AN APPROPRIATION TO BE ASKED.
An appropriation of $100,000 or more is to be asked of the State at the next session of the legislature for the purpose of erecting a Soldier's Home on the grounds donated by the county of Tippecanoe, four miles north-west of Lafayette, and ever after, probably, will this be one of the burdens imposed on the State for maintaining it and keeping hungry politicians in bread and butter. The last item is really the main thing aimed at. There is really no need whatever that the State should be asked to invest a cent in it. There is already a Soldier's Home at Marion, Ind., well established and ample in room to accommodate all the old soldiers who may desire it during the remainder of their days on earth. The Tippecanoe business is little less than a gigantic steal sought to be sought to wring money from the tax-payers of the State.
There is little or no patriotism in the entire business, and somebody is going to make money out of it unless headed off by some sensible, honest and far-seeing members of the next General Assembly. We hope there are enough honest members in that body to prevent the proposed raid on the State treasury, even if it is largely republican.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE.
A grand thing for the legislators of the State to do if they have the will and honesty of purpose would be to regulate the salary and fees of the office of Attorney General to proportions somewhat within the bounds of reason that he should be paid. The office for a decade past is said to be a fortune to the incumbent, and no wonder there is such a scramble for it among the legal fraternity.
The Attorney General should receive in reason-say $5,000 a year and no more, and hundreds of as good lawyers as there are in Indiana are not making as much and have not for years. For the labor performed $5,000 per year is ample, at least first class legal talent can be obtained to perform all the duties for that sum. It is to be feared, however, that by the time the lobby gets through with the committee on fees and salaries the same old order of things will prevail.

SENATOR BRUCE, of Ohio, one of the pets of the sugar trust, and who was one of the four or five Senators who delayed tariff legislation and through it business resumption, says that vice-President Stephenson, of Illinois, should be the next nominee of the democracy for President. Stephenson is a clever gentleman of ability and influence in the party, but it is decidedly unfortunate for him to be championed by such a scamp as Bruce has shown himself to be, and if he has future aspirations he should, if possible, induce him or any other of the sugar trust Senators to keep quiet. Commendations from any of these men after their career in the Senate last summer is so well known, will be looked upon with suspicion, and are liable to injure the person intended to be benefited.

A few factories in the gas belt are aiming to reduce the wages of their employees from 19 to 15 per cent, and this too in spite of the late crushing victory of the republicans at the elections through the country. The public was repeatedly given to understand that prosperity would begin at once if the republicans were successful, but this does not look like it.

Ross, the horse racing point in Lake county, again needs the attention of the Governor. The winter racing has begun again and the scum generally were out last week from Chicago by the thousands. The local authorities cannot or will not rid themselves of the nuisance, but the State can and should and permanently too.

The complete returns show that 1,117-000 democrats did not vote. The republicans made no gains, but enough democrats expressed dissatisfaction by staying at home to cause what appeared on the surface as a landslide.
Only two years until the election of another Democrat President.

PREPARING FOR THE RACE.
Everything points to the fact that the Harrison crowd in Indiana are preparing him for the next race for President on the republican ticket, and if there is any way to down McKidley and Reed for the same place it will be done. This talk of him being indifferent so far as again being a candidate is probably all hoax. His friends, no doubt, are at this early hour making the preliminary steps and under his direction, too. The News, the Michiners, and the other greater or less satellites that moved around him during his administration are getting ready for the contest.
There's money in it to them if he is again elected, but nothing to them if it should be some other man. His campaign in Indiana and speeches in New York were all in accordance with the program arranged early in the fight months ago. Nothing was done that should be in the least disadvantageous to him for the future, and every word and sentence of his speeches were so arranged as not to "mar the most fastidious" of his party. His friends, the ex-office holders, are looking forward with the most hopeful anticipations for his renomination, yet after all it may be well not to be too sanguine, as Reed and McKidley without question consider themselves entitled to the honor and will give Harrison and his friends a lively race.

JUST LIKE THEM.
Wherever there is an office in sight you can always count on the average republican being near to take it in if possible. The cohesive power of public plunder is all really, that has enabled the republican party to maintain an organization any length of time. In this State the party has long been out of power and their appetites at the prospect of spoils is unusually keen.
They are proposing to have all the money there is possible in sight, and much more not now visible. Mr.
Blatchley, of Terre Haute, an obscure man a short time ago, was carried into the State Geologist's office by the late political tidal wave. Like his brethren he is hungry for spoils. He has the appointing of gas inspector, and two or three other positions of profit. He appointed a gas inspector last week named Berry, an unknown quantity like himself. But the worst is the scandal arising from it. It was hinted and even stated that Berry had paid $2,000 for the appointment. If true he should be immediately investigated. It smacks of corruption of the worst kind, if true.
Yet at the same time this is only a republican way of doing things, and this is not the first man of his party to buy himself an office. It is a dirty mess at best, and yet this case will probably be covered up and everything concealed.

FAIRBANKS, a millionaire and railroad attorney, seems to be the main candidate for U. S. Senator to be chosen in 1897, provided the republicans succeed in securing a majority of the members of the legislature for the session of that year. He seems to be the favorite because he has a "barrel" and can probably be induced to invest considerable of it in behalf of his party. That he has any considerable ability for the position is another question. No one outside of a select circle of acquaintances seems to know much about him, nor has his name been heard of until within five or six years past. It is his money only that has directed attention to him, and not any particular statesmanlike ability that he has ever shown. If elected he will be just about as important and influential as millionaire Senators generally have proven themselves to be.

Two cent of the republicans for office since their victory in this State last month is unusually strong and irresista-ble. From almost every school district of the State candidates are developing, and the lives of the members of the legislature promises to be a burden until after the offices are disposed of. Representative McCrea has a large and voluminous correspondence relating to the offices for which he has only one vote to give, yet the office hunters are extremely anxious to get that, and the number of dear friends he has just now is surprising even to himself. Candidates for legislative favors from Montgomery county, average up well with any of them, and the number that would make good door-keepers, clerks, sweepers, etc., is large and constantly growing.

REPUBLICANS have been doing much bragging about the wonderful ability and promise of future statesmanship in Watson, the individual who defeated Holman for Congress in the 11th district. His utterances at a jollification meeting at Rushville a few days after the election proved him to be a young sophomoric ass, and before his term expires his constituents will be thoroughly satisfied on that point.

A MOVEMENT to consolidate the State University at Bloomington and Purdue into one institution is talked of as likely to come up at the next session of the State Legislature. A good move, no doubt, so long as the State has to come down with the money to keep these institutions running, although it might fare badly with a few pauper politicians who might be thrown out of a job by the consolidation.

EASTERN democratic papers are congratulating the democracy of Indiana on its fine showing under averse circumstances. In 1892 Hon. W. R. Myers, the democratic nominee for Secretary of State, received 260,338 votes, and in 1894 235,835, a falling off in the democratic vote of 24,503. In 1892 his opponent received 253,623, and in 1894, 189,602, a gain of 263,991 in the republican vote.

Thus it appears that the net result in Indiana is a loss of only ten per cent.
In other words nine-tenths of the voters who gave their suffrages to the democracy in 1892 stood sturdily by the party two years later, and one-tenth of the former democrats have now voted the republican ticket. This is a very low rate of political mortality during a "landslide," and is so regarded by the eastern democracy. Indiana democracy is therefore credited with the qualities of stead-fastness and courage under trying circumstances. It has evinced these qualities in a remarkable degree, and is still on deck for another trial of strength.
Its principles are eternally right, and therefore bound to win. Time will add to its strength the necessary power.

By the time Representative McCrea has heard the last importunities of the herd of hungry seekers for positions in the legislature, he will doubtless wish he was again a private citizen. There are said to be eight or ten alone from Crawfordsville who want places, and what the remainder of the country and district may turn out no one yet knows, but place hunters are legion, the fellows who want to be clerks, door-keepers, sweepers and such at the next session of the legislature. Many of them are veterans in the business of office holding and seeking, and are going at it very systematically to obtain the jobs to be let out by the legislature this winter.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dr added disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure.
