It is supposed that the secret service man who has been sent out over the Taft route to make the way safe will indicate every place where the factory hands are idle, so that the president will not have to commit the mistake he made down in Ohio during the campaign, when he told 5,000 unemployed men how prosperous they were. One of his tasks in the middle west will be to tell the people that Beveridge was wrong in opposing the tariff bill, but he has arranged not to speak in this state.—Columbia City Post.

Municipal government in Canada, has usually been accounted free from the corruption so rife in the United States. The simpler life of the people, and the greater respect for law, there manifested have produced cleaner administrations and given occasion for fewer scandals. Recent disclosures, however, indicate that human nature is substantially the same on both sides of the St. Lawrence, and that public officials need watching even in Canada. Suspicion having been aroused, the provincial government started an investigation in Montreal a few weeks ago and the results show that that city can class with New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and San Francisco, in the corrupt methods of its municipal officials.—South Bend Times.

The National Monthly, published by Norman E. Mack, at Buffalo, in speaking of the results of the tariff in eastern cities says: "Suits of clothes heretofore sold at $10. Now $12.50. Calves' liver, a few years ago free, now 14 cents a pound. Lard formerly 9 cents, now 15 cents. Pork nearly 100 per cent. increase. Granulated sugar, formerly 4½ and 5 cents a pound, now 5½ and 6 cents. Increase in the cost of stockings, cotton, woolens. In fact, there has been an increase in practically everything entering into the daily life of the average working man in the city with the exception of newspapers, magazines and street car transportation. The tariff bill just passed by congress insures an increase in the cost of many of the necessities of life and a decrease in none."

To many the story of the suicide of the Frankfort superintendent of schools through lack of confidence in himself may seem strange, but many others will understand his probable state of mind. Perhaps most suicides are due, at bottom, to this same lack of self-confidence. Many persons of ability and thoughtfulness are often surprised at the success of others, whom they feel to be far less thoroughly equipped than themselves for their tasks. They find as years go by that mere blundering assertiveness often succeeds where modesty and overdeliberation fail. Extreme dread of error and worry over failure may wreck the best talents. A large element in executive ability is the willingness to take risks and the toughness of fiber to stand knocks, both in the metaphorical and the slang senses

SAY HE HAS A BEE

Ex-Governor Durbin Will Be After Something Political

DON'T KNOW WHAT

His Friends Figure That He Will Be an Important Factor

Indianapolis, Sept. 4.—Politicians believe that Winfield T. Durbin, former governor, will be in the field when the time for the campaign rolls around. They do not profess to know just what sort of honors the former governor will seek but they believe just the same that he will be after something in spite of the fact that he gave out an interview in which he said that he merely wanted to be a good citizen. Col. Durbin was interviewed at length and predicted a Republican victory. But when the question of his political aspirations was approached he always side stepped. He would not say that he would not be a candidate for any of the offices mentioned and these include governor, United States senator, congressman from eighth district and Republican state chairman. It is believed though that the position of state chairman may be eliminated. It is the general understanding among the Republican politicians that Harry S. New will get this job if he will accept it. "When you see a fellow refuse to commit himself on the question of seeking an office you may conclude that he has the bee in his bonnet and I dare say that Col. Durbin will be in it when the time comes. Sometimes a man denies that he will be a candidate yet gets into the race, but when a man refuses to commit himself at least this long before the fight I shall predict that he will be in the contest," says a critical observer. Col. Durbin's entry into the race either for governor or United States senator would complicate the Republican situation considerably.

A HOT WATER BATH

A Serious Accident to Paul Ireland, of Geneva

SCHOOLS TO OPEN

A Sunday School Picnic—We Believe in Roosevelt

Geneva, Indiana, Sept. 4.—(Special to the Daily Democrat)—Paul Ireland, the eighteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ireland, fell into a boiler of hot water and sustained serious injuries. The accident occurred at five o'clock last evening. Dr. Graham being hastily called and administered relief before the burns had reached any depth. He was badly burned about the head, face, shoulders, hands and arms, but with it all he is showing his nerve and getting better. In a few days it is thought he will be relieved from pain, and that recovery will then be rapid.

Twenty teams are now working on the east end of the interurban line and the work is being pushed to the limit. The laying of steel will be the next thing on deck, and it will not be a great while before Geneva will sport a real interurban, with the cars running. Every citizen here is anxious for the whistle to blow and the bell to ring.

The Geneva public schools will open for the fall term on Monday morning and just now every kid—big and little—is getting ready for the opening.

Our schools are among the best in the universe and this year promises even better things.
