

THE AGONY OVER!

The Sherman Silver Bill

Which has been cussed and discussed from coast to coast, was settled in Congress this week. The excitement incidental to its death never for a moment interfered with the big rush of business at the OLD BREWERY ELEVATOR.

The success of this new firm has been phenomenal. Notwithstanding the low prices of wheat hundreds of bushels are bought every day.

THE NEW YORK STORE.

Established 1853.

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA.

When you come to see the great G. A. R. encampment exercises, be prepared to do your trading here—money saving advantages all over the store. The balance of our Summer Stock at greatly reduced prices, and new goods for early buyers. Read our announcement below:

The New York Store in order to show its special interest in the coming Grand Army Encampment, have made two Solid Gold, Diamond studded G. A. R. Badges, valued at $300 each, which they will offer as prizes during the Encampment as follows:

One diamond badge to the Post Commander of any Post in Marion County receiving the largest number of votes.

And one diamond badge to the Post Commander of any post in the state outside of Marion county receiving the largest number of votes.

The voting will be as follows: For every purchase of twenty-five cents the purchaser will be entitled to one vote; for fifty cents, two votes; for one dollar four votes, and one vote for every additional twenty-five cents purchased. Votes will be received at our store and carefully counted and registered. The voting will commence Monday morning, August 28th, and close Wednesday night, September 6th, and the badges will be presented in accordance with the above arrangement on Thursday, September 7th. The result of the voting will be duly announced in the daily papers.

All purchases made through our mail order department will be entitled to votes as though purchased in the store.

We will also present to the G. A. R. Post outside the state of Indiana, turning out the largest number of men on parade, a beautiful silk G. A. R. flag, trimmed with gilt braid fringe and tassels, with pole surmounted by eagle, belt, etc. They are now on exhibition at the New York Store, where we hope to see every member of the G. A. R. on this visit, and all their friends.

RIOT AT CHICAGO.

Police and Unemployed Have a Lively Tussle.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—There was an immense meeting of the unemployed and others on the lake front yesterday and indications of trouble were soon visible. Detachments of police from sub-stations were ordered there early this morning. At 11 o'clock 500 uniformed officers were on the ground to preserve order. Everything was quiet until the morning had well advanced. As the disturbers, however, lost themselves in the crowd and their identity became less conspicuous symptoms of disorder grew more apparent, but no definite move toward a concerted demonstration was made. Finally the size of the mob began to stop traffic and when this condition of affairs presented itself to the officers in charge of the scattered detail of plain clothes men, they decided to call for reinforcements of uniformed men, whose presence it was hoped would prove demonstration enough to preserve order, and an inspector with forty men was sent to the scene. The detachment was cheered as it appeared among the crowd. Excited individuals made speeches and stones began to be thrown. Rioters who were in the eastern outskirts of the mob picked up coupling-pins from the Illinois Central tracks and the heavy missiles were thrown toward the police.

Inspector Shea and fifty plain clothes officers were gathered at this time south of the monument midway between Michigan boulevard and the tracks. As the danger of assault became imminent Inspector Shea was joined by Inspector Laughlin in charge of a squad of uniformed officers. The latter carried clubs and the former was armed with long canes.

After a moment's conference between the inspectors, Shea ordered a charge on the crowd. The officers were but a short distance south of the body of the mob and before the rioters saw the advance the shock came. The contest was of short duration. As the heart of the mob saw their friends scatter before the swinging clubs, the leaders turned and fled. Northward along the boulevard the mob dwindled away and the rioters sought safety in the lateral alleys and streets.

CHEERS FOLLOWED HISSES.

How Professor Blackie's Apology for a Rough Word Was Received.

Professor Blackie was lecturing to a new class with whose personnel he was imperfectly acquainted. A student rose to read a paragraph, his book in his left hand.

"Sir!" thundered Blackie, "hold your book in your right hand!"—and as the student would have spoken—"No words, sir! Your right hand, I say!" The student held up his right arm, ending piteously at the wrist. "Sir, I have nae right hand!" he said.

Before Blackie could open his lips there arose such a storm of hisses as one perhaps must go to Edinburgh to hear; and by it his voice was overborne. Then the professor left his place and went down to the student he had unwittingly hurt, and put his arm around the lad's shoulders and drew him close, and the lad leaned against his breast.

"My boy," said Blackie—he spoke very softly, yet not so softly but that every word was audible in the hush that had fallen on the classroom—"my boy, you'll forgive me that I was over rough? I did not know—I did not know!" He turned to the students, with a look and tone that came straight from his great heart, he said: "And let me say to you all, I am rejoiced to be shown I am teaching a class of gentlemen."

Scottish lads can cheer as well as his, and that Blackie learned.

DOMESTICATING BEARS.

Two Farmers in a Dispute About a Family of the Animals.

Farmer Dan Warren lives near Hagan's Pond, Sullivan county, New York, and a bear and four cubs come out of the woods and feed in his meadow. He had not raised a gun to them, and he chuckles as he looks at the furry youngsters. Farmer Wood is his neighbor, does not like bear, and when he started to bring in the cubs a few days ago and met the youngsters and their mother he let his dog fly at them and get killed. Wood got his rifle, and when he missed that big bear she chased him all the way into the back kitchen. Then she made faces at him and trotted back with her little ones. Wood is afraid to go after his cubs now, and swears he will kill the bear, and Farmer Warren just as emphatically swears that he will do no such thing. Warren feels that he has a proprietary interest in the bears, as they feed on his land. He says he wants the cubs to grow old enough to make fat eating, then he will kill them himself. And Wood is such a peaceful man that he says he will move before he fights with his neighbor.

Old Polo.

In the "Arabian Nights" we read of a wise sage who cured a great king by a deception with which he aunted the handle of a stick with which the king was in the habit of playing a game at ball, to the end that when the royal hand perspired in the vigor of the play the open pores might receive the medicament. The translator speaks of this stick as a "golf-stick" (sic), but it is plain from the context that the game was played on horseback. It was, in fact, polo. In deed, the illustrations of the very same edition show the said king playing the game on horseback.

Disappointment is felt at the premature decline of American women. Habits of life have much to do with prevailing conditions. Their correction will improve coming generations, and corrective medicines have just as much to do with the present. Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure is a positive specific in all kidney complaints, gravel, stone in bladder, female weakness and irregularities, moth on face, etc., improves appetite and digestion, corrects and restores to normal action all organs of the body and purifies the blood. Also cures headache, backache, dizziness, rheumatism, skin diseases, drowsiness, sleeplessness, dullness, and brings freshness and bloom to the cheek, elasticity to the step and cheerfulness and contentment to the mind. If satisfaction not given money refunded. Costs nothing to try it. Take home a bottle to-day.

Ask Claud Rhore how that horse kicked last Sunday night, and how bad his girl was scared. Claud you don't want to strike so hard.

Darlington has more stock buyers than any other town in the state, of its size. There is Kashner & Bowers, Hunt Bros, Campbell and Wm. Boots.

Jessie Bowers and Lute Dunbar, are pushing their new residence through on double quick time, on Academy st. Joe Corns will not build until spring.

Those who attended the colored meeting here pronounced the singing grand, and gave up that Zack Williams can beat any man begging for money.

If this country had more men like Dan Voorhees, the money panic would be no more. Voorhees' speech in the Senate should be read by every person in the United States.

The rain has come at last but too late to help some of the corn, but we will probably have good fall pastures, and we will have lots of fodder and we will all get through if the greens comes early next spring.

The farmers near the Lutheran church have just completed a gravel road, for which they deserve much praise. A wayfaring man, though a fool will not have to travel through mud in that community.

George Booher is hauling logs to town and lumber home to build an addition to his house. George is one of our prosperous farmers. He does not wait for something to turn up to make money, but turns out and turns something up.

If some good man will come to Darlington and build a good hotel, the citizens here will donate the lot. Now don't fall come at once, but some one had better come soon, or we will build it ourselves, as there is some talk of a company taking this matter in hand.

Never has there been a religious meeting here that effected the hart of uncle John Hulett, as did the colored people from Crawfordsville. They called long and loud for money, and uncle John thought a nickel was enough but Zack Williams called once more and uncle John gave 50 cents more, and promised to give them the hall if they would come back next year.
