A Beautiful Wedding.

One of the prettiest weddings that ever occurred in this county took place at the handsome country residence of R. B. Snyder last Thursday at high noon when Rev. J. W. Nye pronounced the words which united the destinies of Milton Spencer Lee and Lizzie May Bible. The ceremony took place in the presence of about fifty invited guests. The rooms were artistically decorated with holly, ferns, honey-suckle and trailing vines, while brilliantly lighted lamps shed mellow rays over the beautiful scene. At 12:30 o'clock the young couple marched through the long hall and into the wedding room unattended and stood under a beautiful shell-shaped canopy of ferns and holly, with a background of green mass, while Rev. Nye performed the ceremony. From here the guests were ushered into the dining room, which had been transformed into a veritable flower garden, in the midst of which stood sumptuously laden tables to the excellence of which all present will cheerfully attest. The bride was attired in a cream lainsdown and carried flowers while the groom appeared in the conventional black. Mr. and Mrs. Lee were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents which will decorate the new home the groom is building on his farm north of the city. Both are too well known to admit of comment and their numerous friends join with THE REVIEW in congratulations and wishing them God-speed in their journey on the matrimonial sea.

Reunion of Company E.

The third annual reunion of Company E. occurred at the residence of Tom Shepard in this city last Saturday. The house was beautifully decorated in honor of the seventeen members and their families who were present. After the guests had paid tribute to the delicious repast served by Mrs. Shepard, Mayor Lawson S. Kilburn, in a neat speech, presented a handsome gold headed cane to Mr. Shepard. The present was a complete surprise but was heartily appreciated by the host. The reunion was a complete success as every person present will attest.

Circuit Court.

Base Hanna, who has been in jail some time patiently waiting his trial, appeared at court and plead guilty to the charge of larceny. He was fined $1, given thirty-five days in jail and disfranchised for one year.—Lebanon Reporter.

Last Tuesday some one while foraging for grapes or pawpaws let down the fence on Isaac Stover's farm and all his horses got out and were soon across the creek at the scene of the late wreck where the morning freight coming south caught them, killing two outright and crippling a fine colt until it is doubtful if it will ever be of any use.

The eighth annual reunion of the descendants of George Benefield, who settled in Jefferson county in 1814, occurred at the residence of John L. Davis, south of the city last Wednesday. A large number were present and the day was most pleasantly spent. The next meeting will occur at the Old Jefferson church, near Canaan, in Jefferson county, the first Wednesday in October, 1892.

Handsome invitations have been issued for the marriage of John Sullivan and Miss Mary Slattery on Wednesday, October 12. A reception will be tendered the happy couple from 4 to 11 o'clock p. m.

Hon. E. V. Brookshire addressed large and enthusiastic meetings at Waynetown and New Market this week. Mr. Brookshire is delighted with the prospects and says that old Montgomery is sure to give Cleveland and Stevenson a handsome majority.

Leo G. Powell and Miss Lucretia Seaman were quietly married in the parlors of the Nutt House Wednesday morning by Rev. G. W. Switzer. Mr. Powell is a student of medicine at Louisville, Ky., and the bride resides at Penoma, Iowa, having arrived here some days ago on a visit with Mrs. Charles Whittington.

While out driving with a young lady Sunday evening, Will Humphrey received injuries which will cause him severe pain for some time. The animal frightened and jumping into a ditch upset the buggy, throwing both occupants out. The young lady escaped injury, but Mr. Humphrey sustained several bad sprains.

J. W. and J. N. Taylor, Montgomery county's breeders of fine sheep, card the Review this week from Hamilton, O., that they are cutting a wide swath with their fine herds in the Buckeye State. Last week at Eaton they secured thirty premiums and the prospects were very flattering to repeat the success in Hamilton. "Rah for our boys."

Last Saturday the county commissioners awarded to James M. Waugh, agent for the Lafayette Iron Bridge Company, the contract for the superstructure of the iron bridge at Clouser's Ford over Sugar Creek for $4,975. The bridge will have a span of 180 feet and steel sleepers, and when finished will be one of the finest bridges in the county.

Burglars Still at Work.

Last Sunday night the hardware store of Zack Mahorney & Sons, was entered through the rear by burglars and relieved of three or four dozen pocket knives, several razors and several dollars in change. These thefts are becoming entirely too frequent and if the police are unable to bring them to a halt the citizens should take the matter in their own hands. This makes about the twelfth burglary in this city in the past two weeks.

TOOK ATROPIA.

Dr. Sutherland's Narrow Escape—Raving Mad for Several Hours.

Dr. Sutherland, of the Sutherland Institute for inebriates, had an experience Tuesday night which will have a tendency to eradicate altogether his bump of curiosity. The doctor was returning from town and carried in his hand a bottle of atropia pills, a deadly drug which affects the action of the heart and brain. The doctor had never tasted the drug and out of curiosity placed one of the pills on his tongue. By some means which he is unable to explain, the little pill slipped down his throat. He quickly realized his danger and hastening home swallowed an emetic with only slight results. In a few minutes he was out of his mind and began raving and screaming in a frantic manner. Several of the inmates hastened to the scene and seizing the doctor held him in bed. Dr. Jones was summoned and after working with the patient all night finally brought him around. It was a narrow escape and an experience the doctor will not likely forget.

Attempted to Steal His Children.

Mose Bowman, colored, created no little excitement on South Washington street Tuesday evening in a vain attempt to kidnap his children. Mose is an "ornery cuss" any way you take him. Two years ago he gave his wife and two children the cold shake, since which time the poor woman supported herself and brought up the kids by laboring over the wash tub. Last Monday Mose "slid" into town as quietly as he had departed. Tuesday evening he perched himself on the Catholic church steps, his wife having rooms over Poole's grocery, and displaying a couple of papers of candy soon had the children at his side. He then began telling them how much more fun they could have by going to another town with him, that they could romp on Easy street at their will, etc., etc. At this juncture Mose's fairy stories were brought to an abrupt close by the sudden appearance of the wrothed wife who came dashing, upon the scene yelling a murderous looking butcher knife. Like the man in the song, "once was enough for him," and the gait he stuck down Washington street would have made Nancy Hanks shed tears. The children are once more safely under the mother's wing while Mose is wandering some place in this broad land of ours.

A Negro Burglar.

At an early hour Tuesday morning a thief entered the residence of Chas. Waterberry and wife, on east Main street, by cutting through a screen window and was just in the act of fastening his clutches on Charles Sunday pantaloons when Mrs. Waterberry awoke. Of course, any person knows what the lady did—she just screamed. His royal burglarship dropped everything and beat a hasty exit with Charlie in close pursuit. Mr. Waterberry was considerably handicapped in the race by a surplus of flesh and the thief was soon out of sight and his pursuer out of breath. Mr. Waterberry recognized the thief as a big burly negro and during the day the police arrested two strange "coons," but as the lady failed to identify them they were allowed to depart. The real thief is still at large and will probably never be captured.
