BREEF DISTRIBUTION.
On Saturday Morning, September 2d, at 9 o'clock we will give to the Children Two Thousand Tickets of Admission to the Great and Only Crawfordsville Fair. "My Little Friend, I have one for you. Come in and get it."

GEO. W. GRAHAM.

We want to throng the Trade Palace with satisfied buyers during this sale—a climax to the season. We want the public to know and feel that this is the Supreme Selling effort of a most successful season. We know that printed promises prove nothing and we ask you to fit each item to what we say about it, and we will prove to you we are out of the "High Price District."

Current Events.

The Kirk Barn.

Taylor Thompson and Mort Beckner have opened up a first class barn at the old rink, on North Green street. They make a specialty of boarding and caring for stock left in their care, and rigs left with them are safe and will be looked after. George Russell and William Hardacre, both with long time experience, have been secured by the firm. W. H. Hardacre has had fifteen years experience in barns and is a good and competent man for any part of the work required. Mr. Russell has had twenty years experience in the same line, and in addition has made a specialty of teaching, breaking and training horses. He is a very competent man in his line. He has made a specialty of breaking and training family horses, making them safe for women and children to handle and drive on the streets. He will continue to do this sort of work for the firm at the barn, and horses left there to be trained will be graduated in his school to your satisfaction. Give us a call. We will treat you right.

Ready for Business.

On Sept. 18, the Crawfordsville Business College will open its year's work with every thing in excellent condition. During the summer its quarters have been remodeled and worked over until they are as handsome and convenient as can be found anywhere. A full corps of able, efficient and experienced teachers, will devote their time and energies on an up-to-date course of study. The best facilities are offered and the best equipment to be found await those who attend. The enrollment is twice that of last year and is increasing.

The Willis Gallery wants customers who are hard to please for two reasons: First, to save them money; second, to show these particular people that the Gallery understands its business.

The REVIEW is under obligations to O. M. Gregg for copies of Philadelphia papers, souvenirs of the G. A. R. encampment.

A Boy Shot and Killed.

ALL it takes to make a first-class tragedy is two or three foolish boys and an "unloaded" gun. This was the combination which on Tuesday afternoon ended in the shooting and subsequent death of Glenn Ralston of this city. He was out in a boat at the Yountsville dam with John Sidener and Bert Warner, and with them was the inevitable gun. Ralston and Warner had been splashing water on Sidener, who threatened to shoot them if they didn't stop, and picked up the gun, a repeating 22-caliber rifle. They worked the lever several times and no cartridge fell into place, and all thought it was unloaded, but alas, one had caught, and by a some means the gun went off, its contents passing through the bowels of young Ralston. He was brought home by Dr. Engleman, of Yountsville.

It was thought that there was a chance for him but he died Wednesday. There is no disposition to hold anyone responsible for the shooting, as all agreed that it was purely accidental. Solomon never penned a greater truth than this: "Better meet a she bear deprived of her whelps, than to meet a fool in his folly." People will never learn that it is the "unloaded" gun that always kills, and fools who will point fire arms at others, and kill them without loads, will continue to thrive as long as the world lasts.

The County Council.

FOR the past week the County Council has been in session discussing the estimates placed before it by the various county officials. This is a new business to most of the members of that body, and not having made a study of public affairs they are in the dark as to a great many things. We believe that every county official has tried his best to be conservative in his estimate. He would naturally want to make it big enough, for there is no provision to meet a shortage on the estimate—but none of them have made an exorbitant estimate. They have without exception been fair, very conservative indeed, and indicate a desire on the part of the officials to try the merits of the law honestly. The point which the Council sticks on is the estimate of the commissioners on the repairs of the court house. It is quite likely that this will be cut out of the estimate. There is, of course, two sides to the question. The county's property, especially its valuable records, should not be placed in jeopardy. On the other hand the people feel that their taxes are about as big as they desire to see them get. It may be economy however to let the estimate stand and the repairs be made.

City Improvements.

At a special meeting of the council it has been decided by a vote of seven to one to construct a two ring brick sewer from the Central school building north on Green street to the big sewer. The sewer will be 36 inches to Main street and 46 from there to the end. Mr. Smith is the one proposing the work, which will be built out of the city's general fund, the contract to be let to the lowest bidder. Those who tap the sewer will be charged for the privilege. Mr. Hutton voted against the ordinance.

Bug Bit.

AGAIN the kissing bug has visited town, and its attack was made on Clint Norquest. The osculation seeker entered the open window and made a dart for the ruby lips of Mr. N. but missed his mark and fasened itself over his left eye. He awoke with a yell, jerked the bug loose and cast it into outer darkness. He earred about a violent swelling for several days as the result of the interview.

Grand Opening.

FTER many disappointments and delays we are finally in shape for opening of the new store. The Big Store will not be open for business during our removal, but on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12th, the doors will be thrown open for the grand opening which will continue all week except from Wednesday at 6 p. m. to Thursday at 6 p. m. during which time the store will be closed on account of Jewish Holiday. Every one is invited to come and see the finest and largest dry goods store in the state.

LOUIS BISCHOF.

Killed By Lightning.

WEDNESDAY's storm was productive of many casualties, the saddest one being the death of little Grace Jones, the 12-year-old daughter of James Jones, of Fiskville. The lightning struck an electric light pole standing in front of the house, and followed the stay wire which extended over the Jones summer kitchen. It leaped from the wire and struck the child who was on the back porch, crushing her skull and causing instant death. The pole was torn into splinters. Another bolt leaped into an upstairs window of Jesse Morrison just across the street from the Jones home home and tore the contents of the room into bits and shocked Mrs. Morrison so badly that she was unconscious for some time.

Many of the electric lights about the city were struck and a number of telephones burned out. Three horses belonging to Charles Rhoads, of Veedersburg, were killed. The residence of Mrs. Col. Blair was struck and the chimneys demolished. The lady herself was seriously stunned. D. C. Booher, of Darlington, lost two barns. One was struck and the flames communicated to the other. The loss was total, including two horses. The storm was especially severe along Sugar creek. Many trees were destroyed by lightning and torn down by the wind. It was one of the biggest storms for years.

Badly Afflicted.

A FEW weeks since Noah J. Clodfelter was brought to this city very ill, by his brother Marion, and since then has been at his brother's home since. He will probably never recover. His unfortunate business ventures induced a strain which has broken him down mentally. His nerves are shattered and the whole mental fabric totters. The many friends of Mr. Clodfelter will be pained to learn of his critical condition.

Better Than He Expected.

EDITOR REVIEW:—
I ASK space in your paper to say that I have been surprised at the number of letters from teachers I have received. I was aware there was great dissatisfaction, but was not prepared for such a large number of letters so soon. They have been coming all week. Let all those who desire to see the reform set in motion, write. Address, "Teacher, care of Review office. We want all we can get." TEACHER. Darlingon, Ind., Sept. 7.

A Card.

A REPORT is being circulated that the gates to the Fair grounds will be closed next Sunday, and an entrance fee will be charged for admittance. Such is not the fact. The gates will be open as they have always been on Sunday before the beginning of the fair, and the management would be pleased to have people visit the grounds on that day and note how beautiful the grounds are.

Burglars Around.

SCOTT STEELE met with the burglarious individual the other night. He got in through a screen door, thence to the bed room where he appropriated Mr. Steele's pantaloons and vest. Mrs. S. discovered the thief and gave forth a series of yells, and Scott started after him. He got his clothes, but Mr. Burglar had lifted $5.30 as he ran, and that is the end of the story.

House Burned.

THURSDAY afternoon the small dwelling house occupied and owned by William Butcher, located on west Perry street was badly damaged by fire.

Aguinaldo

Could be captured and the war ended if Otis would only present him with a Hoboe Cigar. He would want more.

THE REVIEW from now until January 1st, 25 cents.

YOUNTSVILLE.

Clyde Watson has recovered from his kick by a horse, sufficient to be around.

A. J. Henderson and wife, of Shandondale, called on old friends here Wednesday.

Geo. Myers has moved back to his farm near Alamo, city life has lost its attractions.

Jas. Swearingen and wife have taken rooms at Mrs. Moore's and gone to house keeping.

Wm. Weikle and wife left Thursday for a week's sojourn among his wife's people at Columbus, Ind.

The Chicago excursionists from this place got pretty full of Chicago wind while in the city from the way they blow it up in their talk.

Boss Vires is a new employee at the woolen mills. If the boss can turn his eyes from the ladies side of the house he will become a star weaver.

Byron Sweeney has accepted a position as time-keeper for the Mississippi Timber and Importing Co., and will leave Monday for Jackson, Miss.

A reunion was had of the Munns family on Thursday in the Davis Grove, two miles west of here, while the day was cloudy the reunion proved a success.

There are three red running gear vehicles here in one family. Our sports are now wagering on long odds that the family sleigh will be coated red ere the first snow bells.

Ed Fruits, of Paradise, has taken service with the Yount woolen mills. Ed says that the attention showered on him by Polly and other matrimony inclined people were too much for him.

Earl Hurley has made a bid on one-half interest in a prominent livery and feed stable in Crawfordsville, and should he succeed in getting it will command a large patronage from this vicinity.

Employees of the Big Four Railroad working a construction train who wanted free melons, made Bert Gunle, who was watching the melons, climb a tree last week. Their names were secured and given to the prosecutor; so the melons may prove costly.

Peter McCabe, our veteran mail carrier, who is a bachelor, and who is regarded as a great catch by our ladies, is said at last to entertain matrimonial intentions in a high degree. He may be seen every day driving west a spirited horse. When the plum will fall we hope to announce in a few days.

Seno Gunle, the popular blacksmith living a mile northeast, has been offered flattering inducements to build and operate a wagon and blacksmithing shop here. Mr. Gunle will leave next week for Springfield, Mo., in search of health and will not decide on the matter until his return four weeks hence.

The accidental shooting at the Park on Tuesday evening of Glenn Ralston by John Sidener is another case of the careless handling of firearms, and supposition that the gun was not loaded. Guns should not be pointed at any one, loaded or unloaded. The families have the sympathy of the neighborhood in this unfortunate affair.

A small quiet wedding was that on Wednesday eve. at 8 o'clock p. m. at the residence of Sam Love, that of their daughter, Miss Eva, to A. E. I. Dinsmore, of Peru, Ind. They left on Thursday for a sojourn of one week at Peru, after which they go to Racine, Wisconsin, where he is employed in a woolen mill. This will be their home for a while at least.

Tomie Douglas distinguished himself by leaping into Lake Michigan last Sunday and saving the life of a little girl. At Chicago some children were playing on the beach at Lincoln Park; they were following the waves out on the sand as they receded and ran back. As the waves came in, one little girl, about nine or ten years old, did not get back in time and was carried out beyond her depth. She had sunk the third time and was nearly drowned when rescued by Douglas.
