After forty-one hours of effort a Bluffton jury in the case of Joseph Whaley vs. Ida Whaley, to quiet title to land, reported that it was unable to agree on a verdict. It was the third trial of the case.

Mrs. Nancy Farr alleges as one of the reasons she should be given a divorce from James W. Farr by the circuit court at Bluffton, that she was compelled to work on the farm, including plowing, cutting and gathering corn.

Work has begun in the effort to secure signatures to a petition calling for a special option election in Whitley county. Twelve petitions are in circulation in Cleveland township, and other townships will also fall in line with petitions.

Relatives of Cornelius Taylor, the Ossian man who disappeared a year ago in August, have received further word from him, definitely locating him in Ohio. He is working on a farm there and indicates a willingness to return home if one of his daughters can arrange to keep house for him. One of them is married and the other is preparing to enter the Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne to become a trained nurse.
