ADAIR

FOR CONGRESS

Every man, woman and child who heard the speech of the Hon. John A. M. Adair at the court room last evening was impressed by his sincerity, honesty, capability and capacity for representing the eighth district in congress. They were convinced also that a man who makes a clean campaign such as he is, a man whose private and public records have withstood the searchlight of foes who stoop to anything, and who still remains unscathed will be re-elected to his high office by a majority even larger than that of two years ago. The crowd was composed of men of all parties, yet there was not in all that audience a single person who could take exceptions to a solitary word uttered by the eloquent and earnest congressman. His speech was an appeal for votes on the record of promises sacredly kept, on the plain statement of what he hoped to do if returned. Not a word of reproach against his opponent—in strict and apparent contrast to the treatment he has received. The manner in which his speech was received and the remarks heard on every hand afterward are evidence that the great portion of the better class of voters will no longer countenance a man who will stoop to the lowest depths of slimy politics and fight his battles in the arena of mud-slinging. Mr. Adair has lived an upright, honorable and honest life and has already made a career of which any man might well be proud and the man who through hope of office, tries to destroy such a character by telling malicious and false stories will certainly never gain his desired end. Mr. Adair stands upon his record squarely. No one can find a flaw in his remarkable service in congress and no one who tells the truth can say a word against his life, either public or private. He will be re-elected, for the people are usually right in their verdicts, when they carefully consider all the evidence as they are doing in this campaign.

And yet, Mr. Bryan, if the farmer doesn't thank the Republican party for the fertility of the soil, the seasonable rains and the warmth of the sunshine, what the deuce is he to thank it for?—Indianapolis News.

To the plain, wayfaring man, who occasionally finds it necessary to buy a new set of dishes in order to keep the mistress of the household fairly content with her possession, it would seem, if judged only from the price he has to pay, that the tariff of 62 per cent were quite high enough on pottery.

The Chicago Journal, until recently a rampant republican paper, says: The week began with republican campaign managers badly scared. All arrangements have been upset to send Judge Taft into Ohio and New York, and it is announced that $500,000 has been contributed and will be spent in those states and Indiana. The great danger they fear in Ohio is the labor vote, especially the coal miners and railroad employees, who are out for Bryan, and have astonished their employers by refusing to be coerced, even by threats of curtailment of operations and discharge of workmen, in the event of Bryan's election. Labor leaders claim that 100,000 Ohio men who voted for McKinley will vote for Bryan. Republican managers admit a loss of 15,000. The truth is that between the digression of workmen and the Cox and Foraker rows Ohio is lost to the republicans, and Judge Taft is called to close the stable door after the horse has escaped.

In New York there is a united Democracy behind Chanler and Bryan, and Hughes is in a perilous position. The best evidence of that is that President Roosevelt has written a personal letter to every member of the state republican machine, urging solid support of the Standard Oil candidate.

The Indiana situation is complicated by the action of Gov. Hanly, who split the Republican ranks by calling a special session of the legislature and forcing a local option law against the advice of his party leaders assembled in formal conference to discuss the question. Indiana is doubtfully Republican at best, and it is admitted that John Worth Kern will bring to the Democratic ticket many votes which Mr. Bryan alone could not command. The Republican managers are badly frightened, and welcome the added $500,000 as a godsend. Thanks to it and by hard work they are by no means confident, and admit their doubts. It looks like Bryan.

TREND IS TO BRYAN

than it will lose to any other party." A poll of the business men of Columbus, Ohio, shows that they are for Bryan and Harmon, and that many who voted the Republican ticket at the last national and state elections will join the ranks of the Democrats. Sixteen Republicans will vote for Bryan and only three Democrats for Taft. Both the day and night forces at the Richardson Paper company's plant in Lockland, Ohio, were polled, with the following result: Two Democrats will vote for Taft and eleven Republicans for Bryan. At Lattimore & Williams' foundry, in Columbus, Ohio, no Democrats will change their votes this year, but Bryan will get four Republican votes.

is the "Bachelor's Honeymoon" to Be

MONDAY EVENING

If You Haven't Bought a Ticket Don't Let Another Pass Without Doing It

If you suffer from indigestion or too much mother-in-law, have acquired nervous prostration trying to figure out the dope in the pennant races, have the blues or are afflicted with any of the ills that the flesh is heir to, the best antidote is a ticket to "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," the Pythian Sisters benefit show at the opera house Monday, October 9. This great comedy bill is the funniest ever written. Fun, fun by the bushel, fun by the load, oceans and oceans of fun, hilarious, hearty, spontaneous fun and then some more fun all during the three acts with music and girls galore. The admission is twenty-five cents to any part of the house. The board will open Monday at the Holt-house drug store and to accommodate their patrons the ladies have changed the time of opening to 7:30 a. m. instead of eight as announced some days ago. The proceeds of "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" are for the benefit of the Pythian Sisters and you will get value received for your quarter as such a mirthful musical entertainment has been seldom seen in our opera house. Remember the date, October 19th, for if you miss it you will nurse a grouch the longest day you live.

MRS. RICE SHOULD GET BUSY
And Notify George DeWald About Automobile.

It develops that in the DeWald reward case, which was offered for the return of the automobile stolen and found near Decatur, the reward rightfully belongs to a woman who is unknown. She was on the wire when Sheriff Grice telephoned to Decatur, and she then notified him of the car near her home.—Fort Wayne News. The information was sent in by Mrs. D. M. Rice of near Monmouth and she is entitled to the $100 reward and should notify Mr. DeWald.
