A WESTERN MAN DEMANDED

Congressman Cummings, of St. Louis, remarked in an interview last week that "It is not necessary in my opinion to have a New York man on the national ticket (in 1892) in order to win." So soon as the democracy of this country begin to learn the fact that New York does not represent the entire democracy, but only a small part of it, and that it is not necessary once in every four years to nominate a candidate from that state in order to win, that much sooner will the prospects for success be more favorable in our national campaigns. They appear in New York City to look upon the office of mayor of far more consequence than any presidential office. They did at least act just that way last year. In most instances candidates the democratically ticket from New York have been defeated, although pushed forward for the nomination by its citizens. The leading politicians of the party in that city seem very two-faced and unreliable when it comes to supporting their candidates. The suggestion that a western man be chosen is a good one. At the worst he cannot receive any worse treatment than New York has so often bestowed on candidates from that state, but instead we believe that a much better race would be made with some such man as Black, of Illinois, Gray, of Indiana, or some other western democrat for first place.

Hungry Place Hunters.

Collector Throop, it is said, has applications from 400 persons for positions in the revenue department over which he has charge, although there are but 40 to appoint. The remaining 360 will go back to sadness, gloom and anger, after the 40 are comfortably settled. It is a pity that there are so many offices under our form of government, and a shame that there should be so many office hunters. It indicates an unhealthy state of affairs in some particulars. It shows a want of independence and self reliance in seeing so many people, among all classes and political parties wanting official position. Energetic, determined toil, with every dollar earned by hand or brain they do not desire. Little work with large pay is the one thing needful and altogether lovely with them. It may be a fair estimate to say that 25 per cent. of the voters of this country want office, hope for it, or expect it, and will take anything of official position, regardless of the small remuneration that may attach to it so that it is office. The great need now in legislative matters is to contrive some plan for abolishing many offices, and instead of creating them to abolish them altogether. It would be better for the country if it were done, and the sooner the better.

If this is an age of reform, we think a good place for a part of it would be in the nomenclature of "Bills of Fare" furnished by leading hotels of this country. Why not put pure English instead of the execrable stuff, denominated French, in the names of many articles for the consumption of guests? A hungry man is at once disgusted with a lot of words confronting him on the bill of fare at many hotels, which neither he, nine-tenths of the guests, and often the proprietor himself does not understand. People generally have ceased to regard the "grub" as always first-class at any hotels, simply because outlandish titles in an unknown language are given to many parts of it. For instance we noticed on a hotel bill of fare a few days ago, the following line, "Creme de Volaille a la Reine. Petits Bouches aux Huitres." The perplexed and hungry guests probably had to be carried out fainting from efforts to translate the above. If it were chicken gravy, rhine wine or baked potatoes, why not say so in just those words instead of smothering up a very common dish with words like the above. The guests generally have no time to study a foreign language while waiting for something to eat, and landlords have no right to presume on their patience and good nature by such means.

ONE of the biggest swindles of the age was developed only a few days ago at Chicago. A firm known as Fredrickson & Co., of that city, swindled various individuals during the past two years out of about $900,000. Their plan was to give mortgages on property to which they had no title. They have been doing a big business in western railroad land, mostly selling small parcels to immigrants and poor people on the installment plan. When partly paid, Fredrickson & Co., would give a deed, taking a mortgage to secure deferred payments. These mortgages were sold or used as collateral for loan. An ex-Governor, of Wisconsin, loses $150,000 by them, and many other parties large sums of money.
Many of their victims were among the shrewd-est of business men of Chicago, and yet they were smoothly taken in, and have to suffer their losses. And it is remarkable at the gullibility of many who are themselves considered the sharpest of sharp men. Fredrickson & Co. represented a firm of about ten men, most of whom are breathing at this time, the pure, crisp air of Canada, and contemplating the fact that the world has not lost all the fools yet.

BAD FOR THE CRONIN MURDERERS.

All the evidence tending to prove the innocence of the men arrested for the murder of Dr. Cronin in Chicago has been furnished by the defense, and such as it is will aid, we think, their cause very little before the jury that is to decide it, in fact it is not near as strong in their favor as many anticipated. The general opinion seems to be that three of the prisoners, Bourk, O'Sullivan and Coughlin, will receive death sentences, while the others may be imprisoned for a term of years. It will and should have a very salutary effect on the organization and propagating of any secret political organizations in this country, and will certainly have a tendency to do away with them. The Clan-na-Gael will receive just as much contempt and respect hereafter as the Anarchists from the American people, and the execution of a few members of it will tend to dissolve and disintegrate it the same as it has done with the Anarchists.

HOME MARKET.

[Communication.]

See here, my farmer friend, who voted the Republican ticket in 1888, because you were told that by protecting manufacturers, you could build up a home market for the products of the farm, thus saving transportation to Liverpool, and you foolishly believed the story.
Now where is your home market, and what increased prices do you get for your products, and what rules the prices of all your surplus?
You can certainly now see what the Democrats told you then, that Liverpool puts the price on everything you have to sell whether it is consumed in Manchester or Massachusetts, and the great home market scheme reached no further than to secure your vote. They got your vote, now what are you getting? Oh! a home market, ha! ha! ha! You have been used like the monkey used the cat's paw. What are you doing with your farmer products, your cattle, hogs, grain, everything? Ah! putting it off into a home market. But what do you get in exchange, if you happen to want any of the protected, articles that you voted to sustain?
You pay about 47 per cent. more for them than you should do. But hold on to it, my dear friend, you are having a glorious home market brought right to your door. Now the Mississippi valley is purely an agricultural country with but little manufacturing in it, and every dollar that the farmer pays for protection only aids that much to his expense. Consequently it reduces the profits of his agricultural income.

Nearly every thing that the farmer buys is the product of those protected industries and this tariff costs him at least 33 per cent. to sustain his Republican political opinion. You can stand it till all your poplar, and oak, and walnut timber is gone to help pay your taxes and interest, but these will soon be off, and you can now look at the condition of the farmers of Vermont and see what you will come to in a little while.

State agents are now in Sweden trying to persuade Swede farmers to come to America and locate on the deserted farms in Vermont, and let the tariff protected lords have another set of farmers to pluck, as they have already done one set, who, having found that a home market is a delusion, and broken, bankrupted, have deserted the old homestead and sought a new home in the far West. These agents have secured two small colonies to be located in Windham county, Vermont. These deserted farms are in the very heart of the protected industries of the state. Large factories look up on every hand, and a stately mansion, encircled by pleasant groves and vine-clad arbors stands on a back ground, and homes for the operatives, more squalid and dirty and disgusting than old-time slave quarters in the South, cluster around the old mill.
Now, here is a home market, but the farmers that raised garden products and food for this market found the operatives too poor to buy, and all the grain and flour or meal that they consumed came from the Mississippi valley and were sold at Liverpool prices. They deserted their old homes and went perhaps to Kansas. But the Kansas farmers, by thousands are deserting their farms and going somewhere else. Their farm products have to be sold so low that they cannot meet taxes and interest, and no surplus timber sell, like the deluded Republicans of Indiana, who voted for protection, they have to get up and away.
Here you can see what a protective tariff has done for the farmers of Vermont, yes, and all New England, as well. It has sucked the blood from their veins, the marrow from their bones, and is picking the profits out of the pockets of all the farmers in the far West.
Kansas looks and feels like a sick kitten, lean, lank, and sore-eyed. Nebraska still votes the Republican ticket, yet she is calling out loudly, "Who struck Billy Patterson?" She is conscious that something is the matter with HER. But Iowa, soon after the election of 1888, saw her mistake; saw that she had been feeding Puck's long cow to be milked by Yankee manufacturers, and clothing herself in sack cloth and ashes, she became humbly penitent, and in November she came out clean, in her right mind, like the man that had long remained among the tombs did, after the devils were all driven out of him. TOM MORE.

A vein of anthracite coal, over 200 feet in thickness was reported to have been discovered in Pennsylvania a few days ago. Consumers of this quality of coal need not for an instance think that it will be any cheaper on account of this discovery. It is doubtful if half the state of Pennsylvania were underlaid with it, if it would be any cheaper. That state is the abiding place of monopolists, trusts, syndicates, etc., who control the supply and price of almost every commercial commodity produced. Railroads and coal operators in that state are a unit on the coal question, and when ever anthracite coal is sold, make the consumer pay them immense exorbitant profits for it.

GATH, the valuable correspondent, says: "The elections are supposed to put to rest President Harrison's chances for renomination. It would be hard to find anybody he has given actual satisfaction, unless it might be some earnest pastor of the Presbyterian churches and possibly Mr. Wanamaker. He has had his own way since he was president, has been at no time forced from his intentions and has had his nominations confirmed. Nevertheless, a combined want of both policy and temperament has operated to multiply the troubles of his political supporters without attaching anybody to some special heroic point in the chief magistrate."

A VERY destructive fire occurred at Boston, Mass., on Thanksgiving Day of last week, and the loss is estimated at $5,000,000. Many of the buildings were the finest business structures in America, constructed of iron, granite, stone of various kinds, and were considered absolutely "fire proof." There is not and probably never will be a building that is "fire proof." Everything yields before heat. The most substantial structures of iron and stone yield to heat, and the words "fire proof" are useless adjectives used in describing any building. They don't construct that kind and probably never will.

CONGRESS.

Congress commenced in the regular session on Monday of this week. Reed, an eastern man, was elected speaker of the House, much to the disgust of the friends of McKinney, the Ohio great man. Both the Senate and the House are republican, and upon them the responsibility will rest for vicious legislation.
The tariff law will be tinkered with, of course, but it will not be changed or modified to any extent that it may injure the eastern monopolists and manufacturers in whose interest it is now executed.

A Decision.

Some fellow up in Newton county with the title of "Judge" in front of his name, has decided that the new school book law of Indiana is unconstitutional. It is generally supposed to have been done at the instance of the old school book monopoly of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., who were placed hors du combat by the act of the last legislature. Constitutional or not, we all know that it has been of wonderfully great benefit to the people; that it was constructed for their benefit and nine tenths of them are well satisfied with it. Its execution injures nobody but a grasping, exhorbitant book publishing company, and why seek to change it? No excuse nor reason, whatever, in doing so. Whatever may be hereafter the effect of this decision, we do not believe that it will aid the book monopolists in the least. The people have seen that we can have as good and much cheaper school books than heretofore, and it would be a useless undertaking to again seek to force them to see suctain the old monopoly whatever may be the opinion of some Judge.

A great many have contended that natural gas was an article upon which nothing as to its permanency could be relied. It already, for some unknown cause, appears to be giving out at Indianapolis, and, last week, many complaints were heard on account of its scarcity.
Several houses had to renew their coal supply.

WARNER, the Safe Cure man, it is announced, has sold his establishment to an English syndicate for $5,000,000. If so, newspapers that do advertising for this firm hereafter, may get their pay much sooner than under the old proprietorship.

Simon Yandes.

Concerning Mr. Simon Yandes, of Indianapolis, who lately made a $40,000 donation to Wabash College, the Indianapolis Sun says:
"Another millionaire, a most unassuming man, is the venerable bachelor, Simon Yandes, who is the only man in town who equals Fairbanks for length, both being about six feet two inches tall. Mr. Yandes began a young man practicing law in this city 50 years ago, his office being just where it is now, half way between Meridian and Pennsylvania-sts., on Washington Street, though he has long since abandoned active practice. As a lawyer he became eminent and at the same time wealthy.
His income was spent wholly in investments that years afterward brought fruit tenfold.
For a number of years Yandes has been a devoted student of theology, and has collected a library of theological works that is perhaps superior to any other in the state. He is also a deep student in literature and has a hobby for collecting and studying every available work on Dr. Samuel Johnson, 'Boswell's Johnson,' and his Johnsoniana, if such it may be called, is wonderfully exhaustive. He is also a man devoted to the veneration of his mother's memory, and the casual visitor to his private apartments can readily observe the results of this never-dying affection. While he is generally believed to be close-fisted, it is a fact that his donations for charitable purposes, when worthily required, aggregate several thousand dollars annually. Only recently, as a result of his ardent literary tastes he has endowed Wabash college with a chair of literature, contributing $40,000 for that purpose."

Quick, safe and sure. This is said of Salvation Oil, the great rheumatic remedy and greatest cure on earth for pain. Price 35cts a

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of electric bitters. So many feel that they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the great alternative and tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of the kidneys, liver or stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by the use of electric bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at Nye & Co.'s drug store.

The fountain of perpetual youth was one of the dreams of antiquity. It has been well-nigh realized in Ayre's Sarsaparilla, which much of the vigor and freshness of youth.

Diamond Dyes
Brilliant!
Durable!
Economical!

Diamond Dyes excel all others in Strength, Purity, and Fastness. None other are just as good. Beware of imitations, because they are made of cheap and inferior materials and give poor, weak, crockey colors. To be sure of success use only the DIAMOND DYES for coloring Dresses, Stockings, Yarns, Carpets, Feathers, Ribbons, &c., &c. We warrant them to color more goods, package for package, than any other dyes ever made, and to give more brilliant and durable colors. Ask for the DIAMOND, and take no other.
