

THE TWO JAILOR JUGS.

Or the Contents of Heart, Caused the Death of Marshall, and the Sentence of the Court Contains Several Pertinent Suggestions.

Barney Roberts who, while drunk, killed Marshal Newkirk last summer at Joliet, Parke county, received a sentence of 21 years in prison, and at the close of the trial Judge Webb, before whom the case was heard at Covington, made the following remarks:

"Viewed from its two sides the case presents one of the saddest temperance lectures ever portrayed in the human language. It is evident that when sober this defendant was a good man, who treated his family well and by hard labor had provided for his family a comfortable home, but the sad result, this awful tragedy may be traced directly to the two gallon of beer in the jug at Armstrong's barn. You have been tried by a fair and impartial jury. Its verdict has been given according to the evidence, the belief of the court, and the conclusion of the jury, you have escaped with a remarkably light sentence. The court, and evidently, the jury, believed that you procured the gun for no other purpose than to prevent your arrest; and according to your own testimony shot him knowing that it was the marshal of Joliet. Your testimony disclosed the fact that you were intoxicated at the time the fatal shot was fired, but intoxication neither legally nor morally is any excuse. The law holds a man responsible for putting himself in a state of intoxication. The fact that this officer of the law had no warrant is no excuse. The testimony discloses that you were ignorant of this fact. As was said in the beginning, this sentence is a remarkably light one for so great a crime. There are reasons why it is true, evidently, the jury believed this defendant a good man when not in drink; that the two gallon jug of beer was the direct cause of this man's present predicament."

STILL A REPROBATE.

Now a Bright Star in the Theatrical Firmament.

An Ex-Convict Caught Stealing Corn.

The punishment which some men receive for evils committed appears to have little or no effect with them. After once being detected and convicted the moral sensibilities become blunted and they soon become indifferent to public opinion. Old man John A. Long, living south-east of Linden, is an instance of this. Some six years ago he received a two-years' penitentiary sentence for stealing a plow, and is now in a fair way to again assume his labor at the northern prison. He is perhaps naturally perverse, and can probably "lift things" without any compunctions of conscience. Saturday night last Mr. J. O. Fowler, a neighbor of Long's heard his dog barking in the vicinity of his corn crib. Going out quietly and approaching the crib he beheld a man with a sack and which he was filling with corn. Confronted by Fowler he at once "acknowledged the corn," and threw back into the crib what he had intended to carry away. Taken to the house Fowler at once saw it was his neighbor, Long. He plead somewhat, saying it was his first offence, but Fowler knew the man and his character, and soon after had him brought to jail. Long has no reason to be a thief, has cattle, horses, hogs, and plenty of corn also, and can easily make a living without being a land pirate. He is the father of the at one time noted Nancy Lightcap, who some years ago was sentenced to the Women's penitentiary at Indianapolis, escaped therefrom, was re-arrested and served out her time, and is now residing in that city with her husband, Dan Seering. Long is nearly 70 years of age, and is old enough at least to know honesty from crime.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

It is claimed that 250,000 bushels of corn will be marketed this year at Pendleton.

Earlham College students are raising a fund of $500 looking to a State field-day next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiggins, of Greenfield, have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Thirteen eloping couples from Kentucky were joined in wedlock at Jeffersonville in honor of Christmas.

Mary Morris and Miss Euba Guthrie of Logansport, defied parental opposition, and were married at Cassiopolis, Mich.

A committee has been appointed to secure a university extension center at Richmond, and a course of twelve lectures.

Will Brown, son of Edward Brown, of Terre Haute, while spending Christmas with friends at Paris, Ill., was accidentally shot and killed.

NAPOLEON'S VALUE OF VICTORY

It Finds a Striking Counterpart in World Triumphs.

Napoleon knew well the value of a victory. After Austerlitz the world seemed his. Fame invited, fortune favored, everything stimulated his aspiring ambition. With growing power he gathered the fruits of victory. And so it has ever been. Success succeeds. A notable illustration of this truth is furnished by the great victories won at the World's Fair in '93 and the California Midwinter Fair in '94 by Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Ever increasing sales and popularity have been the result. The people have promptly ratified the official verdicts that declared Dr. Price's for leavening power, keeping qualities, purity and general excellence the "foremost baking powder in all the world." Quite as quickly as the great Emperor do they know the value of a victory that means world wide supremacy.

In jail.

Miss Nellie Proctor, residing near New Market, and under 16 years of age, made affidavit against Pearl Cason, a young man residing in Ripley township, charging him with seduction. Cason was arrested last week in consequence and placed in jail.

Jack Stanley, the noted temperance orator, will begin a series of union meetings at Linden about January 4.

FOR SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS.

A Good Big Crop of Candidates which Promises to Make the Race Quite Interesting.

Next June the township trustees select a candidate to succeed J. S. Zuck as school superintendent and as the man to be chosen is to be a republican and the majority of the trustees are of that faith quite a number of candidates are springing up, there being no less than seven, it is said, for the position. Among them are Prof. Fry, W. W. Ewing, Ward Wallup, Kleiser, of Waveland, Fraley, of Madison township, Geo. Brewer, now of this city, and another one or two. Brewer was chosen over a year ago by the trustees, but by a decision of the Supreme Court incumbents of the position at that time in the different counties of the State, were allowed to retain the places until June of this year. Brewer was, in consequence, not allowed the position. Prof. Fry, it is understood, will make a determined effort to obtain it, but no more so than others. Kleiser occupies rather a pecuniary position, being a trustee himself of Brown township. If he cannot secure the job he can, by uniting with the five democratic trustees, prevent any of the present named candidates from getting it. But would he do it is the question? Some years ago a similar contest came up, and Trustees Ford, of Clark, and Morgan, of Union, although democratic, threw their influence in such a way that a democrat was beaten and Gantley, a republican, chosen. They received many curses for this—in fact neither of them have held any office since. Whether Kleiser in the event he failed to win, would aim to kill off the other fellows remains to be seen. Both Fry and Ewing have, we believe, had one term each of the office. The place is worth about $1,250 per year—about twice as much the best paid school teacher earns.

MELANCHOLY WOMEN.

Always Afraid Something Dreadful is Going to Happen.

How a Little Baby Girl Roiled the Clouds Away.

Of course a woman will naturally see the dark side of everything when tortured by some form of female disease, which her doctor cannot or does not relieve. No wonder she is melancholy when head and back ache, pains run through the whole body and loins, nerves are weak, stomach out of order, digestion poor, sense of fullness and bearing down, poor sleep and appetite, always weak and tired, irregular menstruation, whites, etc.

She probably is not so fortunate as to know that all female ailments are indicated by these never failing symptoms, and are controlled by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; all female weaknesses quickly disappear by its use. It has been the thinking woman's safeguard for twenty years, and all druggists sell large quantities of it because it can be relied upon.

Still another woman speaks:

"I wish you would publish my name with your testimonials. I want every one to know that your Vegetable Compound has made me well and strong. I sing its praises all the time. When I was first married I was very weak and had female troubles badly; Oh, I was so weary, sick and melancholy, but the Vegetable Compound built me up, and now I have a dear baby girl, and I am so happy. No home is complete without a dear little baby and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to roll the clouds away."—Mrs. Geo. Claus, 35 Danforth St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Here is a diamond, here a piece of charcoal. Both carbon; yet between them stands the mightiest of magicians Nature. The food on your table, and your own body; elementally the same yet between the two stands the digestion, the arbiter of growth or decline, life or death.

We cannot make a diamond; we cannot make flesh, blood and bone. No. But by means of the Shaker Digestive Cordial we can enable the stomach to digest food which would otherwise ferment and poison the system. In all forms of dyspepsia and incipient consumption, with weakness, loss of flesh, thin blood nervous prostration the Cordial is the successful remedy. Taken with food it relieves at once. It nourishes and assists nature to nourish. A trial bottle—enough to show its merit—10 cents.
