banner unfurled;
See! blazoned on pennant from top-mast and rope:
"We bring to all people the Ivory Soap."

"From Procter & Gamble, my lads, do you mind?
We carry a blessing to gladden mankind;
For dirt is a foe to the body and soul,
And soap must precede e'en the gospel's control;
Then hurrah! hip hurrah! for philanthropy's hope,
Hurrah for the advent of Ivory Soap."

"Its bars, like the truth, or a life-saving boat,
Ever rise to the top and triumphantly float;
As the foam on the wind-fretted billow 'tis light,
As the elephant's tusk it is glossy and white;
The poets all praise it in measure and trope,
The ocean is thundering—IVORY SOAP."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory;" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
