PRISON LABOR.

The last fool legislature in response to the demand of a few labor fanatics abolished the contract labor system for so long in vogue in the penitentiaries of the State. Heretofore most of the prisoners had been steadily employed on contracts in making shoes, chairs, hosiery, etc., and their minds and hands being occupied they generally were contented, and troubles rarely arose.
This is to be changed now. Most of the men will have nothing to do, and to be confined from day to day in their cells, except when going to meals, will work, no doubt, great havoc and danger among the hundreds of men confined there. "An idle brain is the devil's work shop," and great trouble will arise from this change. Insanity, insubordination, turmoil and danger will be noted. The large number—900 or more men confined in the prison—will be very difficult and dangerous to control, and it will be found soon that a return to the old system of giving prisoners employment, will be absolutely required. There is even now a demand from several quarters that the Governor convene the legislature to devise some law for the employment of prisoners, or order a return to the old. This one law of the last legislature is only one instance illustrating the uselessness of most of its acts. It is one of many passed by it showing its impracticability, and the last legislature was largely republican.

APPROVES THE CIVIL SERVICE.

President McKinley has created an intense feeling himself in the ranks of the vast army of office seekers of his party by announcing that he will veto any measure passed by Congress which may tend to cripple the civil service law. This is proper. If there is any plant that should be killed off it is the never ceasing one among thousands of men to be perpetually hunting for office —who pass their entire lives in seeking official positions. Civil service tends to kill off this species of vermin. It frequently tends to force them into doing actual labor—to earn their money by the sweat of their brows. There are thousands of men in this country whose minds are constantly bent on office getting, who will not go into the fields of honest toil, who impose on their friends from year to year and pass a hand-to-mouth existence in seeking office. If civil service will tend to crush this spirit of do-nothingness, will drive men to labor instead of making them drones of society, will tend to extinguish the appetite for office, the country will be greatly benefitted by it and trust that it is a law that will remain permanently.

NOT IN SIGHT YET.

Although over a year has passed since McKinley was elected, the prosperity in business which was sure to follow his election, according to republican newspapers and orators, has failed as yet to appear any to appreciable extent. Business with most men in this country is far from satisfactory, trade with many of them very quiet and money hard to secure. It would not be this way at all if there was any prosperity worth mentioning. What there may be of it exists apparently in spots.
Failures in business, bursting of banks, and strikes have been quite frequent during the past twelve months. The only men satisfied with the present situation are the wealthy, the men having money to loan, to shave notes with or cut coupons. The men having in charge the financial management of the government are as much at sea as was Carlie, of the Cleveland administration, and the advisors that surrounded him. If there is any general prosperity or any indications of its early advancement, the great majority would prefer more to see it than hear of it.

THE Chicago Record is sending out ready printed editorials relative to postal service deposits of money, requesting their publication and credit to that paper. The Record should invest a few thousands in cash if it desires to boom itself, instead of this dead beat system.

SHORTAGE OF REVENUE.

For four or five months there has been a steady decline of the receipts of the government, and this notwithstanding the words of republican statesmen, that so soon as the Dingley bill was in operation there would be plenty of revenue to run the government. The sole fact is these republican partizans simply lied. They knew no more about it than any ordinary citizen, in fac, were not half as far seeing as most business men. They have bitten off more than they can chew. They know no more about running the government than their predecessors. The revenues will continue to fall short of the necessary amount to run it, and until the wealth of the country is taxed its equitable share as it should be, deficiencies will continue. As it now is the program is to tax the consumer, but let the producer or manufacturer escape the burdens.

BORROWING AGAIN.

The city is making arrangements to borrow more money to "tide over" as they term it until next tax paying time.
This too, mind you, when our city taxes now are more than $1 on the $100 valuation. The same wise councilmen continue to make this or that improvement and often when there is no immediate need and for it. The officers most needed now are those determined on extinguishing the city debt and reducing taxation. Men on that platform are the ones that should be elected next May.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable.
Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.
It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure.
Send for circulars and testimonials.

REFORM IN DINNER-GIVING.

Simple Dinners Are Now Considered the Elegant Dinners.

"A dinner engagement, no matter whether the dinner be large or small, formal or informal, is the most exacting of social obligations," says the Ladies' Home Journal. "Indeed, I always felt a double sense of obligation when invited to a small dinner. In selecting the guests for the small dinner choose those who are congenial.
If among your friends you number physicians, lawyers or politicians, do not invite one of each class, nor all of one class, simply because their professions are the same, but select congenial spirits. Then small dinners, well arranged, are much more enjoyable than one large conventional dinner served to sixty ill-selected people. The food is better, service better and distention better and even when trained help cannot be employed the hostess may enjoy the occasion as well as the guests. The art of dining, remember, is quite apart from the art of giving dinners. A reform in dinner-giving is being instigated. Simple dinners are now 'the elegant dinners.' The man who has studied the art of living lives frugally. A hostess must never forget that during the short time her guests are under her roof she is responsible for their happiness and comfort. A huge dinner of twelve courses of badly blended food is not conducive to either. Savarin said: 'The dinner is a place where men are never bored for the first hour'; the insinuation that a second should prove a bore is rather prominent. If people in the ordinary walks of life are to make such entertainments a success they must never try new or elaborate dishes, or even new ways of serving; they should simply add an extra plate or two to the usual number and invite their friends."

FORGOT HIS PARCEL.

Could the Lady Have Been His Wife?

A rather unique instance of absent-mindedness occurred the other evening on the Jefferson avenue car line, says the Detroit News-Tribune. The car was well filled with passengers and as a stop was made at McDougall avenue a man stepped off the back platform, where he had been standing, and the car moved on.

Instantly a wild cry went up from the late passenger, which broadened into a howl of despair as the distance between him and the trolley car widened. As he shrieked he also ran and waved his hands frantically. The conductor, seeing the shadowy form in the dimness of the night and hearing the unearthly cries, pulled the bell-strap and thus induced the motorman to halt, which he did with a jerk. The man in pursuit came within hailing distance.

"What d'ye want?" shouted the puncher of pasteboard.

"I want—the lady—in there!" gasped the man, swinging his hat at the open car door. The car having come to a dead standstill, a woman arose, deliberately walked out of the car and was received by her breathless escort, who had so nearly left her to her fate of missing parcels.

Amid much laughter the next man who left the car in company with a lady insisted that she walk in front of him until safely on the ground.

A Boy's Essay on Journalism.

From the Atlanta Constitution: A bright little boy who attends one of the city public schools was told by his teacher a few days ago to write an essay on "Journalism," and the next day he handed in the following: "Journalism is the science of all sorts of journals. There is a heap of kinds of journals. Journals are good things 'cept when they are hot journals, and then they are just awful. My ma, she takes a fashion journal what is always full of pictures of horrid old maids with the ugliest dresses on I ever saw. The fashion journal is a heap gooder than the hot journal, 'cause the hot journal stops the train and the fashion journal starts it. The fashion journal don't stop nothin' but the broken window light and pa's bank account.

"There is sheep journals and hog journals and brass journals, too, and pa has got a journal down town at the store and writes things in it about folks he don't want to forget. Then we had a woman 't cooked for us named Sally Journal. She was the funniest journal I ever saw. She was a bald-headed journal.

"They ain't no more journals that I know of.

An Episcopal Bicyclist.

The Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol is reported as the latest cycling recruit in England. He has been seen astride a bicycle more than once in the neighborhood of Gloucester lately. This for an old man, in his seventy-eighth year, is not bad. Dr. Elliott, who is of a thin, wiry build, is well known also as an accomplished Alpine climber, skater and billiard player.

Bad Results of Vaccination.

In a family living near Houtzdale, Pa., there is a seven-year-old child no larger than a five-months-old babe. The baby was vaccinated when it was five months old, and blood poisoning resulting, it has not grown a particle since.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to be directed from the Clerk of the Montgomery Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Mattie P. Totten is plaintiff, and Henry C. Swisher et al. are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of five hundred and fifty dollars and fifty-one cents, ($550.51), with interest on said decree of O. Green and E. Newbards land, south fifty-seven (57) rods to the center of the road, east twenty-two and one half (22½) rods to the beginning, containing ten and sixty-six hundredths (10 66-100) acres, more or less.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11th, 1897, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. of said day, at the door of the Court House in Crawfordsville, Montgomery county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, the following real estate, to-wit:

The east half of the following described tract of land to-wit: Part of the east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty-five (35), township nineteen (19), north range four (4), west, bounded as follows: Beginning at a stake in the center of the Noblesville Road, five (5) rods west of the southeast corner of said east half, north sixteen (16) rods, east five (5) rods to section line, north twenty-seven (27) rods to the center of the creek, thence down said creek to E. Kennedy corner, south forty-five (45) rods to the center of the Noblesville Road, east ten (10) rods to the beginning; also beginning fifteen (15) rods west of the southeast corner of said east half, north forty-five (45) rods to the center of Middle Fork of Sugar creek, down said creek to the corner of O. Green and E. Newbards land, south fifty-seven (57)
rods to the center of the road, east twenty-two
and one half (22½) rods to the beginning, con-
acres, more or less.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or as much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs.
Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.
