THE HUNGRY OFFICE SEEKER.

It was stated in an Indianapolis paper last week that such were the demands and importunities on Governor-elect Mathews for several days past from a horde of hungry office seekers that he had been compelled to secrete himself in order to attend to his regular official duties, and even then they had gone to his home to try to interview him. Such accounts are disgusting to hear of. It indicates a wonderful number of lazy useless men, and yet the country is cursed with them. They exist in all parties—men too lazy and indolent to pursue a private business, but always ready to grab any crumb that may drop from the official table. The public opinion is gradually moulding into contempt for the perpetual office seeker, the fellow that has fallen out with hard work, and is constantly aiming to have as little of it to do as possible. He imagines that his sacrifices (?) during the past campaign entitle him to much from from party. The party does not owe any man anything, and if he works with that object in view it is perfectly proper that he be disappointed. A man should be a republican, a democrat or a populist, from his own sincere convictions, not from the belief that he is going to get an office. A number of persons were present this week at Indianapolis from this county button-holing legislators for official favors. If all of them have been left it is no loss to the party here. They do not represent the best element of the party, as it is not made up of office seekers, and their failure will not hurt the party in the least. Whether this gang were of those seeking to run down the Governor we have not learned.

REPUBLICAN OBITUARY NOTICE.

The following obituary notice from the Manhattan Republic of the late republican party seems very appropriate: G. O. P.—The deceased was born at Philadelphia, June 17, 1856, of poor but respectable parents (the Whig and Free Soil parties), and died all over the country, Nov. 8, 1892—aged 36 years, 4 months and 21 days. She sprang into the vigorous and promising life of young womanhood e'er the tender years of infancy were passed—like Minerva springing from the brain of Jupiter. She was a "rare and radiant maiden;" and with the dew of youth on her brow, and the witchery of matchless freedom gleaming in her eye, she gladdened the heart of waiting humanity as she stripped the fetters from millions of bondsmen and sent them forth to taste the sweets of freedom. Saints and philanthropists did her graceful homage, and her smile was sunshine to the lives of patriots and statesmen. Scholars and warriors sought her love and the very angels seemed to strew her pathway with flowers. She was courted by rich and money kings with eagerness sought her hand for their gold, when they had no heart to offer. Enchanted by the splendor of power she became a siren, and the pure who once loved her, were finally saddened by the sight of her fall. During the last two years of her life she been recognized as only a painted courtesan, and her company has been avoided by so many that she died a vagrant.

THE CONTEST.

Some men never realize when they have been run over by a two horse team and calmy crawl in the way of a traction engine. If Bible can stand it his lawyers ought to. He made a monkey of himself and is not deserving of the least sympathy.—Journal.

Mr. Bible is probably not asking for sympathy, especially from republican sources. He is asking however for a fair election and fair count of the ballots, and failing, as he considered to receive them, he appealed to the Court of Commissioners. The investigation before that court showed considerable irregularity in the management of the election and likewise illegal voting, mostly on part of the republicans. The final conclusion of the board of commissioners was that Davis had a majority instead of 6. By a more rigid investigation before a higher court, the circuit, he may have no majority at all.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS says the leaders of the Populist party are men of not much character and knowledge little or skill in political matters. That may be all true and yet the ex-Senator may live to regret that he said these words. The only future hope of the republican party is through combination with the Populists, distasteful as it may be to them. The late election seemed to have been the death knell of the G. O. P., while the success of the populists in three or four states has apparently encouraged them. The signs indicate that the republicans will eventually combine with the populists.

THE $10,000 DONATION.

This is easily accounted for when it is known that two of the papers are edited by Wabash Students and that the third hibernates upon the Wabash College seat.—Waynetown Hornet.

The above coming from an individual who for twenty years or more has been a pensioner on the school fund of this county is in decidedly poor taste, and if he ever earned a dollar aside from it the public do not know it. Any donation or tax for educational purposes in general we consider well bestowed. The Review has failed to see anything wrong, misapplied or indicative of coming disaster in the appropriation made by the Commissioners of the county to Wabash College, considering the vast benefit the institution has been to the county in the past and will be in the future. Only a few months ago the county paid $11,000 for a bridge north-east of Crawfordsville. It was built for the public benefit, yet how many of the thousands of people of the county will ever use it or even see it. Now contrast the vast difference in the benefit to the county in the $10,000 donation and the $11,000 expended for a bridge. The Hornet man would seem to pose as a great friend of the down-trodden tax payers, yet has heretofore been as prompt as the best of them to draw a salary from the township school fund. He has not objected that we are aware of to having the tax of the people paid to him promptly as an instructor, yet seems terribly offended that any of the county's money should be given to an educational institution. If this paper "hibernates" to the amount of a dime a year "upon the Wabash College seat," we would be pleased to have the Hornet man point it out.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The State legislature convened in regular session on Thursday of this week. The usual scramble for speakership, secretaries, door-keepers, etc., was witnessed, and the lucky ones were feeling good at their success while the defeated are correspondingly depressed. Business will start from now on, and much benefit can result to the people by judicious action on the part of the law makers. Several laws should be expunged from the statutes and better ones made to take their places. A new law relating to the construction of roads will perhaps be passed at this session and several of the expensive features attending the present law done away with. It is quite probable that the election law will remain as it is except that part of it relating to the advertising of the ballots two weeks which will probably be eliminated. An attempt will be made to do away with the office of county school superintendent and invest the duties in school trustees. A ring of superintendents of course will be formed to aim to prevent this. Some changes may be expected in the school book law, but the "octopuses" will not be given any opportunity to get in its work. There will be a flood of bills introduced at this session for this or that purpose, but many of which will go no further than the committee rooms.

The Democrats of Greene county have prepared a petition to the legislature asking for the following:

That the office of county assessor be abolished.

That the custom of visiting schools by the county superintendent be abolished; also a change in the law that will require a fee of fifty cents for the grading of teachers' manuscripts by that official, to be paid by the applicant for license.

That all ballots shall be printed by the lowest bidder.

That all legal notices required to be printed in newspapers be let to the lowest bidder, and in no case allowing higher than 75 per cent of what is now paid.

That the county clerk shall be required to bunch all notices of final settlements of estates into one notice.

That the delinquent tax list shall be published by the lowest responsible bidder.

That the office of road supervisors be abolished and the township trustee serve as superintendent.

That a non partisan board of trustees shall be appointed for our benevolent and reformatory institutions.

That election officers shall receive pay only during the balloting, counting and certification of returns.

REDUCE THE CIRCUITS.

If retrenchment of expenses in running the courts is aimed at why not lessen the number of circuits in Indiana. There seems now no use of so many. There are, we believe, 52 circuits in Indiana. Each Judge is paid $2,500 per annum, or a total of $130,000. During the past ten years in most counties in Indiana litigation has decreased from 75 to 100 per cent, and actual court is not held in many of them over half the time. There should be fewer circuits and the number of Judges reduced in proportion. A reduction to one-half the number could, we believe, be safely made, and a saving to the tax-payers of many thousands of dollars annually. Retrenchment is a good thing to always keep in view, and put in practice when a seasonable opportunity offers as it does in this case. Some legislator will strike the right cord who offers a bill with the import that the circuits be reduced.

A BIDIULOUS REQUEST.

A committee of the G. A. R. have addressed the commissioners engaged in the construction of the Soldier monument at Indianapolis, and the cost of which by the way is paid mostly by the tax payers of Indiana, and not by any military organization, saying that if the commissioners will remove all dates on the upper astragal such action will not meet with serious opposition from the soldiers of the State. The commissioners will probably pay as much attention to this as they have heretofore to most of the ridiculous rappings issuing from a small section of the soldier element of the State, but will go right on attending to their strict duties in the premises. As in the act ordering the construction of the monument there is nothing alluding to the soldiers and sailors of the war of the rebellion, or any other war in which soldiers from Indiana were engaged, the public will fail to see any substantial reason why this small portion of the ex-soldiers of the late civil war should interest themselves so much. They forget there were other men in other wars who suffered the hardships of the march and the battle before some of them were born. Their excessive conceit in this matter is disgusting.

A WONDERFUL TALK.

An Almost Unparalleled Case of Suffering.

Extricated From a Pit of Abject Darkness and Despair.

Emerged Again Into the Sunlight, Saved!

The best writers during all the ages have with eloquent pens, depicted the awful mental suffering of hopelessness and darkest despair. Dante DeQuincy and others painted in never to be forgotten shades of sombre blackness the mind utterly devoid of hope, wretched with lost courage, despondent, disheartened.

But in real life we have never heard a more heart-felt tale of suffering, mental and physical, than that told us by a most estimable lady, Mrs. J. P. Swift, who lives at 2789 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Four years ago, she said, I was in a position of complete physical and nervous prostration, had but little appetite, severe indigestion, stomach distended with gas, constipation, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, pain in back of the neck and base of the brain, and was so nervous and despondent that life was a burden.

As a result of this condition, other weakness peculiar to my sex, fell upon me, until I was utterly wretched.

After much medical treatment and constant failure, I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It was in a faint-hearted way, and with little hope, but I soon began to sleep better, my digestion improved, the pain in the head became less, severe and I gradually gained strength until I felt as if I had been extricated from a pit of abject darkness and despair and emerged into the sunlight!

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy saved me! Very many of my friends to whom I have recommended the remedy, can attest to similar results in their own cases.

It is truly a wonderful medicine and might well be called the "Woman's Friend."

It is a fact that the sick are despairing.

How many thousands of sufferers there are who, from repeated failures to find relief, lack courage, become despondent and almost lose all hope of ever getting anything to cure them!

And yet if they will use this remarkable medicine, which is purely vegetable and harmless and can be procured at any druggist's, how soon will their gloom and despair be turned to hope and joy! Mrs. Swift has recommended it to a great many of her friends who have been cured, and it will cure you if you will use it.

It is by no means a simple patent medicine but is the marvellous discovery of a specialist eminent in the treatment of nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York. The doctor also gives to all the privilege of consulting him free of charge, and any who desire can call upon him or write him a description of the case.

During the past half-century—since the discovery of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the average limit of human life in civilized countries, has been considerably lengthened. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is everywhere considered the standard blood-purifier, the Superior Medicine.

Very Much Surprised.

I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullam's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich., April 11, 1891. For sale by Nye & Co.
