EXIT CHEADLE.

The election of Tuesday last resulted, as it was anticipated, in the defeat of the demagogue and republican, Jos. B. Cheadle, as a candidate for Congress. He was defeated by a majority of 186 votes. It is probable that this is the last of him so far as again being a candidate for Congress through the nomination of any party. He was no demagogue, never made any pretensions to being such, and yet thousands of democrats in the district were hypnotized into voting for him. The world hates a renegade, has little less feeling for a demagogue and a great contempt for the man, who wanting office trims his sails to every passing breeze. The scheme engineered to secure the support of Cheadle was manipulated by Judge McCabe, D. F. Allen and two or three others, in which they saw a clear way for the support of the legislators of the 9th district of Governor Matthews for U. S. Senator had it have gone through successfully, but it failed. The 22,000 or more democrats of the district were not consulted in the matter of their choice for Congressional nominee. McCabe and the coterie with him not considering perhaps that it was any of their business. The delegates were easily worked and did their bidding. The best had plans of mice and men often fail and so did this. There were many hundreds of democrats who failed to vote for Cheadle. If it were simply a choice between two republicans, it mattered little who was selected, they argued, so they did not vote for either. A real democratic nominee would probably have shared the same fate as Cheadle, but then at least the voters of the district would have had much more zeal in the matter, it would have been a more honorable warfare, and there would have been much more satisfaction in the end. The whole proceeding from first to last should be a warning to future workers of the democratic party in the 9th district that nominees must be democrats or nothing. We got nothing both in the nominee and in the final result.

POPULISM OBSOLETE.

In the late campaign populism reached its greatest strength and influence, and as a political factor will rapidly henceforth decline and pass out of existence. Its largest vote was polled the other day, and its strongest power exhibited this year. The American people by their votes in almost every State indicated that they despised it and would crush it. In all parts of the Union the feeling seemed to be equally strong against it judged by the election results. Populism might be said to be an offshoot of grangerism, although of later growth, and many of its tenets were foolish, unjust and without reason. For instance many of the leaders among the Populists held to and advocated the idea that the government should build ware houses for them and loan them money at 2 per cent., and had this have been granted would probably have urged that the government also pay the boarding and clothing of their families. These were a few only of the ridiculous ideas entertained by advance populists. They have held in the past to other equally nonsensical ideas. One thing in particular has distinguished them, and that is the undisguised selfishness they always exhibited. Legislation must be for them and their benefit regardless of its consequences to all others. And this is the party, and these were the leaders that this year were able to override the true democracy of the country and bend it to its will. And we all know the result in the Waterloo that overcame it in the national election this month. Populism has seen its best days and will rapidly diminish henceforth. It may have done some good in the past, but it will do so no more. Its mission, whatever it was, has been accomplished.

HUNDREDS of the factories opening up for business during the past few days, as an evidence of the benefits of McKinley's election, for that matter need not have been closed in the first place. They had orders for their wares months ago, but through a cut and dried plan of the politicians were closed for political effect and to scare their employees into voting for McKinley. These factories lost nothing by closing. Hanna and his lieutenants arranged that.

As McKinley has never shown any independence in his political action heretofore it is entirely probable that he will not now. Hanna, DePeuw, Bliss and others who control corporations will control him also, and four years from now those loudest in their praises for him will be just as prolific in their curses. His administration will be for classes, and in the nature of things can be nothing else.

CRUSH THE VAMPIRES.

The late election indicated a wonderful crop of vampires and dead beats to prey on the local candidates. There were scores of them and every device known to such scum to draw money from candidates was adopted and with much success it is sad to relate. Many of these dead beats who have been unknown to do a day's work of toil in years, feasted well during the campaign. They importuned candidates for any sum from a dollar up to fifty dollars, always expatiating on their influence or ability to control so many votes, whereas they rarely control their own. Two candidates, it is said, who were defeated, from the beginning to the close of the canvass, spent $1,200 each, over half of which was given to appease the importunities of these election vampires. Could candidates of opposing parties have confidence in or among themselves they could easily have prevented this blood sucking to a great extent. Something should be done with such people. They are clearly not worthy of the right of suffrage. They have no interest in the government outside of being paupers and having the county pay for their board and are not tax-payers but tax consumers. They are only a slight grade above criminals, and should be treated as such, or at least have the disfranchising feature added to their tickets-of-leave while they are permitted to live in and among a law abiding community.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY.

Republican legislators at the next session of the General Assembly, which convenes in January, will have a good opportunity to get something more than their salary, and like the majority of the office holders of the party always looking out for the main chance, will doubtless improve it. Fairbanks and McKee, both reputed millionaires, and quite wealthy at least, desire to go to the U. S. Senate to succeed Voorhees. The rivalry between them is strong and both have friends who will work untiringly for them. Much boodle will be scattered, and the country legislator will in most cases consider that he needs it, and will take what is offered from either candidate. At this time Fairbanks is possibly a few lengths ahead in the race and has the Indianapolis gang of office holders, ex office holders and bootlickers, to back and encourage him, yet McKee the Terre Haute candidate, may not be a slow nag and may surprise many by his speed. Many of these legislators will be visited in their rural homes soon by friends of these two men and something substantial, no doubt, will be left there for their influence when the session convenes.

REWARDING THE TRAITORS.

A correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle from Indianapolis, speaking of rewarding the sneaks who assisted in carrying Indiana for McKinley and Mount, says: "The republicans will insist that all democrats whom Governor-Elect Mount appoints to office shall be from the supporters of the sound money cause in the recent election, and it is more than probable that a number of these will receive recognition from the new State executive."

"Under the law the governor is required to appoint at least one democrat on each of the State institution boards and a democrat also on the board of tax commissioners. It has been suggested that John R. Wilson, for a time secretary of the sound money national democratic committee, be chosen as tax commissioner, and that Judge John C. Robinson, Judge Terhune and ex-Congressman Cooper be selected as members of the boards of trustees of the State institutions."

POLITICAL PROPHETS.

The results of the late election indicate that it will not do to place too much confidence in the words of political prophets regarding majorities that a State, district or precinct will give at an election. Only a week before the election Chairman Martin, as likewise Tom Taggart, said the State would undoubtedly go 25,000 democratic. They just simply did not know anything about it, yet their assertions caused many individuals to make losing wagers on the probable results. In fact managers of political undertakings should give out nothing, nor express any opinion, pro or con, but let outsiders do the exaggeration. It would neither help nor injure to keep still at political headquarters.

HARDLY anybody would envy the position of Bynum now. He was the Benedict Arnold of the gold standard democrats. He sought to betray his party to their old time enemies. His reward will probably be some office from Cleveland, or failing in that will be supplied by one from McKinley, but this cannot compensate for the feeling of contempt and hate toward anyone proving himself a traitor, as has this man.

HAVING completed the dirty work assigned him by his master in Washington City, Bynum can now in good faith demand an appointment to office say for instance, a Judgeship in Oklahoma, or anything most not occupied at this time.

It was perhaps the "want of confidence" that did it last week.

ALTGELDT ON THE SITUATION.

Gov. Altgeld, of Illinois, although crushed by the political land-slide of the 3d, has lost none of the vim and determination that has distinguished him. In an address to the democracy of Illinois he says:

"Although defeated I desire to thank you for the loyal support you have given me, and I congratulate you on the heroic fight you have just made. Consider that only six months ago our great party lay prostrate; it had been betrayed into the hands of stock jobbers and monopolists by President Cleveland, it has been robbed of everything democratic except the name it was loaded with political deadbeats, yet it repudiated the men who betrayed it and again proclaimed democratic principles and espoused the cause of toiling humanity. It was confronted by everything that money could buy—that boodle could debauch or that fear of starvation could coerce. It was confronted by a combination of forces such as had never been united before and could probably never be united again, and worse still the time was too short to educate the public. While we are defeated our party is more vigorous and in better condition generally than it has been for a third of a century. We have dug the grave of the British gold standard. One more campaign of education will forever bury the palsied form of that curse which has blighted prosperity and the happiness of mankind."

They have already begun the business of cabinet making for McKinley, and as if the country had not had enough of his financiering are guessing on the name of Sherman, of Ohio, for Secretary of the Treasury department. Almost any man could go into that department and make no more bad work than did Sherman heretofore.

And "who will care for Grover Cleveland now?" Not anybody we know of but his immediate household.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical eye, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. These pills are easy in action, particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. per box. Sold by Nye & Booe, Druggists.

Morally speaking, there is no cause for disappointment in the fact that the Dr. Tanner who was recently burned to death at Akron, O., was not the faster, but another man of the same name.

That Wonderful Churn!

I want to add my testimony to the list of those that have used the Lightning Churn. It does all that is claimed for it you can churn easily in one minute, and get a large percentage more butter than with the common churns. I never took the agency for anything before but so many of my neighbors wanted churns, that I ordered 30 and they are all gone, I think in a year every farmer will have a Lightning Churn in fact they can't afford to be without one as they make so much more butter, and a good little bit of money can be made in every township selling these churns. By writing to J. F. Casey & Co., St. Louis, Mo., you can get circulars and full particulars about the churn.

The Kansas City preacher who says that the most complete rest a person can get is on a Pullman car is nearer right than ministers of the gospel usually get when they discuss secular subjects.
