Current Events.

Bad Boys.

FOR some time a gang of bad boys have been spending Sunday afternoons in shooting craps in the fair grounds or in Hutton's woods. Last Sunday Mr. Hutton discovered them engaged in the delectable occupation, and summoned constable Byas. That officer swooped down upon them but they had gotten wind of his approach and ran away. Several were recognized, however, and warrants were issued for their arrest. These boys in some way learning of the charges, appeared before Squire Stilwell Tuesday evening, and filing charges against each other, were fined. They thus circumvented the officers, and the cases in the Mayor's court were dropped.

Shot His Foot.

PROF. DONALDSON BODINE, of Wabash College, at Burt Lake, Mich., where he has been spending the summer, shot himself in the foot last Saturday morning. He started squirrel hunting with his sister, but had gone from the hotel but a short distance when his rifle was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through near the little toe. As no doctor was readily obtainable Prof. M. B. Thomas dressed the wound and the surgeon finally secured, pronounced the work artistic and effective, and said that Prof. Bodine will speedily recover.

A Tricky Equine.

JOHN KENNEDY is a colored resident, who is unfortunate in the possession of an old horse, chiefly valuable for past services. The ancient steed with passing years has accumulated wisdom, and when at large cannot be captured by any one save his master. He has been roaming about the streets for some time and has defied all the efforts of policemen to catch him, and so the other day they arrested Kennedy, as the best means of solving the problem. It is an unpleasant experience for that gentleman.

The date of the Indiana State Fair is Sept. 18-23, 1899.

A President for Wabash.

SINCE the resignation of Dr. Burroughs from the presidency of Wabash college, it has been pretty generally thought that the place would again be tendered to Dr. W. P. Kane. It will be remembered that after the resignation of Dr. Tuttle a unanimous choice fell upon Dr. Kane, but owing to the fact that he had only just accepted the pastorate of the Bloomington, Illinois, Presbyterian church, and yielding to the vigorous protest of his congregation, declined the honor. Since he has become the head of the Winona assembly, he has further demonstrated his ability to serve in an administrative capacity, and the committee appointed to look for a president, feel that it is eminently proper that he should be tendered the position. Many friends of the college are urging his claim upon their attention, and the press where he has served as a minister and is so well and favorably known, is speaking of him in unstinted tones of praise and commending his appointment. The absence of Mr. Gregg in Europe and Dr. Haines in the east has so far prevented any concerted action on the part of the committee, but it is believed that Dr. Kane will now accept the trust should it be tendered him. A strong and progressive man is needed to take up the work where Dr. Burroughs has laid it down and carry it on, and advance the interests of the college. The time has come in her fortunes when push and vigor is needed to keep her abreast of the times, and it is hoped that Dr. Kane is able to supply these. It is a time of growth and expansion in educational institutions and methods, and the college that does not meet the new problem with adequate solution, may be permanently dwarfed and injured, if not destroyed. In reference to Dr. Kane, the Indianapolis News says: "Dr. Kane is fifty-one years old, and is a man of powerful physique and strong address, and has a way of impressing himself favorably on all. He is a good business man, and though he is a pulpit orator of unusual ability, his work in the ministry has been peculiarly signalized by business success. He is extremely popular with young men, and enjoys the confidence of older heads. He is spoken of as forceful but not visionary."

Farmers' Mutual.

THE annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, of the counties of Fountain and Montgomery, was held in the court room in this city on Tuesday. The company was organized in 1877. The company is in a flourishing condition and represents an insurance of $1,300,000. The report of the president shows an assessment of 90 cents on the one hundred dollars to pay losses or a little over 8 cents per year for the past eleven years. Losses of $3,195.53 were paid during the past year, and all were speedily and satisfactorily adjusted. A board of six directors manage the affairs of the company. These are elected annually. The present officers are: President, M. B. Waugh; vice-president, Albert Campbell; secretary, W. J. Miles; treasurer, J. M. Harshbarger; directors, N. A. Foster and R. G. Drollinger.

Prizes Offered.

I AM instructed by the labor day executive board to cordially invite every owner of a vehicle to participate in the labor day parade, Monday, Sept. 4. Decorate your rig with the national colors. The lady driving the best decorated out-of-town rig will receive a five dollar lap robe. The best city decorated rig driven by a lady, a $2.50 whip. Second and third prizes will be given.

W. P. DAGGETT.

Horse Thief Detectives.

THE Montgomery county organization of horse thief detectives will meet in the small court room in this city on Thursday, the 7th day of September, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. A full attendance of all the companies in the county is desired, as business of much importance will come up before the meeting.

M. B. WAUGH,
Chairman Ex. Com.

A Narrow Escape.

Was that of a boy who became a cigarette fiend, but a friend gave him a Hoboe cigar and afterwards he would smoke nothing else and was saved.

Up-to-Date.

THE end-of-the-century young woman is a capable creature and quite able to take care of herself. Indeed it has been broadly hinted, if not openly stated that she has been making frantic efforts to usurp every masculine prerogative or privilege, including whiskers and apparel. If such a day should come in the near future it will not find one Danville, Ill., young lady unprepared to meet the emergency. The aforesaid young lady, not only young but pretty, appeared at the court house on Saturday evening and informed the dumb-founded clerk that she had come to take out a marriage license. She was very business like and matter of fact, and elucidated matters somewhat by stating that she came from Danville, Ill., and as the groom of the same place could not arrive until the midnight train came in, the unusual duty devolved upon her of getting the license and have her lamp trimmed and burning, as it were, when the bridegroom came. She stated that there were no objections to the marriage, but they chose this unique way of celebrating their nuptials. She got the license, paid for it, and then put up at a hotel until the groom should come. He came according to schedule, and was received with an ecstatic greeting. They immediately hid themselves to the home of Squire Stilwell, whose fame as a cementer of hearts has gone abroad over the land, and in the small hours of the morning the knot was tied. The happy pair went home on the excursion train, where no doubt they received the parental blessing, and will live happy ever after. The names on the record are George S. McRoales and Maggie Parish.

Mrs. Ira Cadwallader.

AT the family home, 570, east Main street, on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, occurred the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Cadwallader, wife of Ira Cadwallader. Mrs. Cadwallader had been ill for some time, and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Cadwallader's maiden name was Cooper. She was a daughter of the late Sylvester Cooper, and was born on a farm near Yountville in 1847. In 1865 she married Ira Cadwallader, who with two sons, Charles and Harry, survive her, together with two sisters, Mrs. William Nutt and Miss Maggie Cooper. Mrs. Cadwallader will be mourned by a large circle of friends. She was a woman who, by her kindly deeds and pleasant manner, endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact. She was a mother not only to her own children, but she has been such as well to Miss Grace Nutt, who has made her home with Mrs. Cadwallader almost since infancy. She was a sincere member of the Methodist church, and her christian character has no flaws in it. She goes to her reward with the blessings of many upon her. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the house, Rev. G. W. Switzer officiating. Interment at Oak Hill.

Suit for Insurance.

A SUIT has been filed by Isabella G. Contant, widow of the late Chauncey M. Contant, against the Traveler's Insurance Company for $2,500. The complaint alleges that the husband of plaintiff took out a policy for $2,500 insurance in the Traveler's Insurance Company, and some time later was accidentally shot and killed. The company has refused to pay the amount and therefore the suit is brought to recover. The sad details of the death of Mr. Contant are still fresh in the minds of the people.

No Street Cars.

THE parties contemplating the construction of a street car line through this city to Yountville, at the meeting of the city council on Monday night submitted a form of ordinance for franchise which met their approval, but the committee to which the matter had been referred reporting unfavorably.

Death of Mrs. Maria C. Dunn.

ON Sunday morning last in Frankfort, occurred the death of Mrs. Maria C. Dunn, wife of the late Dr. W. P. Dunn. She was born in Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 12, 1817, and was a lineal descendant of Toussaint Dubois, one of the noted settlers of Indiana. Her parents died while she was a small child and she came to Crawfordsville and lived with her uncle and aunt, Major and Mrs. Ambrose Whitlock, until her marriage in 1843 to Dr. Dunn. Shortly afterwards they moved to Frankfort where their lives were spent.

Surprised Him.

SATURDAY evening last, in response to a call, about 250 persons representing the G. A. R. Post and their families, gathered in carriages on Grant avenue. They proceeded to march to the county asylum. George Myers was the boss bumble bee in forming the procession and never tumbled until the procession stopped at his gate that he was the victim. He was 66 years old.

Company Reunion.

COMPANY C. of the 4th Indiana Infantry, held its annual reunion at the home of S. A. Stilwell Wednesday. There are 22 survivors and twelve were present, on this occasion. The company's first engagement was at Shiloh, and its last at Franklin, Tenn.

Damage Suit.
