NEXT YEARS' FIGHT HERE IN INDIANA.

The Indiana State ticket for 1892 will be as follows: Governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, reporter of the supreme court, superintendent of public instruction, state geologist and statistician, three members of the supreme court and five members of the appellate court.

For Governor on the democratic ticket John G. Shanklin, the brilliant and scholarly editor of the Evansville Courier, ex-Speaker Niblack, of Vincennes, Mortimer Nye, of Laporte, Col. James H. Rice, of Indianapolis, ex-Secretary of State, Wm. R. Myers and Col. C. C. Matson are candidates. Ex-Representative Work, of Clark, ex-Senator Bell and Judge Zollars, of Allen, Congressman Bynum, Shively and Holman, Senator Howard, ex-Representative Ader, of Putnam, Secretary of State Matthews, the Hon. C. L. Jewett, of the State committee, and others have been mentioned.

The present democratic state officers, Secretary Matthews, Auditor Henderson, Treasurer Gall, Attorney-General Smith and Superintendent Vorhis, will no doubt be renominated by acclamation. Clerk of the Supreme court Sweeny was elected for four years and does not go out till 1895.

The only state office to be contested outside of governor is that of the reporter of the Supreme court. The only candidate out so far for that place is ex-Representative Moon of Fulton county.

The lieutenant-governor will probably be taken from among the defeated candidates for governor.

On the republican side the candidates for Governor are ex-Secretary of State Griffin, of Hammond, but who practices in Chicago, and Lt.-Governor Ira J. Chase, Clem Studebaker, the millionaire wagon manufacturer of South Bend, U. S. District Attorney Smiley N. Chambers, George W. Steele, of Marion, Gen. Lew Wallace, ex-Governor of Oklahoma, George W. Steele, now of Marion, Ind., and ex-Congressman Stanton J. Pease of Indianapolis, are all mentioned. Studebaker is believed to be President Harrison's candidate. Stanton J. Pease is regarded by many as the ablest speaker and the man who would get the most votes of any one whom the republicans could nominate. Ex. U. S. Treasurer Huston is understood as willing to take the race of any one, but Benjamin Harrison is the presidential candidate of the party.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

Of all the instances of much ado about nothing that have been known for a long time that flag business of No. 9 school house in Clark township, is the most fitting instance. There was originally nothing in it aside from a petty quarrel between a few school patrons and school teacher, in which one man simply, to spite said teacher, without any thought whatever of disrespect to the national emblem tore down a flag, from the top of the house in which she was teaching. The Journal of this city seeking a little political capital rails out on the "Copperheads and Sons of Liberty" of Clark township thus calling attention to a small matter. It is taken up by the newspapers elsewhere of its party, is made the subject of many long winded editorials, in which much blood, thunder and cheap patriotism, is strewn around and about indiscriminately. The teacher, the heroine, awakens to find herself famous. The fools from Maine to Oregon write her letters of great sympathy for the intense sufferings she has endured, the hardships she has undergone in defense of the flag. Baugh! Whoop-la! Large Ingur! Many of those letters contain money, and altogether she is doing better financially probably than for years past. To put the cap sheaf on all this drivell, morbid patriotism and humbuggery, a silk flag is presented to her at a large public meeting and the usual gush by a half dozen speakers indulged in. The height of fanaticism seems to be have been reached. Is there any one, man or woman, with enough brains to indicate to them when to eat and sleep, suppose that any man in Clark township, or any other township in Indiana for that matter, would dare down any flag from disrespect to the nation? Not at all. It was solely and alone a personal matter between patrons and a teacher. Then why all this fuss and feathers? It has given a few persons a good opportunity to air their self-esteem and achieve a temporary notoriety. They have done this now. Let them stop before making themselves the subjects of ridicule. Take a walk.

ACCORDING to the McKinley tariff advocates now, it increases foreign trade and cheapens prices. Yet it was made to cut foreign trade and increase prices. This is a change of base, indeed

WONDERFULLY IMPORTANT.

The Indianapolis News, of Friday had the following highly important special from this place:

College circles are stirred up over a sensational split in the Wabash chapter of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. For the past two weeks there have been rumors of war, and yesterday the thing culminated in the resignation of three of the oldest and most important members. Those resigning were all seniors, namely: Edward McNutt, Herbert Thomas, the grandson of Dr. Tuttle, and A. T. Martin.

This startling intelligence must have thrilled the country when first made known. To the surprise of many the militia was not called out, there was no appreciable advance in the price of corn and wheat, and gold remains at about the same quotations of the past two weeks. There has been no wrangle among the wranglers among the members of President Harrison's cabinet over it. The next time Phi Delta fellows are guilty of such conduct they should be presented with a flag, the ceremonies to take place at Y. M. C. A. hall.

GAS RATES.

There seems to be quite a general disapproval of the rates charged by the natural gas company as published last week, and quite a number will refuse, for a time, to use gas. The rates as published would seem to indicate that the company wanted to pay for the plant within a very short time, and we believe it will do so—if it can secure enough consumers. The company by measurement, proposes charging 20 cents per thousand feet. This, we understand, is just twice the sum charged for the same amount at Indianapolis and Lafayette. The rates for gas in stoves of small sizes are higher than at either of the cities named. When the cost is no higher than coal or wood, many will desire to have it piped into their houses on account of its convenience, but if higher, they will not. Many of those who subscribed for stock in the company think the rates are too high, and that it may succeed, as the saying is, in killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

The gas companies at Richmond and Frankfort, both of which cities have their gas piped from a considerable distance, have this fall raised the prices for gas, and there is considerable remonstrance against it. There seems no necessity whatever for it, as the wells from which they receive their supply has not given out. The city council here should see to it that no such proceedings are attempted here by the company next year or the year after. The rates now established should be continued permanently for the next five years, and under no consideration should an increase be allowed. There seems no reasonable excuse for raising the prices anywhere in this state if the gas is not diminishing in supply as they so promptly assert in the gas belt.

THE ANARCHISTS.

The Anarchists, of Chicago, are again showing indications of the murderous spirit that animates them. At a commemoration meeting one night last week in that city to observe the day on which Spies Parsons and others were executed, red flags were elevated on the stage while the American flag was not allowed to wave. Fifty policemen appeared and the star spangle banner was elevated, but only a few words would have soon precipitated a riot with blood shed. The Anarchists need another dose of the red eyed law, and the next time will secure it in an amount they never dreamed of. If they do not like this country and its laws the cheapest, safest and best way is for them to move out. They are under no compulsion to stay.

FOSTER VS. HICKS.

Prophesying for the ensuing winter, Prophetic Foster says: "It will be the coldest and most stormy—especially cold and drifting snows—that has been experienced for many years. Very cold weather earlier than usual will cover the states and territories of the northwest and the Missouri river valleys. With the very deep snow that will fall and the numerous fierce storms that will occur, travel and transportation will be greatly impeded. About the middle of December the weather will become warmer and average so until about the first of January, 1892, when the cold wave will come again in January and February and will average colder than has been experienced in many years past."

SHERMAN VS. FORAKER.

The war between the factions of Sherman and Foraker over the Senatorship in Ohio, has already begun and promises to be quite lively before its termination. Sherman would probably feel quite unnatural not to be drawing money from the U. S. treasury, and it is difficult to recall the time when he has not, still he is a conservative citizen, and represents the safer element of his party. Foraker is a hustler, is grand at waving the bloody shirt in campaign times, and is a representative of the unthinking, don't care-a-cuss branch of the G. O. P. Sherman seems to have the lead in the race at present and will doubtless retain it.

It does look like robberies of railway trains are becoming alarmingly frequent and in spite of the boasted police and detective system of this country too many of the thieves escape. A train was robbed by six thieves within sixty miles of Chicago last week. They got away with $5,000, and the thieves are still on the run.

If protection has any effect on wages, why do laboring people in free trade in England receive better wages than in protected Germany, France and Italy?

Again, if protection makes wages high, why is it that in this country men employed in unprotected industries receive better wages than men employed in protected industries?

Why is it, too, after a high tariff is levied to enable protected manufacturers to pay higher wages, that they reduce wages? Why is it that the protected lords have been guilty of importing the cheapest kind of labor under contract to take the place of American workmen, if protection enables them to pay high wages?

THE NEXT SPEAKER.

Indications now are that Congressman Mills, of Texas, will be the next speaker of the house of Representatives which is largely democratic. He seems to be popular among those knowing him, well versed in parliamentary law, and fully competent to manage the discordant elements of which the house is so often composed. He, as the author of the Mills tariff bill, has acquired a national reputation. Bynum of this state seems to have had a small following. Mills strongest opponent being Stringer, of Illinois.

GAS RATES.

So flushed and exuberant are the republicans of Ohio over their election of McKinley that efforts are talked of among them to unseat Brice, the democratic U. S. Senator from that State, and place the fanatical Foraker in his place. They make the charge that Brice is not a resident of Ohio, but belongs in New York. There is no truth in the assertion, neither will he be able to take his office from him. The Senate settles the qualifications and right of its members, and is composed of conservative men. Brice will remain Senator, and Foraker will remain in private life.

Hon. W. R. Myers, it is stated, is about to begin the publication of a democratic paper at Anderson. As the field is already occupied and the party has a very able paper there now, the Democrat, the necessity for another paper is not apparent to the outside public. If the gentleman, however, is seeking for some means to dispose of his recently acquired cash, he can do no better than to start an opposition newspaper.

A BANK, the Maverick, recently failed in Boston, leaving depositors, stock holders and others, near $10,000,000 out of pocket. It is difficult to mete out strong enough punishment to officers whose carelessness and dishonesty causes so much loss, misfortune, misery and trouble as this failure undoubtedly will, but the most severe, solitary life imprisonment, is about what they should receive.

JUDGE ALLEN G. THURMAN reached the 78th year of his existence a few days ago. He is one of the ablest and most esteemed members of the democratic party it has ever had, and the wish will be general that he may live until the party again becomes triumphant in national politics. At this time he is not in good health.

A Little Girl's Experience In A Light-house.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Tresscott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at Nye & Co.

A document envelope that works like a telescope, adjusting itself to one paper or to fifty, is a recent invention.

Why It Is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

The Crawfordsville Review For the Campaign of 1892.Premiums to Those Getting Subscribers.

The political campaign of 1892 will soon be upon us. Indiana, as in the past two decades, will be again an important point on the political battle ground. The selections as candidates for the important national positions to be chosen, it would seem at this time, will be made in part from this state, consequently the fight will be "red hot" and exciting. Presidential, state and county officers are to be chosen, and politics will be as thick to the square inch as ever.

THE REVIEW, For 50 years a Democratic newspaper in Montgomery county, will labor, as in the past, for Democratic principles. We desire to increase and extend its circulation, and offer to those procuring subscribers for the ensuing year the followingFIRST CLASS PREMIUMS:

1st.—A W. W. Kimball Organ—A splendid musical instrument, suitable for a parlor, church or hall. It has 235 set of reeds, ten stops, bars and octave couplers, 6 feet high, 4½ feet wide, grand organ stop, solid walnut wood, value $100.
