

MUCH DYNAMITE.

Enough of the Deadly Explosive in Coal Creek Township to Blow it Over into Fountain Co.

Since the terrific dynamite explosion near Wingate, many stories have come out as to the carelessness of the people in general about handling the explosive. The general idea seems to be that it is as harmless as brown sugar or sawdust. There seems to have been a great stock of it stored away in the neighborhood of the Carrington house. Blowing up stumps, breaking rocks etc., had become quite the fad in that section, and hundreds of pounds of the explosive were stowed away in various farm-houses to be used as occasion demanded. The accident has caused a more careful disposition of the stuff than packed about furnaces and stoves. The Hillsboro Times gives the following notes of dynamite which is in search of a safe place to rest.

Finney, a neighbor, had dynamite in the oven of his cook stove when the explosion occurred, and when he heard of the results lost no time in getting it out.

I. N. McHarry had 300 pounds of the deadly stuff in his basement, stacked around the furnace to "thaw out," but when he learned of the Carrington catastrophe he dumped it out in less than no time.

John Miller carried an arm load of the explosive sticks last week and laid them on top of his cook stove, but his good and more sensible wife took the law into her own hands and carefully laid the stuff beyond any possibility of danger to the house and her family.

Henry Murdock has three hundred pounds of the explosive. He does not know what to do with it and would be glad if some one would quietly get it out of range of all danger to his family.

This looks like the rankest of carelessness on the part of these men. All of them are substantial farmers and good citizens, and not for one moment would any of them think of placing their homes or families in jeopardy for a second. Yet here they had the deadly stuff piled in hot stoves and around furnaces "to thaw." When the crash came and a mother and baby were hurled into eternity without a moment's warning they were brought to think how close to the edge of the dark valley stood their own dear ones. The question come up here, just how far will carelessness be pardoned in a man. The theme is handed out to the ministry of this city to think about.

The New Laws.

The first copies of the new state laws were sent to the clerks of the various counties Monday. The laws outside of the emergency ones will not be in effect until after the Governor's proclamation. This will not be issued until every clerk in the state has received for his books. The laws are bound better than usual this year, we are told.

Ah, that sad moment when we hear Death's cold pinions hovering near.
Above the one we hold most dear.

We know that death
must sooner or later come to all, but we can never surely foretell when the dread angel will appear. No matter how imminent the summer may seem, it may still in God's good providence be far away. It is part of man's humanity to man's humanity to avert sickness and death as far as lies in mortal power.
Nearly thirty years ago, an institution was founded in Buffalo, N. Y., known as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, which has since become one of the most famous institutions in the world for its eminent benefits to the sick and suffering all over the United States. Thousands have come there for treatment and tens of thousands have received professional advice by mail with suggestions for inexpensive home-treatment, whereby they have been cured of severe, and in many instances, apparently hopeless diseases.

A Massachusetts man, Mr. John Brooks, of Boylston, Worcester Co., writes: "About a year ago I was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs. The doctors said I was in consumption and could not live. I took a flin-ction of Cod Liver Oil and it did me no good. After taking it four months I heard of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and wrote to you for advice. I have taken your medicine and it saved my life. So I am here to thank you to you that I thought I would not live through the winter. In the morning I raised a awful lot and would spit all the time and had pains in my chest. My bowels would not move more than once or twice a week. My strength was nearly gone; I could not do a whole day's work. Now my bowels are regular every day and I feel no more pain in my chest. I feel a great deal stronger. I am working hard every day, driving a team of horses, and I owe my thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I know it saved my life."

The most difficult diseases to cure are those which are aggravated by constipation. In such cases Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken in conjunction with the "Discovery." They never gripe. All good dealers sell them.

Hollingsworth and Socialism.

Rev. J. H. Hollingsworth late pastor of the M. E. Church at Frankfort has been talking socialism, and his friends have been defending him. In a letter to his wife from London he says: "America, I find, is far behind other countries in this respect, but socialism is certainly moving westward and it will only be a little while until our country will be aroused on this important matter. There is not anything like the lack of knowledge of the nature of socialism in this country, even among the middle and lower working class, we have in America. The majority of the people in our country confound socialism with anarchy and other like things, when it, of course, has not the slightest relation thereto. The socialist doesn't ask for an equal distribution of property, etc., as many think. I am satisfied that when its true nature is understood it will sweep our beloved land. It is what the great mass of the people want, and like Germany and England, it will soon come to see this. The most devout and consecrated men I have met here are avowed socialists. Indeed, it is beginning to be understood that the most cultured and progressive and up-to-date people are socialists."

For Soldiers' Graves.

The government has sent headstones for the graves of the following soldiers buried in this county:

William R. Brooks, Co. A, 63 Indiana Vol. Inf.

Elijah Zachary, 20th Battery, Indiana L. A. Vol.

Lewis Shepard, Co. K, 154th Indiana Vol. Inf.

John Kelly, Co. K, 86th Indiana Vol. Inf.

Jonathan J. Carter, Co. B, 22nd Indiana Vol. Inf.

Joseph McKinsey, Co. B, 10th Indiana Vol. Inf.

William H. McIntosh, Co. H, 11th Indiana Vol. Inf.

The relatives and friends of the deceased are expected to get these stones and set them at the graves as soon as practicable. They are now in the vicinity building lot, and can be had upon application to M. V. B. Smith, Mayor Elmore, Post Commander B. F. Crabb or either of the following committee:

CHAS. M. TRAVIS,
JOSEPH McDANIEL,
S. L. ENSMINGER.

Believe He Was Murdered.

The friends of James Nagle, the Colfax soldier, whose body was sent home for interment are not satisfied. They still believe that he was murdered by a comrade and his $300 in money stolen. The suspicion has become so strong that the body will be disinterred and an analytical investigation made for traces of poison. In the meantime a watch will be kept over the comrade who is under suspicion.

To Terre Haute.

Layout Stewart, who in a fit of absent-mindedness rode another man's wheel from Terre Haute to this city, a few days ago, was taken back Monday by an officer, to answer the charge of having stolen the wheel. He said he would plead guilty and begin to be good at once.

PROFANE SWEARING.

A Disgusting Habit Which Needs Attention From Parents and Courts.

It has become notorious that a man or woman cannot pass along the street or go anywhere about the city, without having their ears assailed by a shower of profanity. Young men seem to think that it makes them more manly to be able to pour forth a strain of profanity like slaves from the jaws of a mad dog poisoning everything it touches. In railroad stations, on the street, in offices, in every public place this is heard. They seem to think that no one has a right to call them to account for it. That it is rated as a personal liberty which cannot by any means be taken away from them. They do not know perhaps, that it is counted a crime under the laws of the state, and punishable by fine for every time the name of the Creator is taken in vain. The state respects the sacred names of God and Christ by throwing about them the shield of law, and punishes the one who uses them in vain. A few arrests and heavy fines under this statute would go far toward breaking up this reprehensible practice which is insulting to God and disgusting to all men who have any development whatever of the higher sensibilities. Swearing is not a sign of manhood, but rather a sign of inferiority of heart, brain and culture. It puts the stamp of a depraved being on the forehead of him who indulges in it. It marks him as a moral outcast among those who make up the best and more cultured circles of society. Why men will indulge in it is a mystery, when by all the canons of faith and hope they lose not only manhood and social standing, but the soul as well. This is not a sermon, but an appeal to all self-respecting men and women to frown upon it; and send it like the scapegoat to realms beyond culture and civilization. Crawfordsville needs reform along this line worse than any other.
