THE REVIEW.

—BY—
LUSE & BERRY.

THINGS POLITICALLY.

Glory to God. Even Iowa. Who would have thought it?

In the grand, good Harrisonian times, when a poor fellow is in great luck to have a quarter, who would have expected the elections to have resulted differently.

We respectfully ask that esteemed friend of ours over in Ripley if he can see that rooster we promised him last Monday?

Over in Coal Creek they say that "Kunne!" Wingate has had spasms for the past few days. His devotion to Foraker was painful.

It was a sickly, yellow complexioned expression that Postmaster Bonnell had on Wednesday evening. But then Foraker did not have control of the post offices, even if he did think he was a greater man than Jesus Christ.

They had the "pictures took" of the famous log cabin in Coal Creek, and intend to use it for campaign purposes next year. Wingate was in the door, but such good timber as Steve Beach and A. W. Chilcote were on the other side of the street.

Lost, strayed or stolen?—One John Burford has not been heard from since the election on Tuesday. Description: Head slightly swelled with political influence, and a vest, pocket full of 8th district offices. If finder will send him up Salt River he may have our last year's pants and use our boat.

The Farmers' Institute.

The first days session of the Farmers' Institute opened at the small court room of the court house on Tuesday morning. President J. N. Davidson called the meeting to order and announced the committees as follows:

RESOLUTIONS—H. M. Billingsly, Robert Ashby and S. A. B. Beach.

MUSIC—Ed. Brandkamp and George F. Hughes.

The committees on arrangements and reception had already been appointed but are as follows:

ARRANGEMENTS—J. L. Davis, J. N. Davidson, R. B. Snyder, J. C. Barnhill and P. S. Kennedy.

RECEPTION—J. L. Goben, D. W. Roundtree, W. W. Seawright, and H. H. Talbot.

The Institute was continued over until Wednesday evening, an interesting session being held on Tuesday evening. Addresses on subjects relating to agriculture were delivered by Prof. Lotta and Webster, of Purdue University. Papers were read by Hon. James A. Mount, P. S. Kennedy, Jacob Harshbarger, Prof. Regan, and others. The proceedings were both pleasant and profitable, and hereafter the Institute will, no doubt, be largely attended.

An Indiana Woman's Wealth.

There recently died in San Francisco a woman noted for her charities who was born at South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Charles Crocker left an estate valued at $5,500,000. Few women of large wealth have given of their abundance more liberally or judiciously to objects of charity. She erected the Old People's Home, and it was her especial pride that it should be a lasting monument. She liberally gave to the Women and Children's Hospital, and there is hardly a local charity in her adopted city that has not been the recipient of her bounty. Mrs. Crocker was a widow and 62 years of age, and her maiden name was Mary A. Deming and had resided in California since 1851. She was the mother of five children, four of whom survive her.

Qualification meeting at the court house to-night.

SHILOH.

Johnnie Casad is working for Mr. Gray. Mr. Dize has returned from a visit to Virginia.

The gypsies pulled up stakes on Monday and left for other parts.

Those having clover seed out now stand a good show for wintering it over.

To-morrow evening, at 7 o'clock, is Rev. Snyder's regular appointment here.

Eph. Mears has moved on Bruce Carr's farm and Andy Clements has moved on his own.

Some people we know of made faster time Halloween than a base ball player making a home run.

Quite a number from here attended the reception given in honor of George Kennedy and wife Thursday evening.

Smith and Harland have had several hundred cords of wood cut off the piece of land they bought of Maria Line.

Vint Smith auctioneered Neal Elliot's sale last week, and T. L. Mitchell's to-day. When in need of an auctioneer, give him a trial.

Neal Elliot has sold his farm to his brother, and his personal property at public sale. He has moved to Frankfort to keep books for his uncle.

Trucks were brought to move the toll house to the piece of road in Walnut township, which that township voted down, but the people along the road concluded they needed no house of that kind as they would purchase the road by subscription.

PATTON'S CORNER.

Jim Alexander is selling books. Farmers are busy cribbing corn. Tom Lynch was home last Sunday. H. B. Klug is painting his new barn. Cap. Tribby makes cider every Wednesday. Marsh Patterson was shooting quails all last week.

Ed. Swank furnishes the music for all the dances.

Charles Cowen repairs all the harness that is broken.

Wm. Cowan will start his grist mill in about two weeks.

James Miller does the veterinary work of this part of the country.

The wet weather has made a great improvement on the wheat.

Miss Mollie Mills, of California, visited Mattie Hanna last week.

Tommy Patton, of New Richmond, visited Wm. Quillin last Sunday.

Ask Jim Quillin about the number of rats he saw one night last week.

James Quillin, of near Waynetown, visited his brother here last Monday.

Uncle Marsh Patton visited friends near New Richmond last Sabbath.

Johnnie Utterback, our trustee, is well liked by every body in the township.

All should take the REVIEW and not bother your neighbors by borrowing so much.

Our school at the corner is going on nicely under the management of Evert Morrow.

It is to be hoped by all good people that the tatters will not cause any trouble from this on.

It is pretty hard for a father to see his own children or grand children go to the poor house.

Wm. Quillin, son and daughter, after a long struggle with typhoid fever, are able to be out again.

Parker Sims, of Celina, Tenn., and an ex heavy weight pugilist, is visiting O. R. Taylor, of this part.

Rev. Rogers preached a good sermon at Round Hill last Sunday. Go hear him it will do you good.

Miss Mamie Lynch, who has been sick with typhoid fever for several weeks, is able to be up again.

It is reported that a young contractor of Beaville, near Kirkpatrick, will soon take one of our best young ladies away.

Nearly all the farmers in this part have their farms posted against quail hunters, who are as numerous as the quails.

A man near New Richmond, fell in love with a certain young lady, but got out again by the assistance of her father.

Some of the boys of this section of the country went to a dance last Thursday night with their buggy whips, but returned without them.

Wonder what they think now when they didn't get their own work put on the innocent? They are not smart enough for that kind of a game.

The young man that gave his name as Jos. Wheeler last Sunday night, is well known here, and another break like that and he will be taken care of.

Henry Groves, a clever and honest old bachelor of P. B., was here on last Monday looking after fat swine. Henry would make a good catch for some old maid.

The republicans in this locality are beginning to find that protection and Harrison do not fill their dinner tables. They are getting their eyes open to the protection humbug.

Some one could make a good living by following the dances that are being held in Coal Creek township and gathering up the empty bottles that the boys leave around the houses.

Not many months ago, a well-known man of this part made his son carry dinner to the corn field for a woman of bad reputation. This looks dark to the father, to a man up in a tree.

George Quillin knows the party that burned the coon tree down, and part of his line fence and says if they do not come and work the tree up in wood, he will see what the grand jury will do for them.

A man in this neighborhood with only one tooth, claims that he ate sixteen bushels of hickory nuts last season. If this man had have had a double row of teeth the devastation would have been wonderful.

Harve Taylor of this neighborhood, was attacked by a bull last week, and might have been dangerously cored, but, Harve being stouter than the animal, he caught him by the horns, threw him down and almost kicked him to death.

Cholera is fast making away with the hogs of this neighborhood, dozens dying every day. Many farmers have lost their entire drove. The disease is spreading to other parts, and every effort to check its progress, has, so far, proved unavailing, and pork raisers are greatly discouraged.

Another Villainous Trust.

The probability is that the Indiana Barb Wire Company will be compelled to close down permanently after the first of January, on account of the formation of what is known as the Federal Steel Trust, an organization with a capital of $25,000,000, and which has contracted with all the wire mills of the country for their entire output of wire. This will compel all the small factories to close down. The Indiana Company could enter the trust, but that would cause a virtual wiping out of the concern and the managers prefer a natural death.—Journal.

Cable Road plug tobacco—a splendid article at Wm. Hardee's.

OUCH!

Ouch how I have suffered with rheumatism, day and night—all the time, no rest, no peace; always a pain here and a pain there. When any of my friends came to see me I was as cross as a bear. I could not open my mouth without a pain going through me. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried

O

GUCCOLOID—one-third of a bottle cured me. My friends now say: "Jake, you were cured quicker than anybody." I say, get a bottle at Lew Fisher's drug store and try it yourself. Rheumatism can't stay when you use it. To all my friends I would say use GUCCOLOID for rheumatism.
