UNCLE NATE

THE BOOTLEG CANDIDATE

The bootleg methods of your "Uncle Nate" are the limit. Think of asking the electorate of the largest and most intelligent district in the United States to support his candidacy for congress, his only recommendation being blackmail and attempts to charge dishonesty to his minority opponent. It is the most disgraceful spectacle ever presented to the voters of Indiana and we doubt whether there is another man living who is so mentally and morally small, as to follow the degrading methods adopted and in use by "Uncle Nate" and his paid experts. Experts, who for the money would make any sort of a report about any living person. Experts who would swear away the life of a human being, providing "there was enough in it." Nate Hawkins pays these men to make reports and swear to reports about the public record of John Adair. He does it too as the candidate of the Republican party, the nomination being given him by George Cromer, and it has been openly charged and never denied that the consideration was fifteen thousand dollars. Think of it. Cromer placing the Republican nomination for congress upon the auction block. Nate Hawkins bids the limit and gets the high honor, while Cromer walks off with the swag. And after getting the nomination and with it a majority vote of more than five thousand, "Uncle Nate" employs experts. Not experts to boost himself, but experts to make figures lie. Experts to make John Adair look dishonest and unpopular with the voters of the eighth district.

What is the offense against John Adair? Why, he is the Democratic candidate for the same office to which your "Uncle Nate" aspires. He is popular, in good standing, elected once to congress and made a great record. "Uncle Nate" wants to go to congress and try to fill the place so ably represented by John Adair. Malice is in his heart and in order to accomplish this purpose he is besmirching the good name of John Adair. The voters of the eighth district are wise. They believe in uprightness, honesty and integrity. If there is no other reason on earth for John Adair's election, the Hawkins' method and manner of opposition is sufficient. The voters of the eighth district should now and forever place their disapproval upon this shameful attack. They should say to "Uncle Nate" that such methods are forever barred, and any one who tries to gain public favor by discrediting another shall himself forfeit their good will.

THE DRIFT TOWARD BRYAN

After spending a couple of days in Ohio, Walter Wellman has come to the conclusion that the Buckeye state is one of the most doubtful states in the union. Wellman finds that the laboring men are drifting to Bryan in spots and that the spots are large and numerous. There may be anywhere from 40,000 to 60,000 such changes and there may be more of them. It is impossible to get at the figures accurately. Taft is out on a tour of the state this week trying to break up the drift to Bryan, but it is probable that he will only make a bad matter worse. The state has twenty-three electoral votes and they will help out Bryan in nice shape. It is not alone in Ohio that the labor vote is tending Bryanward, but all over the country. The republicans are counting on gains among the farmers, but there are changes there also. The farmers are not to be fooled this year. They are getting a lesson just now in the price of wool, sheep, hogs, hay and clover seed. They know the republican party has not been making good in the last year. The panic and the subsequent hard times in the cities are bound to reduce the prices of farm products, and the farmers know this, and they know that the republican party was in power and could not prevent such a condition from coming upon the country.

Hear Congressman Adair at the court room tonight. It is the only opportunity the voters and others of this city will have to hear a candidate for congress speak. "Uncle Nate" is making his campaign by experts. He will not face a public audience with his character blackening system of soliciting the suffrage of the eighth district voters. Congressman Adair will tell you of his accomplishments as a congressman. He will reason with you and be honest, open and above board. It is not hard to conclude which of the two should be trusted.

MOVING PICTURES

How They Are Made and the Expense of Securing Them

A FEW SECRETS

Telling How the Men Get Their Legs Cut Off by Automobiles, Etc.

Moving pictures, which are shown in the local theaters and which are so entertaining to the thousands of people here are causing much speculation as to how the records are made. Many guesses are made by those in the audience each time a show is given. The matter of making the original film is expensive and elaborate, even for the simplest scenes. At present the most acceptable of the films are the comic and the most common of these are what are called "chasers." This is a scene in which a runaway horse or thief is pursued by a crowd. The street is selected and a trained man goes around the neighborhood to hire a crowd to engage in the chase. Pathe of Paris, keeps his own company for the purpose, but most American manufacturers find it too expensive. The instructions of the agent to the crowd are very simple.

"Just keep your eye on me and try to catch me. That's all."

In the crowd are generally several women, fat, tall and short and some cripples, if possible. Thus always half a dozen fall as there is not one woman in ten who can run a block in a crowd of this sort without going under.

"But we never tell them that we want them to fall," explained the agent. "If we do we get a stagey fall and that spoils the effect."

The man who has his legs cut off by an automobile is standing in two holes in the ground with two dummy legs in front of him.

The great train robbery film cost $19,000 to produce, but it netted in rent of duplicates more than any legitimate play has ever made in this country. The site selection was a lonely spot in Colorado. The picture company chartered a train of thirty coaches and placed 1,000 people aboard. The company was paid also to stop traffic on the track while the play was being enacted. An engine on the parallel track carried the moving picture machine which photographed the two robbers who climbed over the coal truck and held up the engineer and fireman. The fireman was shot down and thrown out of the cab. Of course as the fireman dropped at the spot a dummy was submitted to be thrown out. After the stopping of the train came the flight through the woods and across the open country, a camera being stationed ahead of the robber band and the chase starting by a gunshot signal.

Typewriting neatly and promptly executed. See Will Hammell at Schurger & Smith's law office.
