HAUBOLD--THOMAS

A Pretty Home Wedding Was Celebrated Last Evening

GUESTS WERE MANY

Mr. Haubold of Chicago Leads Charming Young Lady to the Altar

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Philip B. Thomas, 228 south Third street, was the scene of a picturesque and beautiful wedding last evening at eight o'clock. The bride was their daughter, Miss Carrie Thomas, and the groom, Mr. Otto Henry Haubold, of Chicago. The spacious rooms of the Thomas home were filled with nearly two hundred friends, gathered to witness the ceremony. At the appointed hour a musical program was rendered. Mr. Jesse Ernsberger, of Celina, Ohio, sang, "If I were a Rose," followed by a duet, "Calm is the Night, Calm is the Sea," by Mr. and Mrs. William Knapp. Mr. Knapp then sang "O Promise Me," the accompaniment leading into the Lohengrin wedding march to which the bridal party entered the living room, in the south bay window of which the wedding altar had been arranged. There an archway of ferns and chrysanthemums had been prepared, with a background of ferns and flowers, and candle pedestals on either side, with satin pillows in front. As the music was wafted through the house the brides party entered through the front parlor while the groom and his best man came from the west room. Preceding them came Miss Midge Smith and Mrs. Jesse Dalley and Miss Martha Kruger, of Chicago, and Mrs. Fred D. Bell, ribbon bearers who formed the aisle for the party. Then came the ring bearers, Master Brice Thomas, little brother of the bride and Margie Haubold, little sister of the groom. They entered on either side carrying a pretty rose in each of which was hidden a plain gold band ring. Miss Marie Allison led the bride's party, followed by the bride who was accompanied by her father. The best man, Mr. Arthur Haubold, preceded the groom, both in full evening dress. The minister, Rev. J. A. Jenkinson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Fair Haven, Ohio, and an uncle of the bride, had previously taken his place at the altar, where the party met and where the pretty service, the Episcopal, was performed. It was a most beautiful ceremony, with the double ring service, and the sacredness and solemnity were apparent to every one present.

The bride wore a white princess lace robe over white chiffon, over white silk, with a veil on which the orange blossoms were those worn by her mother at her wedding. The only ornament worn by the bride was a handsome diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns. Miss Allison wore a white princess lace robe over accordeon plaited pink satin, with slippers and gloves to match and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Little Margie Haubold, ring bearer, was dressed in white lace over accordeon plaited pink satin, and Master Brice Thomas was dressed in white. The ceremony concluded with the Lord's prayer, in union by the guests, and as the minister introduced Mr. and Mrs. Haubold, a trio, Mr. Ernsberger and Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, rendered a most beautiful and appropriate response. Then followed an informal reception, during which the happy couple received congratulations, and hearty ones, too, from the many friends. Afterward a two-course luncheon was served in the dining room, about twenty-five being served at each time, and the first table, including the bridal party and the immediate relatives of the bride couple.

The color scheme was pink and white, and the favors carnations, the latter distributed by six girls, the Misses Hazel France, Marcella Kuebler, Pearl Baumgartner, Dorothy Dugan, Bernice DeWitt and Naomi Dugan. The decorations in the various rooms were very appropriate and clever, roses, carnations, chrysanthemums and ferns predominating, and the chandeliers, mantels and windows were festooned with smilax, while the stairway was draped with garlands of the same foliage. In the dining room the Misses Marie Patterson and Fanny Hite, Mrs. Fred Bell and Mrs. L. A. Holthouse, Misses Irene Schirmeyer and Bessie Baumgartner took their turn in serving. The guests were received by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas, and they were assisted in entertaining during the evening by Mesdames R. K. Allison, W. A. Lower and John H. Heller.

It was a delightfully happy event. Mr. Knapp, who assisted in the musical program, is professor of voice culture in the Northwestern university, where Miss Thomas graduated several years ago and where she met Mr. Haubold. Mr. and Mrs. Haubold left at an early hour this morning for Evanston, Ill., where a furnished cottage awaits them and where they will reside. Later after the holidays, they will enjoy a trip to southern California.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haubold, parents of the groom, Misses Clara and Margie Haubold, sisters, Mr. Arthur Haubold, brother, and Miss Martha Kruger, all of Chicago; Mrs. Caroline Thomas, the bride's grandmother and Mr. Edward R. Thomas, of Glencairn, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Jenkins, Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. William Knapp, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ernsberger, of Celina, Ohio; Mr. Walter Fuhrman, Detroit; Mr. Chauncey Fuhrman, Chicago, and the Messrs. J. Lewis Draper, Frank S. Whitman, Fred A. Berry, Paul E. Faust and Harry Clark of the same company with which Mr. Haubold is connected.

The bride at this wedding is known to nearly every one in this locality as one of the fairest and most accomplished young women of the city. She is a graduate of the Decatur schools and of Northwestern university, a musician of rare talent and a very clever young lady. Mr. Haubold is general manager of the western division of the Phelps Publishing company, advertising department, where he is held in high esteem. Though a young man he has climbed high on the ladder of success and has a brilliant future. The telegrams received were from various parts of the country and were sincere in the good wishes offered. The presents were elaborate and costly, including beautiful cut glass pieces, silverware, a Persian rug, a check from one of the members of the firm for whom Mr. Haubold works for $100, besides a cash present from the company of about $1,500.

THEY WANT TO VOTE

Ladies of Jay County Will Petition Next National Congress for Privilege

3,005 TAX PAYERS

Among Jay County Women—Think They Should Have Something to Say

That a movement is on foot by a number of the feminine sex of Jay county to petition the next national congress to enact a law giving women the right to express their opinions on matters pertaining to the government of the state and nation by the aid of their ballot has come to light here. A few days ago three Redkey ladies—Mrs. Leavell, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Williams—called at the county auditor's office to learn the number of lady tax-payers in the county and finding that the work of going over the tax duplicates and copying the large list of names would require more time than they had anticipated, they secured the service of Miss Hattie Smith to peruse the duplicates for that purpose. The duplicates show a total of 3,005 lady tax-payers in the county and their names have been forwarded to the Redkey ladies representing the cause and it is said that in turn they will be sent to the house of representatives at Washington, D. C., accompanying the petition asking congress to enact the law permitting women the privilege of voting.—Portland Sun.

Chris Meyer, the merchant tailor, made a business trip to Geneva this afternoon. He will go from there in the morning to Newcastle, Ind., and bring his son Richard, who is in the epileptic institution back home for a several days' visit with his parents. The boy has improved greatly since his admission into that institution.

UNTIMELY DEMISE

Mrs. Harvey Daniels of St. Marys Township Responds to Call of Death Angel

DIED LAST EVENING

Tuberculosis the Cause—Funeral Services to Be Held Friday

Knowing full well that death was inevitable, Mrs. Harvey Daniels, late of St. Marys township has for more than one year endured the ravages of tuberculosis, bravely and without a murmur, surrendering her life to Almighty last evening as a cessation of the intense pain characteristic to the awful disease. Born in Ohio January 19, 1885, she was twenty-three years, nine months and nine days of age at the time of her demise. Prior to the inception of the excruciating ailment she knew aught but happiness. Having enjoyed the splendor of her girlhood days, two years ago, she entered upon a matrimonial career, becoming the wife of Harvey M. Daniels of St. Marys township. Matrimonial bliss, while yet in its prime, was sadly interrupted by the development of tuberculosis, which rarely can be checked, and with but few exceptions casts a deathly gloom about the household, which never can be forgotten. In an effort to restore health to the afflicted woman, she, accompanied by her husband, went to New Mexico several months ago, and while improvement was at first noted she soon relapsed into a retrogression, which seemed to signal the early coming of the death angel. Apprised of the seriousness of her condition she requested that she be brought back to Adams county that she may spend the closing chapter of her short life at home. This was done and weaker and weaker she has grown, passing away as above stated. A husband, father, of Rockford, Ohio, sister, Mrs. Wilbur Woods, of Union township, four step sons and two stepdaughters, beside many admiring friends, survive to mourn the departure of the estimable woman. The funeral services will be held from the Calvary Evangelical church Friday (tomorrow) afternoon at one o'clock standard time, Rev. D. O. Wise, of Decatur, to officiate. Interment will be made at Salem cemetery.

HOG HAS BECOME WILD.

Escapes from Pen and Thwarts All Attempts to Capture It.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 28.—A "wild hog" is running at large in the Hawcreek bottoms near this city. Although John Dahn, owner of the hog, has offered a reward of $5 for its return, dead or alive, it continues to elude the posse which has been after it two days. The hog at one time was as tame as any hog, but one day it got away and went to a neighbor's cornfield, and complained that the porker was destroying her corn. Unsuccessful efforts were made to capture the hog and return it to its pen. The longer the hog remained at large the wilder it grew. A gang of men and boys found it in a cornfield yesterday and tried to drive it home. The hog scampered away as fast as a dog could run, and being chased to White river, it jumped into the stream and swam across. Later the gang went back, armed with rifled and shotguns, but they were unable to find it.

THE STUDABAKER HOG SALE.

Big Crowd in Attendance this Afternoon.

The D. E. Studabaker sale of Duroc Jersey hogs is on this afternoon and from appearances will be a most successful event. Buyers are here from many states, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Indiana and the bidding is brisk. The first ten hogs offered, brought an average of over seven dollars, and the outlook is that the sale will be a record breaker for the first one. Mr. Studabaker is a hustler, and deserves to win in his business and with a continuation of his present push and nerve will do so. Quite a number from this city and county attended the sale and a number of farmers from this locality took advantage of the opportunity to purchase full blood stock.

W. C. T. U. SHOWS GAINS.

General Jubilee Ends the Meeting at Denver, Col.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 28.—The thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union came to an end tonight with a general jubilee, in which all the states represented took the part by reporting the great gains in membership made during the year. It was announced that a gain of 20,000 in membership had been made. Several resolutions were adopted during the sessions today, the most important one expressing opposition to the re-election of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon to the national house of representatives. Another resolution adopted favored education of the people in regard to "the dangers of fermented wines." This was introduced by Mrs. Dora J. Spencer, of California. Another resolution adopted pledges the W. C. T. U. "to co-operate more actively with educators in the introduction of the schools savings bank system." This being the last day of the convention, the program was adhered to very closely and most of the day was spent in receiving reports.

ATTEND MEETING

Mrs. John Niblick and Miss Studabaker Are at Indianapolis

CLUB WOMEN THERE

Mrs. Niblick to Read Report from National Meeting—Great Time

Mrs. John Niblick of this city, accompanied by Miss Hattie Studabaker are at Indianapolis attending the meeting of the state federation of women's clubs, where the former is scheduled to read a report from the national convention held some months ago. They will remain for all the sessions, returning Friday. Following is the report of the business of yesterday:

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—At today's session of the Indiana State Federation of clubs, the most exciting business before the convention was the naming of the candidates who will be voted upon tomorrow. There were only two candidates for president, and the name of one of these, Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, was put on the ticket over her protest, voiced some weeks ago, and again just before the opening of the session. However, four delegations represented to Mrs. Clarke that they had come instructed for her, and that as they had no instructions to vote for any one else, they begged her to allow her name to go before the convention and she at last consented.

The feeling was strong that the office would fall to Mrs. W. J. Major, of Shelbyville, whose name was proposed by Mrs. Virginia Meredith, of Cambridge City, and seconded by a dozen delegations and individuals.

The thirteen districts into which the state is divided, corresponding to the congressional districts, met to elect their own district chairmen, the result being: First district, Mrs. Anna Lemcke, Evansville; second, Mrs. T. B. Shaffer, Sullivan; fourth, Mrs. Rose M. Crater, Seymour; fifth, Mrs. Dryer, Terre Haute; sixth, Mrs. E. K. Montgomery, Shelbyville; seventh, Mrs. Virgil H. Lockwood, this city; eighth, Mrs. H. C. Durbin; ninth, Mrs. Julia S. Conklin, Westfield; tenth, Mrs. Edith Griffin, Hammond; eleventh, Miss Alice Dunlap, Peru; thirteenth, Mrs. A. C. Willy, Plymouth.

The third and twelfth districts did not report. South Bend was chosen as the next meeting place and it was decided to hold the convention the last week in October. No other cities were proposed.

"LIEUTENANT" SUES HEARST.

Is the Independence Boss Paying His Employees?

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—Henry W. Bullock who asserts that he circulated petitions for names in Vigo and several other counties for the Independence party, today filed suit for $700 for such services. William R. Hearst, and five of his Indiana lieutenants are made defendants.

IT WAS NOT STOLEN

Strange Disappearance of Horse and Vehicle Caused Excitement Last Night

WAS AT A STABLE

And Was Gone When Owner Called—Suspicious Character at Monroe

Considerable excitement was caused last night at eleven o'clock when a horse and buggy belonging to H. R. Buckmaster, which had been quartered at the Holthouse Fashion stables, was found to be missing when he called for it. It was at once suspected that the outfit had been stolen and subsequently Sheriff Eli Meyer was notified. He called officers at various surrounding towns notifying them of the alleged steal, but in the meantime Deputy Sheriff Edward Green, when returning from Monroe, to the jail saw the horse on Market street and took it into captivity. The outfit was returned to the stables and Buckmaster was indeed grateful that it had not been in the hands of robbers.

A suspicious looking character, refusing to divulge his name, wandered to Monroe yesterday afternoon and his actions suggested that he was in a drunken condition. However, several Monroe citizens were of the opinion that he was shamming and that he was probably a crook. A telephone message to Decatur brought Deputy Sheriff Green to Monroe and the man was placed under arrest and lodged in jail. He was given a hearing before Squire Stone this morning and upon promise to propel his anatomy from town, he was released.

GENEVA PEOPLE OFF FOR WEST

Some Are Moving—Others to Spend the Winter.

A party of Geneva people passed through Portland on the 8:16 train Wednesday morning enroute to the western states where some of them are moving while others go to spend the winter. Those in the party were Mrs. Robert Brown and three children, who will spend the winter with relatives at Long Beach, California; Mrs. Sarah Burd and son, Alonzo, went to Mesa, Arizona, for an extended stay with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel O'Connor. Mrs. F. M. Lee, son and daughter, Merle and Imo, and Mrs. Fred Vance and two sons, Merl and Harold also left for Mesa, Arizona, where they expect to make their future home. Messrs. Lee and Vance have been located in Mesa during the past ten weeks. Mrs. Lee is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Hutson, west Water street, this city, and Mrs. Vance is a niece of Mrs. Alex-Rayn of west Race street.—Portland Sun.

FUGITIVE CONVICT IS DEAD.

Negro's Death Recalls Sensational Escape from Reformatory.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 28.—M. M. Barnard, assistant superintendent of the Indiana reformatory, has received word from the Michigan state prison at Marquette, that Edward Parker, one of two negroes who escaped from the Indiana reformatory on August 4, 1904, is dead at the Michigan institution, where he was sent several months ago on another charge, his identity being later disclosed. The escape was one of the most sensational ever carried out here, and was through a sewer which is a mile long and empties into the river. The two convicts dug out fifteen feet into a railway embankment, a hundred yards from the institution, and were not recaptured.

BUY CAR LOAD OF HORSES.

Elmer Johnson Returns from Pittsburg.

Elmer Johnson has returned from Pittsburg, where he disposed of a car load of horses purchased in Michigan. He will remain here until Saturday and in the meantime buy a car load of horses to be sold in the eastern market. He pays the top notch price for horses and wants them to weigh from 1,400 to 1,600 pounds. Mr. Johnson is gaining fame as a shipper. He buys the best and pays the price for them and sells them accordingly.

REVIVAL NEARLY CLOSE.

This Evening's Meeting the Last—Lecture Tomorrow Night.

Another large crowd attended the revival service at the Church of Christ last evening. Rev. Cooper read the 20th chapter of Matthew for scripture lesson. Beautiful songs were sung and a social session of prayer and scripture quotations from the membership followed the singing. Mrs. Crabb then sang as a solo the pathetic song entitled "Death is Only a Dream," and this was one of her very best efforts. Evangelist Crabb read for his text Mark 6:3. This furnished the foundation of his subject "The Carpenter of Nazareth." Rev. Crabb very plainly proved that the Savior of men had labored among men, not only as a carpenter, but later as a teacher, and as the "Great Physician" for the uplifting of man. The life of the Nazarene furnishes the greatest example to men for He worked with brain and hand, and went about doing good at all times. "Just as I Am" was sung on invitation and one more accession was added, which makes sixteen since the revival began. Subject for Thursday night: "Shall We Know Each Other in Heaven." This will be the last night of the meeting, but Evangelist Crabb will deliver his popular lecture "Life's Looking Glass" on Friday night. He will be assisted by Mrs. Crabb in several readings and songs. This promises to be a rare treat, and every one should take advantage of the opportunity to hear this lecture. Admission 10 and 15 cents. Every one is urged to attend the meeting tonight. After he regular service the solemn ordinance of baptism will be observed. Service at 7:15.

BEHEADED BY HOT WIRE.

Fate of a Drawer in Steel Mills at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Erick Els was decapitated today at the American Steel and Wire company mills. Els was a wire drawer. While drawing the red hot wire it broke. The end struck him about the neck and the wire, released from tension, suddenly coiled about his neck. His neck was burned through in a few seconds by the hot wire, completely severing his head from his body.

HE WILL NOT SERVE

Judge Erwin Has Written Judge Sturgis That He Will Not Be Special Judge

IN TERRELL CASE

Sturgis Will Have to Appoint Another—Case Will Be Interesting

A new special judge will have to be appointed in the Terrell case when it comes to trial. Judge R. K. Erwin, Decatur, formerly judge of the Adams circuit court and special judge at that time in the Terrell case, has written Judge Sturgis a letter and refused to longer act as special judge in the Terrell matter. This will mean that Judge Sturgis will have to appoint a new special judge in the case, as he was one of the attorneys at the last trial and would hardly be qualified to sit on the bench himself. Terrell has failed to improve any since he has been in the jail. He still remains listless and will not speak unless spoken to and then only by "yes" or "no." He spends most of his time tearing up paper and smoking his pipe. He has persistently insisted to the sheriff that all the inmates of the jail are insane from the fact that none of them wear white coats. The attendants at the hospital wear white coats, while the patients do not and he evidently got this impression there. The sheriff is going to provide the inmate who takes care of Terrell with a white coat so that the man will obey him.—Bluffton Banner.

Geo. J. Cooper, of Fort Wayne, wishes the people of Decatur to meet him at the Decatur City Mission at 7:15 this evening. He will have a number of his workers with him. You will be made welcome at all our meetings. Chancey S. Stetson, Supt.

THE KERN MEETING

Blodgett of the Indianapolis News Writes About It

IT WAS GREAT

Kern Said God Bless the Democrats of Adams County

Mr. Kern's meeting at Decatur was large and enthusiastic. From a beautifully decorated stand in the court house square he gazed into the smiling faces of at least 15,000 people, standing close together as if a solid wall of humanity. His ears rung with the plaudits of Democrats who are always Democrats, and he heard words of good cheer and encouragement from throats tuned to sing the praises of Bryan, Kern, Marshall and the whole Democratic ticket. It was a great outpouring of people, all the more remarkable because it was not advertised except through the columns of Lew Ellingham's paper, the Decatur Democrat. Thomas R. Marshall was billed for Decatur today, and the party managers did not wish to lessen interest in one meeting by giving too much advertisement to the other.

"I have spoken to many audiences in this campaign, from Georgia to Maine, from the east to the west and back again," said Mr. Kern, "and nowhere have I met such a good-looking well-dressed, enthusiastic, up-to-date crowd as this, and I can only say to the men and women, the boys and the girls and the little tots whose pretty eyes are watching me, that all of you certainly look good to me." Before Decatur was reached Mr. Kern had a good meeting at Huntington, and when he reached Fort Wayne a handsomely decorated car was standing on the track for him and beside the car was an enthusiastic crowd of Democrats to escort him to Decatur. In the receiving party were Lew Ellingham, district chairman; T. M. Gallogly, county chairman; C. J. Lutz, E. X. Ebinger, C. S. Niblick, J. H. Heller, D. E. Smith, W. H. Fledderjohann, F. M. Schirmeyer, H. B. Heller, L. C. Warling, H. L. Conter, W. A. Kuebler, J. W. Tyndall, Dr. J. W. Vizard, J. P. Haefling, J. F. Lachot, Fred Fruchte, J. C. Moran, D. B. Erwin and several others. Fred France, of Huntington, who used to live in Decatur, went along just to have a good time. The run from Fort Wayne to Decatur, twenty-two miles, was made in less than an hour, the car at times cutting holes in the darkness at a speed of sixty miles an hour. As the Kern special dashed into the city, a parade more than a mile long reached the court house square. The air was split with the snapping of firecrackers, the rattle of torpedoes and the blowing of horns, while off to one side was a band vigorously playing "There Will Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

The sidewalks were lined with people and every window along the tracks had something in it. And it just seemed as if Decatur was having a beauty show, for never were so many pretty, handsomely dressed women seen at a political meeting in a city of Decatur's size. As Mr. Kern stepped from his car the whole city was lighted up with red fire, and cheer after cheer rang out as he made his way to the stand. "It's magnificent," exclaimed Mr. Kern, as he gazed far across the sea of human beings. "It is one of the grandest sights I ever witnessed. God bless the Democrats of old Adams county."

Constant speaking for the most part in the open air, had made Mr. Kern's throat sore, and the strain put on him, by constant traveling, had made him weary, but the sight of that crowd drove away fatigue and he made a good speech.

Mr. Kern devoted all of his time at Decatur to a eulogy of William Jennings Bryan and told, in well-coined phrases, why the Nebraskans should be elected president, and he disputed some of the accusations made against the Democratic candidate by the Republicans.

Mr. Kern compared Taft and Bryan and closed his parallel with the words "Taft has never been before the people. He has never been in a position where he could find out what the people think of him. A governor appointed him a superior judge, a president
