A Game of Base Ball.

A picked nine from Jamestown, Ladoga, Lebanon and Roachdale engaged in a contest with the Yountsville boys on the Ladoga field Saturday, Oct. 7. The Yountsville boys are but young and small, and went to Ladoga with the expectation of meeting the boys of their size and age, but behold! Upon entering the field of battle to their astonishment they found a number of bullies and boxers, selected from the four above named towns, with which they intended to win the game or hazard their health in driving the boys out. As their umpire called nothing but strikes, the natural born curiosity from Jamestown and the Inter State League athlete from Lebanon, soon succeeded in fanning the boys out. The gentleman who invited the boys to dinner busied himself collecting the board bill after the game was over. The young men returned home feeling as the Nazarene felt at the rich man's gates, over their treatment by the Ladoga sluggers. They cared nothing for their defeat of 14 to 20 but looked at the principle of the treatment.

A WITNESS.

Wedding At Danville.

Mr. Albert Green, of Darlington, Ind., and Miss Josie Chambers, of this city, were married yesterday at 10:30 a. m., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Nancy A. Henry, 318 east Madison street in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends, Rev. S. H. Whitlock, of Kimber church, officiating. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Green departed via the Big Four for their future home at Darlington.

The groom is a well-known young business man of Darlington and is held in high esteem by all who know him. He has accumulated considerable property and will furnish his bride a comfortable home.

The bride has lived many years in Danville, where she is extensively known and highly respected. She is vivacious, industrious and full of snap and her husband will find her a most valuable helpmate in life's battles. May their wedded life be one of prosperity and happiness.—Danville (Ill.) News.

Ward's Hard Luck.

Last Friday the arguments for a new trial in the case of Ward F. H. Burroughs, who stole a check for $50 from Piser, the college student, were heard before Judge Snyder. The arguments were quite lengthy, occupying nearly the whole afternoon. At the conclusion the Judge overruled the motion and sentenced Burroughs to two years in the penitentiary.

Saturday night a rumor was circulated through the streets that Burroughs had swallowed poison at the jail and was dying in horrible agony. An investigation proved that the unfortunate young man was merely suffering from cramps, but had taken no poison. On Sunday night he had another attack of the disease and for a time his life was despaired. He came around all right, however, and will to-day leave for his new home in Michigan City.

Yes, Indianapolis went republican last Tuesday. However Denny's majority was only 3,000 and we are thankful it was no more. Local issues did the work. Politics cut no figure.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fry died at the home of Jacob Messler, near Hillsboro last Tuesday where Mrs. Fry was visiting. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon.

The police received information from the Junction Wednesday night that a valise filled with a full complement of burglar's tools had been found up there. Investigation showed the grip to contain a cold chisel one dirty shirt, an empty whiskey bottle, a pair of socks and an old love letter addressed to Pat Finnegan.

The surviving members of Co. B, 10th Ind. Vol. Inf., held a reunion at the home of Harvey Custer, three and one-half miles northeast of Darlington, last Sunday. A substantial dinner was served to which eighteen members of Co. B, with Gen. Manson at the head, did ample justice. The next reunion will be held at the residence of William K. Harris near Mace.

E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin has had hard luck since he brought his horses west. His game, handicap horse Galinda pulled up very lame the other morning and will not face the flag again this season. Lady Bess is reported to have broken down, while Santa Anna has a bad leg. Everybody will be sorry to hear of Mr. Baldwin's bad luck with his great horses, as he is one of the owners who is an honor to the turf.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mr. Brookshire's Speech.

A Washington special says:

Representative Brookshire to-day delivered a speech on the bill to repeal the federal election laws. He said that upon whatever other questions the Democratic party might be divided they were substantially agreed upon the proposition that there should be no federal interference at elections, that the people of the country were capable of self government and that therefore there should be local self control.

He referred to the statue passed in England in 1735 which forbade the presence of troops within two miles of a voting place. This law was violated in 1741 and the offending troops were brought before the bar of the house of commons and while upon their knees were reprimanded by the speaker. The people of this country, Mr. Brookshire said, were descendants of the people who had those views 150 years ago respecting the inviolability of the ballot.

As to the laws under consideration, Mr. Brookshire said representatives claimed they intended to protect the colored voters of the South in their right of suffrage. The fact was, he asserted, that they are aimed against the Democratic party of the North. Statistics show that nine-tenths of all the money expended on account of these laws is expended north of Mason and Dixon's line. It was a useless expense, Mr. Brookshire said, and if for no other reason, he said, the law should be repealed. Mr. Brookshire spoke thirty minutes only, but will extend his remarks in the Record.
