J. H. HELLER, Manager.

A few weeks ago Senator LaFollette delivered his famous lecture in Lincoln, Neb., in the course of which he showed that a few millionaires control congress and dictate legislation.

George W. Cromer and Editor Fred Rohrer were campaigning for county local option in Delaware county last week. The former is a peach of a temperance advocate and but clearly illustrates the insincerity of the G. O. P.

One of the Hawkins campaign folders bemoans the fact that Congressman Adair is quoting from Lincoln in his speeches, without giving proper credit. In all fairness we must concede that Senator Hawkins' speeches are entirely clear of the charge of plagiarism.—Portland Sun.

A feature of a Democratic meeting in Muncie the other night was the attendance of two or three hundred laboring men, who in 1896 and 1900 carried full dinner pails in the McKinley campaign. They marched to the meeting in a body and were given a royal reception in the house of their friends.

The Republican party opposes the guaranteeing of bank deposits—

But—
It favors guaranteeing a "reasonable profit" to the trusts. Just read the Republican national platform and you will see that this statement is true. The "reasonable profit" made by the steel trust in 1907 was $160,000,000—and it was net.

Congress Adair is making the same aggressive campaign as was made two years ago, and his reception among the voters far surpasses the reception that was accorded him two years ago. During the past two weeks he was in Delaware and Madison counties and large crowds greeted him on every hand. The outlook for his election is much brighter than ever.

According to the Chicago Record-Herald, support for Bryan and the Democratic platform was voted by the editors of forty trade union journals, who met in that city. Every part of the country was represented at the gathering, and according to the program adopted, the labor journals will at once begin to urge their readers to support Bryan. It was declared that organized labor would register 1,000,000 votes next November for the Democratic candidate.

The Indianapolis Star no longer conceals its sentiments with reference to the ill-advised convening of the state legislature by Gov. Hanly. Why there should or could have been any hesitancy about "speaking out in meetin'" in the first place is, however, not made apparent. There was no excuse for this extraordinary act at any time, and no courageous paper should have hesitated to say so without beating about the bush.—South Bend Times.

The harmony among the Republicans of West Virginia is intense. Not only do they have two nominees for governor, but the other day United States Senator Scott and State Senator Smith engaged in a fist fight when they met in a bank and exchanged thirty-six blows by actual count. And the cause of the fight was Smith's statement in a speech that West Virginia's seats in the United States Senate had been sold at auction for many years. Scott resented such publicity of party secrets.

Trade is worth having is worth asking for, and the merchant who sits down and waits for business to come to him without making any effort for it will have a long time to wait. This is no age for sluggards in the business world. The man who succeeds nowadays must be up and doing early in the morning, or he will find out when it is too late that success in business does not come without hard work and plenty of it. The merchant who is satisfied to accept whatever portion of trade comes his way without trying for a larger share is decidedly out of touch with the spirit of the times.

UNDERGOES AN OPERATION.

Rev. Frank M. Fox, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, is a patient at Hope hospital, where shortly before noon today he underwent an operation for appendicitis. Surgeons state that while the case was unusually severe, the patient withstood the ordeal well and his condition is hopeful. The operation was performed by Dr. M. F. Porter. Rev. Mr. Fox had been suffering for several days, but his condition was not regarded as sufficient to cause alarm, and he remained in charge of his pastoral work until Friday evening. This morning his family physician summoned other physicians in counsel, and it was declared imperative that the operation be performed without delay. The pastor was removed to the hospital in an automobile, and was able to walk into the institution with little assistance. The operation disclosed that the veriform appendix was in an aggravated condition in which the intestine was involved, and that an abscess had formed. Despite the seriousness of the case, it is believed that he will come safely through it.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

THE GIRL WITH THE AUBURN HAIR.

Is on the outside package of every bottle of Parisian Sage. Should you forget the name, simply ask for the package with "the girl with the auburn hair" upon it.

And what a wonderful sale Parisian Sage has made for itself in America in a little over a year. And what a multitude of people have been cured of falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp by its use.

And how the American women praise Parisian Sage for its peculiar ability to turn harsh, faded, lusterless hair into fresh, beautiful, silky and lustrous hair in a few days.

Parisian Sage is today the favorite hair dressing and tonic of discriminating Americans, not because of sensational methods of advertising, but because it is the only hair restorer that will do just what it is advertised to do.

It kills the dandruff germ and cures dandruff in two weeks. If it doesn't Holthouse Drug Co., the agent in Decatur will give you your money back.

"I had been troubled with dandruff for five years, but since using Parisian Sage I have not been bothered with it. I only used one-half bottle when I noticed the dandruff disappearing. I consider it the best hair tonic I ever used."—Mrs. C. R. Morton, 450 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 10, 1908.
