Dutch Linderbeck, the hard-hitting fielder that played last season on the home team, but now playing with Quincy, Ill., is certainly doing great work with the stick. He has made more home runs than any man in the league. If the Quincy team had all players like Dutch they would land the pennant easily.

The total attendance at the first day of the regular session of the city schools, as compiled by Supt. Allen this morning and based on the figures furnished by the teachers of the various rooms concerning the enrollments yesterday and this morning show that the number of students enrolled total 911, a figure about equal to the enrollment at the time of the report rendered at the end of the first school month last year.—Bluffton News.

The trustees of the Baptist church at Montpelier have given a mortgage on the property in the sum of $7,000 to D. A. Bryson as trustee. A handsome new edifice has just been completed and the mortgage is to pay all outstanding claims of contractors. Rev. Hackelman, the pastor of the church, got into disfavor with some people because he refused to sign a remonstrance but the subscriptions withdrawn because of this were more than made up by those who gave after the welching of the others.—Hartford City News.

The Lena Rivers theatrical troupe that played at the Bosse opera house was greeted with a crowded house, and they were certainly deserving of the same, as it is one of the best shows ever put on in this city. The leading lady who played the part of Lena Rivers, was fine, as was all the rest. They carried their own scenery. Their costumes were magnificent. Should they ever return to this city again, they will be greeted by another packed house. The Bosse orchestra furnished music.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Smith & Parrish Buy the Coffee & Rinehart Restaurant

NOW IN CHARGE

It is a Popular Place and Will Continue the Same Old Way

Smith & Parrish is a new business firm that began what we hope will be a long and prosperous life today. They are John Smith and Frank Parrish and are located at the Coffee & Rinehart restaurant which they purchased, the sale being made late yesterday. This famous eating house was owned for many years by Jacob Martin, and was purchased by J. R. Coffee and Mr. Rinehart after the firm of Coffee & Baker dissolved. Mr. Coffee retires on account of ill health and will proceed to take things easy until he regains his health. Both the retiring gentlemen did a profitable business, made so by the courteous and business manner in which they treated their customers. The new firm are young and experienced business men and will make their place one of the most popular in the city. Mr. Rinehart has been retained as baker, and this insures this part of the business as being properly cared for.

J. H. Stone left this afternoon for Van Wert, where he will attend the fair tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Clever from Fort Wayne, are in the city the guest of H. H. Bremerkamp and family.

Alexander C. Platter, a DeKalb county farmer, has been removed to the Logansport asylum for the insane. He was anxious to go, declaring that he realized his mental condition and wanted to be cured.

Miss Salley Vesey, daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. J. Sesey, underwent an operation yesterday morning at St. Joseph's hospital for throat and nose trouble. Dr. P. B. White performed the operation.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

The various young ladies' clubs will commence to hold their meetings in a few weeks. These clubs are organized to spend the long winter evenings in a sociable time. The girls should not be too selfish, but ask the boys occasionally.

The Piercetown plant of Reid Muddock & Co., of Piercetown, Ind., canner 25,000 quarts of catsup Saturday and received 700 bushels of tomatoes to be used for the same purpose. They also receive about 800 bushels of pickles daily.

All the head teams in the different leagues won yesterday, so it will not change the standing of these clubs any. They will be watched with interest from now on till the season closes. As yet it is hard to pick the winner, as no team has a clinch on the pennant.

About twenty members of the Sam Henry G. A. R. post left early this morning for Van Wert, where they will accept the offer made by the fair association there to be their guests at the fair. The boys have visions of an enjoyable day, which should develop into a reality.

Among the fashion notes in a society journal it was stated not long ago that a firm of dressmakers or drapers in New York have on their books the names of forty ladies whose accounts for dress materials exceed $10,000 per year. Their bills are presented semi-annually and paid by their happy husbands without a murmur. This account leaves out such things as jewelry and laces, which may be considered a kind of permanent investment, but is confined to perishable articles, silks, satins, embroideries and such things as women ordinarily class as dress. Now, while it is not worth the trouble to assert that a man with an income of $100,000 annually has no right to spend $10,000 on his wife's dresses, still it can be readily seen the matter involves something far more important than the mere legal right of a man doing with his income as he wishes. Dress is simply and rightfully to increase woman's attractiveness, and the time must arrive when this attractiveness cannot be increased by an incessant variation of costumes. This latter simply means a life of making, putting on and off clothes and becoming a wearisome lay figure. The idea of a perfect dress must come some time, and to go beyond it or back of it must lessen good looks. Yet any one spending $10,000 in frocks must run his chance.

OLD TALE RETOLD

Mrs. Hamilton Tells of a Short and Unhappy Married Life

AND SEEKS DIVORCE

Discovered That Her Husband Was a Drunkard Two Weeks Too Late

Another story of an unhappy married life was told in a complaint filed by Attorneys Peterson & Moran, the cause being entitled Carrie C. Hamilton vs. Milton A. Hamilton. This couple were married March 2, 1907. Two weeks later, Carrie discovered that she had plighted her vows with an habitual drunkard, who took occasion to beat and strike her when she got in his way way, cursed her upon the slightest provocation and otherwise abused her. He accused her falsely of infidelity, sold the household furniture to supply his voracious appetite for liquor, squandered $100 that she had saved, failed to provide for her in any way, so runs the old, old story. Finally on February 24, 1908, Milton disappeared, within just a week of his first wedding anniversary and his wife has since heard no word from him. She asks for a plain and ordinary decree of divorce. Mrs. Hamilton lives in this township.

J. B. Stoneburner has arranged to give a free children's matinee every Wednesday afternoon, just after school. He began today and will continue as long as the weather is nice.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buechner, Mrs. Lewis Giecke and daughters, Misses Edna and Lydia Buechner, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gerke, Mr. and Mrs. Wiegman returned home after a pleasant visit here with friends.

Perry Glendenning, of Geneva, changed cars here this morning enroute to his home from Clinton, Ark., where he has been for some time looking after his interests there. Mr. Glendenning made an investment there several years ago. He reports crops as just being fair in that part of the country.

Quite a crowd attended the Prohibition speech given at the south house this afternoon.

The Prohibition rally with Sumner W. Haynes, candidate for governor, as speaker, was held this afternoon, beginning at 2:30.

Sneak thieves are again at work in the west part of the city. Mr. and Mrs. John Bollinger are the losers of about two bushels of grapes, and at the home of Clinton Cloud some one invaded his melon patch and stole some of his choicest melons.
