Burglars' Lot Legionsport.

Legionsport is overrun with burglars and the police seem powerless to prevent it.

Last Saturday night Frank Rose and Joe Molique were met by a single highwayman as they were returning home, and were forced to give up their valuables at the point of a revolver. Sunday evening Michael Fornoff, a prominent musician, was accosted by a footpad in a lonely street and ordered to throw up his hands. The robber leveled a revolver at Fornoff's head, but the latter grappled with him, and after a desperate struggle, succeeded in getting possession of it, his assailant making his escape by running into a dark alley. Yesterday afternoon a man entered the residence of Mrs. John Rich, an old woman, who presented what he represented to be an unpaid bill. While Mrs. Rich was examining the paper she was felled by a blow on the head with a sand-bag. When she regained consciousness she was securely bound and gagged and it was three hours before she managed to loosen her bonds and give the alarm. The robber had secured $200 in gold and $100 in paper money, secreted beneath a mattress. The job was evidently done by some one acquainted with the fact of Mrs. Rich's custom of keeping money in her house.

Dr. Galloway, of Kalamazoo, Mich., an old army comrade of John W. Clemson was visiting him this week. He is about to locate at Terre Haute.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will reach the blood, tone up the nerves, and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is swept away.

ROMANTIC STORIES.

HOW LOVE LAUGHED AT STERN PARENTS.

WHEN A GIRL WILL SEE GENERALLY DOES IT.

Some Recent Elopements East and West
—Chicago High School Girls Form a Runaway Marriage Club—One Member Fails Her Contract.

CHICAGO high school girl eloped to Milwaukee the other day with a traveling salesman and was married. Parental forgiveness has not been held out to the girl.

Jennie Jennings, 5718 Kimbark avenue, is the bride and A. R. Wickheimer the bridegroom. They flew to the Wisconsin Gretna Green in the morning, and the first knowledge the girl's parents got of the affair was this telegram: Jennie and I were married today. Will be home to-morrow morning.

WICKHEIMER.

Mrs. Jennings went into hysterics and fainted. She was in a serious condition and two doctors watched over her the greater part of the night.

The bride was a pupil of Hyde Park high school, and would have graduated in June. The groom is a young business man representing an eastern firm dealing in laundry supplies. The relatives of Mrs. Wickheimer say they know nothing about him, and there is where the trouble began. He made his first appearance at the residence quite recently and told Mrs. Jennings' parents he wished to marry their daughter. Mrs. Jennings fainted and the young man beat a hurried retreat, but left a diamond ring on one of Jennie's fingers. On Mrs. Jennings' recovery inquiry was made about the prospective son, but all that the daughter knew, or at least all she confessed, was that she was in love and she did not care who knew it, so they eloped.

Parents Had to Forgive.

Mr. Frank McMullen, a young lawyer of New York city, is a keen judge of human nature. This has led him to observe that those who are often loudest in denouncing a theory are the first to accept and make the best of it when confronted with the condition. That is why Mr. McMullen is a married man. At Lake Mohogan last summer Mr. McMullen fell in love with Miss Fannie Coman. She is a pretty brunette. Her family lives at No. 26 West One Hundred and Twenty-third street. The young man was visiting his uncle, W. H. Burke, the Harlem Tammany leader. When the couple announced their engagement the McMullen family objected, declaring the bridegroom was too young to be married. Miss Coman's parents looked on him with favor, and the two families took sides upon the question. The suitor, against his parents' urgings, visited the young woman at the city home of the Comans and on the other evening took tea there. It was shortly after tea, when the couple were left alone, that young Mr. McMullen, despairing of obtaining his parents' consent, resolved to confront them with the actual condition—that of marriage.

"Let's go out now and be married," he said. The two went to St. Stephen's Church and were made man and wife. Mr. McMullen's father and mother are reconciled.

Girls Form an Elopement Club.

The marriage of A. R. Wickheim to Miss Jennings which followed an elopement to Milwaukee, has brought to light an elopement club in Hyde Park. Girls of the high school said to be members. Miss Jennings' elopement fast following others in Hyde Park has given widespread belief in the existence of an elopement club, and, in-

JENNIE JENNINGS.

As credible as it may seem, it is said a cardinal principle of the club is that the older the man induced to elope the more credit will be accorded the girl who wins him. The club is so much a reality that its written constitution has been discovered, and the salient features of it are as follows:

This organization shall be called "The H. P. M. S. Elopement Club." Absolute secrecy as to time and particulars of elopement shall be maintained even between members. Membership shall be limited to seven and shall cease the moment the wedding ring is placed on a true sister's finger. The older the man inveigled into eloping the more credit shall be given the departing sister. Boys under eighteen years are not to be considered respectable. Milwaukee is the Gretna Green preferably. Troches and cough syrups are absolutely forbidden. Long wedding trips are also barred. The penalty for being a member for longer than two years is expulsion. Each departing member shall suggest a sister to take her place. First, last and always the motto of the club shall be: "Elope! elope! We care not where, just so we find a husband there."

Will Wed the Man She Loves.

Miss Emma Ruel, a handsome young woman of Muskegon, Mich., would now be the wife of Frank Goodberg, a former Muskegon boy, now a shipping clerk in Chicago, had not a friend betrayed her confidence. Her father had another man picked out for her, and while she allowed his attentions she found it impossible to change her love, though Lake Michigan separated her from the man of her choice. The other night, while the house was filled with company, she shipped her trunk and started for Chicago. Mr. Ruel got word of her departure through a friend of his daughter, and overtook her at the depot, and by agreeing to let her marry whom she pleased induced her to return home. The wedding will not take place for a year now. "If I can't marry the one I love I'll marry no one," she said.

Eloped After Church.

Annie Wilkins and Charles Yeaton attended church together at Beverly, Mass., Sunday night and neither of them has returned home yet. Parents and friends of both believe that they have eloped. Miss Wilkins had a former attachment that had a sad ending, and which is curiously connected with the present affair. The young man was William G. Flynn, and he was a Catholic, while Annie's parents are Protestants. The marriage was, therefore, objected to, and Flynn's subsequent despondency led to his suicide. Yeaton was a close friend of Annie's dead lover.

Eloped with an Actor.

Fascinated by his stories of the adventures of theatrical profession, Nel

EMMETT DOOLEY.

He Hagerton, a stage-struck damsel of Ottumwa, Ia., eloped, it is alleged, with Emmett Dooley, who plays Simon Legree in an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe, now touring the northwest. Nellie's father, J. K. Hagerton, is one of the wealthiest merchants in the county, and from letters left by the girl her parents are of the opinion that Dooley has been maturing for some time the plan for an elopement. The girl is but 17 years old and the authorities are on the lookout for the runaways.

Tried to Play Lochinvar.

A romantic marriage planned by Carl Squier and Miss Ora Bain, a prominent young society couple of Calhoun County, Ill., has been nipped in the bud by the prospective groom's parents, who oppose the union. Owing to his being under age young Squier was unable to secure a license in his county, but succeeded in procuring one in Missouri. He had as he thought perfected every arrangement for the happy event at Winfield, when to his dismay the proceedings were abruptly stopped by the sheriff of Calhoun County, who had been summoned to stop the wedding by his irate parents. Young Squier declares he will succeed better next time.

Princess Elvira Has Eloped.

Princess Elvira, Don Carlos' third daughter, has eloped recently with a Roman artist named Folchi, a married man. The Princess Elvira was born in Geneva in 1871. Princess Elvira took with her her jewels, which are valued at $60,000. The whereabouts of the couple are unknown.

Photographing a Mummy's Bones.

A collector of curios in Philadelphia says he owes a debt of gratitude to Prof. Roentgen. While traveling in Egypt he surreptitiously purchased what was reputed to be the mummified hand of a personage of rank, who flourished 3,000 or 4,000 years ago. The brown and withered hand was looked upon as a great prize by its possessor, who brought it with no little pride to this country, with the idea of placing it in a national museum. Cynical friends pronounced the hand a fake and the general verdict was: "It is a modern make-up; it is only pitch, mixed with pieces of refuse mummy cloth, with new finger nails stuck in." Thus an element of doubt was likely forever to hover about the relic, which was still regarded as too valuable to be discarded for examination. Keenly disappointed and almost in despair, the traveler took it to an X-ray photographer and asked him to make a picture of it. In a few minutes the sensitive plate showed the perfect bones of a human hand to the consternation of the unbelieving critics and to the delight of the owner of the curious memento of ancient civilization.—Pittsburg Dispatch.
