Every day of Taft's administration is adding weight to the troubles that are overwhelming his party at the present time. Dissatisfaction is creeping over all over the country and the leading republican newspapers, responding to public sentiment, are criticizing him adversely on his defense of a tariff, which, to the people, is indefensible, his seeming alignment with the enemies of the insurgents and progressives and his tendency to turn his back on the so-called Roosevelt policies. Influential republicans have lost their faith in Taft, although they desire to feel that he is worthy of support, and they are beginning to think that in case he is renominated in 1912 he will be defeated. The only salvation that they now see, and it is surprising to witness the enthusiasm they display in proposing it, is the return of Roosevelt on a triumphal wave of sentiment which will sweep him into the nomination over Taft and make him again president. The "back from Elba" cry solves the problem; the long countenance relaxes when the Teddyskin godlet confronts him and the ponderous Taft, roadroller, soft palm, sweet smile and all shrink like a toy balloon in the hands of a circus day youngster.—Columbia City Post.

FULLENKAMP'S

HEAR DR. GORDEN

Presbyterian Church Was Well Filled at the Meeting Last Evening.

HERE AGAIN TONIGHT

Services Are Delightfully Interesting and Everyone is Welcomed.

An audience that almost completely filled the auditorium at the Presbyterian church heard Dr. James A. Gordon of Van Wert, Ohio, last evening, and it was one of the finest sermons of the series. This is not the first appearance of Dr. Gordon in Decatur, and those who heard him before were glad indeed to welcome him again. He speaks again this evening and the church should be crowded. Sermons by such men as those who have been here during the meetings are rare treats. Life here is but a short span. It flies by almost while we are preparing to live. What of the time without end which comes afterward. The questions and problems discussed at these meetings are the ones of real importance. Nothing else counts. Every man, woman and child in Decatur should hear Dr. Gordon this evening. The meetings may close tomorrow evening, the official announcement, however, to be made later, is this is decided upon. Be that as it may you should hear the sermon this evening. The service opens at 7:30 and usually closes in an hour or such a matter. Can't you spare that much time from your busy rush.
