WEATHER.
Fair Thursday; Friday rain and cold;
fresh southeast winds.

Mrs. Al Burd returned last night from a business trip to Bluffton.

Leo Myers left this morning for Union City to look after business affairs.

Miss Merle Burd went to Geneva this morning to demonstrate the famous B. B. Ointment and cream.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Worthman left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Howard Davis, of Decatur, arrived here today to visit her sister, Miss Blanche Runyan. They will leave today to spend a few days with relatives at Petroleum.—Bluffton Banner.

Agent T. L. Miller, of the Clover Leaf, received a message to day asking his help in the freight department at Toledo because of a strike among employees. He will not go, as he has all the business he can take care of here.—Bluffton News.

One of the officers of the machinists' union in this city said today that the recent report that negotiations were on between the union and the management of the Erie road, was false and that there was no grounds for the report.—Huntington Democrat.

Dr. Raper, of Geneva, was in the city last night the guest of friends.

Julius Spies, of Cleveland, Ohio, has arrived in the city for a visit with friends and relatives.

J. L. Edge left today for Huntington, where he will attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Chambers.

Mrs. O. M. Hammond left for her home in Paragon this morning after a visit with relatives and friends in the city. She attended the wedding of her son, Russell Bennett, which occurred in Decatur last week.—Bluffton News.

Atty. Jacob Butcher, the veteran auctioneer, was called to one mile east of Montpelier today to cry a sale. Mr. Butcher's fame as a sale crier is spreading around extensively and wherever he goes he gives satisfaction. He has no superiors and few equals.—Geneva Herald.

Van Wert and Rockford played an interesting game Tuesday afternoon, at Washington street park. The locals put another dent in the winning record of the visitors by handing them a defeat, the final count being six-two. Anschutz and Dasher forced the local battery. Winans handled the horse hide for the visitors.—Van Wert Bulletin.

Rev. H. H. Hocker and family left this morning for Westfield, in Hamilton county, where he will take up his work as pastor of the Methodist church in that place. Westfield is a nice little place of a thousand inhabitants and the congregation is a good healthy one and will make it pleasant for Rev. Hocker and family.—Bluffton Banner.

Mrs. W. N. Fowler will leave Saturday morning for New York City to meet her husband, Dr. W. N. Fowler, who is returning home after spending the summer in the far north where he was physician and surgeon to the Walter Wellman expedition. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler have rented the Thornburg residence on Wabash street and will probably reside there this winter.—Bluffton News.

The committee on arrangements for the Elks' fair is already getting things in shape for the event. Yesterday they were down to the piano factory, where the event will be pulled off, measuring the building so they could make some plan for placing the displays that will be made by the Bluffton merchants. It is expected that every merchant in the city will have a display of some sort on exhibition.—Bluffton Banner.

Chief White Eagle, who is selling medicine on the street, has on display in the show window of the Holt-house Drug company two of the largest rattlesnakes ever seen in this section of the country, together with a moccasin, a very dangerous reptile. The snakes have been gazed upon by hundreds of people today and the old settlers who look them over say they are the largest they ever saw. The snakes are alive and in a healthy state.

Statistics furnished by Miss Mary Stubbs, state statistician, show that 13.8 per cent of the women in Indiana are bread earners. According to the very latest figures, the total number of laboring women is 21,024. The figures show that there has been a big increase in the number of working women in the state since 1880. In 1880 the total number of working women in the state was 576,685. They occupy places in almost all departments of labor.

The closed hunting season began Tuesday, October 1, and until Nov. 10 it will be unlawful to kill anything but wild duck wild geese and woodcock. Not even a rabbit or squirrel may be killed within this period, without being liable to a penalty. It is alleged that some farmer in southern Indiana was instrumental in getting this section passed, as he claimed that during corn cutting time that teams were liable to be frightened by gun shots, or some one might get hit by the bullets of hunters.

A number of ladies from Decatur, namely: Mesdames G. Berling, J. Fullenkamp, G. Wemhoff, F. Smith, P. Colchin, F. Gass, Wm. Harding, H. Myers, P. Kinney, G. Krick, came to town last Thursday and overwhelmed our popular tailor, Chris Meyer and family, it being the tenth anniversary of his wedding. Little Chris bore up under the storm with wonderful nerve and seemed to enjoy it, as did the visitors. A number of presents were left by the ladies and all departed expressing themselves as having had an enjoyable time.—Geneva Herald.

At one minute past midnight Tuesday morning railway mail clerks throughout the country began the weighing of the mails in obedience to a general order of the postmaster general. Congress is responsible for this. In the regular appropriation bill for the postal service, approved March 1, the clause requiring the weighing for thirty days was inserted. It was the first time in the history of the postoffice department that the weighing of all mail matter in all trains over all routes on which mail clerks are employed was required.

A crowd of eleven young business men enjoyed a few hours at the "hunter's roost" north of town yesterday afternoon and last evening. A ball game and a chicken supper were the features.

Rasty Witham received a letter today from Jim Pierce, saying that he had the misfortune last Sunday to break a finger while playing ball, which will put him out of commission for the rest of the season.

Notwithstanding the fact that the council at their last regular meeting adopted a resolution to oust the two night policemen they were on duty and say they will so continue until the mayor discharges them. Affairs in this line are certainly complicated.

The heavy rain today stopped all work on the progress of the cement sidewalks that are going in at this time, but as soon as the weather permits the work will be pushed rapidly to completion. Work was also stopped on the Seventh street improvement.

Miss Hazel France while playing with several little girls fell, striking her forehead on a large stone, cutting a very severe gash therein. A physician was called and it required two stitches to close the ugly wound. She was able to resume her school work today.

The ball game Sunday between Decatur and Rockford promises to be a warm affair and a battle royal will be witnessed. Several new faces will be seen on the local team, while Rockford is coming loaded for bear. The game will be played at Steele's park and will be called at three o'clock prompt.

"A Crime in the Mountains" the subject for the new show at the Electric theater tonight is most interesting to witness. The pictures show what actually happens in mountain regions and to people in his section it is novel to see. In connection with this film, two other shows are given and all will please you.

The White Eagle Medicine company, that has been holding forth on the street for the past several days, are drawing the crowds and from all appearances are doing the business. Their display of snakes in the show window at the Holt-house Drug company are also coming in for their share of the attraction.

Warren Kiser, of central Kansas, visited in Ossian this week after an absence of twenty-nine years, visiting his old friends. Mr. Kiser and William Kline left here in 1878 for Kansas, where they have since resided. During their sojourn in the Corn cracker state they have each amassed a comfortable fortune. It is said that either of the gentlemen can write his check for twenty-five thousand dollars and have it honored by any bank in their county.—Bluffton News.
