IS DEHORNING A SUCCESS?

The man who has seen two or three vicious cows occupy the whole shed on a stormy winter night while the rest of the herd shivered in the cold, and then saw the whole herd huddled together like sheep after the use of the saw, for the use of the saw is justifiable where milder means cannot be used, can answer this question very positively and emphatically in the affirmative. THE SAW IS BEING REPLACED BY Lewis & Bennett's Dehorning Fluid, that does the work smoothly and better, and without the shock to the system that the saw causes. The Fluid can be used in any time as well as any other, for it makes no raw surface for the flies to work on.
This is a very decided advantage over the saw as the reader can see plainly.

The best time to use Lewis & Bennett's Muley Maker or Dehorning Fluid is from three days to three weeks of age.

NO AFTER-TREATMENT is required, for the Fluid forms a protective coat on the Corneal horn that drops off in from four to ten weeks, taking the horn portion with it, producing in shape and appearance no artificial injury.

HEROIC TREATMENT OF ASSASSINS.

A mob broke into the jail at New Orleans the other day and shot and hung eleven Italian assassins. The mob executed what the law feared to do. The accurate accounts of these men are that they belong to a secret society among their countrymen whose duty and obligation was to assassinate their enemies in that city. Since 1866 this society has secretly killed over thirty people in New Orleans and not one of the men engaged in the crimes had heretofore been punished. The law seemed powerless to reach them. They bribed jurors and intimidated witnesses whenever trial was called and nothing could be done with them. These Italians are the lowest of their class, were bandits and murderers in their own country, and had been compelled to leave. In this instance these eleven men had been shown to be engaged in their hideous work, had assassinated the chief of police of New Orleans, and had been arrested. The trial proceeded, but was a fraud as usual. The evidence was convicting, yet the jury acquitted them. The witnesses were terrified and the jurors bribed. The best citizens and tax-payers had determined that the matter should stop, and that justice should prevail for once in spite of money and threats, that this murdering organization should have a taste of the bitter medicine it had been administering. The citizens marched to the jail and before they left had taken the lives of eleven of these cowardly foreign assassins. Mob law is rarely justifiable, but in this instance, if ever, it certainly was. The public in this case had allowed the law to take its course, had permitted these men to go before the court and assert their innocence and given them every opportunity to prove it. Yet the work of the briber and terrorizer, as always heretofore, was soon apparent. The evidence was of the strongest kind against the prisoners, yet it amounted to nothing in face of the means brought before witnesses and jurors.
They were acquitted, but the force has existed long enough. The citizens were determined in their movements and eleven criminals will commit no more crimes in this country.
What right in this country for foreigners to have such societies as the Mafia, the Clan-na-Gael, the Anarchists, in which the taking of human life seems to be one of the cardinal principles? The hanging of the Anarchists at Chicago, the life sentences of the murderers of Dr. Cronin, of the same city, and the killing of these eleven Italians, were all for the crime of murder, and were brought about through the actions and lawlessness of these foreign secret societies. The work of the mob at New Orleans will teach the people that this country is not Italy, that if they desire protection to life they must obey the law, that murder, while it may be a pleasure and pastime to them, is looked upon with horror here and these committing it will be punished. We cannot see where the justly outraged citizens of New Orleans could have acted very differently from the manner in which they did.

The ballot reform law was defeated in the Maine legislature by Republican votes. Seventy-four votes were cast against it, and all of them came from Republicans. Commenting on this fact, the New York World says:

"A strong lobby opposed the passage of the bill. It was mainly composed of Republican political managers. These lobbyists and the Republicans on the floor did not attack the bill on its merits. They did not deny that it would promote purity of elections. They did not question that corruption and bribery existed in Maine to an alarming extent. The bill was opposed by these masters of Maine because secret and honest voting would help the democrats and because the Democrats were solidly for the bill.

"The Republican politicians beat the reform, and they beat it because they are not sure of carrying Maine except by intimidation and bribery, for the effective practice of which they need the open ballot. They have made a party issue. They have planted themselves and their party against ballot reform and in favor of the existing notorious corruption. On the opposite side the democrats are solidly arrayed, the lines are drawn, and next autumn's state campaign will be fought on the reform issue."

The McKinley bill taxes the people 60 cents on the dollar, yet Republican organs that are trying to deceive their readers say that the bill is in the interest of the people. The people however, are too smart to be caught by such chaff. If taking the tax off of sugar, makes it cheaper, or the price lower, would it not make clothing, and farming implements cheaper, to take off that average tax of 60 cents on the dollar, imposed by the McKinley bill? If, by the abolition of the tariff tax on sugar, quinine and matches, the people are enabled to purchase these articles much cheaper would it not be in their interest to take the entire taxes off of clothing, food, implements, and in fact, all the necessities of life? It certainly would. A tax is a duty levied and the people have to pay that tax when they purchase an article on which the duty was levied. Remove the tax or royalty, on any article and you cheapen the price of that article to the purchaser, or consumer. All sensible people knew this, and those who are trying to deceive and mislead the people are only digging a pit in which they will soon fall.

LA GRIPPE.

This malady which last year appeared so general all over the country has become this season almost an epidemic. In Minneapolis, Minn., 10,000 cases are reported; in Chicago, it was sick, 10 per cent. of the population were stricken from the effects of the disease last week, and here at home large numbers of cases are reported in different localities throughout the country. Medical authority has stated that la grippe appears rarely but one season in a period of many years, but seems to be somewhat off in this statement, as it has prevailed in the same localities this year as last.

HE SPEAKS TRULY.

Kansas has a new Congressman known as "Socksies Simpson." He undoubtedly has lots of good sense if he may be short on socks. In a recent speech he said:

We got rid of 4,450,000 of black slaves to en-slave a race of people north and south. [Loud applause.] The tariff laws are one of the elements of slavery. Protection gives no benefit. Protection is a great fraud as was African slavery. Great syndicates own the iron, steel and lumber of the country, and they control the prices and work it to make themselves rich. Now, when I raise corn, I want to exchange where I can get the most cents, overcoats, underclothes, dress goods and socks. [Laughter and applause.] England is getting possession of our country, and land in Maryland have decreased because laws prevent you from selling goods where they are the cheapest. Fifty millions for a navy. We want no navy or army.

COUNTY ASSESSOR.

The county assessor is the name of a new office, the incumbent of which is appointed at the regular session of the commissioners in June. We have heard of two or three candidates already for the position, whose ability to fill the place will be very much questioned. A high order of talent and business capacity will be needed to perform the duties of the office satisfactorily. The fact to prevent fraud and deceit in the appraisement of land and assessment of property, and place property at its fair cash valuation is what is demanded. The commissioners should study the applicants thoroughly before appointment. Michael Price will have an excellent opportunity to go in his work on some of his political enemies and he will exercise it no doubt.

Commissioners to superintend the soldiers' and sailors' monument seemed to have been considerably vexed at the new law which required them to have it completed within a certain specified time. It is to be hoped they will not be thus vexed when it comes to the matter of drawing their salaries for their work, one of them, it is stated, having already managed to "salt down" $6,000 for his work thus far. He would, no doubt, readily consent to superintend the erection of soldiers' monuments the rest of his days should the pay be as good as it has been to him in this monument.

The democracy of this city have an excellent opportunity to elect two, if not three, of the councilmen this year if they will make good nominations. We judge this from the many expressions of numerous republicans who express themselves as thoroughly disgusted with the actions of some of their councilmen and will, they assert, vote against them.
The fire alarm, electric light and the tree trimming business are proving entirely too expensive and the dilly-dallying style of most of the council on those matters will cause their retirement from official cares next May.

The appropriations made by the congress last adjourned are estimated at a thousand million dollars, or sixteen dollars for each man, woman and child in the country. This last congress, mind you, was largely republican and generally had things its own way and favored almost every appropriation proposed where some republican corporation or political leader was connected with it. The country sawly would certainly not want any similar organization for many years to come, in fact could not submit to such reckless use of the funds of the country.

PENSION agents will receive $5,000,000, it is stated, from the ex-soldiers. Really, it is asked, what use is there for this? Cannot the government, or the republican part of it, which has time and again professed such undying love for the men who shouldered their muskets in the last war and marched to the front, invent some plan by which these men can get their money without paying any fee at all? It certainly can be done, although it would be disastrous for Dudley and other like patriots.

DEATH OF GEN. JOS. E. JOHNSTON.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, next to Gen. Lee, the most prominent military leader of the confederacy, died in Washington City on Saturday last. His age was about 84 years. A remarkable coincidence, it would seem, that the two most noted characters of the "Atlanta Campaign," Sherman and Johnston, should die so near the same period. Both of them after the war became warm friends, and remained so to the last.

HOREY, the governor, is a very apt illustration of the bull trying to knock the engine off the bridge. Ever since he has been governor he has sought to assume to take the appointing power of the legislature from it and place it in his own hands, and just about as often as the matter has been taken to the supreme court has he failed. He is grumbling again over some appointments made by the last legislature, and the result will be just about as before—he will be left.

The office seeking mania never dies with any man. Although the positions of commissioners to the world's fair allows but a small compensation several persons sought the places from the governor through members of the legislature. It looks disgusting to see the average taste of most people, and if such a thing could be the seekers for such places should not be appointed at all, but the places be tendered to those not asking for them.

HOUTAS, one of Harrison's appointees from this state to the treasury department has concluded again, it is said, not to resign. Verily that man has a terrible time trying to shed himself of office. The idea of any republican resigning office is so contrary to the usual custom that few will believe it until it has actually taken place.

EFFORTS by colored representatives of the race to have one of their number appointed a commissioner to the world's fair by President Harrison have heretofore proven fruitless. If the voters of that race should appear any way informed about supporting the republican party next year the appointment will soon be made.

This city council's method of receiving bids for the electric light plant was certainly novel and unique if nothing else. Instead of reading them aloud and in public the members simply pocketed them and went into secret conclave over them. Some of the council did not even see the bids or have anything to say in the matter at all.

SHAKERS of Foster, the new U. S. treasurer, a republican paper says "he takes hold of the treasury with ease." We rarely have heard of republican official but what would take hold of any treasury with ease.

Don't be gloomy.

These who are the victims of mercurial poisoning, or who are suffering from mercurial rheumatism, are inclined to take a gloomy view of life when, as the poet says "Winter is folding its white tents and spring getting its thunderforms together." Yet these victims have no reason to despair. S.
S. is a sure remedy for all forms of mercurial poisoning. Though it is purely a vegetable medicine, it is powerful, indeed, when called on to chase mercury, and the last link spring effects of mercury, out of the system.
It performs the work with neatness and dispatch, as these testify.

Best Grape Wine for Communion.

The superior quality and entire purity of Speer's Port Grape Wine of New Jersey, and the success that the physicians have had by its use has induced them to write about it and caused hundreds of others to prescribe it in their practice as the best and most reliable wine to be had. It is held in great favor for evening parties, and for communion purposes.

What it Costs.

Must be carefully considered by the great majority of people, in buying even necessities of life. Hood's Sarsaparilla commands itself with special force to the great middle classes, because it combines positive economy with great medical power. It is the only medicine of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar," and a bottle taken according to directions will average to last a month.

A Victory For the Wagner Vestibule.

The Wagner Palace Car Company, operating sleeping cars over the Big Four route, has gained a signal victory in its controversy with the Pullman Company. By the decision just rendered by Judges Gresham and Blodgett, in the United States circuit court at Chicago, the motion made by the Pullman Company, to enjoin the Wagner Company from the use of the "vestibule" is denied, and the Wagner Company is sustained on every point it has made in the contest. This decision practically disposes of the litigation, and leaves the Wagner Company a clear field in which to demonstrate the superiority of its perfected vestibule, which is now in use on all express trains of the Big Four route, making the trains practically solid from end to end, an advantage which will be readily appreciated by the traveling public.
