Grip, the enemy of all Hoosiers and some others, has broken loose again and we are threatened with quite a severe epidemic. However, the cases this year are reported less severe than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Grove Hoffman entertained at a twelve o'clock dinner yesterday in celebration of their first wedding anniversary. The guests who were included in the invitation list were: Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman and daughter Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Runyon.

A new show will be introduced this evening at the Pictorium that is bound to please. Mr. Stonburner is making an effort to secure nothing but the best of attractions and from all appearances he is succeeding. If you want to spend a half hour of amusement you can get it at the Pictorium and all for five cents. Follow the crowd.

Passed Examination Successfully. James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

A Quiet Session this Morning—Appearance by Attorneys.

NEXT WEEK BUSY

Ten Thousand Dollar Damage Case and a Rape Suit Set for Trial.

The day was exceedingly quiet in the circuit court room. Judge Merriman called the docket at the usual hour, but the motions were few and only of a routine nature.

In the case of Otto Boids vs. Judy and Company et al, injunction, appearance by Peterson & Moran for all defendants, and by C. J. Lutz for Judy & Co., Otis and Andrew Judy, Rule to answer.

Jesse D. Dailey, receiver of Journal Publishing Co., suit on contract, appearance by Peterson & Moran for defendant; rule to answer.

Flora A. Dutcher vs. Charles M. Dutcher, divorce, appearance by L. C. DeVoss for the defendant; rule to answer.

The drainage commissioners in the John H. Beery et al petition for a divorce, asked for and were granted a continuance until February 3rd to file their report.

A sale bill was filed in the McClellan Tague estate and approved. The report of the sale of personal property was also approved.

The case of Mirl Laisure vs. William and Mary Smith, $10,000 damage suit, for alienating his wife's affections, is set for trial next Monday and the LeMay rape case from Wells county is set for Wednesday, promising a busy week.

Harriet E. Haviland vs. Grant Haviland, divorce and alimony, motion argued for temporary allowance and sustained; plaintiff allowed $35 and defendant permitted to encumber realty to amount named, allowance to be paid within ten days. The defendant filed a general denial to complaint. It looks like a legal battle was on.

BADLY MIXED UP.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart trouble; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints by Page Blackburn druggist, 50¢.

AT WHITE HOUSE

New Year's Reception Given as is the Annual Custom There.

PRETTY COSTUMES

Some of the Noted Women and What they Wore—
The Hepburn Bill.

Washington, January 1.—Theodore Roosevelt today officiated for the seventh time as president of the United States at the New Year reception at the White House. Assisting him in exchanging the salutations of the season were Mrs. Roosevelt and the members and ladies of the cabinet.

The niceties of diplomatic etiquette were religiously observed in the conduct of that part of the reception which has grown during the last hundred years or more and to partake of the nature of an official function. In this way, but without appearance of pre-arrangement, the president greeted first the vice-president and the members of his cabinet, then each foreign nation represented in the person of ambassador or minister; the judiciary through the personnel of the supreme court bench and the judges of the local federal and district courts; senators and representatives in congress; officers of the army, navy, marine corps and militia of the District of Columbia; heads of government bureaus and members of government commissions; organizations of veterans, including the society of Cincinnati, the Aztec club, the Associated Veterans of the war of 1846-47, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the Grand Army of the Republic, Medal of Honor Legion, Union Veteran Legion, the Union Veterans' Union, the Society of the Army of Santiago, the Spanish War Veterans, the Army and Navy Union, Minute Men, Sons of the American Revolution, and Oldest Inhabitant Association of the District of Columbia, and then the public.

The costumes of Mrs. Roosevelt and the women of the cabinet were strikingly handsome and blends of color and contrasts particularly impressive. Mrs. Roosevelt was gowned in old blue marquise, the skirt very full, an arrangement of velvet ribbon on bow knots and garlands making a trimming which reached half way up the belt. A yoke of lace and half sleeves of ruffled lace were the finishing touches. She wore a diamond necklace and other ornaments and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Fairbanks had on a flowered crepe de chine, very full and fluffy, the design being a pattern of pink roses over white.

Mrs. Root wore a becomingly designed costume of pale gray chiffon with deep border of gray lace about the hem.

Mrs. Cortelyou wore an elegant white satin with broad folds around the skirt, the bodice nearly all lace.

Mrs. Meyer was in black and white striped lace over white, trimmed with touches of black velvet.

Mrs. Garfield had on a handsome gown of dark plum velvet, effectively trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Straus wore a shrimp pink liberty satin trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Metcalf had on a most becoming gown of Irish crochet and other laces.

Mrs. Loeb was costumed in an orchid liberty satin and white lace.

Washington, January 1.—Demands for amendments to the Hepburn railroad rate law are reaching congress from three sources. The character of these demands indicates that the law, with all its good points, has failed to give general satisfaction. Various commercial organizations representing shippers have already come forward with a number of suggestions for changes in the law, the railroads are anxious to have the law amended in a few particulars, and the president has some new ideas which he would like to see incorporated in the law.
