DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How to Cure Yourself While Using It

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system. Tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Curo" is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Baco-Curo." It will notify you, when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. "Baco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

CURED BY BACO-CURO AND GAINED THIRTY POUNDS. From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection, the following is presented:

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 23, 1895.
Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing Co., La. Crose, Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Cherry Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and I am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition. Yours respectfully,

P. H. MARBERT,

A SUDDEN SUMMONS.

Mrs. John Lofland, East Jefferson Street, Suddenly Expires.

During the course of the running away of the team owned by the artificial ice company, on Monday forenoon on east Jefferson street, Mrs. John Lofland became frightened, it is thought under the supposition that her nephew, a boy three years old, had been injured. During the passage of the team by her house, she hurriedly went to the front door, gave a gasp and fell to the floor. She was placed on a bed at once but expired before medical aid could be procured. It is thought to have been caused from an apoplectic stroke.

John Lofland and family removed here only a few months ago from near Romney, Tippecanoe county. The deceased was a daughter of J. K. McMillan, an early settler of that county. She was the mother of six children, five of whom are living, among them Dr. Lofland, a physician at Linden. Her age was 55 years. The funeral occurred on Wednesday.

Watch the Prognostications.

Mrs. Ellis, of Indianapolis, an astrologist of that city, makes the following predictions of persons and things for the future. She probably does not know any more about what may happen hereafter than anybody else, yet doubtless many believe her. She says:

"The marriage on April 7 at 5:30 p. m. in New York will not prove a very happy one. The future holds much trouble for the groom in many things."

"It will be learned that Pearl Bryan's murderers were Scott Jackson, Walling and Will Wood and a doctor and a woman, as yet not found, but who will be. One of those murderers will, meet death. The indications are that it will be suicide. It will be Jackson. Walling will meet with imprisonment for a term of years. Wood will also suffer, but not death. Both the doctor and woman will escape before they are arrested."

"There will be very disastrous fires in Indianapolis, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. Also forest fires in the west, destroying much property and live stock. June, July, August and September will give us very destructive wind, hail, rain and thunder storms. July and August will be extremely hot and much sickness of a very fatal character will prevail. There will be a great mortality among young children from scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria. Crops will not be good, either grain or fruit."

"McKinley has a good show to get the republican nomination for the presidency if his friends would be true to him, but they will not. They will trade him off for some dark horse, but it will not be Harrison who will get the nomination. Hinshaw will not be cleared by his new trial, and Rooker, when he gets his new trial, will go clear again."

A Faking Fike.

Mr. George Fike, a traveling fake, was brought to grief here a few days ago, and now meditates behind the bars of the jail. Mr. Fike's principal business seems to be to lead beat boarding houses out of his board. He did this at Covington and then came here. He stopped at three or four of the boarding houses of town, representing himself as engaged in putting up telephone poles and wires in which a number of men would be employed and all of whom would board at the house where he was getting his grub. The story worked well for a while, but soon the boarding house people got on to his game, and he fled. He was arrested at Kirkpatrick, brought back here for trial and ordered to give bond for $200 for his future appearance at court. This he could not do, and hence he will continue to get board free for a time off of the county.

Prophet Hicks Has a Kick.

Rev. Irl Hicks, the weather prognosticator, has sent out notices to the newspapers warning them against publishing his forecasts of the weather. In the letter the foretellers of the wars of the elements says:

"We hereby notify you," the letter goes on to say, "that if you reprint the weather forecasts of the Rev. Irl R. Hicks again in your paper or otherwise, we shall, without further notice, proceed against and prosecute you to the fullest extent of the law. We believe you will regard this matter kindly, when you consider that if papers all over the country were to do this we would be robbed of the fruit of our labors and our business ruined."

Death of Samuel Beckner.

Mr. Samuel Beckner, proprietor of a mill on Sugar Creek, a half mile west of Darlington, died on Saturday evening at his residence from heart trouble. His age was 50 years. The funeral occurred on Monday.

The artificial ice plant had specimen chunks of their product on exhibition at several places in town on Saturday. One piece had a bouquet of beautiful flowers frozen in it, another a large beef steak, still another with the business cards in it. The ice is clear and pretty in appearance. The company is already shipping it off as fast as made to neighboring towns, and will soon be ready to serve to private consumers.

GOOD FORM FOR COLLECTORS.

Tom Hannum Stood on Ceremony and Was "Not at Home."

The death of Tom Hannum, one time a well-known habitue of the press galleries on both sides of the capitol, was sincerely deplored among old-time members yesterday and some amusing anecdotes were told of the popular newspaper man by his friends in the course of the day, says the Washington post. One of the best is worth repeating.

Hannum was in the habit of taking a late breakfast at the Press Club every morning. On one occasion, while he was vigorously discussing a hearty repast of ham and eggs, a bill collector suddenly walked up to Hannum's side and laid his account before him. Hannum looked at the bill and then at the collector and in a deliberate tone began:

"You blamed fool, can't you observe the amenities of ordinary civilized society? Don't you know that a man's club is like his home and that you are in danger of being summarily ejected for coming in here without being introduced? The rules of this club require that if you have business with a member to wait in the lobby outside until a waiter takes in your card and ascertain whether the gentleman with whom you have business is present. Now, you go into the lobby—take this bill with you—and comply with the rules of this club."

The collector apologized for the infraction of the rules of the Press Club, which, to tell the truth, were never enforced on anything, and waited until the steward came to ascertain his wishes.

"Please announce me to Mr. Hannum," said the collector.

The steward told him to wait and he carried the man's card to Hannum, who looked at it carefully, then handed it back to the steward and said: "Not at home."

DRESSMAKERS TO THE WORLD.

There Are 65,000 of Them in the French Capital.

Paris is the city where the dress-making trade flourishes as it does in no other spot in the world. In 1850 the number of couturieres, as given in the "Annuaire du Commerce," the commercial directory of those days, was only 153. There were besides sixty-seven shops for the sale of ready-made feminine apparel, but there were none, as there are to-day, which sold lingerie or certain articles exclusively. In the "Bottin" (as the Paris directory is familiarly known) of 1895 there are 1,636 couturieres and 296 commercial houses for the sale of ready-made garments, besides many establishments which manufacture and sell "jupons de dessous" or under petticoats alone. The number of working dressmakers in Paris is estimated at 65,000. In all France, according to M. Georges Michel, the industry of manufacturing the various articles of woman's dress is in the hands of 14,400 male and 143,648 female owners of shops or factories. These furnish employment to 703,801 persons, of whom over 500,000 are women. In addition to these there are 925,855 persons who make their living from industries which are tributary to that of the manufacture of feminine apparel. The total value of the product of this labor from so many hands is estimated at $50,000,000.

New and Peculiar Mineral.

The news has reached this city of a peculiar kind of mineral called apyrite. It is about 93 per cent silica and is consequently very hard to work. It is being worked, however, in Bavaria. It is said that when mixed with water it forms a plastic, sticky mass, which, when dried, becomes firm and resisting, while its volume does not change when exposed to the fire; further, melted metals and scoria do not cling to it, and so apyrite has been found useful for lining furnaces. In the neighborhood of the mines apyrite tempered with water is used instead of lime water and also for plastering. It has in some places superseded fire-brick lining, as in the case of various furnaces. The cupola of a large foundry can be thus lined in a day by two men and it is said that such a lining lasts longer than one of the same material made up into bricks. The substance has been proved useful for repairs to the firework lining of furnaces.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

No Chinese in Leadville.

There are no Chinese in Leadville. The atmosphere is too rare for them, and in other days when a Celestial would stray into the camp something or some one soon told him to stray out again, and he quickly obeyed the still, small voice. Some years since a resident of the camp brought in a Chinese cook. Within an hour the cook and his employer were waited upon by a committee of public-spirited citizens full of information as to railroad time tables and the hour for the departure of the next train. The employer was careless as to train time, and so announced.

"Very well," replied the committee; "we will leave the time-table with you and will be at the station to see your friend off, to speed the parting guest, so to speak. If he is not there on time it will probably be necessary to hang him, and if you should get tangled up in the rope you will have no one to blame but yourself." And then the committeemen went placidly away to their respective gold and silver propositions.

At 3 p. m. the Chinaman and the afternoon train departed from the camp in each other's company. That was quite a good while ago, but never a Chinaman has since been seen here.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE TRESTLE GAVE WAY.

Five Men are Instantly Killed and Two Fatally Injured.

A frightful accident, one of the most horrible ever occurring in the vicinity of Bedford, took place Monday morning about 9 o'clock on the Bedford Belt railway, which runs between Bedford and the stone quarries, which is used in transporting a large number of employees to and from their work, and in marketing the product. A heavy train load of stone was being brought to Bedford, and while crossing a large trestle about one mile distant, at a point where repairs were being made by the bridge gang, without an instant's warning the structure gave way, and the train dropped through, a fall of seventy feet. Ed Bivens, John Masterson and Walter Leonard, bridge carpenters, the latter, whose home is at Walton, Ky., being superintendent of the repair force, were instantly killed; so also Conductor C. M. Orden and Fireman John Sherman, Engineer George T. Meinsier and Chas. Davis were badly injured and will probably die. The bridge gang was at work directly under the trestle where the break occurred. The dead men all leave families in Bedford, with the exception of Leonard. As soon as the alarm was given the rush for the scene was one never to be forgotten. The dead bodies were turned over to the care of relatives as soon as released from the debris. The body of Leonard will be sent to Walton, Ky., for burial.

In Favor of Sunday Ball Games.

Rev. J. H. Milburn, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, the leading religious organization of Indianapolis in point of wealth, social standing and numerical strength, Sunday declared himself in favor of abrogating the Sunday baseball law, and that the question whether or not Sunday baseball should be played should be left to the cities and towns interested.

"The present Sunday laws," said Mr. Milburn, "with the exception of those applying to the liquor business, should be done away with, and a general law should be passed against breaking the Sabbath, but reserving for each city the right to decide for itself whether it wants Sunday ball. It would be a sort of local option. I think it wrong that one class of people should say to another: 'You shall observe Sunday in accordance with my religion.'"

Mr. Milburn believes that if it was left to a popular vote this city would have Sunday ball, and that it would deflect a large element of citizens who drink and drive from roadhouse to roadhouse on Sunday.

"And in Sunday baseball," continued the doctor, "I can see little harm, if the games are conducted quietly and lawfully." Mr. Milburn then explained that he was opposed to Sunday ball solely because it was in violation of the law but he made no objection to the game on the question of morals. For himself, he would favor the abrogation of the law prohibiting Sunday baseball, but so long as any law remained on the statute book it should be obeyed, whether popular or not.
