WISE WORDS FROM CLEVELAND.
When ex-president Cleveland addresses an assembly he always says much that is sensible, timely and beneficial on political matters. At a Jackson festival in New York, January 8th, among many things he said: "We cannot trifle with our obligations to the people without exposure and disaster. We ourselves have aroused a spirit of jealous inquiry and discrimination touching political conduct which cannot be blinded and the people will visit with quick revenge the party which betrays them. I hope, then, I may venture to claim in this assemblage that, even if there had been but slight encouragement for the cause we have espoused, there would still be no justification for timidity and faintheartedness. But with the success we have already achieved, amounting to a political revolution, it seems to me that it would be the height of folly, considered purely as a question of party management, to relax in the least our determination and persistence. If we suspect anywhere in our councils compromising hesitation or a disposition to divert the unity of party efforts let us be watchful. The least retrograde step is disaster; cowardice is often called conservatism, and an army scattered into sections invites defeat. We have preached and taught the doctrine that honesty and sincerity should be exacted from political parties. Let us not fall under condemnation which waits on shifty schemes and insincere professions. I believe over countrymen are prepared to act on principle and are in no mood for political maneuvering. They will not waste time in conundrums, guessing riddles, trying to interpret doubtful phrases. They demand a plain and simple statement of political purpose. Above all things, political fitness should not lead us to forget that at the end of our plans we must meet face to face at the polls the voters of the land with ballots in their hands demanding, as a condition of their support of our party, fidelity and undivided devotion to the cause in which we have enlisted them. If inspired by the true Jacksonian spirit we hold to the doctrine that party honesty is party duty and party courage is party expediency, we shall win a sure and lasting success through the deserved support of a discriminating, intelligent and thoughtful people."

THE TRUE RING.
The honesty, economy and soundness of Mr. Holman of this State is shown in the following resolution introduced by him in the House of Representatives last week, and which after some feeble opposition from the republicans side passed by a good majority:
RESOLVED, that in the judgement of this House, the granting of subsidies or bounties by Congress, in money, public lands, bonds, or by endorsement, or by pledge of the public credit, to promote special private industries or enterprises of corporations independent of the question of the constitutional power of Congress to make such grants is unjust and impolitic and in manifest conflict with the spirit of our Republican institutions, as it directly tends to create and foster the wealth of favored classes at the expense of the whole people, who bear the burdens of Government, and manifestly furnishes undue facilities for the enlargement of great private estate, a policy which a Government of the people cannot justly or safely encourage by any form of favoritism in legislation. It can safely be asserted that this present congress will not be a "Billion Dollars" one. The democrats are in control of the House, and no "bounties" and appropriations to this or that scheme will be granted. Let us pay debts, not contract them. We have been since 1865 reducing the debt, a quarter of a century, and yet we owe at this time $1,500,000,000, and when we will have it wiped out completely the Lord only knows. We may be a great and prosperous nation and all that, but we have a very limited opinion of any man's wealth and property when we find him mortgaged all over. A nation's business should be managed the same as any shrewd financier manages his whenever possible. The resolution of Holman tends to put a curb on the extravagance and waste of money that has too often seen and realized. It may work disastrously on the leeches who have expected to fatten off of the government through appropriations for this or that object but it will be all right for the people.

NATURAL GAS BEATS A RAILROAD often when it comes to killing off people. Last week by an explosion in a house at Anderson eight persons were injured. A match was lighted in the house to find where the gas was escaping, and the explosion took place at once with the result above stated. Natural gas is a new thing in Crawfordsville. We are not yet thoroughly familiar with its antics, but we will learn, if not careful, all about it soon.

EXAGGERATED WEALTH.
It is remarkable how the fortunes of alleged millionaires drop down after an administrator is appointed for the estate and the appraiser gets to work. A few days ago when Carson, a former president of the Monon died, it was announced that he left an estate of over a million dollars. The administrator announces it as worth about $500,000. Cooper, the owner of the Forepaugh show died early in this month at Philadelphia and as is the general custom he was pronounced a millionaire. His widow was last week appointed administratrix of the estate "valued at $275,000." There seems to be a positive delight with many to over rate and exaggerate the wealth of most persons who have accumulated fortunes. Even the fortunes of Gould, Vanderbilt and many others are, no doubt, greatly over done in figures. We have seen the fortune of Phil. Armour, the great meat man of Chicago, put down at $50,000,000. Now it is greatly to be doubted if there is any man in Chicago possessed of one-half that sum, but as long as it tickles the fancy of reporters to deal in such high figures, Mr. Armour will not object. Hon. W. H. English, of Indianapolis, is another victim of high figures, his wealth at times, (depending, of course, on the reporters figures) being placed as high as $4,000,000. We very much doubt if there is a man in Indiana worth one-half that sum in hard spot cash or its equivalent. Persons making these estimates do not seem to realize that a million dollars is an immense pile of wealth, and that such millionaires are scarce, very scarce.

THE SUGAR BOUNTY.
There does not seem a more unjust feature in all the McKinley law than that which pays a bounty of so much per pound to the producers of sugar, and the few of comparative large number of agriculturists of this country who are able to engage in it will soon under favorable climate acquire a fortune, and all of which comes off the tax-payers of the country. Is sugar a more important production in this country than many others not fostered by the government? Why not a bounty to the producer of corn, wheat, cotton, and other articles entering into domestic use? Does the man raising wheat receive any bounty for each bushel he raises? Not at all. His profit from it whatever it may be is regulated by the market price, and the government pays no attention to his gain or loss. The sugar producers are paid by the Government a bounty. But who is the Government but the people, and they pay the sugar bounty. This is class legislation. It is in the interest of those only who can raise sugar. Why not make it general and give the wheat and corn raisers a bounty too? There is no logic or equity in such legislation as this sugar bounty business.

SHOULD BE AT HIS POST.
It is the duty of some statesman or widely circulated newspaper to explain by what right a member of congress or of the legislature has to be away from his post of duty at any time unless from bodily affliction of himself or immediate family. They are paid so much per year or diem for their services and it is a bounden duty to be on hand. In assuming the duty they bind themselves to this, and no private consideration should keep them away. They owe it to the people. While Congress is in session we observe Senator Voorhees is away attending to a law suit at Terre Haute. By what authority is he practicing law and at the same time drawing over $14 per day as a member of Congress, and especially while it is in session? He is setting a very bad example in the way of "reform" in attending to matters aside from his office, although not the first Senator to act thus. It has been the custom for years for many members, republicans and democrats alike, to absent themselves for this or that reason. But they do wrong. They are transgressing their duties in doing so, and the most reasonable plan to prevent it would be to deduct the pay for each day of absence.

THEY WANT BLAINE.
The continual organization of Blaine clubs in various parts of the country, the expression of various public men, and the fact that he is the choice of his party for President, all show that Blaine is anything but a leader of his party. His supposed party expense is $100,000 or more office holder. His administration give him a great advantage over any other likely candidate, but does not increase or add to his popularity with his party. At a convention in Philadelphia last week to select delegates to the National republican convention the following resolutions with a whereas was carried:
"Whereas, the sentiment of the republicans in Pennsylvania is overwhelmingly in favor of the nomination of Hon. James G. Blaine for President of the United States, it is hereby Resolved, by this convention, that its delegates, here nominated, be requested in reference to that universal sentiment, to cast their vote in the National Convention for that peerless statesman and foremost republican."

CHAIRMAN OF STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.
Mr. Thomas Taggart, Auditor of Marion county, was last week at a meeting of the State Central Committee appointed its Chairman. The appointment seems to have been a very judicious one and will command general approval from the party through the state. Mr. T. has been in control of the party management in Marion county and his work is shown by his success—both county and city democratic—and that too at the home of His Excellency President Harrison. Taggart is an Irishman and is therefore at home in politics as is every member of that impetuous race. An Irishman out of politics is like a fish out of water—he is lost until he gets in again. Taggart understands the ins and outs of politics; is full of resources in a political fight, and it is questionable if a better selection could have been made. Nothing like a good start in the fight and the State Central Committee have made that kind.

INGERSOLL'S INFIDELITY.
It would seem decidedly unjust that a man's religious views or rather non-religious views should injure him with any political party. Yet because he is an infidel, has opinions and fearlessly proclaims them regarding the Bible, Bob Ingersoll is never selected any more by the republican national committee as a campaign orator. The committee fears that he hurts the party on account of his infidel ideas, and that thousand of orthodox and extra pious republicans would be drawn from the support of the ticket if Ingersoll talks in favor of it. Although the most eloquent orator now living of the republican party, Ingersoll's services are not sought for by the committee, and probably never will be again. They fear his infidelity more than they esteem his eloquence.

DISCIPLINE NEEDED.
It stands the officials of the Monon railway in hand to take right hold of this property and inaugurate a policy that will prevent so many wrecks and disasters on that line. It can be done, and determined executive management will do it. Through the increased number of these disasters travel is turned from that line. Many fear to go over it, not knowing what may overtake them before their journey is completed. This should not be. The road has been doing a fine freight and passenger business for some time, but incompetent or careless management will cause the loss of much of this hereafter if a vigorous and thorough business discipline from section men clear through to the highest officials is not at once inaugurated.

ASAFETIDA PILL FOR THE GRIP.
Dr. Keeley, originator of the cure for drunkenness, writes last week to a gentleman at Louisville of a very simple cure for the grip. He says: "I would like to suggest a treatment for the grip which I know is nearly specific as well as innocent. It is simply asafetida, given in four-grain pills, one pill four times a day. No man need be sick of the grip these days who will take it. For the past two years, with all the patients here subject, of course, to such epidemic, I have not had one man to go to bed from the disease. I break it up very quickly, and, in fact, cure it. If this treatment was generally known it would save many sufferers much expense and wretchedness and many useful and valuable lives."

STATE CONVENTION.
The State Democratic Convention to nominate a state ticket and establish a platform of principles will convene at Indianapolis on Thursday, April 14th. It has been decided that an early convention is preferable and therefore this date is determined upon. County conventions to select delegates to district and State conventions will be held very generally through the State in March.

IT IS AN OUTRAGE on the judiciary to have such a narrow contracted individual as Woods selected as a Judge yet it would appear from present indications the thing cannot be avoided. Fear of the ill will of the administration and a desire not to be considered disloyal to the republican party, will drive many Senators into voting for him, repugnant as the act may be.

MALCOLM FORBES, Boston, is to pay Governor Stanford, of California, $200,000 for the horse Arion, the two year old colt, who made the world's record of 2:10 3/4. Mr. F. has perhaps a more convenient use of his money than his brains.

BETWEEN the Harrison and Blaine clubs, both of the republican party there cannot be the best of feeling and between this time and the nomination in June next, they promise to keep the political pot boiling quite lively.

At a joint session of the Ohio legislature last week Senator Sherman was re-elected to his old position. Foraker was not present to witness the ceremony.

The prettiest sight in the world is a pretty woman's feet in Jersey Lily boots, and since Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures all sorts of colds and costs but 25 cents, all women can wear them.
