of the city water, right now is the time to offer some suggestion that will better it. Don't be a continual "knocker," but be a patriot. Help the officers of the city who are giving you their very best efforts and aid them in framing a plan that will be fair to every citizen of the town, be he rich or poor, tenant or property owner. ### INDIANA CATTLE BREEDERS.

Will Meet at Lafayette Indiana, April 30, 1910.

A special meeting of the Indiana Cattle Breeders' association will be held in the New Jungling Pavilion of Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, on Saturday, April 30, 1910, at 10 a.m. This occasion will mark the closing of one of the most profitable cattle feeding experiments conducted at the Purdue experiment station. A feature of the work will be a resume of the work done during the feeding period just closing and a presentation of results secured and cost of gains. A visit to the experimental lots will be made in connection with this part of the program and the merits of the different rations as shown by the conditions of the steers in the various lots will be discussed. A committee composed of live stock commission men from Chicago and Indianapolis will value the lots on the basis of the Chicago market. William T. Jones of Fairmount will review the cattle feeding operations conducted on his farm in co-operation with the experiment station. Mr. Jones is a successful cattle feeder and his disclosures will embrace three years of co-operative work in practical cattle feeding under Indiana farm conditions and will be very helpful to every practical feeder. No farmer who seriously considers the future of his business and is desirous of marketing his crops in the most efficient manner, both from the standpoint of immediate cash returns and the conservation of soil fertility, can afford to miss this meeting. All interested are invited to attend.
