Weekly Crop Bulletin.

Exceedingly favorable weather for harvest prevailed, warm, dry and much sunshine, until Sunday night, when local rains were very beneficial to corn, oats, potatoes and other growing crops. The wheat harvest progressed uninterrupted; in the more southern counties the harvest is ended, wheat is in shock and threshing has begun; in the more northern counties the harvest is less advanced, and, in Allen and Porter counties, it has not yet begun, the yield is very good, both as to quality and quantity; the heads are well filled, the grain plump and the straw long; in only a few localities did the fly and rust do injury enough to diminish the yield. A good crop of rye is harvested in all portions. Haying continued under most favorable weather conditions; immense crops of fine quality have been cured and housed; the hay seems to be of a better quality than usual. An excellent crop of clover has been secured, and the cutting of a superior crop of timothy has begun. Oats are ripening rapidly and turning yellow; in the extreme southern portion the harvest has begun; the yield will apparently be better than last year; the heads are large and well filled, but the straw is short, and the crop will be difficult to cut in some fields. Corn is in fine growing condition, being of a fresh green color, and it stands well in cultivated and clean fields; most of it is "laid by." Early potatoes yield well, and they are of superior quality; late potatoes grow well, but need rain. Field beans have been planted and are coming up nicely; peas promise a heavy crop. Tomatoes promise an abundant yield for canning purposes. Field vegetables, melons and garden truck are in good condition. Livestock is thriving on good pasture. Honey bees are very busy.

For Joint Representative.

We see in some of the papers over the district the name of M. E. Clodfelter, of this city, mentioned as a probable candidate for joint representative. The district is composed of the counties of Montgomery, Boone, Madison and Hamilton. While on the surface the district looks hopelessly republican, yet it is the opinion of many that with a man like Mr. Clodfelter, a speaker and reasoner with more than ordinary ability, a man popular with all the classes and one of the best campaigners in the State, the democracy might be successful this year. Mr. Clodfelter has signified his willingness to accept the nomination if tendered him and will use every effort tending toward the success of his party. The big republican majority holds no terrors for him. He is a fearless antagonist and would make an aggressive campaign in his own peculiar style. Mr. Clodfelter should receive this nomination and we believe he will.

Scrambled Eggs.

A horse attached to Lou Beecher's delivery wagon became frightened near the poultry house on west Market street last Saturday and started east at breakneck speed. In attempting to turn the corner at Hall's coal yard the wagon was upset and the contents, 100 dozen of eggs, dumped into the street and demolished. The wagon was partially wrecked but no one was injured.

Delicate Children

They do not complain of anything in particular. They eat enough, but keep thin and pale. They appear fairly well, but have no strength. You cannot say they are really sick, and so you call them delicate.

What can be done for them? Our answer is the same that the best physicians have been giving for a quarter of a century. Give them of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It has most remarkable nourishing power. It gives color to the blood. It brings strength to the muscles. It adds power to the nerves. It means robust health and vigor. Even delicate infants rapidly gain in flesh if given a small amount three or four times each day.

Sending Money Home.

Governor Mount in receipt of a letter from William E. Dodge, of New York, calling his attention to a federal law passed in 1861, by the provisions of which the governor of every state is entitled to recommend to the President two men from his state who will act as a committee to work among the soldiers of his own state with a view to providing for their families at home. The plan is to secure from each man an authorization to forward a certain amount of his pay through a sight draft issued by the government to any member of his family who may be dependent on him for support. During the civil war the plan was tried and worked with great success, the report sent out from New York being that $5,000,000 was sent to that city by means of the plan during the first year of its adoption. Governor Mount has decided to take the matter up for consideration, being favorably impressed with the value of the work in this direction. It is found to be practicable at this time and there is any disposition on the part of other state executives to do likewise he will name two Indians to go among the soldiers from this state and put the plan into practice. The offices are not stipendiary ones.

Who is Mrs. Gray?

Undertaker Wiese this afternoon buried at the poor-farm the body of Baby Gray, who was born at the Door of Hope ten days ago and died yesterday. The matron of the home asked the township trustee to bury the infant. He refused. The reason he gave was that the mother was an interloper on the charity of this township, she having come from Crawfordsville recently.

Mr. Wiese also made an attempt to get the trustee to bury the child. Failing he buried it himself. He will ask the county commissioners to reimburse him.

Trustee Makepeace says: "The mother of this child came here from Crawfordsville, where she has relatives. We have had a number of such cases, and it is not the duty of this township to bury them."—Indianapolis News.

A Fourth of July Accident.

Tim Davis, a young colored lad living near the Dove tail factory on Beach street, met with a very painful accident on the Fourth. It was the same old story—boys and gun powder. Davis, with several other boys, were celebrating the Fourth with cannons and fire-crackers when a cup of powder which young Davis was holding in his hand exploded, burning his face and setting his clothes on fire. Fortunately Chas. Ayers, who was standing near by, saw the boys sad plight and running to him smothered the flames with his coat. His face and body however, were horribly burned before the flames were extinguished. Two doctors were called to treat him, but should he recover he will be frightfully scarred the remainder of his days.

Death of Geo. I. Williams.

George I. Williams, familiarly known as "Doc," died at his residence on east Main street last Saturday night of inflammatory rheumatism after a long illness. The deceased was the son of Bryant R. Williams. He was born near Whitesville on Feb. 23, 1858. His wife died a little more than a year ago leaving three children, two boys and one girl. Mr. Williams was an active member of the Red Men, K. of P. and Ben Hur. The funeral occurred at the family home on Monday, Rev. E. B. Thompson officiating. Interment at Oak Hill.

George Wants to Quit.

George Harrington has filed suit in the circuit court praying for a legal separation from his wife, Ola. In his complaint George makes several allegations. He says he is in constant fear of his life as Ola has on several occasions threatened to poison his food. He also charges inhuman treatment and says the fair Ola spent her time in reviling him and making a target of his head.

Three New Gavel.

At a meeting of the Masonic lodge last Monday night Ed Voris presented that lodge with three gavel, the heads of which were made of olive wood from the sacred Mount Olives and handle of balsam from the banks of the river Jordan. Mr. Voris also entertained the lodge for a half hour by describing his trip to Jerusalem and other interesting in the orient.

Crawfordsville Boys in Battle.

So far as known Crawfordsville had two representatives in the battle at Santiago. Charley Doyle, who formerly drove a delivery wagon for W. B. Nash, and Elijah J. Taylor, colored, son of Samuel Taylor, were in the thick of the fight but neither were injured.

Demolishing.

AYER'S PILLS"

C. L. NEWMAN, Dug Spur, Va.

It is said that Yeoman Ellis, who was killed on the battleship Brooklyn, near Santiago last Sunday, was formerly a resident of Waynetown, his father having taught school there many years ago. This may be taken with a grain or two of salt.

Wanamaker Is Right.

"In order for us to have good times the people must not only have money, but they must also spend it freely. The two things are reciprocal. It is the market that keeps the factories and the stores going and pays the wages." This is what John Wanamaker said recently. Mr. Wanamaker is one of the few rich men in this country with a glimmer of economic sense. The average editorial idiot is advising the people to save their money. They must be saving it; they certainly are not spending much of it. Nothing will so quickly breed hard times as an epidemic of economy. There is a circulating medium of but $24 per capita, and probably $15 of this is in the banks or otherwise idle. If the people save the remaining $9, which is not much to save, what becomes of our circulation medium? And yet the people are urged to save their money. You might as well ask a man to save his breath or dam up the circulation of his blood. Under our laughable system of society the spendthrift is a benefactor and the prudent is an enemy to the public welfare.

Same Old Story In Oregon.

What do we think about the result in Oregon? We think that a Republican state has gone Republican. That is all there is to it. In the presidential campaign of 1896 Oregon went for Hanna by 2,000. This year, with Hanna out of the question, the majority is somewhat increased.—National Democrat.
