A MAN OF GOOD SENSE

Our Washington dispatches have predicted that a "boom" for Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, would be launched within a month, provided he would consent to the use of his name. Like Governor Hughes, of New York, Governor Johnson is not bothering himself about the future. It is even doubted whether he will permit his name to be used in connection with the Democratic nomination. It is said that he will certainly refuse to become a candidate against Mr. Bryan, and that he will not allow himself to be made the candidate of any faction of the party. He no doubt feels, as many others feel, that if the Democrats do not get together very soon they never will get together. But without reference to what the future may have in store for this man, and judging him solely on the record that he has thus far made, it must be said of him that he is in every way worthy of the respect and confidence of his party and of all the people.

Governor Johnson is a reformer, and yet he is at the same time a man of good sense and sound judgment, leaning perhaps a little to the conservative side. He has been confronted with the same situation as that faced by Governors Glenn and Comer, but he has not indulged in any violent talk, or threatened to resist the process of the courts of the nation. Minnesota's interests will be as well protected as those of the two southern states in which such an outcry has been raised. There is nothing spectacular about Johnson. He is a plain man whose only aim is to do his duty. His honesty is above reproach, and his ability is good. It is not surprising that many Democrats should be looking to him as the man to lead their party out of the wilderness. He has "made good" as an executive officer. He is a genuine Democrat, both in creed and life. He is popular in his own state and throughout the northwest, as is shown by his carrying Minnesota in the very year in which Mr. Roosevelt was elected. Minnesota cast her vote for Roosevelt and Johnson. Finally he represents no faction, and is involved in none of the quarrels which have so long distracted the party. We should say that, with Bryan out of it, Johnson's chances would be bright.—Indianapolis News.

Not one man in 500 pictures his future wife in the surroundings of the ordinary girl. Where is the Adam who dreams of meeting his Eve short of skirt and strong of arm, in the hockey field, or striding over the turf with a golf ball; or plunging madly after a tennis ball? Au contraire, he pictures her clad in "something soft and clinging," a being more angel than woman, who, as a daily companion, would undoubtedly prove the most withering bore a man could be cursed with.

BAR RESOLUTIONS

In Memory of Attorney C. M. France

SHOW HIGH ESTEEM

In Which the Deceased Pioneer Lawyer Was Held by His Former Associates.

The esteem in which Attorney C. M. France was held by the members of the Adams county bar, is told in the following resolutions by the committee appointed to draft same:

Whereas, the members of the Adams County Bar have learned with profound sorrow of the death of Charles M. France, at Van Wert, Van Wert county, state of Ohio, he being at the time of his death, a member of this bar, one of the oldest of this body, and a pioneer practitioner of the courts of this county. For the past several years he had discontinued the practice of law and the last few years had resided in a sister state, but he continued a keen interest in the welfare of the courts of Adams county, and delighted in relating the history of the administration of the laws in Adams county in the pioneer days.

Those who knew him best, recognized in him a lawyer of much natural ability; they knew him as a man of tireless energy, and unyielding faithfulness to his clients; he was of sunny disposition and jovial manner, of kindly spirit and generous of heart. Daily contact with him could not help but leave an imprint on the tablets of the memories of his associates, his many good and amiable qualities.

Therefore, Be it resolved, That the bar of Adams county deplore his death, and recognize that man is born to die, but death is but a part of our Creator's plan, and

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the widow of the deceased, that a page of the Order Book of the Adams Circuit Court be set apart and dedicated to the memory of our deceased brother, on which page these resolutions shall be copied in full.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. TEEPLE,
D. B. ERWIN,
DAVID E. SMITH,
Committee.

Devonshire Terrace.

Dickens was twenty-seven years old when, in 1839, he moved from Doughty street to Devonshire terrace. George du Maurier lived for some years in 1 Devonshire terrace. In this celebrated house Dickens wrote no fewer than ten of his books—"The Old Curiosity Shop," "Barnaby Rudge," "The Christmas Carol," "American Notes," "Martin Chuzzlewit," "The Haunted Man," "The Battle of Life," "Dombey and Son," "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "David Copperfield." Devonshire terrace was situated at the corner of the Marylebone road and used to be called the smallest terrace in London.

A GREAT SESSION

give a dance for their members and ladies friends at the K. of C. hall.

Don't forget the entertainment which will be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the U. B. church tomorrow evening. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Bolman and Rev. E. E. Bergman were delightfully entertained at a twelve o'clock dinner yesterday noon by Mrs. John Everett and daughter, Miss Inez.

The study of the Historical club of last evening was the Earlier Prophets of Israel; these were Jonah, Amos and Hosea, the leading paper of the evening being read by Mrs. Burns, who pleased the ladies greatly by the excellent paper. Mrs. Robert Allison was hostess during the evening. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. C. D. Lewton on October 8th.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Stein on Jefferson street.

Works While You Sleep

That's what a Favorite Base Burner will do, and you don't need to worry about getting up in a cold house.

The Favorite will do the work.

They require less coal and are more cleanly than other Base Burners, because the doors and registers are fitted with machinery like a watch case.

Let us show you that these statements are true.
