

The Review.

By the Review Co.

SALUTATORY.

The NEW REVIEW comes to-day asking the favor of the public.

First, this is a NEWSPAPER, and as such it shall be devoted to the publication of legitimate news,—acts which the people want to hear,—truths which the people ought to know. [Always clean,—always reliable,—believing that none other has a right to live.]

It believes in the high mission of journalism as one of the most potent factors in human progress,—in the uplift of society,—in material mental and moral growth. It is willing to take the world as it finds it, but it hopes to contribute something toward its betterment.

Secondly, this is a Democratic newspaper. Its faith is fixed in the cardinal principles of Democracy as set forth by its greatest exponents from the foundation of the Republic.

Upon these principles it stands, expecting to deserve, and hoping to win the royal support of every Democrat of Montgomery County.

In its editorial columns will be given full, free and fearless discussion of all questions pertaining to the welfare of the people. What it believes to be the right, it will advocate; what it thinks wrong, it will condemn.

In short this will be a clean, whole some, reliable journal,—without malice without prejudice,—guided by all reasonableness and justice,—published in the interest of no individual or faction, but for the whole people.

The Stout Case.

The Stout case came to a sudden termination in the circuit court Thursday. The suit was brought by Mrs. Stout vs. the children of her deceased husband by a former marriage to set aside transfer of real estate made just before his second marriage. The plaintiff claimed an ante-nuptial contract by which as a condition of marrying the deceased she would receive a large slice of the realty with which he was vested. After his death she learned of this ante-nuptial transfer of real estate and that she was left property worth about $100. When the case was called the first witness to take the stand was the plaintiff. Objection was made to her testimony, that as an heir of her husband she could not testify. The opposing counsel argued that she was not an heir but suing for a consideration for her services under an agreement. Judge West decided for the defendants and the case went out of court. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Legislative News.

Beginning next week this paper will publish for the benefit of its readers who do not take the Indianapolis daily papers, a complete resume of each day's proceedings of the State Legislature. Some very important legislation is proposed and pending before that body, Take THE NEW REVIEW and keep within touch with it. You are interested as a citizen and taxpayer in what is being done. Send in your name and become a regular subscriber, as we intend to keep our patrons posted, not only on this one thing but everything else of interest.

Contemplated Removal.

Dr. E. Detchon will remove the office of his medicines to one of the vacant rooms in the Ramsey Block soon.

Advice to Consumptives

There are three great remedies that every person with weak lungs, or with consumption itself, should understand.

These remedies will cure about every case in its first stages; and many of those more advanced. It is only the most advanced that are hopeless. Even these are wonderfully relieved and life itself greatly prolonged.

What are these remedies?

Fresh air, proper food and

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Be afraid of draughts, but not of fresh air. Eat nutritious food and drink plenty of milk. Do not forget that Scott's Emulsion is the oldest, the most thoroughly tested and the highest endorsed of all remedies for weak throats, weak lungs and consumption in all its stages.

A Chance for Our Loafers.

A Terre Haute saloon keeper failed to raise enough money to pay for his new liquor license. So he issued two hundred chances on himself which he is selling at the rate of from one cent to two dollars each, and when all are sold he will be raffled off as a turkey or shoot. He hopes thus to raise the necessary amount. The question is what will the lucky man do with the "critter" when he gets him. He is simply working to avoid work and will be a useless piece of property. Here is a chance for some of the Crawfordville loafers. There would probably be a rushing business done in chances, if there was any assurance that the winner could make anything on the investment. But as a piece of bric-a-brac the average loafer does not come up to the aesthetic standard. If the loafer will agree to work for the winner, and allow the proceeds of the sale to go to his family, there need be no loafers in any town.

Dr. Fletcher in Trouble.

Dr. Calvin Fletcher, of Indianapolis, one of the most prominent physicians of that city is now under arrest, charged with criminal malpractice and causing the death of Miss Laura McDowell, of Clayton, Hendricks county. The author of the girl's ruin was Thos. Coyle, a young attorney of Indianapolis, late auditor of Johnson county. The victim was a clerk in a department store. Suspicion was aroused and Coyle confessed his share in the dark deed, and implicated Dr. Fletcher. Both men were arrested and each gave bond in the sum of $5,000. The case is a sad one, all the parties being highly connected. The Doctor declares his ability to prove himself innocent, even after the death of the girl going to the Coroner and informing him that there was something suspicious and asking him to investigate. It is to be hoped that Dr. Fletcher will be able to come through all right.

Where to Make Money.

No one has ever yet accused W. D. Owen late Secretary of State, of not knowing a good thing when he saw it, and refusing to take it in. With the cash he has saved as Congressman, Immigration Commissioner and Secretary of State, he has purchased 5,000 acres of rubber and coffee producing land in Mexico. Mr. Owen made speeches you will remember lauding the gold standard, and expatiating on the glorious times we would have, under it and telling how all lines of industry would thrive under the golden rays of prosperity should gold be made the standard. Yet he takes the money earned as an official and invests it in a silver country. Poor, old bankrupt Mexico of which we heard so much in the last two campaigns. Mr. Owen is not consistent, he was hornswoggling the voters to whom he spoke so earnestly. But we all know that Mr. Owen knows a good thing, and he did not find it in the gold standard country.

The Monon's Enterprise.

The survey has been completed for the new branch of the Monon, as far as Switz City. The new line leaves the Monon proper at Cloverdale and continues southerly to Lancaster in Owen county, crossing the E. & I. at Clay City, thence to Alum Cave passing through Dugger and Linton. The road passes through boundless fields of coal and that of the very best. The coal fields of Owen county have never been touched except for neighborhood consumption, but the product is as fine as the United States can produce. The branch will certainly be a profitable one.

Change Of Clothes.

The Bedford X-Ray has dropped its independent clothes, and comes out adorned in all the gorgeous apparel of a full-fledged gold standard expansion Republican paper, it also changes its name to Republican, the X-Ray was too suggestive a title for a Republican newspaper. It is not the policy to see any further into a thing than the law allows, with a Republican paper. There are many things which dare not be exposed to the Roentgen rays and the dark ways and vain tricks of the Republican party belong to that class. The editor was wise in changing the name.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licensees have been issued since the last issue.

Samuel L. Rafferty and Maud G. Arnett.

Clarence D. Lawler and Catherine May Hernley.

Arley Shaffer and Lena Leota Miles.

Wm. M. Troutman and Harriet Conover.

Urban C. Stover and Helen Brown Watson.

Wm. H. Newkirk and Oletha B. Kreiger.

Thanks, Friends.

Letters are coming from all over the country, to proprietors and employees, congratulating to the NEW REVIEW, and expressing wishes and hope for its success. All those reminders of friendship and personal interest are appreciated very highly, and are encouragement to the new management to exert itself to make the NEW REVIEW a clean, honest, able and fearless champion of right, truth and justice, and second to one as a disseminator of legitimate news.

Another Octopus Born.

Word is telegraphed from the east that a giant combine of Ohio and Indiana gas companies has been effected with a capital stock of sixty millions of dollars. The company is to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. The man at the head of the concern is said to be E. C. Benedict of New York who is ably seconded by other men of large capital. The companies which are included in the trust are the Indiana Natural & Illuminating Gas Co., Indianapolis Gas Co., Ft. Wayne Gas Co., Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas Co., Ohio & Indiana Gas Co., Dayton Gas Co., Tippecanoe Gas Co., Covington Gas Co., New Weston Gas Co., Piqua Gas Co., Sidney Gas Co., Troy Gas Co., Springfield Gas Co., Urbana Gas Co., South Charleston Gas Co., and the Mt. Sterling Gas Co.

The Deadly Target Gun.

Some youngster, nameless here, for no one knows who it was—or it might possibly be one of larger growth—fired a bullet from a target rifle Tuesday evening which came near doing serious damage. It struck a window in the old Opera House block, before which Dr. Swank and Mr. McNierney were standing. The flying glass struck Dr. S. in the face cutting it considerably, while the bullet plumped McNierney in the forehead, knocking him down. The bullet was a stray shot at a sparrow, no doubt, but went off searching for larger game, and almost got it.

Watch For Him.

The general agent for THE NEW REVIEW commences his travails on Monday. His first work will be in this county after which he will again visit nine counties already invaded by the REVIEW. All agents and correspondents are requested to show him courtesy and assist in making this paper the only party organ as well as a leading and reliable source of all important information.

More Than Usual.

Indianapolis came to the front this week with three murders, Miss McDowell, of Clayton; Wm. Huff, killed by sandbaggers and robbed, and Mrs. Roskilt, keeper of the Illinois hotel, shot a jealous border. Indianapolis murderers, thanks to the pardoning board, have been getting off easy of late. It will need some hempen argument to cause a cessation of such crimes in the Capital City.

After the Cigarettes.

The cigarette bill now pending in the Legislature should become a law. Heavy penalties should be attached to the sale of cigarette paper and materials for making the things. They are an abomination wherever found. The smell is vile and the effect on the smoker worse. By all means let us have legislation on the cigarette, and then see that the law is enforced.

Marking an Historic Spot.

A bill has passed the State Senate providing for the erection of a monument to mark the scene of the terrible Pigeon Roost Massacre. This is as it should be. Indiana should take some pride in her historic sites and mark them in a becoming manner. There are several points of this sort in the state, and all deserving of attention. Let the good work go on.

A Yacht Sunk.

The people of the United States were terrified several weeks since by the sinking of a yacht on board of which was the daughter of prominent Indiana. Many dollars are sunk yearly and many lives lost through inferior cigars. Muhleisen's Union made "Hoboe" is one all can rely upon with safety.

$115 In Stamps.

The deed for the transfer of the Indiana Wire Company's plant to the American Steel Co., was filed Monday with the County Recorder. The price named for the plant is $115,000 and the deed is decorated with revenue stamps of all colors and sizes, representing in cold cash to Uncle Sam $115.

Off For Cuba.

Capt. W. T. May and wife left Sunday night for Savannah, from whence they will proceed to Cuba. Capt. May has been ordered to join his regiment at Nuevitas, Puerto Principe. Mrs. May will remain at Savannah for awhile, if health conditions are not good on the Island.

Populist Convention.

The Populists of Montgomery county, Ind., will meet in convention at Crawfordsville, on Saturday, February 4th, at 1 o'clock p. m. sharp, in the small court room, to select delegates to attend the state convention at Indianapolis, February 22, 1899.
