Several from Crawfordsville visited the Whip-pe-will cabin Sunday.

Taylor Austin is erecting a new barn. Gilbert Stump is putting up a wind-mill.

George Stump and family, of Illinois, visited friends and relatives here this week.

Mrs. Susan Gillis died at the home of her son, Andrew, on last Saturday, at the ripe old age of eighty-five years. Interment at the Weir cemetery.

WINGATE.

Health not very good.

No dyptheria any more.

Mrs. E. Gilkey is on the sick list.

George Hoxtor's little child is very sick.

Robert Smith will move on his farm soon.

Joseph Botenburg will move to town soon.

Our school commenced here this week.

Mrs. Chas. Nogle is visiting in Crawfordsville.

Our gravel road will be completed this month.

Every thing seems to be on the boom in Wingate.

It is very doubtful if Mant Boots ever recovers.

Joe Galey has gone to Ladoga after his wife and daughter.

John Fritz is on the mend from an attack of typhoid fever.

Sam Gilkey and D. Ocheltree are attending the world's fair.

James Francis had a horse killed in the gravel-pit this week.

A great many children left town on the account of dyptheria.

Our hack man has been sick with the flux. Boys don't forget to look after for he is all right.

Pat Clocktor was buried at New Richmond last Saturday. Dropsy was the cause of his death.

ALAMO.

James Bell is repairing his house.

Rita Fishero is teaching school at No. 7.

Gilbert Titus and Andrew Rush are better.

Mrs. Kate Titus is very low at this writing.

Dr. Smail, of pill fame, was in town Tuesday.

Chas. Westfall has lately moved to this place.

Prof. W. S. Grimes is here from the Cayuga fair, where he has been making sweet music on the cornet. Will is a cornet player of some note and many notes.

We want our Presbyterian brethren to have their church painted. It looks more like a barn at present than a place of worship, and the congregation is amply able to have it done.

Gloriously Acquitted.

The trial of Frank Raridan, charged with stealing a silver watch from Willis Crouch was heard before Judge Harney last Wednesday. The evidence showed that one afternoon last September Willis and Frank and a couple of tough female characters of the town were engaged in drinking beer in Annabel's saloon near the Monon depot. Willis, tender boy that he is, soon became intoxicated. When he awoke he found himself shy of his watch and 3 paltry dollars. The watch was found on Raridan but the $3 had melted into beer. Raridan claimed that Crouch had pawed the watch to him for $2.50 and as for the $3, why, the festive Willis hadn't had that much money at one time in several years. At this point Raridan borrowed a chew of tobacco from one of the jurors and a few minutes later he was gloriously acquitted.

ACCOUNTS IN QUESTION.

Management of a Large Property in California in Controversy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The affairs of the Stearns Rancho Corporation, which at one time owned 130,000 acres in California and is still one of the heaviest landed corporations on the Pacific slope, have been under investigation by a committee of three distinguished business men, viz: Barclay Henley, George B. Polhemus and E. W. McGraw, with reference to the conduct of the manager, Col. R. J. Northam, who is a member of the governor's staff and one of the best-known public men in the state. This committee has about completed its work, and in a few days will make majority and minority reports to the stockholders. The majority report by Messrs. Henley and Polhemus will state that $100,000 of the income of the ranch has been illegally diverted. It is not charged, however, that there has been any embezzlement. In his minority report Mr. McGraw will defend Col. Northam. The late Moses Hopkins, who was president of the company, it is claimed, gave Col. Northam oral authorization to dispose of property of the company. So far as learned no legal step has been taken toward a settlement of the questions involved.

ST. PAUL SENSATIONAL SUIT.

Frank B. Bass sued for Alienating the Affections of Mrs. Jennie Crane. ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 12.—Suit was brought yesterday afternoon against Frank B. Bass, prominent in business and social circles, for $10,000 for alienating the affection of Mrs. Jennie Crane. The lady is pretty, 23 years old and the wife of Eugene Crane, superintendent of the 500-acre farm of Mr. Bass at Stacy, Minn. Frank B. Bass is a very wealthy man, who lives with his wife and children in one of the finest residences on Summit avenue. He would not talk, but his attorney said the case was one of blackmail, that proof would be produced that Crane said last spring: "Jennie, work the old man up, and I will soon have his farm." On the other hand Crane's attorneys will put in evidence letters and telegrams of a very damaging character, addressed by Bass to Mrs. Crane. The latter has gone to the home of her mother at Hammond, Wis.

LEADER FOR 1896.

Politicians Claim Indianapolis Election Opened Harrison's Boom.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—News of the republican victory in the city election at Indianapolis Tuesday was read with much interest in Washington this morning. The democratic politicians from Indiana, particularly Congressman Bynum, have been saying that the real issue involved at Indianapolis was whether ex-President Harrison should be renominated in 1896. Whether this issue entered very materially into the election at Indianapolis is not known, but the fact that the democrats raised it here in Washington and that the ex-President's friends accepted it caused a national interest to attach to the result. Ex-President Harrison's friends were in high feather this morning and there was considerable talk among leading republicans about the availability of Harrison for 1896.

EXPLOSIVE POWDERS.

How They Are Thawed Out With Comparative Safety.

The nature of explosive powders produced from nitro-glycerine mixtures, as set forth lately by one of the most extensive manufacturing companies devoted to that specialty in California, is evidently such as admits of absolute safety when certain simple rules are observed. What is familiarly known as Hercules powder will, it appears, freeze at forty-two degrees Fahrenheit, and must be thawed out before using if frozen, not by roasting it before a hot fire, nor in any vessel over hot iron plates, nor by leaning it up against hot brick-work, steam boilers or putting it into the oven or in hot water to thaw.

The best way to thaw the powder is found to be to place sufficient cartridges for the day on a shelf in the top of a warm room, then put them in a tin or copper can, and set that inside of another vessel containing boiling water; place a cover over the whole and the powder is soon thawed. It should not be heated to more than 212 degrees, for soon after that it throws off noxious fumes by decomposition. It should be stored in a dry, cool and well-ventilated warehouse, and, when so stored, it will remain in good condition in any climate indefinitely. When set on fire in any ordinary way it burns away by slow combustion, producing more noxious gases than when explosion ensues.

A GIRL IN A BEAR'S DEN

A Couple of Strange Creatures Found in the Jungles of India.

A highly respectable Indian gentleman, a member of the Bombay Anthropological society—Mr. Sarat Chandra Mitra—has come forward with an apparently well authenticated story of a girl who has been discovered in Jalpaiguri in the den of a bear. The young person's habits were decidedly bearish, for she tried to bite and scratch those who came near her, went down "on all fours" for locomotion and "growled at meals." The orphanage of the New Dispensation church, in Calcutta, could make nothing of the ferocious founding, who has consequently been removed to Bas Aram, a refuge founded and supported by Brahmo gentlemen in that city.

Nor is this all. A Bhagal Zemindar has captured in the jungle a wild boy, whose only approach to speech is the utterance of chattering sounds like those of a monkey. Colonel Sleeman and the Rev. Mr. Lewis, of the Secundra church mission, have vouched for similar stories. Mr. Mitra is of the opinion that when, as sometimes happens, an infant is abandoned in the bush, there is nothing absurd in the idea that it might be adopted by a female wild animal that had lost her young.

LINES IN THE HAND.

Reading the Character, the Future, and the Past by Them.

Square or spatulated fingers, in the science of palmistry, denote the philosophical and practical temperament. Taper fingers signify an artistic temperament, and very pointed digits are a sure sign of the dreamy, psychical nature. Much is learned by the general quality and configuration of the hand and palm as well as by the lines which cross the latter. The life line running around the base of the thumb denotes long or short life, good or ill health, according as it is long or short, clear and unbroken or otherwise. The "heart line" running across the palm nearest the base of the fingers, signifies the quality of the possessor's emotional nature, also the kind of love she will give and receive. This will be enduring or temporary according to whether the line be long and clear, forked or crossed and chained. Below this is the head line, which indicates the mental and moral qualities and achievements and deficiencies. The line of fate runs perpendicularly across the middle of the palm and is a very important factor in the happiness or unhappiness of its owner. It should be clear and narrow, unchained and uncrossed by the fine wrinkles which score so many palms, and it should never come to an end on the line of the heart, since this signifies disappointment in love. A cross on the "Mount of Mercury," which is just at the base of the fore or index finger, is an unfailing sign of a happy marriage.

A Relentless Creditor.

A creditor seldom goes so far as to seize a coffin about to be carried to the grave. But this happened in the open street in Berlin a few days ago, and created considerable excitement and great indignation. A cabinetmaker's wagon had just stopped in front of a house near the Alexander platz in the German capital with a coffin for the wife of a locomotive engineer who had died. As the coffin was about to be borne into the house an official of the court appeared, placed his seal upon the oaken box, and ordered it transferred to the Berlin pawn office. The official had acted on behalf of a relentless creditor. The engineer pleaded in vain for the coffin. The record failed to say whether he succeeded in getting another.

Saving a Grave.

An unmarried woman possessed of considerable wealth, who died last week in a town in Pennsylvania, was buried in a grave that was dug nineteen years ago. Her father was buried in it originally, and after two years his body was exhumed and placed in a vault. It was a principal of the family never to spend money uselessly, and the daughter, realizing that she would need a grave sometime, decided that filling up the grave would be a waste of good money, and ordered that it be kept open for her. When the not-too-long-delayed day came (she was then 81 years of age), the grave was found to be a half dozen inches too short. It was lengthened and the interment was made.

FROM A FOREIGN SHORE.

Two hundred and sixty-two thousand recruits for the Russian army are to be drawn by conscription this year.

An idol collector in London who has just died had a collection of 500 little gods, all of which had been actually worshipped.

The rudder of the monster British iron-clad Vulcan alone weighs twenty-two tons, about six tons heavier than the one formerly used on the Great Eastern.

The centenary of Claude Chappe, the inventor of the semaphore system of signaling, has been celebrated in Paris by the unveiling of a statue to his memory in the Boulevard St. Germain.

There is a Sabbatarian wave passing over Belgium. It manifests itself most strongly among the printers. Their "chapelets" have met and resolved to discourage the issue of Sunday papers.

The prince of all Hungarian gypsies Ignaz Erdelyi committed suicide a few days ago in Buda-Pesth. He was one of the most famous violinists of his race, and in his lifetime appeared in every country of Europe and in the United States.

One reason why the Russian czar vitch can never marry the Princess Victoria of Wales, with whose name the gossips have connected his, is that they are first cousins, and the marriage of first cousins is strictly prohibited by the canons of the Greek church.

The new tax on stock exchange transactions, which has gone into force in France, has well nigh paralyzed business on the French market and almost caused the total abandonment of the bourse. The huge building, usually crowded with brokers, is almost deserted.

Mr. Chauhev M. Depew's advice is "Go South Young Man." The best in documents to visit the natural resources of the Great South are now offered by the Mobile & Ohio R. R. See advertisement.
