THE TIME

TO JUSTIFY THEIR EXISTENCE

In an address on "Democratic Day" at the Texas state fair Governor Harmon of Ohio declared that if there ever was a time for the Democratic party to justify its existence that time is now. Speaking of the Payne-Aldrich-Cannon tariff law he said that for many years the Republican party and through it the national government, have been controlled by interests which thrive by the artful use of the taxing power as a means of private gain. And then he added:

"One thing has been gained and will not be lost. The system of legislation for private instead of for public advantage stands at last stripped naked before the eyes of the people. They can no longer be deceived about its nature, design and operation."

Let us hope that it is true that the people "can no longer be deceived" about the nature of the present and other Republican tariffs. Mr. Taft thinks they can, and he is doing his part by traveling over the country (at public expense) trying to make the people believe that the latest tariff grab is good thing for them. The Democratic party has stood firm from the beginning, as Governor Harmon also said, against granting by law any special favors and advantages whatever. And when the people wake up to that fact the Republican party will go out of business.

The steel trust and the so-called independent steel men have entered into a "gentlemen's agreement" to pick the pockets of the American people. The Aldrich-Cannon-Taft tariff law prevents outside interference and this "gentlemen's agreement" heads off home competition. And the same thing is true in all other lines controlled by the big trusts and big interests. Is it any wonder that the cost of living is mounting higher all the time and that the common people are being reduced to a condition of serfdom?

Decatur Democrats got in a wrang'le among themselves and elected a republican mayor. Those cases generally turn out that neither side of the controversy is satisfied in the end and wish they had pulled together for the election of the ticket. If a Democratic newspaper should slop around, bolting the ticket so promiscuously as some of these alleged party leaders, the editor would be driven out of the county.—Bluffton Banner.

My, what a lot of good city administrations there are going to be in Indiana after the first of January, 1910! Every mayor-elect is promising to give his people an administration the like of which they never experienced. A year later the sound of the chorus of hammers will be heard in many cities.—Columbia City Post.

FOR HE'S A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW
Do you want to laugh, do you want to have a good time, do you want to thoroughly enjoy yourself? If so, you should meet "My boy Jack" for he is a jolly good fellow, he may be in hard luck, but he does not lose his nerve, he may love a girl that doesn't love him, but he is not embittered, his father may disown him, but he is still independent and self-reliant; he helps his chum win the girl that he himself would give his life to own and laughs in his pain, and jokes in his sorrow. You can't help admiring him, and feel better for having met him, the most blase man of the world, whom nothing interests. Who is looking for a new sensation finds it in "My boy Jack." "Jack Paden" is a thoroughbred American. "Johnny on the Spot" and always stands pat. He will be here at the

"The Fiddler and the Girl" appeals to those wanting the better class of plays and who prefer natural and consistent acting to raving, strutting and posing. The story in brief follows: John Heberlein, a good natural German violinist, is given employment on Miss Della Raymond's ranch. When John and Della meet, they discover they are old friends. They are laughing and talking of their childhood days when Warner, who is Della's foreman, sees them and as he is anxious to marry Della to get her property, he becomes very jealous of John. Comedy, pathos and strong dramatic situations follow each other in quick succession, including John's discovery that Warner is a notorious cattle thief, the great card game between Della and Warner for John's life, and the realistic duel between John and Warner and ending with John winning Miss Della and becoming foreman of her ranch. Pleasing specialties are also introduced at Bosse opera house, Thursday, November 11.

Mrs. Richard Spetnagle entertained at a sewing party yesterday afternoon at her home in honor of her sister, Miss Martha Mackleroy, who will be her guest for several weeks. From half past two the hour of the party, during the rest of the afternoon, a pleasant social time was enjoyed by the ladies present. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess and was greatly enjoyed by all. About twenty-five ladies were in the company. Miss Mackleroy, the guest of honor, arrived a few days ago in the city on her visit and has in the meantime become quite well acquainted with the young people of the city.

The tax duplicates for use in 1910 are being rushed along to the completing stages and it is the hope of the auditor's office to have them completed in time to turn them over to the treasurer by the first of the year, at which time taxes may be paid upon them. This is one of the big jobs and requires lots of time to extend all the taxes in each of the townships and corporations.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Through some misunderstanding the H. S. notes were not published last week, but we will try to furnish the public with H. S. news hereafter.

Quite a number of visitors were in attendance this week. Glad to have them. Come again.

Supt. E. E. Rice went to Indianapolis Thursday morning to attend the state school boards and superintendents association.

The basket ball series began last night. Much interest is being taken by both the boys and girls. The boys are going to rent a room to play in during the cold winter months.

Quite a number of H. S. students were at the spelling bee and box social at the Bobo last night. Matis Chronister, a H. S. student, won the prize as best speller. This speaks well of the dear old D. H. S. of which we are all so proud.

Results of the games last night were Crimson 3, Theatas 2, and McKenzies 4, Tigers 1.

BOUGHT THE INDIANA HOUSE

At two o'clock this afternoon Henry B. Heller as the commissioner, offered for sale the Indiana House, located at the corner of First and Madison streets, the property being purchased by John H. Yager for $1,700. Besides the purchase price he assumes a street assessment of $480. Some of

Mr. Yager's friends are hinting that John is contemplating committing the terrible offense of matrimony.

IN POLICE COURT

Three Were Up Before His Honor this Morning, First for Some Time

AN ASSAULT CASE

Young Woman Says Coxie Grim Choked Her Severely Last Evening

There was a short session of police court held this morning, the first in some time as the old town has been unusually quiet. The first called was Jacob Kiper, a young man who was celebrating the closing hours of the saloon in this city and whom the mayor released after Jake promised to be good from this time on. Henry McLean was also given his freedom after he told his story.

Charles (Coxie) Grim was the next to appear. He was charged with assault and battery by Ella Louden, who said that he had met her in the alley at the rear of the Debolt House and had choked her severely. Coxie denied the charge and fought the case, but the court held he was guilty and assessed a fine of a dollar and costs, which was arranged.

There is some discussion now as to whether there will be as much use for the police court as heretofore, since the saloon is a thing of the past. Whether this fact will make any difference here or not is of course only conjecture, but in other cities of this locality, the business has increased.

LAST DAY OF TERM

urday afternoon to James Fenstermaker aged 28, an oil pumper, to Mary Christman, aged 28, both of Geneva. They were married at 1:30 at the cozy corner of the county clerk's office.

Simeon P. Beatty, located at Minneapolis, where he is employed by the Wells-Fargo Express company, will arrive home tomorrow for a visit with relatives. His mother, Mrs. A. P. Beatty, has been quite sick for some time and is slightly worse today, her illness being the cause of Mr. Beatty's visit home at this time.

Tomorrow at the Church of Christ revival services will begin and continue for the coming two weeks. Evangelist Frank Thompson of Cairo, Ill., will have charge of the services, and some very interesting and inspiring sermons will be delivered by him. The pastor, Rev. Vernon, has done all he could in preparation for this occasion, and the congregation will profit very much by it.
