WON'T FUSE.

The populists of Clinton county refuse to fuse with the democrats of that county in the nomination of a ticket and have selected one of their own, true to name and nature. The democrats over there can support it if they want to, otherwise they can let it alone. They mean by this that whatever other parties may do they will support only those of their own political faith in thinking and writing. By this action the populists have given us a very commendable example of political independence. The democrats of that county and all others should act likewise. This is very contrary in opinion to time, serves, policy politicians and office wanters, but it is the correct plan to obtain purity in politics and get good men in office. Of what advantage is a temporary victory to any party that abandons its principles under such circumstances? Where is any permanent benefit in supporting some disappointed renegade from some political party? We fail to see it. If you believe your political principles are correct, and are the best for the people why not sustain them at all times. The pops. think they are right, and propose to stand by their belief. We democrats believe we are of the true political faith and should stay with our principles, and not follow up some temporary advantage by abandoning that which we have ever held to be correct. Our prediction is should we fail to make democratic nominations for all the offices to be filled, including State, congressional and county, and permit some other party to dictate them for us, we will live to regret it. We may not succeed in electing all of them but we have our honor and our principles left.

A YEAR OF REVIVAL.

The first year of the term of President McKinley has ended. Can any reader recall a presidential administration in which as large a number of promises made have been fulfilled in a single year? There was a promise of improvement of business, and business has improved.—Journal.

How much more of that kind of rot does our neighbor propose to give its readers? All know your political leaders promised all kinds of prosperity just so soon as McKinley was elected. Has it come? No. Is building any brisker now than a year ago, are there no idle men in the country, is money plentiful among laboring men now than a year ago? Where is there any general improvement in business, aside from a few favored enterprises? Going no further than Crawfordville let the Journal by inquiry among merchants and other business men ascertain from them if there is any perceptible improvement in business this year over last or the year before. Eight out of ten of them will say no, and if anything money is harder to collect now than a year ago. You cannot deceive the people by any such drivel as that quoted above. You cannot claim prosperity where none is to be seen. Money lenders are among the few who can claim business is good; the great majority of business men will claim little if any improvement now over twelve months ago.

THE REFORMING BOARD.

The board of managers of the Jeffersonville prison last week let out Winnie Smith, a red-handed murderer, who sentenced originally for eighteen years for killing a man, has served about one-sixth of the time and is now turned loose. The reformatory prison business and indeterminate sentence of prisoners were pet schemes of Governor Mount and he urged their passage at the last session of the legislature. It won't work. The law will have to be abolished. A court or a jury of twelve men are much better able to decide the amount of punishment a prisoner should receive than any pardoning board that can be organized and their decision in nine cases out of ten should be final. As it now is any murderer or thief serving a long sentence can have it greatly abbreviated by simply obeying prison rules, although he may not be at all reformed, and his disposition to commit crime as strong as ever.

INCREASING IN NUMBERS.

There can be no doubt that the cause of free silver in this country is increasing in popularity, and those favoring it continually increasing in numbers. Those democrats who in the campaign of '96 played into the hands of the republicans and aided and encouraged the McKinley ticket by aiming to divide the silver forces have had ample time to reflect on their actions, and large numbers of them will be prepared to vote for the nominee of the party who ever it may be in 1900. The more they consider the gold standard platform the more thoroughly they become convinced that it is strictly in the interest of the money power, the bond buyers, note shavers, etc., and not for the benefit of the masses of the people. The prosperity guaranteed to the people in the event of McKinley's election has not come and is not going to come while gold standard ideas prevail, and thousands of voters now see it, who before could not be convinced, but what 16 to 1 was not for the public good. The silver sentiment is now gaining in this country, and all advocates of the Chicago platform have but to continue united, and the day of victory will soon be at hand.

A COSTLY CORONER.

The coroner of Vigo county is charged with taxing up fees amounting to $6,000 per year for his services at inquests. The only way to head off such vicious, hogish individuals in their raids on the county treasury is to give them a long term in the penitentiary. This individual seems in a fair way to receive it, as he has already been indicted by the grand jury, and placed under bond for his future appearance at court.

Did you make your Grain-O this way?

Here are the latest directions. Use one tablespoonful of Grain-O. Two cups of cold water. Mix the Grain-O with half an egg and add the water. (Be sure to measure.) After the water gets to boiling let boil for fifteen to twenty minutes. Use cream and sugar to suit the taste. If you have not cream use hot milk.

A lady said: "The first time I drank Grain-O I did not like it, but after using it for ten days and forming the habit, nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." This is the experience of all. If you will follow direction, measure it every time and make it the same, and try it for ten days, you will not go back to coffee.

THE FIGHTING LINER.

HOW AN OCEAN GREYHOUND IS CHANGED INTO A MAN-OF-WAR.

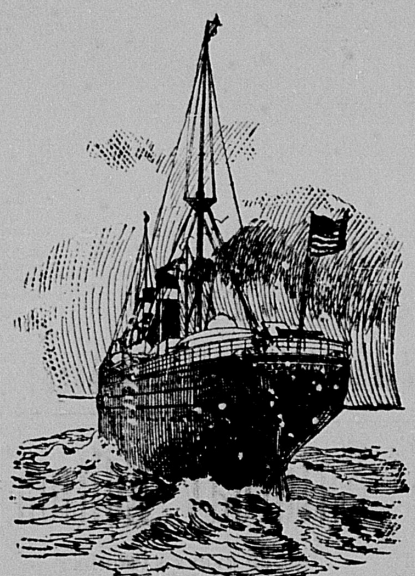

Some of Them Were Built With Just Such an Emergency in View—Little Needed to Make the Transformation but Guns and Men.

"The liner she's a lady," says Kipling, but in time of war she sheds her fluttering awnings, as a lady might her ribbons and parasol, and becomes an amazon fully able to take care of herself anywhere on the ocean highways. As a passenger boat she is particularly inoffensive, but only a short time is needed to transform her into an armed but unprotected cruiser, ready to fight or run and do both as well as most war-ships.

Such ships as the St. Paul, St. Louis, New York and Paris turned into swift cruisers would be no inconsiderable force to add to the sea power of the nation. All four of these ships were built with a view to their being used in case of war cruisers. The New York and Paris were built under the supervision of the British admiralty, and until the vessels got an American registry and changed their flags, they were borne on the rolls of England's navy as "auxiliary cruisers." The St. Paul and St. Louis, when they were built at Cramps' yards in Philadelphia, were constructed with special view to being able to carry guns in case of war.

The plans for the ships were approved by the United States government, and the ships were so provided with extra strength of construction that in case they were changed into men-of-war there would be no danger of their being injured by the extra weight of their batteries or by the recoil of the guns they would carry.

In fact, the four ships named are really built for armed cruisers, and all that is needed to change them from peaceful merchant vessels into men-of-war is to mount guns on board of them.

There are few evidences of this strength, but if you were close enough to the St. Louis you could see four white marks at regular intervals along each of her sides. Directly above these white marks, on the steamer's promenade deck, are the places where the six inch guns would be located were she to be armed. You will notice, too, that the deck supports at these points are strengthened by an additional column. On the deck at this point is a round steel cap covering a manhole, for the passage of ammunition from below.

These are the only marks indicating to the uninitiated any preparation for the placing of cannon, but there are other provisions. The deck platform and supports are strengthened at this point by additional girders and crossbeams, so as to sustain the weight of guns and carriages. There are also arrangements for the mounting of the smaller machine guns.

Practically the only thing necessary to equip these vessels for use in war would be to run the gun carriages on board and mount the guns on them. There would probably be some alterations in their internal arrangements to provide quarters for seamen and marines, but those could be made within a very few days.

The St. Louis, for instance, when she passes into the navy, armed with her eight 6 inch guns, four machine guns and four 6 pounders, will be a formidable adversary to oppose. A regularly constructed navy cruiser would have to be quick with gun and speed, else the St. Louis would overcome her, and the same is true of many others of these auxiliary cruisers.

The 6 inch guns fire 100 pound projectiles at the rate of 2 1/2 rounds a minute, and the 6 pounders fire 6 pound shot at the rate of 11 rounds a minute. It can be readily computed what a great weight of metal this auxiliary cruiser can discharge against an adversary. The Paris and the New York can be armed with 12 of these 6 inch guns, together with a large number of the smaller caliberers.

A list has been prepared showing 89 merchant steamers belonging to the American, Pacific Mail, Columbia, Red D and New York and Cuba Mail Steamship companies, all held under agreement by their owners with the government to be transferred to the navy department when called upon to serve as cruisers.

This number is by no means enough to answer every demand. At least 100 of such steamers could be utilized, many of them for cruisers, some for transports, some for provision and coal ships, some for machinery or repair vessels and a few for floating hospitals. But with the other steamers which could be pressed into service and the many private yachts which would be surrendered Uncle Sam can have a really good sized navy fleet in a short time.
