We are told that wages are going up and that the banks are full of money. A beautiful conjunction of events, truly. Wages may be going up for the few that the trusts have left with employment. But what of the thousands whom they have thrown out of employment? Wherein are they benefitted by this state of affairs? While their favored fellow toilers are given higher wages, they are left to starve. The banks are full of money, and the pockets of the people are comparatively empty of that very desirable article. Money is of no value when hoarded in banks. It exerts a beneficial influence only when active in the channels of trade. If this time of plethoric bank vaults and attenuated purses is prosperity well may we pray to be delivered from adversity. The party of magnificent promises has been most diligently engaged in breaking them. No amount of theory and fine spun argument can prevail against facts. Conditions speak louder than words, and an empty stomach is more eloquent than any appeal of a campaign orator. Prosperity of the McKinley brand does not seem to be the kind that feeds the hungry and clothes the naked. Let it keep its promises or forever after hold its peace.

An attempt is being made by the Republican press to make much of the difference of opinion held by prominent Democrats on the money question and expansion. Their differences are no greater than exist among republicans, and are not nearly so significant of permanent party division. There will be much discussion of issues but when the national Democratic convention meets there will be a compromise and a crystallization of sentiment upon a platform which every good Democrat can support. Party platforms are always compromises, and there are issues and to spare upon which the Democrats can agree. On the other hand the Republican party in all its history was never so badly divided. It is split on the money question, on the tariff and on expansion. It is bound to endorse the administration of McKinley—an administration to which many of the strongest men in the party—men who have controlled its destinies for years—are unalterably opposed. If these be harmonized it is high time for the pouring of oil on the troubled water to begin. And plenty of oil will be needed.

THE reputation of the civil service plank of the St. Louis platform by the Republican state convention of Kentucky, is both interesting and instructive. The mad clamor of party workers for place has compelled this recognition of their claims. The yielding of President McKinley has simply whetted their appetites for more. All the pledges made by the party for the support of the merit system go for naught and we see the whole foundation of the work of this great reform about to bewhelmed beneath an avalanche of spoilsmen's claims. If the president would see himself exalted by all men who earnestly and honestly wish the welfare of their country, and who place fealty to country above party and personal claim, he will not allow this system to be destroyed by these ruthless bandits of politics. He should pause and consider well the consequences before he takes the irretrievable "backward step."

THE boom for John R. McLean as a Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, seems to be increasing and from the coy and modest manner in which the Enquirer publishes press comments on his candidacy we may reasonably conclude that he is not averse to wearing the crown. There can be no question as to his ability to make life interesting for his opponent if he should be the nominee.

It is safe to predict that the two-thirds rule which has always prevailed in Democratic National conventions will not be broken over. It has been an element which has always contributed very materially to the harmony of the party after nominations are made. It is a good safe rule, and one that is strictly in harmony with Democratic principles.

The address of Stuart McKibben, of South Bend, on the "Independence of the Judiciary" delivered before the State Bar Association is altogether admirable. It is worthy of a careful perusal. The movement to free the judiciary from baneful political influence is to be commended. It should be rendered as nearly infallible as is possible to a human agency.

If John J. Ingalls should be elected to congress from Kansas, it is not the worst calamity which could happen. Let us remember that Kansas still has Simpson and Peffer, and they may be sprung on a waiting world at any moment.

The arrest of Angus Cannon has again directed public attention to the question of polygamy, and a more determined effort will be made to eradicate the evil. It is said that the case of Cannon will be made a test case, and the prosecution of others will follow. Brigham Young, Jr., claims that there have been no polygamous marriages in Utah since 1890, but he thinks no man can break the covenant entered into with his plural wives without proclaiming himself the basest of scoundrels. He poses as taking a moral ground and claims that if polygamy is not disturbed it will die a natural death. It would be hard to find many enlightened persons who will agree with Young. Most people regard the institution as a veritable "damned spot" which must be removed at any cost. It has not shown any particular disposition to "die out" when left to itself, and the first thing is for the proper authorities to make a killing and make it soon. Let there be no more "scotched snakes" but let the monsters be done to the death, once and for all. Too long, it has existed to our shame.

The idiot who rides his bicycle on one wheel and backwards in front of a rapidly moving car, the mile-in-less-than-a-minute rider, the high diver, the fool who didn't know it was loaded, in short the performer of every superlatively idiotic feat the insane fancy could devise, is now making himself particularly prominent to the great edification of envious and applauding madmen smitten with the same disease as themselves. After it is all done they might well ask "What's the use?" If any useful purpose is served by the performance of any foolhardy feat it has yet to be discovered. The attention of these individuals is called to the fact that the government is now soliciting recruits for service in the Philippines. If they have any anxiety to die violent deaths, there is a wide field open in that direction.

ALTHOUGH the wheat crop was a failure, the Montgomery county farmer has cause to rejoice and be glad. The prospect for a splendid crop of corn was never better. Hundreds of acres are covered with a rank, green wilderness of corn. Now taller than a man's head, just ready to send out tassels and shoot from clusters of great green blades borne upon thick sturdy stalks. The crop is now practically assured and while the price may probably be low, the great yield will compensate for that. It is a bad season, indeed, when the farmers of this county get entirely left, and they have reason to be thankful that their lives have fallen in such pleasant places as this garden spot of the State.

GENERAL WHEELER has gone to the front again. It is extremely doubtful whether he can survive the climate of the Philippines. There will be some vigorous fighting done while he lives, however. The majority of his countrymen would gladly see him rest content with the service he has already performed. He has glory enough for one man and earned the lasting gratitude of all Americans.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW now says the tariff wall must come down to meet new conditions. We can compete with the nations of the world in the markets of the world, and "protection" is robbery of the worst kind. A tariff for revenue is good enough. The people will stand on the Democratic platform on the tariff hereafter.

NOTWITHSTANDING the constant assertion that business is improving, strikes continue to multiply. The tinplate workers, 800 strong, at Lisbon, O., are now out of employment. It is possible that the plant may be abandoned as the managers say it will never be run as a union mill. The conflict is still on.

The private letters sent home by the boys at the front tell a very different tale from the dispatches of Otis, and the "give-away" made by John T. McCutcheon, of the Chicago Record, is not of a kind calculated to inspire great respect for the conduct of the war.

The amount of enthusiasm displayed by Tammany Democrats at the mention of Bryan's name, must lead to the conclusion that he is not so very unpopular in New York after all. Is it possible that Tammany is going to repent of its sin and support him? It looks that way.

The censor of the press dispatches at Manila seems to be strictly "onto his job," and only glowing reports of victories won and defeated Filipinos escape his eagle eye. As said Pyrrhus "A few more victories such as these and Otis will return alone."

The price paid for the Indianapolis News shows how much more profitable is business than politics. Its net income is said to be greater than all other Indianapolis papers combined.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten is caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
