SOME OF THE UNCONSTRUCTED.

At the unveiling of a monument to Confederate soldiers at Richmond, Virginia, on May 30th, some of the sentiments uttered were decidedly loud and radical in the extreme, indicating that a few of the speakers had failed to be re-constructed, during the re-construction period after the late civil war. Among the speakers was Rev. R. C. Cave, who among many things said: "Appomattox was a triumph of the physically stronger, in a conflict between the representatives of two essentially different civiliza- tions and antagonistic ideas of gov- ernment. On one side in that conflict was the South, led by the descendants of the cavaliers, who, with all their faults, had inherited from a long line of ancestors a manly contempt for moral littleness; a high sense, a lofty regard for plighted faith; a strong tendency to conservatism, a profound respect for law and order, and an unflinching loyalty to constitutional governments. Against the South was arrayed the power of the North, dominated by the spirit of Puritanism, which, with all its virtues, has ever been characterized by the Pharisaism that worships itself and is unable to receive any goodness apart from itself; and from the time of Oliver Cromwell to the time of Abraham Lin- coln has never hesitated to trample upon the rights of others in order to effect its own ends.

At Appomattox Puritanism, backed by overwhelming numbers and unlimited resources, prevailed. But brute force cannot settle questions of right and wrong. Thinking men do not judge the merits of a cause by the measure of its success, and I believe

"The world shall yet decide,
In truth's clear, far off light,"
That the South was in the right; that the cause was just; that the men who took up arms in her defense were patri-ots who had even better reason for what they did than had the men who fought at Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill; and that her coercion, whatever good may have resulted or may hereafter re- sult from it, was an outrage on liberty." [Applause.]

Gen. Thomas L. Rosser, a prominent Confederate brigadier-general of cavalry and a Populace candidate for Congress in the Seventh district last fall, also made a speech, which has created a sen- sation among the ex-Confederates. General Rosser denounced the government for granting Federal soldiers pensions. In the course of his remarks he said: "I despise the man who gives United States money to a pensioner. This country can't stand when it makes one citizen support another. I shall never vote for a Congressman who is in favor of government pensions. I would say to Massachusetts, you pay your pension- ers as Virginia pays hers."

WHEN WILL THEY VOTE.
Congress has now had before it ever since December last the Wilson tariff reform bill, and when will a vote be taken upon it the Lord only knows. No man can guess anywhere near it. The predictions were made early in the year that it would pass and become a law within three or four months, yet those making them absolutely knew nothing about it. Had the bill not been in the hands of enemies and nincom- poops it would have been settled long ago. They allowed republican obstruct- ionists to get in their work on many occasions until it looks now as if the bill would fail entirely of passage. It must be amusing indeed to Europeans observing our system of law making, to observe the red tape, stereotyped and ridiculous modes pursued. It must dis- gust all reasonable thinking people of our own country at the methods pur- sued by Congress during the past six months, and their disapproval is shown everywhere where elections of any con- sequence have been held. For their trifling, for their failure to act promptly, for their general indication of incom- petency and mismanagement, the peo- ple will hold them strictly to account, and many of the Congressmen are filling these positions for the last time. They will be retired to private life. Their services can easily be dispensed with. They have been recreant to their trust.

NO TARIFF BILL YET.
This is the 9th of June, the Senate has had the tariff bill under discussion for four or five months and no bill has been passed, and in the shape as desired by the people is not likely soon to be. The thinking men of the democratic party, those who have always stood by it through good and evil report, who be- lieve in the perpetuation of democratic principles, cannot but be thoroughly dis- gusted with the conduct of its lead- ers in the Senate. A thorough re- organization of the party with all this incompetent and mountebank crew left out is the thing absolutely necessary for future success.

TOTAL DISABILITY.

Judge Long, of Michigan, the orator at the Decoration ceremonies at Cairo, in his oration took occasion to censure Hoke Smith and the pension depart- ment for the re-rating, cutting down and cutting off of pensions. It is per- sonal feeling alone that animates Long. He was receiving $50 per month as a pension for total disability until that extravagant ninny, Corporal Tanner, was placed at the head of the pension de- partment when he had Long's pension raised to $70 per month without questioning the right of such proceed- ing in the matter. He would as far as he was concerned just as soon as not have raised it to $275 per month. All any one had to do under Tanner's brief but brilliant career as Commissioner was to ask and it was given regardless of right, justice and duty toward the people. He just simply ordered the pension increased whether it of right should be or not. But here is where the total disability in Long's case comes in, as we understand it. He is Judge of a district court in Michigan, has been for years, and receives a salary of $3,000 per year. Could a man totally disabled earn such a salary? Could he earn anything? The ridiculousness and absurdity of such a thing is appar- ent to every one. There are thousands of old soldiers of the late war on the poor farms and in almshouses of this country, it is said. They are totally disabled and could not earn $50 per year to save them. Here is a judge, holding a high legal position at a fine free salary, and claiming to be totally disabled. Hoke Smith, no doubt, is aiming to do right as he understands, to prevent fraud and imposition in his department, to see that the worthy and deserving shall have just what the pension laws say they shall, no more nor no less. In aiming to deal out exact justice between man and man, between the ex-soldier and his govern- ment, he may commit errors, but not wilfully, and in the case of this Michi- gan judge as in scores of others, he is doing his exact duty in the premises. Some men never know when they have enough, never cease importuning for more than they are entitled to, and this Michigan judge is one of that kind.

MANY HERETICS

Rev. Henry Preserved Smith, a minis- ter of the Presbyterian church at Cin- cinnati, who has attained some notoriety during the past year or two by the utter- ances of some new and advanced ideas in the matter of the doctrines and be- lief of that denomination, has lately been voted a heretic at an assembly of the leading men of the church in New York and the privileges accorded min- isters of the regular faith taken away from him. There were over 100 in the assembly voting him a heretic, while 53 voted favorably to him. According to this there are then 53 heretics besides himself, which shows the church to be considerably divided on the questions advanced by Mr. Smith. Let any indi- vidual of any church now-a-days create any new ideas outside of a certain pre- scribed line and he is at once, in the opinion of certain straight-laced, un- thinking, and sectarian bound members, a heretic, an infidel, an ungodly man and worthy of expulsion. But the world moves, will continue to move in matters of Bible interpretation and the plan of future salvation, and these mem- bers so conservative and dogmatic in their views must move with it. Henry Preserved Smith is probably as upright in his daily walk and conversation as the best of them, and his views may continue men in the correct paths just as well as the more conservative minis- ters and laymen of the Presbyterian de- nomination.

THE MIDLAND.

It was reported the other day that the Midland Railway, or the one running between Anderson and some place in Clay county, had been sold to the Mo- non corporation. It would by a great advantage, no doubt, to the people along the line of the road if such were the case, as then it might amount to some- thing as a road for freight and passen- ger traffic, which under the Crawford management it never has nor never can be. Crawford has been aiming to dem- onstrate for years that a railway can be built and run without money, but has made a great failure at it. His line is always in trouble with the employes or with the counties through which the line is running, and the sooner he sells out and abandons the property the better. Puff-blowing is not his forte.

POWDERLY.

Powderly, the great Knights of Labor leader, has been expelled from the order with which he had so much to do in creating. He has been saying a great many ugly things about the order and hence his expulsion. Like so many noted individuals who have been raised to prominence, he has shown his ingrati- tude in the end by snubbing the hand that fed him after the support had been withdrawn. Again it is more agreeable to be an agitator and do no actual labor than it is to get down to work with the hands. Powderly had "a soft thing" with a good salary in organizing and directing the Knights, but he has not got it now, and hence his ill humor.

WILL BE RE-NOMINATED.

Everything seems to indicate the re- nomination of Hon. E. V. Brookshire for Representative from this district with little or no opposition. And there are many substantial reasons for this. This district in twenty years has had no more industrious official than Mr. E. or one striving to fulfill the duties of his position, or labor more earnestly in the interest of his constituents. No in- terest asking the attention of Mr. Brook- shire in behalf of the people of the dis- trict has been neglected, but every one white or black, republican, democrat and populist, have received prompt and respectful attention. These facts the people know, his constituents appreciate, and will therefore willingly award him the re-nomination and the honors of the position to which he aspires. He has served the people faithfully, and in re- nominating him they believe they will continue to have in him a faithful pub- lic servant. The convention will be held at Covington during the latter part of next month, and up to this time we have learned of no candidate aside from Mr. Brookshire.

COAL MINERS.

The coal miners seem to have no re- spect for the rights of others—it is their own welfare solely that seems to animate them. They side-track coal trains, destroy property belonging to the operators and shoot down men who are anxious to labor for themselves and families. They cannot continue this course much longer. The military will have to be called out, the strong arm of the law invoked, and blood made to flow through their un-American, high handed, and selfish actions. If these miners will not act as law-abiding men should then they must suffer the consequences of their own fool hardness—if they will not work at certain prescribed wages they are not deprived of the privilege of ceasing, yet they have no authority under the law to prevent others from doing so, neither have they any right to destroy property any sooner than the veriest out law. The mining question seems likely to be soonest set- tled by the shedding of blood.

The Why and Wherefore

There is nothing marvelous in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla should cure so many diseases. When you re- member that a majority of the dis- orders "flesh is heir to" are due to im- pure or poisonous condition of the blood, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla is an effective and radical blood purifier, the whole thing is explained.

Besides its blood purifying quali- ties, Hood's Sarsaparilla also con- tains the best known vegetable stom- ach tonics, diuretics, kidney remedies and liver invigorants, and is thus an excellent specific for all disorders of these organs, as well as for low con- dition of the system or that tired feeling.
