LANDIS' FENCES.

Congressman Landis' fences in this district are in bad repair judging from the following from a Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis News:

"Representative Landis, who led the fight against the present civil service in the House, and should thereby have endeared himself to the 'party workers,' is dodging right, and left to smooth over rough places in every little community where he recommended a postmaster's appointment."

Congressman Landis, probably like nine tenths of candidates running for Congress, promised every constituent a post office who asked for it. Of course he could not accommodate a tenth of the applicants as there were not offices enough to go round. Now the disappointed are mad. So far as the people are concerned of his party it makes no difference how many sour and disappointed office seekers there are. The people take little stock in their griefs and disappointments, and care less. A man who starts out in life as a perpetual office seeker is most times an object of contempt. He is generally a drone in the hive of industry. He is little use to the general public, and at the end of life dies poor. However this class of men have some influence and many of these as in this instance will use it against Landis. It will be a good thing, however, if they defeat him. He expects to hunt or hold office all his life, and if they defeat him it will be a good check on his ambition. He has little of the statesman about him, and outside of assisting some friends to epistles is of use to nobody. The district should send some one to Congress who amounts to something, and will work in the interest of the people. In this connection it can truly be asserted that the nomination of a good, thorough going democrat would be timely and wise for Congress; we have little faith however, in the success of any other kind.

THE INDEPENDENT COLORED VOTERS.

A man named Knox, colored, at Indianapolis, and prominent among his people, is about to announce himself as a candidate for Congress from that district. There are said to be 3,000 colored voters in the district, and if Knox can secure the most of them he will greatly bother his opponent of the republican party. And the question is why should he not run and be entitled to the suffrages of the men of his party, as much as a white man all other things being equal? If Knox is not bought off or scared off he may make it decidedly interesting to some body pitted against him in the race. Since the war in which the colored man has been a lowed equal suffrage and equal privilege with the white men he has seemed to be a mere tool in the hands of republican political managers. They went his vote as it counts as good as the best, but nothing else from the colored voter. He is seldom rewarded for fealty to party do what he may for its interest. A colored man holding an important office is rarely seen anywhere. Is he to remain a menial, a tool of the party for all time? If intelligent, honest and capable, is he not entitled to some of the rewards of political labor? He should certainly begin to declare his independence of party behests. Knox, the Indianapolis colored politician no doubt realize all this, and in striking out on independent lines has only begun that which should have been started years ago. The thinking men of his race will follow him and will not continue at the beck and nod of scheming politicians.

Did you make your Grin-O this way?

Here are the latest directions. Use one tablespoonful of Grin-O to two cups of cold water. Mix the Grin-O with half an egg and add the water. (Be sure to measure.) After the water gets to boiling point let boil for fifteen to twenty minutes. Use cream and sugar to suit the taste. If you have not cream use hot milk.

A lady said: "The first time I drank Grin-O I did not like it, but after using it for ten days and forming the habit, nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." This is the experience of all. If you will follow direction, measure it every time and make it the same, and try it for ten days, you will not go back to coffee.

NO WAR YET.

The prospect for an immediate war with Spain is not at present very brilliant, notwithstanding the wishes of many fierce new paper publishers, and also bond holders, coupon cutters and money sharks in general, who are so anxiously clamoring for war. Neither the United States nor Spain wants war. Its destructive and demoralizing tendencies are known to thinking people if not to these self interested patriots. Thinking men will approve President McKinley's course since the Spanish excitement began, and will uphold him. He is not going to aim to plunge the nation into a bloody and destructive war, notwithstanding the howlings of a number of his political followers. He and his cabinet know much more about the exact situation of affairs with Spain than all these fellows who daily demand war and talk in wondrous strains of the nation's honor. It requires a cool head and a steady hand now to guide the State over the rough waters that surround it, yet the President will have the credit in this emergency of having had it, and all parties will give him credit for it.

Impure Blood in Spring.

This is the almost universal experience. Diminished perspiration during winter, rich foods and close confinement in doors are some of the causes. A good spring medicine, like Hood's Sarsaparilla, is absolutely necessary to purify the blood and put the system in a healthy condition at this season.

THOUSANDS OF DAWSON LETTERS SAID TO HAVE BEEN ABANDONED.

Andy Christiansen Says They Are Torn Up or Burned—Carriers Agree to Bring the Letters Out, but Are Frequently Compelled to Give It Up.

For the greater part of the distance along the trails by river and lake and mountain pass from Dawson City almost to Sheep Camp the course of many a weary footed caravan is marked by bits of paper which have come from letters that have been torn to pieces. So says Andy Christiansen and some of his fellow travelers of Albina, Or. Christiansen and a few friends came out a short time ago. Christiansen makes the positive assertion that thousands of letters from people on the Yukon never reach their destination. To receive a letter from Dawson City, they say, may be accepted as a piece of good luck.

"There are lots of places on the trail," said Christiansen the other evening, "where you find quite a pile of paper in shreds. An examination shows that they are letters which have been destroyed wholesale. They have simply torn up and thrown away, but you can ascertain that they were letters intended for mailing at Skagway.

"No, it is not vandalism, but despair. Of course there are many miners around Dawson who never expect to hear from home, and these men will never know that their friends or relatives never received letters sent them. The missives are started in good faith, and the man going out agrees to put them in the Skagway postoffice, but when he is struggling on the trail nearly dead from exposure and fatigue, hurt by accident or anything like that, the situation resolves itself into a question of life or death for many a traveler. In an emergency he goes into his pack and throws away everything he can possibly throw away—probably leaving nothing but a few provisions and his outfit. Going over the passes and lakes, with their attendant perils and difficulties, is too much for 80 out of 100. They simply give up. It is a crucial test of strength and grit. The few that pull through know what it means.

"Couriers leave Dawson City with great packages of letters, fully intending to carry them through. On the way they give it up in despair, and so, to prevent the letters being found and read, they are torn up or burned. When I came out, I was told of it. Dozens have tried it with this disastrous result.

"A man can get $1.50 or $2 for bringing a letter out or taking one in. At this rate there is big money in it, but few undertake it. One fellow attempted it in December. A hundred miles from Dawson he met with an accident that disposed of the question as to whether he would see the coast till spring or summer.

"There is a government mail carrier who is advertised to make the trip from Juneau clear through once a month, but I give you my word that he had not taken out any letters from Dawson in November or December. These stories about newspaper couriers and others who make quick trips out I am inclined very much to doubt altogether. From my experience in that country I believe these letters about Dawson City are faked in a Sheep Camp cabin or near the head of the lakes and then sent out. As for ourselves, had we advertised our start from Dawson we could have had all kinds of offers to carry messages. In Alaska all a man wants to think of carrying is a piece of bacon, a blanket and a pick.

"Take the experience of Thad Vreeland's party, for instance. That shows what you must contend with. There were but two partners. They had dogs and sleds. Vreeland fell into a crack in the ice and went in over his head. The dogs followed him. By a miracle Vreeland's head came up at the right place, and his partner pulled him out of a very dangerous place. By the time Vreeland was on the ice again his clothes were frozen stiff, and he was nearly done for. As the sled had remained on the ice his partner quickly lighted a fire in
