

The Safest

AND most powerful alternative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.

"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores on his head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number, and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

SALARY, BUT NO FEES.

The coming session of the Indiana legislature will have the important matter of making a law regulating the pay of state and county officers. Among the declarations of the platform of the last democratic state convention was the following:

"We favor the total abandonment of the system of fees and perquisites in the payment of state and county officers; and we demand the enactment of a law by the next legislature fixing fair salaries for all public officials, the same to go into effect as soon as practicable."

The democracy is pledged to economy, retrenchment and reform. The last democratic legislature gave to the people the new election law, the school book law and many others in the interest of the people. Among its important work will be the establishment and reduction in the pay in many of the state and county offices. This is demanded in almost every county in Indiana. In proportion to the work done the salary and fees have been entirely too large. Compared to the services of men in many mercantile or professional lines the amount paid to officials has been away beyond what it should be. Many of them have made great fortunes through the salary given them and constructed fees they have claimed. They should cease now and a democratic legislature has it in its power to bring about the much needed reform. We believe, and so will the majority of people, that for his individual services no county official should be entitled to more than $2,000 per year in filling the duties of his office, whatever they may be, yet scores of them receive from three to six times that amount, and many of them even more. This money all comes off the tax-payers. A reform in this matter has been demanded for years, yet every attempt heretofore in that direction has failed. A combination of county officials has generally been formed at every session of the legislature to buy up a few members and prevent the enactment of this much needed law. But this must be prevented. The people demand lower pay for services of county officials. The party is pledged to it and must stand to its word. The legislature may have an opposition as strong financially as was the school book octopus, but must meet its onslaughts with as much determination.

ONE OF THE CAUSES.

Gov. Hovey in an interview gives one, as among many reasons for the defeat of the republicans the failure by congress to pass the service pension bill. There is no doubt but that this had a great deal to do with it. Old soldiers voted a straight Democratic ticket and were proud of it. They wanted to show the party which promised them the earth if they would go forth to the battle of the Union, that they knew they had deceived them with lying promises, which they never intended to fulfill. We hold the doctrine that nothing is too good for the veteran soldiers, who took their lives in their hands, defeated the enemy and saved the Union. They were paid in depreciated currency—some of them have as yet received no pensions on account of damnable red tape and infamous neglect on the part of the pension department, and will, in all likelihood, go down to their graves without the recognition that is justly due them. The grand old party turned its back upon them, and they, in turn, have turned their backs upon the grand old party.

BUTCHERS through the state two years ago were clamorous for a law preventing the shipping of beef into this state before it was inspected, and a law of that import was passed by the state last legislation. The Supreme Court last week held what is known as the "Dressed Beef Act" to be unconstitutional. The last Legislature enacted that beef cattle offered for sale should be inspected before slaughter. The law was passed at the distasteful of farmers and local butchers to head off the shipment of dressed beef by the outside packers, and the appeal was carried up from Marion county. The Chief Justice holds that the Federal Supreme Court having recently decided that a Minnesota law nearly the same was unconstitutional, it followed that a similar disposition must be made of the Indiana enactment.

THE STATE MAJORITY.

The democratic majority on the state ticket is about 20,000. This is much larger than most of the politicians anticipated it would be. It is a good record to measure by two years hence. It was the "off" year of course, and we cannot reasonably expect to have such encouraging figures in two years from this time, but we must have a majority the next time for the state and presidential ticket. This can be done by the legislature at its next session acting prudently and wisely in the interest of the people, by the passage of wholesome and needed laws, and the doing away of useless ones that encumber the statutes of the state. We are on trial now and if we act conservatively in the interests of the public can retain the advantages we have lately won.

The benefits of organization and thorough drill of the voters in a political campaign were never better shown than in the contest that closed on the 4th of this month in a complete victory for the democracy. For some weeks before the close of the campaign Mr. Charles Johnson held meetings in every part of Union township instructing voters in the new system of casting ballots so that they would be familiar with it on election day. On the other hand the republican committee seemed to have forgotten the necessary part of the political work, and when the election came off most of the democratic voters knew exactly how to cast their ballots, while scores of the republicans did not. Of defective or worthless ballots cast in this township and which had to be thrown out three out of every four were cast by republicans.

A queer thing happened in the Tenth (Logansport) district. In 1888, Wm. D. Owen, a rep., was elected to congress by a plurality of 153, and on the 4th inst. Col. D. H. Patton, Dem., defeated Owen by 1,162—reversing Owen's plurality, with 6 votes to spare.

THERE were about twenty-eight persons serving as door keepers at the last session of the legislature in each house. This looks extravagant and useless and the next session must not exhibit any such foolishness. Let the city and the rural parts, who imagine they saved the party at the last election and who will crowd the hotel corridors at Indianapolis at the beginning of the next session in January be given to understand that economy is demanded and not new offices created for their special benefit, and that the best thing for most of them is to stay at home and saw wood if nothing better presents itself. It is entirely probable that the legislature can get along with one-half less officials than were retained at the last and previous sessions and public sentiment will demand that it do so.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

The people of our beloved state are blessed with health, peace and plenty, for which we should humbly offer thanks to Almighty God, the giver of every good and perfect gift.

Wherefore, I, Alvin P. Hovey, governor of the state of Indiana, in accordance with a long and well-established usage, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 27th day of November, 1890, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the state, this 10th day of November, A. D., 1890.

ALVIN P. HOVEY.

By the Governor:

CHARLES F. GRAFFIN,

Secretary of State.

CAN IT BE CURED.

FROM time out of mind it has been said that consumption could not be cured, and the victim upon whom this disease had fastened its clutches should at once set his house in order and get ready to leave the world of sin and sorrow. A fifth of the inhabitants of the world it is said are killed by consumption—by the destruction of the lungs. A German physician, it is believed has actually discovered a cure, although he will not so announce it until further experiments are made. By his treatment a number have been cured, but further investigations will be carried on aided to the fullest extent by the German government. If successful it will be a great boon to mankind and the world will arise and call him blessed.

GOVERNOR CANDIDATES.

Hon. W. R. Myers, of Anderson, Ex-Secretary of State, and Mortimer Nye, of Laporte, an elector on the Cleveland ticket, are in the field as pronounced candidates for Governor, and Ex-Congressman Matson, defeated by Hovey two years ago is ambitious for another chance. Still another candidate is John G. Shanklin of Vanderburg. The press generally is crediting Charles Jewett, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, as having, his eye on the governor's chair. In this locality thus far as known Myers is the favorite among democrats for the nomination, the opinion being that he is entitled to the race and that none would make a more effective campaign than he.

Gov. PALMER, of Illinois, who, it was thought, would secure the position of U. S. Senator, it would appear, is likely to be omitted in the selection. The legislature consists of 101 republicans, 101 democrats and 3 persons of the farmers' alliance party. The 3 alliance men, while not favorable to a republican, propose by the aid of one or the other parties to place a man of their own choice for the position. Palmer is a democrat and a very worthy man, but the alliance men are proposing to use the balance of power suddenly thrust on to them, and some unknown quantity will no doubt be chosen for U. S. Senator from that state for the next six years.

THE republicans, as usual, have shown they have no love for the colored brother except when they want to use him: when he wants to use them they simply won't play. This is again demonstrated in the contest for members of the legislature in Marion county, the only place in the state where the republicans nominated one of the colored brothers for office. He was a school teacher and far above the average of his race but he ran 800 votes behind his ticket. In other words, there are eight hundred voters in the republican party in Marion county who will not vote for a negro even when they concede that a United States Senator may depend upon it.

THE New York Tribune suggests the name of Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun, as the proper man for the democracy of that state to select for U. S. Senator. There is much impudence in the suggestion. Dana is not the kind of a democrat that the party anywhere admires. He opposed both the election of Hancock and Cleveland, in fact aided the republicans by his course. The democracy surely in that state will have little to do with him. The Tribune may suggest the name of Blaine yet as a democratic candidate for president. There would be as much sense in the last as in the first suggestion.

It is probable that our present election law or one similar to it will be adopted this year in Ohio, Illinois and other states. If so the last hope of the republican party is gone. Take away from the leaders of that party the opportunity to corrupt the voters of the country, and the foundation of their success is destroyed. An honest election means a loss to the republican party, and none are more thoroughly aware of this than its leaders. Nothing better demonstrated this than the last election.

A NUMBER of Lafayette men seemed very ambitious last week to become murderers. They wanted to take Bennett out of jail, who had killed two men only a few days before, and hang him. They desired to punish a crime by committing one themselves. Their acts indicate a clear case of attempted murder, and indictments should be promptly returned against them for it. Their style of going at it exhibits as much sneaking cowardice as Bennett exhibited when he sneaked up on his victims.

No sooner is some unknown man elected governor of a state than some crank newspaper man wants him run as candidate for president. Already some one has suggested Patton, the new democratic governor of Pennsylvania, as a candidate for president and thinks vana, as a candidate for president with Cleveland, Hill, Gray and others, although no one outside of Pennsylvania ever heard of him until the late election.

THOSE Ohio gentlemen who delivered themselves of so much trash on the occasion of the banquet to Hon. A. G. Thurman at Columbus, last week, are somewhat inconsistent compared to their actions only a few short years ago when Thurman sought the position of U. S. Senator from that state. They at that time threw him aside for a nonentity known as Payne, and the "Old Roman" was not half so dear to their eyes as he seems now to be.

A BRUTE of the worst species, near Mitchell, Ind., beat his sister to death because she failed to procure some whisky for him and his father the other day. If there were any adequate punishment that could be meted out to this man he should receive it forthwith.

HON. E. V. BROOKSHIRE will return to Washington city in a day or two to be present at the convening of congress on Monday, December 1.

A DOCTOR'S CONFESSION.

He Doesn't Take Much Medicine And Advises The Reporter Not To.

"Humbly? Of course it is. The so-called science of medicine is a humbug and has been from the time of Hippocrates to the present. Why the biggest crank in the Indian tribes is the medicine man."

Very frank was the admission, especially so when it came from one of the biggest young physicians of the city, one whose practice is among the thousands, though he has been graduated but a few years, says the Buffalo Courier. Very cozy was his office too with its cheerful grate fire, its Queen Anne furniture, and its many lounges and easy-chairs. He stirred the fire lazily, lighted a fresh cigar, and went on.

"Take the prescriptions laid down in the books and what do you find? Poison mainly, and nauseating stuff that would make a healthy man an invalid. Why in the world science should go to pains for its remedies I cannot tell, nor can I find any one who can."

"How does a doctor know the effect of his medicine?" he asked. "He calls, prescribes, and goes away. The only way to judge would be to stand over the bed and watch the patient. This cannot be done. So, really, I don't know how he is to tell what good or hurt he does. Sometime ago, you remember, the Boston Globe sent out a reporter with a stated set of symptoms. He went to eleven different practitioners. This just shows how much science there is in medicine."

There are local diseases of various characters for which nature provides positive remedies. They may not be included in regular physician's list, perhaps, because of their simplicity but the evidence of their curative power is beyond dispute. Kidney disease is cured by Warner's safe cure, a strictly herbal remedy. Thousands of persons, every year, write as does H. J. Gardiner, of Pontiac, R. I., August 7, 1890:

"A few years ago I suffered more than probably ever will be known outside of myself, with kidney and liver complaint. It is the old story I visited doctor after doctor, but to no avail. I was at Newport, and Dr. Blackman recommended Warner's safe cure. I commenced the use of it, and found relief immediately. Altogether I took three bottles, and I truthfully state that it cured me."

Hendricks county has not had a saloon for 30 years, but now some fellow is going to start one.

Tetter and Boils.

For years I was afflicted with an aggravated case of tetter. I tried lotions, salves, soaps, and other outward applications, without any beneficial results. In addition to the tetter, boils commenced breaking out all over my body, causing me so much pain that I had to quit work and go to bed. I then decided that I had started wrong, and instead of using external treatment I ought to go to the seat of the disease and purify my blood, as it was obviously bad blood that caused both the tetter and the boils. I took several blood purifiers without any good effects. About the time my case was declared incurable I commenced taking SSS. In a few weeks the tetter was cured, and one by one the boils disappeared, until I was entirely and permanently cured. This was three years ago, and since then I have been free from any skin eruption. My skin is now, and has been for three years, as clear as any one's. SSS not only cured me of the tetter and boils, but also restored my appetite and general health, causing me to increase in weight and improve in every way.
