

Dyspepsia

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen, irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

Chicago Surgical Institute,

Will continue to make regular visits to Crawfordsville as heretofore. It is now about five years since the Doctor began making regular visits to this place, during which time he has proven himself a most accomplished specialist, as hundreds of patients, both medical and surgical, in this vicinity can testify. Special attention to fitting all kinds of Spectacles and Eye-glasses. Consultation free.

"Hearing of Dr. Huntsinger's splendid success in difficult cases of the Eye, Ear and other special diseases that the Doctor fronts the Chicago Medical and Surgical Institute has been urging him for some time to accept an important position in that institution. He has finally consented to take the place of consulting physician, having full charge of difficult surgical operations on the eye. This new departure will not interfere with the doctor's present field of labor in which he has a practice too extensive and lucrative to abandon."

Having held a position in an Indiana Regiment, of which Dr. Huntsinger was Surgeon, he personally knows him to be one of the most accomplished specialists in the United States. The call to so high and responsible a position, is a high and well merited compliment to recognition of his abilities. —Frankfort Times.

Dr. Huntsinger will be at Dr. Bank's office in Crawfordsville on Thursday, July 9, and at Dr. Kruse's office in Richmond on Friday, July 10, until 10 o'clock a.m. only, and at Dr. L. C. Rogers' office in Rockville on Friday, July 10, afternoon only.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES.

Ina Corns has returned from the State normal.

W. E. Slavens is now a full fledged railway agent.

Lillie Jones has accepted a place in the city schools.

Clara Brockman will teach in the city schools next year.

John Deere will teach in his home district near Bluff Mills.

C. A. Bowers will again have charge of the Yountville schools.

The last term of the Ladoga normal has been a very profitable one.

The teacher who is not an enthusiast in his work should leave the profession.

O. B. Hultz attended a meeting of the Sons of Veterans at Lafayette last week.

James Cave has been helping in the harvest field since the close of the Ladoga normal.

Frank Cornell attended the convention of county superintendents at Indianapolis last week.

Three years is considered the average life of a teacher. Is it a wonder that professionals are few?

Ben Harleson, who has taught the last two years in Parke county, has a school in Brown township.

Supt. Zuck has secured Profs. Harwood and Bass as institute instructors for this year. Every teacher in the county should attend every session.

The early educational history of the county is very obscure. While discussing who is the oldest inhabitant would it not be well to discuss the location of the first school house and the first teacher. Who was he?

It is claimed by some that the results of the common school work is not commensurate with the amount of money expended for their maintenance. Aside from poor teachers one of the causes of this is the indifference of parents, who seldom visit the school, and often when they do it is more with a spirit of criticism than encouragement. Often teachers hear criticisms from pupils who are quoting from parents, which is certainly very detrimental to the complete success of school. If the parent is not interested in the success of his child should he expect the best results from the work of others?

A recent examination developed the following:

1. Washington appointed Jackson first Chief Justice.

2. The five greatest Union generals of the late war were Grant, McClelland, Lee, Putnam and Stonewall Jackson.

3. The omnibus bill was a bill passed under Jackson's administration. "That omnibuses should make faster time."

4. (a) "Cow boys were boys who had to do the milking." (b) The "Knownothings" was a party organized in 1852, exclusively by foreigners. (c) The Grangers were an organization of farmers led by politicians who could not get office of the old parties. (d) The "Johnnies" was a regiment composed of men whose names were John. (e) The "Barn Burners" was some kind of a religious organization.

5. Daniel Boone settled Connecticut.

6. Shakespeare was the greatest American poet.

7. Daniel Webster wrote an unabridged dictionary.

8. The constitution was adopted July 4, 1776.

9. The ocean cable failed to work and caused the battle of New Orleans.

10. The British wanting possession of Behring Sea is the cause of the controversy between the U. S. and England.

One of our young and progressive teachers while waiting for the train one day last week fell asleep and relates the following dream:

"Educational matters are entirely too far behind the times in this country, and a few much needed reforms were essentially necessary. The trustees of the several townships held a meeting, declared the office of county superintendent vacant and in order to remove the office as far from politics as possible decided to ballot on one candidate at a time, and in order that he might be of spotless reputation, also decided that one black ball would be sufficient for his rejection. The balloting began and one candidate after another was relegated to obscurity until his own name was called, and after a breathless silence the balls were all found to be of pearly whiteness and he it was that should have the honor of bringing old Montgomery to the front rank in the educational world. The first reform he decided to bring about was the manner of conducting examinations and grading of manuscripts. The first point was to give each applicant a number which has to be the number of his manuscript. This number was to be sealed in an envelope which was not to be opened until the grading was completed, in order to avoid prejudice or the favor that might be shown the best looking applicant. He next began his rules for marking, so that with malice toward none and charity for all, and confident in the right, every applicant should have just needed out as deserved. His style of marking was this:

ORTHOGRAPHY.

For each error in orthography five should be deducted from one hundred for each error in capitalization.

Pennmanship he marked on legibility, evenness of form of letters and neatness.

ARITHMETIC.

For each improper use of the sign $, ¢, or other denomination of quantity, or for the substitution of one for the other he would deduct 25; for error in denomination of decimal for each place not exceeding three, 25. For a required decimal expressed as a common fraction 50. For each numeration point placed to the right of the decimal point 5. For each use of the comma where the decimal point should be used 5; for each use of the period where the comma should be used 5; for each figure substituted 10; for each figure inserted 10; for each figure omitted 10; for incorrect pointing 10; for writing cents and mills as a decimal part of a dollar when an amount of United States money is required to be expressed in words 10; each error in computation 10; error in pointing off decimals, for one place 24, two places 30, three places 35, four places 40; five places 45, six places 50; wrong process producing incorrect result 100; complex statement, right result being obtained, 10; complex process or method, right result being produced, 10; correct answer without work is shown, 75; fraction in answer not reduced to lowest terms 20; answer in denominator numbers not expressed in the several denominations beginning with the highest 20; omitting days of grace in bank discount 25; process being indicated when operation in full is required 55; failure to indicate the answer by answer 5.

GRAMMAR.

In grammar he would also make the following deductions from 100: For each error in orthography 1; each word omitted in 2; each word inserted or added 2; each word substituted 2; each transposition 1; each abbreviation 1; each error in capitalization 1, each error to use the period at the end of statement 1; each improper use of punctuation mark 1; irregularity in left hand margin 1; misdivision of a word at the end of a line; omission of hyphen in compound words 1; each error in sentence 10; error in answering correcting sentence 10; each error in syntax 10; bad choice of words in expressing thought 25. Just then "all aboard" was heard and the train carried away our pedagogues and also the hopes of a realization of his dream.

L. F. Wade and Gen. Harrison.

LADOGA, July 1st, 1891.

Passing along the east side of Green street north of Main in Crawfordsville I came to the shop of a toomb stone cutter. Click! Click! Click! sounded the hammer on the end of the chisel. Laboriously and dusty on a block covered with a piece of sheepskin, sat a little old man bland and pleasant as the day in May without. "Cutting away as ever" said I, to him; as he jovially looked up. "Yes said he, 'I am trying to help the world not to forget their friends by lessons on stone. Been hard at work setting a monument at Whitesville and four more in as many other directions, and one more for Ohio soon. You see I have to work for a living.' This little old man is L. F. Wade, an old pioneer of this county.

L. F. Wade was born in Ohio July 8th, 1811, learned the printing business, came to Crawfordsville, Indiana, in the fall of 1830, went back to Cincinnati. In 1831 he bought a printing press, hauled it with wagons to Crawfordsville during the summer, and on the 18th of October 1831 published the first number of the "Crawfordsville Record." In his salutatory or "Inaugural" as he called it, which took five columns, was a clear and bold declaration of his purposes and principals, as an advocate of honesty, fidelity, and capability in all public trusts. This was the first newspaper issued in the town of Crawfordsville and has been issued under that name and the name of Crawfordsville REVIEW regularly till the present time. The Crawfordsville Record was sold by Wade to Philip Eagle, and the name changed to the Crawfordsville REVIEW. At the death of Philip Eagle his brother Bennet W. Eagle purchased and published the REVIEW for several years, he sold out to George W. Snyder, he sold to Joseph Masterson, he to B. E. Stover, he to Charles H. Bowen, he to the present management some six years ago. So the REVIEW office is the same old "Jack Knife," shipped across the wilderness by the then young man L. F. Wade in 1831. L. F. Wade on his trip to Ohio, on the 19th day of August 1831, married Miss Aletha Heaton, daughter of James Heaton who had been the Government Surveyor, and who surveyed most of this section of the state; in 1821 and 1822. Mr. Wade had five daughters and two sons, all born in Crawfordsville.

But the starting of a printing press is not all but only a part of the big results that have come out of this little man on the block, chiseling away his life work.

In looking over the old file of the record of June, July and August, 1835, we find this statement in print, written by L. F. Wade, as editorial: "Martin VanBuren was nominated at Baltimore by the democrats for president for the race of 1836." On the 25th of May, 1835, William Henry Harrison delivered a speech to the people of Vincennes, which was published in full in the Record of July 15, 1835. From Vincennes Gen. Harrison went to Tippecanoe Battle Ground on the 9th of June. On his way the Gen. was met at Major Whitlock's by a committee of three gentlemen of Crawfordsville, L. F. Wade, Henry Lane, Dr. Hurndon, and invited to take a public dinner at Crawfordsville on his way back. Gen. Harrison returned from Lafayette and took dinner at Crawfordsville on the 12th of June, 1835, and the full proceedings published in Crawfordsville Record July 18. Mr. Wade went to Cincinnati for a supply of type immediately after the departure of Gen. Harrison and met him in Cincinnati, he having come to the city on horseback. The General had received a copy of Mr. Wade's paper, and on meeting him he ran his hand in his pocket and took out the price of subscription and handing it to Mr. Wade said, "send me your paper for a year." On Mr. Wade's return home he published this notice and statement of July 18 of that year, naming Gen. Henry Harrison to run against Van Buren in the race of 1836. On the 8th of August this was published: "To whom should the west give its support for president? We say William Henry Harrison," and from that time on the name of Gen. Harrison stood at the head of the Crawfordsville Record for president of the U. S.

Thus it will be seen this little old man who sits day by day, click! click! click! with hammer and chisel on Green street, was the first man who publicly announced the name of Gen. Harrison for president, who was elected in 1840, and whose history is part of the history of this county, and from this fact that Wm. H. was elected, his grand son, Ben. Harrison, is indebted to his election for the office he now fills, nor than any other fact in existence. In fact we say now in looking over events as they have occurred that L. F. Wade and his pioneer paper, in bringing forward the name of Harrison to its present prominence than any other cause that operated to that end. It is not always the great causes that produce great effects, but the apparent moderate, timely suggestions, or attention called to some facts that work most powerful in the movements and destiny of men and things in this world. Mr. Wade's newspaper notings made W. H. Harrison president and that fact elected Gen. Ben to the same place.

Who can pass that little tomb stone shop knowing these facts without a profound respect for the little old man hammering on a monument, somewhat commiserating his long and useful life, and feeling a wish that he may be blessed in his old age, with a clear sky and blissful end, without a cloud to disturb his unostentatious and useful career.

Gen. Ben. Harrison to-day would not be president of the U. S. had not L. F. Wade in his paper championed and called public attention to the name of his grandfather, and he deserves a proper recognition by the Harrison family for his early pressing the claims of that family to public favor.

An Awful Crime.

One of the most fiendish crimes that has been our duty to report comes from Tangier, a small village just across the line in Parke county on the Coal road. It appears that one Sunday night over a month ago Jim Harvey, Will Hayworth, Will Rabb, Grant Rabb and Wallace Hall, all well to do young men went to the residence of Taylor Davis and demanded admission and when they got in they purported to be officers and claimed to have a warrant for an old man who was living with Davis. This frightened the old man and he fled from the house. They then according to the statement of Prosecutor Maxwell took Davis and held him in a corner, that is two of them did, while two would hold the woman in bed and the fifth would satisfy his hellish desire and sinful lust. This was carried on until all the party had committed an unpardonable deed. The poor woman was helpless and her screams could be heard by half the citizens which to their shame none of them came to her rescue. Maxwell also asserted that the woman was in pregnancy between 5 and 6 months and that their acts had caused an abortion and that she was now too sick to appear for trial. For some reason the boys were not arrested until last week and although the citizens knew of it they did not demand justice, though it is thought by knowing ones that if the law does not deal just to them that Judge Lynch will do it. The next morning after the dreadful affair Davis took his wife to Bainbridge where her parents reside, but says she will be there for trial. Hayworth and Hall have not been captured and have fled the country while the other three are under bond and will have their trial Tuesday.—Veederburg News.

Drank Oil by Mistake.

John McIntire, living on the Vanardsdall farm north of the city, came near crossing the dark stream Tuesday by tackling the wrong jug. Under a tree in the harvest field in which M. McIntire and others were at work sat two jugs, one containing water and the other machine oil. During the day some visitors called at the field and in the excitement during the conversation Mc. took up the water jug, as he supposed, and drank a large draught therefrom. On removing the jug from his lips he realized that it was not water he had drunk but oil. In a few moments he became deathly sick and was taken to the house where he suffered untold agonies which were only relieved by spells of vomiting. All afternoon and night his friends labored with him to save his life, and not until the next morning did he find relief. He rapidly recovered however and will be able to celebrate the 4th here to-day.

From Friend to Friend. Goes the story of the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla and what it has accomplished, and this is the strongest advertising which is done on behalf of this medicine. We endeavor to tell honestly what Hood's Sarsaparilla is and what it will do, but what it has done is more important and far more potent. Its unequalled record of cures is sure to convince those who have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla that it is an excellent medicine.
