HOG HEAVEN.

Sickness is about over.
Frank Miller has a new flashy shirt.
R. B. Snyder was in town on Thursday.
Somebody near the cross roads is poisoning dogs.
Rev. Dan Morris will not take a circuit this season.

The Journal correspondent eats regular once a week.

Mrs Stella Grey, of Waynetown is visiting Miss Maggie Crowder.

We were very agreeably surprised last Saturday night. Call again.

W. M. Grey will attend the Bainbridge fair next week. He has the finest lot of sheep in the county.

Neighbors, let us lay for that Journal correspondent, let us egg him out of Hog Heaven the next time he makes his appearance among us.

Frank Miller shook the "blue John" of Hog Heaven from his mud hocks last Tuesday, and cut out for Kansas to grow up with the grasshoppers.

David McFaire is improving nicely since the doctors quit tinkering with him. He went visiting last week, and we think he will get along all right now.

You did not know you had a corn cutter in the cross roads neighborhood, did you? Such is the case. His name is Johnnie Messmore, and he can cut fourteen shocks a day every day during the season.

The dough-faced correspondent of the Journal from here was seen dragging his tragedian-like carcass through Frank Miller's garden of luscious autumn fruits, one night last week. Watch the patch or lose the melons, as we warned you before.

FLAT CREEK.

Mrs. Ellen Moore is quite sick.

Capt. Huff is visiting in Kansas.

A. Elmore lost a fine steer last week.

A. E. Caster has moved to Boone county.

Prof. Wright has moved into Mr. Virts property.

Sherman Trout is becoming quite a stockman.

Ezq. Martin and family visited Joe Lafollette Sunday.

C. A. Elmore was on Pumpkin Ridge, Sunday eve.

Joe Lafollette sold his sheep to David Trout this week.

Miss Mabel Peebles is attending school at Indianapolis.

Charles Eshleman and wife visited parents here Sunday.

A. D. Kellison and wife visited at Crawfordsville, Sunday.

D. E. Elmore and wife were at Crawfordsville, Sunday.

Dick Burk and sister, of Terre Haute, visited here last week.

A. E. Caster and Evi Martin's hogs are still dying of cholera.

Mr. Jones, of Linden, was the guest of T. Sutton over Sunday.

Prof. O. B. Hulse, of New Ross, visited one of our fair misses Sunday.

The toll gate west of here has been torn down. It did not pay the keeper.

Sam Shaver carried off two ribbons on his fine team of horses at our county fair.

Emmett Sutton and wife have returned from Rising, Neb. They went there last spring to make it their future home.

Said a good brother the other day: "Look wise and say nothing. The church is not asleep, either, and the wayward brethren will find it out soon."

Senator Mount will enlighten the teachers of this township on the sources and uses of the school revenue at the next institute, to be held at Darlington on the third Saturday in October.

The following is a list of teachers of Franklin township:

No. 1—Cornelia Cunningham.

No. 2—George Beasley.

No. 3—Elie Campbell.

No. 4—G. B. Welty and Lizzie Shannon.

No. 5—A. D. Kellison.

No. 6—S. A. Wright.

No. 7—Miss Kleinian.

No. 8—Miss Allen.

No. 9—M. V. Faust, P. F. Elston, Alice Kashner and Jennie Kersey.

No. 10—Ella Kline.

No. 11—Miss Townsend.

No. 12—Clara Brockman.

A San Francisco jeweler has just received

$700 for diamonds which he sold twenty-five years ago. The purchaser was honest, but he had bad luck.

Baby pictures a specialty. Only $2 per dozen, Mrs. Ella Willis & Sons.

Oh say! Thompson & Cates want to see you right away. Don't say a word about it they will save you 100 per cent. on Queenware.

Now is Your Chance.

By order of the court I am selling farm and spring wagon, carriages, buggies, surreys, buckboards, carts, harness, robes, blankets, whips and all kinds of material for repair work at actual cost. This is M. D. Doherty & Co., stock formerly the Fisher Doherty & Co., stock. The court has ordered the stock sold and it must be, so you can be assured of securing bargains. A. F. RAMSEY, Assignee.

You can save fifty per cent. by buying stoves and furniture of Thompson & Cates, down at the town pump on Green street.

"It is facts, that stoves, furniture, lamps and a thousand other things can be bought cheaper of Thompson & Cates than any place in the city."

WAGONS. Just received a car load of wagons at Thrusley & Martin's.

Lights and Shades.

I have purchased the latest patent for lighting about arm in arm, or sitting somewhere embracing each other! I'm sure the child had rather be playing tag somewhere."

Oh, well, I had my time afterward; but that isn't in my story.

I was in the way of hearing all the girls of the summer party said, for a good many of us had beds in the big garret, and they all declared it was a shame. Charles Garden was more in love than any one ever was before, and something ought to be done.

One afternoon—it had got pretty near school time again—I came out of the woods

WHERE IS THE SOUL?

Where is the soul? Go ask the sculptured stone
That rises proudly o'er the silent tomb;
Go ask the marble why it stands alone,
Unfaulning witness of man's doom.
Go ask the mourner in affliction's glow,
While the warm tear is glistening in her eye;
Go ask the grave, the slumbering dust below,
And echo to thy words shall still reply,
Where is the soul?

Where is the soul? Not in the grave's embrace,
Amid contagion's pestilential breath;
Go ask the worm in that dark, dismal place,
If spirits linger in those halls of death;
Go ask the clay where man's proud soul hath fled;
Ask of the waving grass and clumsy sod;
Go ask the coffin that contains the dead,
And they shall answer that the soul's abode
Is with God.

THE SUMMER PARTY.

We used to go to Mrs. Goodfellow's every summer when I was a child. That is how I happened to be there when the summer party came up.

You may know or you may not know that school teachers are the wildest of all summer borders.

You'd think them sage maiden ladies in blue spectacles and brown veils, wouldn't you? Indeed, they are not.

This summer party came from New York, and they all taught school.

Mrs. Goodfellow was enough in herself for propriety, but there was plenty of other talk there, especially an English lady—who thought it all "shocking."

Mrs. Goodfellow said that, according to American ideas, it was all right.

"I feel as if they were all my children," said she, "My own are all married and away, and it most breaks my heart to hear 'em go," said "And having young folks makes it seem like old times. I like to see 'em kitting round and playing ball with a fish net—good exercise, poor dears—and I dunno what they do."

The dough-faced correspondent of the Journal from here was seen dragging his tragedian-like carcass through Frank Miller's garden of luscious autumn fruits, one night last week. Watch the patch or lose the melons, as we warned you before.

There they all were—Eveline Brown and Fannie Green, Kate Grey and Rose White, Alice Black and Gladys Jaune—not an agy girl among them. And there was Tom Hope and Dick Breeze and Harry Ashe and Rob Bunting and Will Roth and Charlie Garden, and it was a jolly party, as one might expect, when every one of those young men vowed to offer his hand, heart and home to any young fortune—his hand, heart and salary to one of those young ladies before vacation was over.

No wonder Mrs. Goodfellow, who acted up to her principles, was a general favorite. No wonder that when those young people asked each other, "Where shall we go?" the unanimous answer was, "To Mrs. Goodfellow's."
