J. H. HELLER, Manager.

Hon. Wm. S. Wells, of Fort Wayne, is being prominently mentioned as a candidate for senator from the Adams Allen district, to succeed Hon. John W. Tindall, of Decatur. Mr. Wells was one of the leaders of the democratic side of the lower house last winter, making an excellent record. No man in the body gave closer attention to the details of the work than did Mr. Wells, and he was always in his seat ready to perform his duty as he saw it. If he is nominated he will certainly be elected as the district is overwhelmingly democratic.—Ligonier Banner.

Pretty Useful Shoes.

It would be difficult to realize what the Frieslander would do without his klompes, or wooden shoes, for they have a hundred uses. With them he bails out his boat, corrects his children and scoops up a drink of water wherever he may be. He places in them his worms for fishing, uses them as missiles in a free fight, digs with them, measures dry goods with them, and a hundred other things. The klompes are cheap; they cost about fifteen pence a pair, man's size, and Dutchmen's feet are not Cinderella-like by any means.—Wide World Magazine.

A London Lad's Prayer.
W. Pett Ridge, a London writer, made a London boy in one of his stories offer the following rather original prayer: "Lord, wilt thou 'ave the kindness to make me grow strong and tall and with plenty to say for meself, and wilt thou do this as soon as thou can find time, so's to save me expense and waste of money that might be used in other ways—say for a cricket bat? Believe me, Lord, thy obedient servant, A. Martin."
He rose. He was halfway into his blue flannel bed gown when an important idea occurred to him, and he knelt down again quickly.
"Should 'ave mentioned," he whispered, "Elfred Martin of 53 Cawston street, jest over Surrey side of South-ark bridge."

Didn't Fire Him.
A kind old gentleman, seeing a man boy who was carrying a lot of newspapers under his arm, said, "Don't all those papers make you tired, my boy?"
"Naw, I don't read 'em," replied the lad.—Canadian Courier.
