A ROYAL WELCOME

Is Accorded to the Brave Boys of Co. M—Happy Reunions.

Amid cheers, tears, the screaming of whistles and jangle of bells Company M was received home last Saturday. In the morning about 9 o'clock a telegram was received which stated the company would be home on the 1:15 train and in less than an hour the news had scattered over the city.

The scene at the train was a most imposing one. Thousands of people had congregated and when the boys, bronzed and sunburned, tumbled out of the cars they were greeted with hand-clapping and waving of flags and handkerchiefs. Many mothers had crowded their way to the platform and received their dear boys with open arms, fairly deluging them with tears of joy. The sight was one never to be forgotten.

The parade was at once formed with W. W. Goltz, W. T. Whittington and Capt. Talbot in the lead. Following them came the band, then the veterans of the civil war, Patriarchs Militant, P. O. S. of A. Commandery, K. of P. Commandery and the Knights of St. John. Co. M was last and they were cheered lustily all along the line of march which was west on College to Washington, north on Washington to Market, east on Market to Water, south on Water to Main and west on Main to the court house where the boys were drawn up in line and listened to addresses of welcome by Mayor Elmore, Dr. Burroughs and Gen. Wallace. Then the boys were escorted to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium where the ladies of the city had prepared a feast fit for the gods. The waiters wore aprons of the national colors, while the napkins were of the same pattern. After stacking their guns in the center of the room the boys fell on their palatable foe and disposed of him in short order. At the table was a vacant chair covered with a flag. This was in memory of their dead comrade, Frank Britton, and cast a tinge of sadness over the happy occasion. An informal reception followed the repast after which the mothers, wives and sweethearts captured the boys and carried them away to their individual homes. To describe the reunions in many households is beyond the power of pen and can best be left to your imagination.

NOTES.

Capt. Wertz rode in front of Co. M.

Howard Cox and Tom Murray are still at Knoxville having volunteered with the hospital corps there.

About 150 school children, in charge of Supt. Keneston, carried flowers and flags and occupied the steps in front of the court house.

Neil and Dan McCallum, Harry Mitchell and Walter Kelly were sick in the hospital at Indianapolis and unable to accompany the boys home.

Charles Wray, Charles Gilkey, Sam Dean, Howard Patton and Bernie Prids were left in camp at Indianapolis as guard. They will be relieved shortly and come home.

The sick men who rode in the parade in a cab were Perry Seering, Will Richmond and Si Rogers, while Henry Shoemaker, the first man who was discharged on account of ill health, carried the flag.

An effort is being made to have the reassembling of the 158th regiment take place in this city when the furloughs expire on Oct. 18. The committee in charge has guaranteed the government and Gov. Mount the free use of the fair grounds, buildings and water privileges and will bear the expense of removing the camp equipments here from Camp Mount. This is the first day of the big peace jubilee and street fair and would be a big feature. The regimental officers are in favor of the project and have signed a petition favoring the movement.

A Female Minstrel Show.

An effort is being made by a number of ladies of this city to put a minstrel show on the boards at Music Hall in the near future. The entertainment is to be under the auspices of the new Library Association. An expert has been engaged to coach the fair ones in the mysterious art of burnt cork, and a hot show is anticipated.

Nearly Completed.

Most of the cement walks on south Washington and Water streets, is completed. It is probable that as the season of frosts and colder weather are nearly at hand, there will be but little more of this work done this year.

Death of Katherine Slattery.

Miss Katherine Slattery, daughter of Thomas Slattery, died last Saturday morning, of lung trouble, at the age of 21 years. The funeral occurred from St. Bernard's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

$8,000 SHORT.

The State Fair Association Is About That Amount in the Hole.

Commenting on the State fair, last week, the Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Treasurer Robinson says the fair was a big success in the way of exhibits, but was a heavy failure financially. The small attendance and the condition of the track, which prevented racing, is, of course, attributed to the weather. The receipts from all sources for the entire week were $24,774.83. About $21,000 was taken in at the gates and the amphitheater at night. Following were the receipts from paid admissions each day: Tuesday, $287.57; Wednesday, $6,002; Thursday, $8,734.50; Friday, 5,754.75. Last year Friday was the big day of the week. On that day nearly as much money was taken in at the gates as was received during the entire week this year. Treas. Robinson says the big racing events of last year made the fair. The people attended because of the famous flyers advertised and not because they desired to see the fair. This year, according to the treasurer, the people were 'ripe' for the fair and had the weather been favorable the institution would have enjoyed the biggest week in its history.

"It is the opinion of some members of the board that the fair will be managed exclusively by the State after this. At the meeting of the board of agriculture last January the question of turning the State fair over to the State was discussed and it was so favorably received that a committee was appointed to carry a proposition to the next legislature. There is a feeling that the next fair will be given under the direct supervision of the State. It is suggested that the exhibit will probably be managed by a board consisting of the governor, attorney general, auditor and possibly the secretary of State.

"Treasurer Robinson thinks the deficit on account of this year's financial failure will be between $5,000 and $8,000."

Maggie Miles' Meanness.

George Miles, of New Market, has filed suit in the circuit court for a divorce from his wife, Maggie Miles. In his complaint George alleges all sorts of wicked things, but begins by setting forth his own virtues. He says that during his two years of wedded life with Maggie, he has conducted himself as only a loyal, virtuous husband should, that he has at all times provided abundantly for her wants, and has borne her scoffs and scorns and contumacious taunts with christian fortitude. He pictures Maggie as a regular virago, that at one time she attempted his life by shooting, and that it is through no fault of hers that he is not now running a ferry boat on the river Jordan. He further alleges that she drove his children by a former wife away from home, and would often amuse herself by chasing him around the house with a club. Maggie's other besetting sin, the complaint alleges, is laziness, and goes on to recite that she would often refuse to cook his meals, causing him to go elsewhere for them. That he was frequently forced to button his shirt with a ten-penny nail because she would not sew buttons on the garment. If Maggie is half as bad as George paints her, we don't blame him for the step he has taken.

Dr. Wallace Tharpe, the new pastor of the Christian church, has removed to this city. He occupied his pulpit last Sunday morning and evening and was well received.

TIED UP AGAIN,

And Wabash College Is Temporarily Restrained From Using the Fayerweather Money.

A New York dispatch says: "Judge Lacombe has signed an order restraining the trustees of Amherst, Boudoin, Dartmouth, Hamilton, Williams, Adelbert, Park, Lafayette, Marysville, Marietta, Wabash, Yale, Columbia, the University of Rochester, Union Theological Seminary, the University of Virginia, Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institution and Wesleyan University from disposing of any money paid to them from the 'alleged secret trust in, or concerning the residuary estate of' Daniel B. Fayerweather until the final hearing of the suit brought against them, and the executors of the will, Emma S. Fayerweather and Mary W. Achter. The colleges received $120,000 each from the estate. The action is brought to obtain possession of one-half of the estate of $6,000,000. Judge Lacombe's order ties up $2,995,000."

A Smashup.

Slumber, a horse that started in the free-for-all pace at the fair here, ran away on the track at Covington last week. The scare was the result of a collision in which his driver was thrown from the sulkey, and the animal ran two miles around the track before he could be stopped. The driver escaped without injury.

Letter From W. W. Ewing.

PORT APACHE, ARIZONA,
Sept. 16, 1898.

ED. REVIEW:—

The excitement of war having subsided, perhaps a letter from the Civil service will be of some interest. Fort Apache is situated at the confluence of the north and east forks of White river, which is a tributary of Salt river, one of the principal branches of the Gila. (By the way, if any of the boys of old Montgomery have occasion for a voyage on Salt river, we will kindly consent to have berths ready). The Indian school is four miles from the Fort, on north fork of White river, about five thousand and five hundred feet above sea level. Agent Chas. D. Keys says this year has been a record breaker, in the fact that the children were all in and ready to begin work Sept. 1, time of beginning ordered by the department at Washington. One of the teachers has failed to report. The pupils have entered the year's work very earnestly. There are six buildings at present with the promise of another. An estimate has been made for water works. At present water is hauled from the river in a large iron tank. The Indians are Apaches and the pupils are bright for the opportunities they have enjoyed. The parents live in camps consisting of circular tents made of poles and brush. Occasionally some of them secure canvas with which to cover their tents. The change from camp life to that of the school has caused some sickness. As the school has been in progress two weeks the health is improving. There are two schools on the Apache reservation, San Carlos and this place, and yet there are many children that should be in school who are not for lack of room to take care of them. It requires much more to teach the Indian than it does the white child from the fact of having to teach the English language, domestic and industrial habits. The government boards and clothes the students while in school.

As to Arizona, it is a land of high plains and rich valleys, extinct volcanoes, lava beds, deserts, mesas and buttes. In altitude it ranges from below sea level in the south to 13,000 feet above. Mining constitutes the chief industry, although agriculture and fruit raising are coming to the front. The greatest agricultural development has been in the southern portion. The river valleys at low altitude are almost tropical in climate. There has been a large outlay in constructing irrigating canals.

The monuments of an ancient and mysterious people here would indicate that possibly the Cliff Dwellers are ante dated by ruins of a semi-civilization which waned many centuries ago. The ruins of irrigating canals, found in the southern part, is evidence that this country was densely populated at one time. The canals were scientifically constructed, and utilized for the maintenance of thousands of human beings. While there are many ruins of the Cliff Dwellers here, the largest are to the south of us. Of these ruins I will speak more fully later.

Frank Barnhill, who accompanied me here, has been employed as issue clerk for several months.

With the best wishes for the success of the schools of Montgomery county, I close.

W. W. EWING.

Remember the street fair on October 18, 19, 20, and 21, and encourage it with your mouth if you cannot with your money.

$250 Demanded.

The proprietors of the three saloons outside the corporation, one of which is at the Junction, and the other two in the Valley on the Lafayette road, have been notified by the city authorities that they must pay the regular city license or go out of business. It is probable that two at least of the three will stop business while one may remain by paying the amount demanded, $250.

The Money Raised.

The finance committee for the peace jubilee and street fair has succeeded in raising $2,500 in cash, which insures the biggest street fair ever held in this part of the country. Get ready for it.

Out on the water in the moonlight. A more beautiful or romantic situation for a young man to tell the story of his love and ask the young woman of his choice to share his life cannot be imagined.

The courtship of a young couple may be ever so romantic and their married life be very unhappy. There are common sense considerations outside of love that have to do with the making of marriage happiness. One of the most important of these considerations is the good health of both parties to the sacred tie. The young man who is in the incipient stages of consumption commits a crime if he marries before he is restored to health. He condemns his wife to the life of a nurse and his children to early death, or lives of sickness and suffering. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of cases of consumption if taken in its early stages. This is its record established during the past thirty years. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, nerve-tonic, a general restorative.

The young woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible has no right to answer "Yes" to a young man's proposal until she is thoroughly restored to health in a womanly way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood. It makes her strong, healthy and vigorous where a woman most needs health, strength and vigor. Thousands of women have testified to its merits.

"My daughter," writes Mrs. N. A. Thomas, "Little Rock, Ark., 'had been under a doctor's care for four years. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me, also cured her.'"
