PROTECTED THE

ZINC MINE OWNERS

It has long been known that the zinc mine owners of this country do not need any protection. No zinc ore is imported except to supply a demand in excess of what is produced in this country. But the last congress gave the zinc mine owners a "protection" duty of $12 a ton. This the New York Post (Rep.) declares "is synonymous with theft and corruption." Commenting on the Post article the Indianapolis News says:

The Post was in the beginning rather disposed to command the bill as framed by the house, command it, that is, as perhaps the best that could reasonably be expected from a Republican congress. It has, too, been rather more than just—as we think—in its comments on the bill as finally passed. But it cannot "stand for" the outrageous zinc duties. It quotes the Mining and Engineering Journal as authority for the statement that the price of sulphide zinc ore last March was $40 a ton; now that price is $52.50 a ton. The increase is wholly the result of the new duty of $12 a ton, the ore previously having been on the free list. The duty is 1 cent a pound on zinc contents in zinc ore, and the quotations given by the Mining and Engineering Journal are on 60 per cent. ore. As a result, ore which five months ago was selling for $40 a ton is now selling for $52.50 a ton—that is, the whole of the new duty and 50 cents more, is absorbed.

"Thus," says the Post, "the government has as plainly put $12.50 into the pockets of every zinc mine owner who produces a ton of ore as if congress had ordered it paid in cash." The Post reminds us that zinc mining is not manufacturing; that there is here no question of protecting home skill and industry; that the wage difference does not count, because of the accessibility of domestic markets; that zinc mining is not an infant industry, and that prohibition, which is what we now have, "is not protection, even according to the gospel of McKinley." What we have, therefore, is the deliberate creation of a monopoly. It is estimated that this rascally duty will result in taking $2,500,000 a year from the American consumers and turning it directly over to the mine owners.

Neighborhood Picnic Given

Last Evening at the Park

A SLUMBER PARTY

Other Society Items—Party
of Girls Will Go to Monroeville Saturday

A neighborhood picnic of the residents of south Fifth and Jefferson streets was given at the park yesterday, and a jolly evening spent. The families who enjoyed the afternoon were Harvey Harruff and family, T. H. Gallogly and family, Mrs. Wimber and family, George Kinzle and family, Jesse Cole and family, Lee Walters and family, Mrs. Bessie Beard and daughter.

The business meeting of the Y. P. A. of the Evangelical church will be held Tuesday evening at the home of George Cramer, east of the city. The alliance is planning to take a hayrack ride to Mr. Cramer's farm.

Miss Lilah Lachot gave a slumber party last evening, her guests being Misses Althea Spade and Ruby Wyler and Pearl Purdy.

About thirty in all of the neighbors of south Fifth street enjoyed an outing and a picnic supper at Maple Grove yesterday afternoon. The weather man got busy and furnished rain, but a little thing like that could not dampen the fun of the neighbors who went for a time and had it. The women folk and children of the families of George Kinzle, Jesse Cole and C. L. Walters went on the 4 o'clock car followed by the men on the 5:30 car, arriving in time for the supper—a veritable neighborhood feast. Ask Orval Harruff about it. Even married folks can dance on occasions like this. All present had a good time and are willing to try it again.

The trustees of the Decatur schools held a short business session at the rooms of the secretary, F. V. Mills, last evening and some routine affairs were attended to in the way of ordering necessary books.

THE DAYS OF OLD

Are Recalled by Uncle Jerry
Harrison Who is Here*
for a Visit

AFTER HALF CENTURY

Lives at Battle Creek, Mich.
—Was Reared in St.
Marys Township

Uncle Jerry Harrison, of Battle Creek, Michigan, is here for a visit with relatives and will likely remain for some days. Years ago, more than half a century, he lived in this country, being a son of Columbia Harrison who was known as one of the best citizens of the county, living in St. Marys township, east of Decatur. When twenty-one years old Jeremiah left here and went to Michigan, where he engaged in farming. He is now within a few days of being seventy-six years old. During the fifty-five years since he left this country, he has visited here but few times, once a number of years ago, when his mother died and again fourteen years ago when his respected father passed away at the ripe old age of eighty-six past. Both those trips however, were hurried ones, and he had but little time to look over the town. Now he is comparing it with those days of his young manhood and says he can scarcely believe that this is the same place where they used to come to trade. The improvement is marked and wonderful. One of the greatest of all the advancements is in the matter of roads, the old mudholes having given place to macadam that are not excellend anywhere. Uncle Jerry came to Decatur this time to visit his sister, Mrs. Susan Archer, who is in very poor health, and also another sister from the far west whom he had not seen for many years. For the greater part of the time since leaving here, Mr. Harrison has lived on his big and valuable farm located seventeen miles from Battle Creek. About three years ago he was badly injured in a runaway accident, and since has not had the use of his right arm. For a year past he has resided with his children in Battle Creek. He is well and hearty and looks as though his days would be extended to even a greater number than were allotted his father. He is very interesting.

ARE YOU DRAYMAN?

If So, Do You Pay a License?—These Are Interesting Questions

JUST AT THIS TIME

Three Arrests Made this Afternoon—Scrap May Go to Circuit Court

There is a stiff fight on among the draymen of the city, regarding the enforcement of the city ordinance controlling this business and it looks as though the matter would now end in circuit court. An ordinance was adopted by the city several years ago, which made it necessary to take out a license, at a cost of ten dollars, for any one who wanted to engage in this line. It was probably done to protect the men who had several hundreds of dollars invested in a dray line. Now there are a large number of one horse drays, and the question is where does the draying business begin and end and what does the ordinance cover? Drayton Hill was arrested this afternoon for violating the ordinance. Mr. Schultz was pinched a few days ago. The last arrests occurred at two o'clock this afternoon, when John Thomas filed affidavits against Andrew and Charles Baxter. The latter men are not draymen. They engage in the roofing business and own a team. Just at present they have a contract to haul coal for J. D. Hale at thirty cents an hour, and are hauling enough to pay for their winter's coal. It is claimed however, that in doing so they are draymen, and they will be tried before Squire Smith at four o'clock this afternoon. They say they will take the case to circuit court if defeated and will fight it to the end. A delegation of the draymen were before the council Tuesday evening to find out where they were and it

WILL STOP POOL SELLING

The Governor is Looking Into Such Law Violations.

Indianapolis, Sept. 10.—Governor

Marshall will attempt to stop the pool

selling which is said to be going on at Hanover, near Lawrenceburg, in charge of Ed Ballard, formerly of the French Lick Casino. The governor is depending upon Prosecutor J.

H. Russe at Lawrenceburg to act,

but if Russe does not proceed against the place the governor will take up the matter with the circuit judge.

Should he fail to get the court to act

he will send his legal clerk, Bert New,

to Lawrenceburg and place the matter in his hands. The governor said yesterday that he does not know officially that a poolroom is in operation at Hanover, but he is investigating to ascertain the truth of the reports.

The governor will ascertain the name of the telephone or telegraph company furnishing the reports to the poolroom and will give the concern

the choice between stopping the service or suffering the revocation of its charter. The governor has written

Prosecutor Husse to "get busy," and it is said that he talked to the prosecutor in no uncertain terms. Cincinnati sporting men are said to be behind the enterprise.
