IS NO REDEMPTION

OF PARTY PLATFORM PLEDGE

With the adoption of the conference report Thursday by the senate, by a vote of 47 to 31, and its signature by the president, the tariff bill that has been in process of construction for a year has become a law. The country owes a debt of gratitude to Senators Beveridge, Bristow, Clapp, Cummins, Dolliver, La Follette and Nelson for their votes against the bill. These men have, throughout the whole controversy, been true to their convictions, convictions which are, we believe, shared by the Republicans of the west. As we have shown, the bill is not a redemption of the pledge of the party, and cannot be made to appear so. It is about as has been foreshadowed in recent proceedings. On the most important articles of general consumption—especially those used by the poorer people—duties are heavily increased. Even when this is not so, that is, in those cases where the rates have not been changed, the amount of the tax to be collected from the people will be greatly increased. In the first place the system of valuation of imports was changed in such a way as to make certain the placing of higher values on imported commodities. In the second place, it is believed that the influence of the new customs court will operate in the same direction. And, in the third place, the maximum and minimum scheme will have the effect of adding 25 per cent to all the duties established by the bill.

Though the free list has been slightly enlarged and though some duties have been lowered, we believe that this bill will, at last as far as it bears on articles of general consumption, be more highly protective than the law which it will displace. Cotton duties have, as Senator Dolliver showed Thursday, been advanced 25 per cent along the line, in some cases as much as 100 per cent. "And yet," said the Iowa senator, "the statement has been made here that only minor and insignificant changes had been made in that schedule. The American people," he added, "are being duped with that kind of humbug and misrepresentation. Majorities," he declared, "are obtained by a system of reciprocity arranged in the citadel of protection." Such words as these, coming from a stanch and loyal Republican, representing one of the greatest and most intelligent of the Republican states, will have much weight with the people. Compared with them the "assurances" of Aldrich will count for exactly nothing.

The idea that this bill is in any way a redemption of the platform pledge of the Republican party is utterly preposterous. Even the free raw material provisions will, as a rule, operate only to give added protection to the manufacturer. There is no pretense that the Republican doctrine, on which Mr. Taft dwelt so impressively a year ago, that protection should equalize the cost of production here with that abroad, has been observed—it has been contemptuously flouted. There is probably not one duty in the bill that is not in excess of what is needed to cover the difference between the two costs of production, and thus we have in every case an excess which, as Mr. Taft said, serves no useful purpose, but tempts to monopoly and extortion. —Indianapolis News.

The national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, now in session at Chicago, furnishes a most significant demonstration of the growth of Christian temperance sentiment and practice. The large attendance from all parts of the country, the magnificent parade, and the enthusiastic crowds witnessing it, bear convincing testimony to the earnest widespread interest in total abstinence, while the stirring words of the speakers recall the apostolic exhortations on "righteousness, soberness and judgment to come," which made the old Roman governor tremble. Indeed, as was said forth, Americans have reason to tremble in contemplation of the evils this society is combating.—South Bend Times.

TRYING TO LOCATE A FACTORY

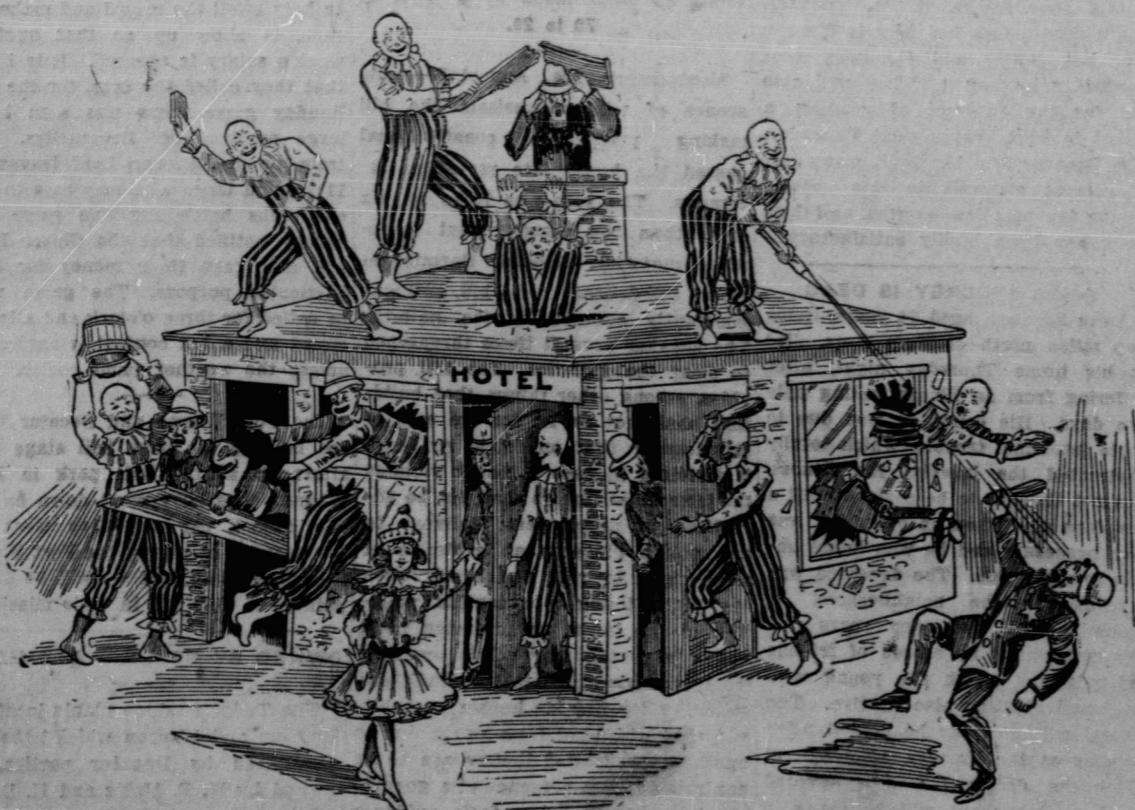

Portland Business Men Are Trying to Put Life in the Old Town.

Portland is boasting for stock and bonus in a bottling factory, which they hope to locate, and which they claim will furnish labor to a great number of employees. The wage scale in such an institution is the best wages paid in any sort of an industry, and this fact is helping the boosters in shaking up the loose change that is lying around loose. They have subscribed for over thirty thousand dollars of the capital of the institution, and then they have to give ten thousand dollars more for the site and buildings. The committee in charge are succeeding, and they hope to land the enterprise.

CURED HAY FEVER AND SUMMER COLD

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." —THE HOLTHOUSE DRUG CO.

THE LADIES' AID

Of Monroe to Give Social Other Social Happenings

"I want to be an angel!"
Such was the maiden's song;
Now on a golden, heavenly harp
She twangeth all day long.

How came she to secure the job
Of which she chose to sing?
She merely laid her flannels by,
Believing it was spring.

PLAY ACROSS RIVER

Marshal Butler Filed Affidavits Against Five of Them

Marshal Butler this morning filed affidavits against five young men in which is charged that they are guilty of gambling. They have been playing poker on the banks of St. Marys for several weeks. They go to the river in the morning to have a session and immediately after dinner reconvene the game. They have also been playing in several rooms in the city and the officers expect to put a stop to the practice. Sufficient warning has been given all of the boys, but they have not heeded it and consequently they have gotten themselves into trouble. A game was started this morning and the officers heard of the affair hence the affidavits. Some of the boys who have been playing are scarcely eighteen years old.

(Continued from page 1) ing to men connected with financial institutions not to act as Nicoll had done, but to resist temptation. He said his life had been a hell for three years. The notes were immediately taken in charge by the bank officials who refused to give them out, and consequently the exact text could not be secured. Sheriff Thomas was aghast at the contents of the letters and at once organized a posse of 150 men to search the woods. It was dark and lanterns were used, but a thorough search failed to disclose the body. The quest will be resumed today. Friends of the missing man have no doubt that he carried out his suicidal intention.

GET VOTING MACHINE FEVER

Wells County Officials Talking of Making Such Purchase.

Senator J. W. Rinear, of Liberty Center, was a business visitor in the city today and while here, expressed himself forcibly upon the proposed request of the county commissioners for an appropriation of $13,000 for the purchase of voting machines. Mr. Rinear is one of the members of the county council and at first declared that he was unalterably against the proposed expenditure at this time. When the proposition of the salesmen, who agreed to allow the machines to be paid for from the amount saved at each election by their use was explained to him, he declared that such a proposition might put a different phase on the case but when he considered that it would greatly reduce the number of voting places and concentrate a large number of voters at each precinct, he declared himself against that feature.—Bluffton News.
